Over 300 Veterans of Spanish-American War Gather At Memorial Auditorium—City's Parks and Show Places Viewed By Visitors—Addresses Tonight

The Memorial Auditorium is this noon the goal of over 300 veterans who marched under the banner of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment in the Porto Rican campaign of the Spanish-American war in 1898, the event being the annual reunion of this famous regiment.

The regiment association numbers over 700, and the annual reunions have, with but one or two exceptions, always been held in Boston. Lowell, through the efforts of the local members of the association and the chamber of commerce, succeeded this year in being named as the reunion city and is this afternoon opening her arms to welcome the veterans who "carried on" when President McKinley called for men to drive the Spaniards from Cuba.

Shortly before noon today the first of the visiting veterans made their way to the veterans' quarters of the Memorial Auditorium and there signed the registration book of the association. From that time on until 1 o'clock, members of the association kept arriving in ever increasing numbers until well over 200 had registered for the event, and it is expected another hundred will arrive for the festivities of the late afternoon and the annual banquet this evening.

With registration completed, members of the organization remained at the Auditorium until shortly after 2 o'clock, when they boarded automobiles furnished by the Rotary club and chamber of commerce and started on a tour of the city.

Fort Hill park, Shedd park, and city-owned playgrounds, the Textile school, Normal school, high school and municipal buildings, were viewed in turn by the visitors. Then, turning the machines away from the heart of the city, the procession went up Merrimack street, over the Pawtucket bridge, stopping for a view of the falls and the wide expanse of water above, and then proceeded out Mammoth road and on to the rifle range in Dracut Centre.

At the rifle range, the program calls for a general good time, with an im-

DEMOCRATS HOLD ROUSING RALLY IN MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Hon. James M. Curley Holds Large Audience Spellbound in Characteristic Speech—Pays High Tribute To Senator David I. Walsh

Mayor James M. Curley of Boston made further great inroads in the hearts of Lowell's men and women voters last night when in a characteristic picturesque pyrotechnical speech at Memorial Auditorium he held a large audience spellbound despite the nearness of a new day as he castigated the Klan, defended his record, ridiculed his republican opponent and declared, amidst a spontaneous and prolonged outburst of true democratic enthusiasm that he will be the next governor of Massachusetts by a majority of 100,000 votes.

Accompanied by Mrs. Curley, the tireless campaigner reached the Auditorium at about 11.30 o'clock, just as

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT CLOSES ITS CONSULATES IN BRITAIN

Drastic Step Due to Britain's Failure to Concede Mexico the Honor of Maintaining Official Relations—Not to Recall British Officials

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Mexico has suppressed commercial relations with Great Britain, the department of foreign affairs ordering the consulates in London, Liverpool and Glasgow closed as well as all the honorary consular officers throughout the United Kingdom.

This drastic step was decided upon, in the words of Foreign Minister Saenz, not to show hostility to Great Britain, but because the Mexicans believe it "unworthy" of themselves to maintain consular representatives under a government which does not concede the honor of maintaining official relations, thus implying that it does not consider Mexico has the moral and

Earl of Reading, Viceroy of India, Finds Anarchical Movement Deep-Seated and Dangerous

SIMLA, British India, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, today exercised his emergency powers by the promulgation of an ordinance supplementing the ordinary criminal law in Bengal with a view to suppressing revolutionary crimes on the part of the anarchical movement which it was stated, has been found to be deep seated and dangerous.

A statement was issued asserting that the viceroy was satisfied, as a result of the examination of the evidence placed before him, that the anarchical movement was deep-seated and dangerous and that it was necessary to arm the Bengal government with powers to deal with the preparation for crime because he was convinced that preparations and plans for criminal outrages were dangerously developed.

The Calcutta Gazette announces that a man named Bose, who is right hand man to Chit Ranjan Das, leader of the home rule party; Kumar Mitter, of the Bengal legislature Ro, secretary of the nationalist congress, and twenty-four others have been arrested, mostly under the provisions of the new ordinance on suspicion of associating themselves with violent criminal methods.

The commissioner of police declares that searches are going on throughout the province and that further arrests are expected.

SAVES $5000 PAYROLL

Providence Man Flees to Safety Under Fusilade of Shots Fired by Bandits

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25—John Turgeon, 28, saved a payroll of more than $5000 today when the car in which he and his brother, Edward Turgeon, were transporting the money, was attacked by masked bandits. The Turgeon brothers were within a half mile of their destination, when three men in a speedster, Massachusetts registry number 303,290, swooped in front of their automobile, stopped short, jumped out and held up the payroll car at th epoint of a shotgun and revolver. John Turgeon seized the valise containing the money, leaped from the car and dashed off just as his brother brought it to a stop. One of the bandits opened fire at his fleeing form, but the shots went wild and John succeeded in reaching a store in safety with the money intact. The trail of the bandit car was lost by the police after they had followed it to Centerdale.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Driver of Auto That Killed Child Arraigned in District Court

Charles Apostolakos of 181 Eighteenth street, operator of the automobile which struck and caused the death of 5-year-old Yvette Desrosiers at West Sixth street and Lilley avenue yesterday afternoon, was arraigned in district court today on a charge of manslaughter, and was continued to Nov. 22 pending the result of an inquest hearing on the death.

$200,000 ADDITION TO MASONIC HOME

CHARLTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—The $200,000 Williams Memorial addition to the Massachusetts Masonic home here was dedicated today in the presence of a large number of high Masons from all parts of New England. The feature of the program was the dedicatory address by Rev. Dudley H. Ferrell, grand master of the grand lodge of Massachusetts.

Pilgrim Commandery band of Lowell gave a program that was highly appreciated by the sojourners. The addition contains seventy rooms which brings the total accommodations to 150 rooms. Masons and their families and townspeople were privileged to inspect the premises.

SEC. WALLACE DYING

Head of Agriculture Department Unconscious Since Early This Morning

Latest Bulletin Says Patient "Very Low" and "Just Barely Alive"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Physicians attending Secretary Wallace of the agricultural department, who is lying between life and death at a hospital here, said shortly before noon today that the secretary's condition "could hardly be more unfavorable" for recovery.

There still is a slight hope, but Mr. Wallace has been unconscious since early this morning and the poisoning which followed an operation a week ago appears to have spread to all parts of the body.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, who is in attendance, indicated after this morning's examination that it was only a question of how long the heart action would hold out. There was grave fear that the end might come within a few hours.

Secretary Wallace was said this afternoon to be "very low." His physicians said that he was "just barely alive."

SECRETARY WELLS BACK FROM CONVENTION

George F. Wells, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, returned to this city last evening after attending the annual convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries and the National Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington, D. C.

The convention of commercial secretaries opened Monday and continued until Wednesday evening and the National chamber of commerce meeting opened Thursday morning and continued to Friday evening. The feature of the latter meeting was an address by President Calvin Coolidge Thursday evening in the new home of the National chamber in Washington.

POLITICAL CONTESTS IN LOCAL FIELD NOW WAXING WARM

Rallies Planned for Coming Week—Referenda Questions To Be Passed Upon By Voters at Polls—Candidates for the Legislature in Strenuous Campaigns

With state and national elections only 10 days distant one thing stands out in the rush and roar of party campaigning as an acknowledged fact—that the vote polled in Lowell on November 4 will be the biggest ever recorded here, probably 90 per cent. of the total registration, which would mean a vote of approximately 31,000. The exact registration today, after heavy drives for new voters for the past several weeks, stands at 35,214.

Whether Coolidge and Dawes will carry the city over Davis and Bryan and to what extent La Follette and Wheeler will cut into the ranks of both parties locally are questions the returns alone can answer. Likewise the battle between Fuller and Curley here will be vigorously fought, with the democratic nominee having the edge in present day prognostications.

BRITISH PUBLIC STARTLED BY NEWS OF RED MOSCOW PLOT

Publication of Foreign Office Document Reveals Conspiracy to Overthrow Existing Institution in Britain and Subversion of Armed Forces

LONDON, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Publication of a foreign office document supposedly revealing a Moscow plot against Great Britain startled the public today.

The document included the text of an alleged letter, marked "very secret," from M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Communist international to the central committee of the British communist party, containing in the words of the foreign office, "instructions to British subjects to work for the violent overthrow of existing institutions in this country and for the subversion of his majesty's armed forces as a means to that end."

A communication from the foreign office to the Russian charge d'affaires, M. Rakovsky, calls attention to the alleged Zinovieff letters and protests against "this violation of the specific

HELD IN $1000 BONDS FOR AUTO LARCENY

Two young men, William Rivard of this city, and Arthur P. Sawyer of Walpole, were arraigned in district court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Bernard F. Sweaney of 58 Norris street, North Cambridge. They pleaded not guilty and were continued in $1000 bonds each until next Wednesday.

The automobile, a Ford coupe, alleged to have been stolen by the young men last Friday, was found in a wooded section of the Black North district of Dracut, near the Parker school, last Saturday, but efforts to ascertain the thieves were unsuccessful until last night, when Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch, following an investigation by Capt. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer placed Rivard under arrest.

Early this morning, Chief Clinton Coffin and Officer Thomas of the Dracut police went to a house in Dracut and placed the second suspect, Sawyer, under arrest. At the station, the latter is said to have admitted taking the car while returning to his home in Walpole after a visit to New York last week.

When the machine was found in the Dracut woods, it was stripped of its generator, tires, starter, battery, number plates and other accessories. Several of the parts have been recovered.

WEST POINT EXAM AT CITY HALL TODAY

Congressman John Jacob Rogers this morning spoke briefly in the council chamber at city hall to eight young aspirants for appointment to the United States military academy at West Point. From this examination Mr. Rogers is to appoint two principals and two alternates. Timothy J. Sullivan was examiner in charge and Thure Gilinson was his assistant.

The examination was conducted by the federal civil service commission and the subjects upon which the aspirants were examined embraced algebra, geometry and English literature, same to be concluded in the morning session of 3½ hours. After a half-hour intermission United States History, General History and English were taken up, three hours being allowed to complete the subjects.

Those taking the examination were Joseph A. Cahill, Patrick Hetherman, Thomas J. Slack, Richard G. Welch, Charles A. Randlett, John Joseph Brennen, David X. Angluin, and Thomas C. Dolan.

A COSY LITTLE HOUSE ON WHEELS

The yard adjacent to the home of Mrs. Arthur Harrison in Percy street, Kenwood, was a centre of interest for many days recently to residents of the Kenwood section of Dracut because of an odd-appearing vehicle which stood there.

The vehicle appeared to be a combination of house and automobile—the lower section and wheels being quickly identified by most everyone as part of a standard make of car. While the body appeared to be a small bungalow or summer camp.

This odd vehicle was a house-car, or a portable house, owned by Ralph W. Goodhue of Windsor, Vermont, who was visiting his sister, Mrs. Harrison. The machine arrived there a week or so ago and left within the past few days on the first stage of a trip which, it is expected, will end in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Goodhue has no schedule to go by in making this trip. He doesn't care when he arrives, and when leaving the city said he had only two places in particular to visit on the way—Kansas city, where Alfred L. Baily, a former resident of this city, lives, and a little town in Louisianna where Fred M. Goodhue, another former resident of Lowell, now resides.

For a year and a half before starting out on this trip, Mr. Goodhue spent all his spare time fixing up the house-car in which he is making the journey, and the finished job is a credit to his skill with tools and his ingenuity, for every comfort is provided for in a little house, mounted on a Ford chassis. Berths, tables, storage space, water tanks, a stove, cutlery and china—in fact everything that is ordinarily used in a house, is stored in such a manner on this little house-car that there is plenty of seating room when on tour and a comfortable little house to sit and sleep in when drawn up on the side of the road or parked in one of the many camping sites which dot the main highways from Canada to Mexico and from Cape Ann to the Golden Gate.

The house-car, the best and most cleverly constructed seen in this section of the country, is worthy of description.

The entire chassis of the Ford was first floored-in with matched boards, laid as nicely as the hard wood floor in a living room, to an area of about eight feet by five and a half feet. Then the side walls were raised and a roof put on.

Beneath the floor is plenty of storage room and a large water tank.

Trap doors in the floor open into compartments where tools, spare parts, etc., are stored, and there also is a large water tank. Compartments for storage are also erected over the running boards and fenders, while the spare tire rack is under the car at the rear where it is readily accessible.

In building the house on wheels, Mr. Goodhue ran up against one difficulty that "stumped" him for some time. How could he build the house sufficiently high enough to stand in and yet low enough so as to be able to pass under bridges and under passes and not be top heavy. After considerable planning, he arranged the roof so that it could be raised on pulleys when the car was standing still, and lowered when the party started off again in the morning.

Inside the car on either side are two long window-seats forming lockers. Over these at night are fitted canvas covered frames, six feet long by two feet wide, which are used as beds. During the daytime these frames are folded within the lockers. Gay blankets used as bedding decorate the seats during the day.

The rear corners of the car contain two upright lockers which hold clothing while fitted between these lockers is a kitchen cabinet, the front of which opens to form a table supported by an adjustable leg. Within are kitchen utensils, dishes, and groceries. On the cabinet stands a two-burner alcohol stove and overhead is a two-bulb electric light, sufficiently bright to illuminate the interior of the house. The entire rear panel of the back, under the windows, opens to form an out-of-door table, while stove and cabinet can be removed easily for out-door cooking.

The driver's seat is a comfortable folding chair held in place by clips on the floor, while at the right is a frame maps and guide books. In a locker nearby are stored a typewriter, cameras and a violin.

A clock, thermometer and doormat add to the attractiveness of the house-car while the walls are decorated by hand colored photographs, done by Mr. Goodhue.

Questioned concerning the reason for his long journey across the continent, Mr. Goodhue quotes a Vermont saying: "The weather in Vermont is generally good, except for about three weeks the sleighing is rather poor and you have to drag along on wheels." It is to escape the rigors of Vermont's winter, that the trip is being undertaken.

program with a Spanish dance, ably executed by the young miss who proved her ability as a supple dancer.

Alice Ryan was most pleasing with vocal selections. Hardly ten years of age, she possesses a clear, well focused voice and there is great promise in the vocal world for her in the future.

Little Virginia Calnan, dressed in an Egyptian costume of orchid satin and pearls offered the Shiek dance and capably interpreted the various movements of the number.

The pony trot, by Doris Joyce and Francis Ryan was a pleasing number, both children receiving rounds of applaud.

An enjoyable and colorful number was the balloon dance by Irene Joyce. She executed the various movements of a novelty waltz number with precision and ability.

Rose Magee entertained with the Mah Jong dance while the Highland Fling, dance eccentric, jockey and clog numbers were given by Mabel Stafford, Mildred Hodge, Florence Gendron and Dorotyh Normandy respectively.

The minuet, always a pleasing number was beautifully given by Doris Joyce, Francis Ryan, Dorothy Normandy, Mildred Hodge, Mildred Brouder and Florence Gendron.

Following the program general dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Johan de la Parra, Mrs. M. J. Rourke, and Mrs. Sadie Cohen. Dr. Johan de la Parra, Mr. Arthur H. Giroux, Mr. Joseph Rourke, and Mr. Sos Provost were in charge of the entertainment program.

Members of the Lowell Council Boy Scouts ushered.

The Children's Aid society was organized in March of last year by Mrs Johan de la Parra. At present there are 60 voluntary workers. It is a non-sectarian society and its purpose is to clothe poor children of the city up to the age of 15 years.

The officers of the society are president and treasurer, Mrs. Johan de la Parra; vice president, Mrs. M. J. Rourke; secretary, Mrs. Sadie Cohen.

The winners of the three grand prizes, Miss Helen Morgan of Chippewa street; E. B. Richards, Gershom avenue and J. J. Hogan may receive their prizes by calling at Dr. Parra's office in the square.

During the evening thanks were expressed for the contributions made to the association by the following: Fairburn's market, Bell bakery, Swallow bakery, Wright's waiting room bakery, Kresge Co., Strandway Shoppe, Sharf's, Turner Center Co., Cameron's Ice Cream Co., H. P. Hood and Son, Frank Richard, Prince-Cotter, Wood-Abbott, Garfield's Furniture Co., David Perreault, Prince-Walters, Woolworth's and R. J. McCartney.

SAYS DEMOCRATIC PARTY WILL WIN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Resuming his campaign in New York, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, faced today a schedule of speaking engagements and conferences here and in New Jersey, which is expected to take him to the closing event of his personal participation in the election contest, the speech at Carnegie Hall on the evening of Nov. 1.

The candidate motored to the city from his home in Locust Valley to attend the first of the engagements at a hotel where he was to address a democratic woman's rally this afternoon and afterwards appear at a Staten Island meeting, winding up the day with a third speech before a gathering at the Mount Morris high school, in the Bronx tonight.

It was his intention to outline in part his experiences in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, supplementing the state-

DEATHS

O'BRIEN—The many friends of Michael J. and Mrs. Nellie (Shea) O'Brien of 54 South Walker street, will regret to read of the death of their son, Daniel, which occurred last evening at St. John's hospital, aged 8 years and 9 days. The little fellow underwent a surgical operation a year ago and never thoroughly regained his strength though it was the hope of the parents he would eventually recover as he grew older. This was not to be, as he grew weaker this past week, the end coming peacefully at the hospital. Master O'Brien was a bright boy of a beautiful disposition and lovable nature. He will be greatly missed by his companions at both the Dover street and the Morey schools where he was a great favorite with both teachers and scholars. He leaves, besides his parents, three sisters, Lillian, Dorothy and Matilda, and one brother, Philip O'Brien. The body will be taken to the home of his parents, 54 South Walker street, by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LESSARD—Mrs. Elizabeth ((Beausolell) Lessard, wife of Adelard Lessard, died at her home, 84 Farmland road, aged 56 years. She had been a resident of Lowell for the past 44 years and was a constant attendant of St. Louis' church. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Aurore Lampron, Mrs. Marie Jane Gaudette and Miss Yvonne Lessard; six sons, Donat, William, Arthur, Edmond, Albert and Eugene Lessard, all of this city; one sister, Mrs. Elvina Neault of Framingham, and two brothers, Ernest and Joseph Beausoleil. She was a member of St. Anne's sodality and the Third Order of St. Francis.

LETTRELL—James J. Lettrell, for more than sixty years a well known resident of this city and for the greater part a resident of the Belvidere section, died this morning at the home of his son, Edward Lettrell, 52 Third street. Deceased was a man of splendid habits, honorable and trustworthy, much respected, and will be missed in many circles. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Rose Lettrell; two sons, James of New York and Edward of Lowell; one brother, Christopher of Patterson, N. J., and three grandchildren. He was a member of Court General Shields Foresters of America, and the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church.

HANNIFIN—Mrs. Mary (Bucy) Hannifin died Friday at the Carney hospital, Boston. She leaves her husband, John Hannifin; two daughters, Misses Mary and Anna of Los Angeles, Cal.; two sons, Maurice and Edward of the United States navy; two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Herrin and Mrs. Thomas Morris, and a brother, Thomas Buey. The remains will be brought to this city and will be removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Morris, 40 Chambers street, this afternoon by Undertakers Higgins Bros.

HARRINGTON—James Harrington, who received injuries when struck by an automobile in Gallagher square eight days ago, died last evening at the Corporation hospital. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, John and James Harrington; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Burke and Mrs. Hugh McQuade; and several grandchildren. The remains will be removed to his late home, 74 Maple street, this evening, by Undertakers O'Connell & Fay.

COBURN—Mrs. Mary E. F. Coburn, widow of the late Horace B. Coburn, died this morning at her home, 275 Andover street. She leaves one daughter, Miss Harriet Coburn; one son, Horace B. Coburn of La Grange, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Charles E. Gowen of Ossining, N. Y., and Mrs. George A. Hills of this city. Mrs. Coburn was a member of All Souls church.

FOSTER—Miss Eleanor E. Foster, a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the Old Ladies' home, where she has resided for the past six years, at the age of 78 years 3 months and 18 days. She was a member of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

DESROSIERS—Yvette Desrosiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Desrosiers, died yesterday following injuries received by being run over by an automobile. Her age was 5 years 8 months and 3 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 20 Campaw street, by Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

FUNERALS

WETHERALL—Funeral services for Jacob A. Wetherall were held at his home, 18 Mill street, Collinsville, Dracut, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Edward Martin, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, assisted by Rev. Mrs. John Gould, officiated. Miss Rose Wright sang appropriate selections. The floral tributes were many. The bearers were Charles L. Petrie, Edwin Sleeper, George Cheney and Amos Lunn. Burial was in the family lot in Westlawn cemetery where Rev. Mr. Martin read the committal prayers. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker Hiram C. Brown.

MARTINEAU—The funeral of Claire Martineau, daughter of Henri and Mathilda (Robarge) Martineau, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, 115 Tucker street. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements were in the charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

SZUFNAROWSKA—The funeral of Mrs. Agnieszka Szufnarowska took place this morning at 7.30 o'clock from her home, 23 Front street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. At 8.30 o'clock funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. A. S. Ogonowski at the Holy Trinity church in High street. The choir, under the direction of Miss Stephanie Urbanek, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. Alexander Stemporzewski sang "Pie Jesu." There were many beautiful floral offerings. The bearers were Joseph Blyskol, Joseph Pilat, Stanislaw Urbowicz, Henry Anthony and Mieczyslaw Szufnarowska. Among those present were relatives and friends from Ware and Chicopee and Hartford, Conn. Burial took place in the family lot in the Holy Trinity cemetery where Rev. A. S. Ogonowski read the committal prayers and also delivered a short eulogy. This was the first burial in the new Polish cemetery in this city. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Urbanek.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our gratitude to all neighbors, friends and relatives for the many kindnesses extended during the illness and at the time of death of our beloved daughter and sister, Anna Shaughnessy. MAJORITY FOR "DRYS" IN ONTARIO NOW 40,368

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The majority for the Ontario temperance act reached the 40,368 mark today when returns in the liquor plebiscite had been received from all but 141 of the 7833 election sub-divisions.

The vote from the districts already tabulated gave 541,196 for the temperance act and 501,828 for the sale of liquor under government control. Leaders of the "drys" were confident the final majority for the temperance act would be 50,000.

CLASS ELECTIONS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

At the class elections held yesterday at the Lowell State Normal School the following officers were chosen for this year, governing council—Pres., Rose Leary vice pres., Mary O'Conner; sec.-treas., Winnifred Lester; traffic chairman, Mary Frawley; committee chairman, Mary Lupoli; social chairman, Mary Palmer; head housekeeper, Wilma Perkins.

For senior class officers Mary Moran was elected president, Agnes Ryan vice pres. and Mary Lane sec.-treas. Rose Farley and Alice Nugent were elected president and vice president of the junior class. The section officers for this year were also chosen yesterday.

START SEWER WORK IN PARKER STREET

Harry P. Doherty, superintendent of streets and sewers, said today a sewer gang will start in Parker street Monday to lay 1100 feet of 18-inch pipe there. This gang today completed 960 feet of new 12-inch sewer laid in Fourth avenue and Emery street. Nesmith street sewer work will be started Tuesday and five other jobs on Wednesday, he said.

One section of 42-inch pipe, 135 foot long and 37 feet underground, has already been completed by the gang of 50 men at work there and this gang will be augmented Monday by 50 additional men.

VISITORS HOLD OUTDOOR RALLIES

The "Flying Wedge of Industrial Speakers," three young women and a man touring the state in the interests of Coolidge and Gillett, rolled into Lowell early this afternoon where they will remain until late tonight. Outdoor rallies are planned for city hall steps at 4 p. m., Towers corner at 5 p. m. and Paige and Bridge streets at 10 p.m. Edgar P. Dougherty, chairman of the republican city committee, is in charge of the "wedge" while in Lowell.

BAY STATE DANCING SCHOOL

Saturday night dances are becoming extremely popular at the Bay State Dancing school, Dutton street, now being conducted by "Barney" Horan. Miner-Doyle's orchestra, which has an enviable reputation in New England, composed of a picked team of trained and talented musicians, is furnishing the music for these amusements, and as usual are scoring a distinct hit. These Saturday evening socials are well conducted as the many who are attending and making it a habit to be there Saturday evenings, will attest.

BILLIARD EXPERT ENTERTAINS

Dr. R. C. Downes of Detroit entertained a number of members of Lowell lodge of Elks last night with an exhibition of trick and fancy billiard shots given at the Warren street firehouse. Officers of Lowell lodge will go to Woburn Monday to initiate a large class of candidates for the lodge there.

INDECENT LITERATURE

A local magazine distributor was fined $100 in district court this morning for possessing indecent literature as represented in a magazine known as "Snappy Stories." Defendant appealed.

URGENT NOTICE

Dear Snookie-Mumsie: Please come back to your loving son. He is crying since you left him; he cannot stop it. He is worried and very sick to hear from you and to have you come home, and will forgive and forget all. I am also deeply grieved. I sign myself,

Continued

Humphrey O'Sullivan was concluding a vitriolic resume of the stewardship of John Jacob Rogers as congressman from this district. As Mayor Curley entered from the wings and shook hands with former Mayor James E. O'Donnell the very girders of Lowell's magnificent meeting place reverberated with the thunderous outburst of a spontaneous welcome greeting.

Whispering propaganda of other than a harmonious shoulder-to-shoulder battle with United States David I. Walsh was smothered in the very first words from the mayor of Boston who lost not a moment in voicing his regrets that Senator Walsh could not attend in person.

"There could be no more fitting place for your able junior senator to speak to you than in this magnificent structure erected to commemorate the heroism and sacrifices of those boys he has ever so ably championed," said Mayor Curley. "The prayers of our dead and disabled soldiers, and of their people, rise like incense imploring that that brilliant statesman, their friend and protector, be returned to Washington."

The meeting, arranged by the O'Sullivan congressional campaign committee, working in conjunction with the democratic city committee, was called to order by J. Joseph Hennessy. Mr. Hennessy, chairman of the O'Sullivan committee, declared that if Lowell does as it should for Mr. O'Sullivan he will have a majority of 4000 votes here and with it he will be elected. He then turned the meeting over to Hon. James E. O'Donnell, the presiding officer.

"The time has come to raise the standard of honesty in political parties and purge the parties of those who will not strive to establish and maintain high standards" was the keynote of the opening by Mr. O'Donnell. The speaker said he is not in sympathy with continued abuse of men in public life and admits there are men of high principles in both of the leading parties. He pointed to the administration of Woodrow Wilson as one in which the official integrity of the president was never attacked "and the breath of dishonor never either seen or felt." He said he would.

He said he would not impugn the personal honesty of Calvin Coolidge, but he would single him for defeat because he is the standard-bearer of a party which has proven untrue to its trust. He lauded John W. Davis as a man whose integrity is beyond criticism and said that admitting both candidates equal, the matter to decide was one of what they stood for and what stood behind them. With the interest of the honest every-day workingman of New England at heart and there could be but one choice, and that of John W. Davis and the democratic principles which he espouses. Mr. O'Donnell spoke a word of appreciation of the ever loyal service to the Lowell democracy by Humphrey O'Sullivan and urged that Mr. O'Sullivan be strongly supported in his fight for congress.

Oscar Rochleau of Worcester, candidate for secretary of state, spoke briefly for the state ticket and was followed by U. S. Senator Victor Broussard of Louisiana. Senator Broussard prophesied that should Coolidge be returned one of his first steps would be to attempt to put over the Mellon tax reduction plan as it was originally offered and he explained at length the discrimination in favor of predatory wealth contained therein. Senator Broussard spoke for David I. Walsh for United States senator, urging the return of his colleague. "I have served with Senator Walsh for several years," he said. "His standing as a statesman is the highest. He is admired as a man of intelligence and honesty. He has been diligent in his duties. The people of Massachusetts would make a great mistake should they fail to avail themselves of his services."

"Boston's mayor, your candidate for governor, Mr. Curley," he continued. "I know him well. He served for years in congress with my brother. I cannot too strongly urge of you that he be given your loyal support."

State Chairman Charles H. McGlue declared there is no doubt but the verdict of the people at the polls will be for Curley for governor and for Walsh for United States senator. He forecast that Davis would be the next president by vote of the electoral college, giving Davis 190 electoral votes to start and conceding seven states to La Follette, possibly eight. In Massachusetts, he declared, a vote for La Follette is a vote for Coolidge.

Mr. McGlue referred caustically to Mr. Gillett, opponent of Senator Walsh, as "Coolidge's rubber stamp." He urged that "that good old democratic warhorse, Humphrey O'Sullivan, be sent to congress to uphold Davis' hand," and also gave a word for the county and representative candidates.

Miss Mae Matthews of Boston, the next speaker, proved one of the hits of the evening. She referred to the present administration as "a reign of terror or of error," said we've found it "frosty" enough trying to "keep cool with Coolidge," and said the slogan should be changed to "Steer Clear of Cal." She praised Senator Walsh and referred to his opponent as "the Rip Van Winkle of Springfield." She ended with a strong appeal for James M. Curley, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Strabo V. Claggett and the whole democratic ticket.

Mr. Claggett, the next speaker, delivered a tirade against Alonzo B. Cook, the present state auditor, referred to his practically unanimous newspaper support for the office and ended in an appeal for the whole ticket.

Candidate for Congress

Humphrey O'Sullivan, candidate for congress from the 5th congressional district, was the next speaker.

Mr. O'Sullivan said in part:

"A few months ago representatives from the towns and cities of this district met and drafted me as a candidate for this office. I told them that if they wanted me to run for the office my conditions would be very severe. It would be only on the condition of co-operation on the part of the people that I would undertake to break down the barrier that this gentleman had built around himself in this district, and after I had broken through that I would retain the office for one term only and open up an opportunity for the many qualified men and women of this district to represent you in congress."

He attacked Congressman Rogers for his condemnation of and failure to support the federal reserve act.

"Since opening this campaign I have asked the congressman to give an account of his stewardship, what he has accomplished for this district in the last twelve years," continued Mr. O'Sullivan. "I have asked him to tell what help he has rendered to the farmers, what help he has rendered to the labor interests, what effort he has made to be of any assistance in remedying industrial conditions or in settling strikes, or showing any interest or sympathy in solving our problems. I have asked him how it was that he undertook to have the Merrimack river deepened and gave us as an alibi that he was opposed by the mill agents of Lowell.

"Just think of that. How many people are there in Lowell, can you imagine, that do not line up the congressman as the friend of the Lowell corporations—and then to say that the reason he couldn't get the Merrimack river deepened was because the mill agents were against him."

"But let us be honest with him—he did do something. Everything being lovely at home he turned his thoughts to the consular service, and so he framed a bill for the greater comfort and convenience of the consular service and that bill is known as the Rogers bill, and he did succeed in getting it passed.

"I believe his friends are sorry that they used that word 'unbeatable,' because when I hurled back at them what had form it was for anyone to claim that he was above his people, an autocrat and superman, they have now lowered their estimate and only claim that he should be elected by a large majority. And they base their claims on the fact that he has been kind enough to answer letters of inquiry of one kind or another to be attended to at Washington, and that he even answered democrats who wrote to him, he made no distinction. Of course they wind up by saying that he put this famous consular bill on the statute books. If they had anything else to claim for him of course they would be glad to do it. Think of it: His heart in the consular service when he should be giving a thought to the Billerica car shop strike. But he was intent on society and 5 o'clock teas.

"At a republican rally in Lowell the afternoon of the 20th the congressman was advertised to speak. Well, he presided. That was near enough to it. But the others who spoke were Senator Fess of Ohio, candidates Gillett, Fuller and others.

"So that you will understand the situation clearly, there were trumpeters on the steps and community singing within the little Liberty Hall which has a seating capacity of about a thousand. Those who entered and desired to go in the gallery were recommended to take a seat in the audience so that the hall would look filled as a courtesy to our congressman.

"The big idea among the republican spellbinders is not to wake the audience up from their dream of happiness. This was fully explained by Senator Fess when he told them that if there was anyone objectionable on their ticket to vote the whole ticket anyway. Of course that statement met with applause. But Senator Fess didn't stop at that. He stated that the reason the republican party should be returned to power was that they are better business men than the democrats, and he also found great gratification in the fact that the German loan was eaten up by American investors in twelve minutes. Wasn't that wonderful? Wouldn't that put any audience to sleep?

"Of course when it came to candidates Fuller's and Gillette's turn to speak they were afraid they would waken the audience and they made their remarks as brief as possible saying they had pressing engagements in a neighboring city.

"Now let us take up the statement of the senator from Ohio who spent about an hour and a half talking about the foreign policies of this administration. Senator Fess of Ohio had the courage to claim the activities of General Dawes and Owen D. Young of the General Electric company, who represented America on the reparations commission, not as politicians or republicans, but as business experts, and yet Senator Fess claims that the so-called Dawes plan was accepted by the reparations commission as a wonderful accomplishment to the credit of the foreign diplomacy of the republican administration.

"But what of his claim that the republicans are better business men than the democrats? When he told his audience of one hundred and ten millions in dollars being swallowed up by the American investors in twelve minutes he forgot to tell them that every dollar was sold for ninety-two cents and it carried an interest of 7½ per cent annually. And he forgot to tell them that in 1917 the Wilson administration sold four billion dollars worth of bonds to the American people at 3½ per cent, that the United States treasury got one hundred cents for every dollar, that the banks didn't get any commission in selling the bonds and the people who bought the bonds only got 3 ½per cent for their money.

"Will Mr. Fess compare that with the flotation of the German loan of only a measly one hundred and ten million dollars? And will he tell them also that this loan was over-subscribed and investors got only about three-quarters what they asked for. I know this from personal knowledge. Mightn't he also tell them that in the flotation of the second, third and fourth liberty bonds the United States never paid over 4¼ per cent for the money, also received one hundred cents on the dollar; and when money was scarce in 1918 the Wilson administration floated the Victory loan at 4¾ per cent and got a hundred cents for every dollar?

"The sum at issue is around four billion dollars. The original interest charge was 5 per cent, later it was made 4¼ per cent, the same price as the United States liberty bonds, and anyone who knows about bonds knows how much the English loan is worth compared to United States liberty bonds.

"But that isn't all. The English government thought they should have a lower rate, and so this government appointed a commission to meet a similar one to adjust the rate between the two parties, and what do you suppose happened? They agreed to have this loan run for sixty-two years, part of the time for 3½ per cent and part of the time for 3 per cent. And here is where I ask you whether this was near collusion or intentional on the part of the adjusters for the republican administration. They agreed that these interest payments, or payments on the principle might be made with liberty bonds.

"I will make this further statement and then you have to do the rest of the thinking for yourselves. They have made some of these interest payments with liberty bonds. At present that is impracticable because the liberties are above par, but who is going to say that in the space of sixty-two years it isn't possible for this country to get into trouble with some nation or another during which time England may be able to buy these liberty bonds at vastly lower than they ever sold and thereby enable herself to clean up her entire debt to this country without it costing her a penny.

"In other words I am going to ask you why did they insert that joker? I leave it to you to answer. If you have never heard of this story before just see if it isn't the exact truth.

"And then on top of this let me ask you why it is that the republican administration are charging the Boston and Maine railroad 6 per cent per annum on a loan of fifty million dollars and letting England have the money, four billion, for 3¾ per cent? And after you have heard this what do you think of Senator Fess' statement that the republicans are better business men and that the United States is making money on the interest that she is receiving on European loans?

"If the people who can stand for this sort of business do not wake up pretty soon there is something worse than corruption in high places to deplore."

Hon. James M. Curley

Following Mr. O'Sullivan and obliged to appeal for a halt to the veritable thunder of applause that greeted him came the main speaker of the evening, Boston's capable and energetic mayor, James M. Curley.

Opening with his kind words for his running mate at the head of the state ticket, Senator Walsh, Mayor Curley was early in his stride and he delivered what many declared the greatest of the many Curley speeches ever heard in this city.

He declared he will be the next governor despite "the whispering campaigns of political assassins" and said he has over 500,000 pledge cars, signed by voters, already at his office.

"If Lowell does its part, and I have every reason to believe that it will," said Mayor Curley, "I'll go in as your next governor by over 100,000 votes." He rapped his opponent who, he said, was relying more on his 20-year-old prestige as a bicycle rider to cover his lack of any knowledge or plans on foreign or domestic policies—the very bread and butter of the people of the commonwealth.

"Pledged to a penurious policy he asks your support," said the mayor. He told of the deplorable state of affairs in the Massachusetts insane hospitals, citing 52 deaths by violence in two years, many cases specifically. "Yet Fuller says he's 'satisfied'; he'll continue things as they are," said Mr. Curley. "I'm not satisfied. When I first went in as mayor of Boston I found our poorhouse overcrowded, found women of over 70 years of age obliged to crawl in the upper berths of double-deck beds. I spent a half million dollars to dissipate the cold gray clouds hanging before the eyes of those poor unfortunates behind which they prayed for death to take them from pauperism and I sent through those clouds a light that showed there was one heart and one mind in Boston that had room for them. That's Curleyism. That's the Curleyism you hear flouted and condemned by these smirking, self-satisfied whisperers.

"I spent $10,000,000 to have a seat for every pupil in the public schools of Boston and withal the tax rate for three years has been $21.70 in the city of Boston, lowest of the ten large cities of the United States and third lowest of any city in New England, lower even than your own. You rend in the Fuller-bought or Fuller-controlled columns that Curley increased the city debt of Boston eight million dollars in three years. The actual facts are the increase in that time has been $45,000. That's more Curleyism.

"I want to reiterate that I am absolutely and unqualifiedly opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Just as I drove the Dearborn Independent from the streets of Boston when I became mayor, so will I drive the Ku Klux Klan from Massachusetts when I'm elected your governor. After the day I'm inaugurated there'll never be another Ku Klux Klan meeting in Massachusetts."

Mayor Curley told how he drove the Klan from Boston and pledged himself to bend his energies to kill the order in the state. In conclusion he said:

"It has ever been the proud boast of Massachusetts that she has remained true to the principles and practises of American democracy; that she has fought and maintained the doctrine that the men and women of the commonwealth are her first care and superior to all other considerations; and that they outrank trade, commerce, property and material things. In this Massachusetts of ours humanity therefore has first place; and she has cheerfully faced the handicaps of industry and commerce to give man his political and social primacy at all times. She has been first of all the states of the union in humanitarian legislation, in limiting hours of labor, protecting women and children, and eliminating the dangers and hazards of industry; and in the administration of her public institutions, in the care of her poor and the treatment of the insane and helpless, the insistent keynote of her policy has been humanitarianism.

"The people of Massachusetts have ever been generous in their treatment of their state wards; in cities and towns the money spent for charitable purposes cannot be limited by anything but common sense and an economy that is humane; and upon no subject are the people in such common agreement as in the just, generous and humane treatment of those whose age, infirmity and misfortune have made them public charges.

"The honor of our citizens and the good name of our state are involved in this policy and any deflections from the high humanitarian standards are resented as stains on our escutcheon.

Fooling the Tax-Payers

Under the guise of a specious saving and a spurious economy and with the avowed intention of fooling the tax-payers of the state, the republican machine has attempted to juggle the debt figures to enable them to claim a virtue they do not possess. That is statistical lying. In order to make a showing by low appropriations they went beyond, practicing deception, they entered upon a program of parsimony and neglect, of cruelty and starvation in the state hospitals for the insane, the institutions for the poor and in a general lowering of the food, clothing and housing of the inmates.

"The republican machine has through its commission on administration and finance, acting under the spur of the political necessities of the party, proceeded on the theory that a dead public charge was cheaper than a living one; that diet costs money, but the dead needed no diet; that clothing was costly and the dead wore none; that housing and fuel were expensive and six foot of earth was as negligible as narrow; and upon this program of parsimony and scrimping, starvation and neglect, the republican party entered; and when complaints were made, they were ignored, and the reports of trustees concealed from the public. The machine sang the old song: 'Rattles his bones over the stones
He's only a beggar that nobody owns.'

"The victimized wards were not in a position to complain; the employes know they could complain and lose their jobs; and the protests of the trustees and staffs were unheeded.

"But cruelty and injustice always come out.

"As early as February, 1924, the facts and conditions began to leak out in the legislative committee hearings. Dr. Eugene R. Kelly, commissioner of public health, testified before the joint ways and means committee that the appropriations for the public institutions had been reduced and inferior and unwholesome goods had been supplied them. In the month of January alone, 332 samples of canned goods supplied were examined at the request of the institutions' stewards and some 79 found unsatisfactory and unfit. Wherever food appropriations had been reduced, the food supplies deteriorated and at the Rutland sanitarium in September, 1923, there was a food shortage and much dissatisfaction.

A Murderous Policy

Normally healthy wards need a sufficiency of food, but undefeeding and starving consumptives, especially dependent on the purity and liberality of their diet, is a murderous policy.

"The trustees of the Belchertown School for Feeble Minded protested against Economist Loring's cut of several hundred thousand dollars for improvements the conditions of the school needed; and in the interest of the same cruel and false economy and the success of the republican party, the improvements asked for the sanitariums at Lakeville, North Reading and Westfield were denied.

"Let it be understood that the trustees of these institutions are all men of standing and prominence in the community, giving their time and talent to their trust without pay and as a matter of public duty. They protested the parsimony and neglect that were the outgrowth of republican political expediency and not a necessity for one of the richest states in the union.

"The superintendent of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble Minded complained of the crowding of employes in small rooms, lack of needed space in the home for nurses, the placing of female help in unsuitable quarters, and the necessity of using boys in the steam plant and in the mechanical work for lack of the needed competent employes. This in a school for the feeble minded.

"The trustees wrote: 'We should be derelict in our duty did we not press upon the legislature and the commission the real need that faces us. Of what use are these bodies of experienced business and professional men giving their time and thought to the public institutions of the state?

"What indeed? The bogus political economists were not concerned about their time and thought, or the cure and care of their wards. The only thing that concerned them was the safety of the republican party and its candidates.

"The conditions of starvation, insufficient medical staff and service, overcrowded and dangerous buildings, lack of nurses and employes, and the evil results of premeditated parsimony, as exhibited at the Northampton State hospital, have rung through the state and angered our citizens by their meanness to employes and inmates and the resultant suffering. The crime of Northampton calls loudly for the defeat of the republican machine; it brings the blush of shame to the face of Massachusetts.

"The Westboro State hospital tells the same story of scrimping and paring, of underpaid employes, of insufficiency of nurses and attendants, and the inability of competent and hard-working staffs to meet their responsibilities under the conditions that let necessary improvements in housing and upkeep go by the board to make a shadowy show of thrift and economy.

"The Gardner state colony complains of the failure to get a very needed water supply by connection with Gardner or Ashburnham, a lack which threatens the health of all concerned and leaves them helpless when fire comes. They object also to having the institution run by department officials in Boston.

Republican Machine Responsible

"These conditions of decay, deterioration, contempt for the purposes of these institutions and the pleas of the men and officials giving their time to such beneficient work, can be laid to the machine in the state house, and not to the public spirited citizens devoting their energies to these humanitarian institutions and their administrative staffs. They are not accidental conditions; they are not the result of emergencies and sudden hazards; they are conditions deliberately planned, and the outcome of a program coldly conceived and brutally executed, by a coterie of conscienceless republican politicians, who were willing to sacrifice the health and lives of the state wards and their administrative guardians and endanger the safety and security of the institutions themselves, that the political interests of their party might be served and the November election won, by a shameless substitute for a true economy.

"The republican party of Massachusetts, through its commission on administration and finance, has committed a crime against humanity and brought shame and disgrace to this proud commonwealth. The state administration is particeps criminis in the transaction, for Governor Cox was consenting, and Alvan T. Fuller, lieutenant governor and presiding officer of the governor's council, had full knowledge of the program and plot.

"It is up to the voters of Massachusetts to punish the authors of these outrages and drive them without mercy from the service of Massachusetts."

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Five-Year-Old Girl Victim of Fatal Accident This Afternoon

Yvette Desrosiers, five-year-old daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Desrosiers of 20 Campaw street, was struck and almost instantly killed by an automobile, owned by Lambros Lazarakos of 181 Eighteenth street, and driven by Charles Apostolakis, at the corner of Lilley avenue and West Sixth street about 1.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The child died en route to St. John's hospital.

Apostolakis was driving the Dodge coupe belonging to Lazarakis when the accident occurred. The little girl was crossing Lilley avenue at West Sixth street at the time.

Apostolakis will face a manslaughter charge in district court tomorrow morning.

DOG SAVED SEVEN BUT LOST ITS OWN LIFE

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 24—A dog saved the lives of seven persons and lost its own life in returning to the burning building on the state reservation at Monterey in search of the master who was away from home for the night. "Flash," a bulldog, discovered the house afire in the early morning hours and awakened Mrs. Barney Manzolini and six children, who escaped from the building in their night clothes. Not seeing its master among those rescued, the animal dashed back into the burning structure and was lost.

LANDIS DISCUSSES RECENT SCANDAL

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(By the Associated Press) Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, said today that the testimony of Cozy Dolan and Jimmie O'Connell, members of the New York Giants involved in the bribery scandal preliminary to the world's series, would be revealed whenever, in his judgment, it would serve a useful purpose in claring up the situation.

QUARANTINE AT SMITH COLLEGE

NORTHAMPTON, Oct. 24.—Smith College students have been placed under a temporary quarantine for small pox, it was announced today by President William Allen Nielson. A recent visitor at Smith College developed a case of small pox after her return to her home in New York state, it was stated, and as a precautionary measure all students are to be vaccinated before they will be allowed to leave Northampton.

DIES OF SELF-INFLICTED WOUNDS

WHITINSVILLE, Oct. 24.—Dickran Bagdasarian died in a hospital here early today of a self-inflicted wound. In the presence of his aged father who was powerless to prevent him Bagdasarian last night shot himself in the head. He had been in ill health for some time, his friends said.

VERDICT OF $13,825 FOR MRS. FREESE

LAWRENCE, Oct. 24.—A sealed verdict for $13,825.35 was opened today in superior court in the suit of Mrs. Lizzie B. Freese of Somerville against Fred O. Spalding, administrator of Los Angeles and a former newspaperman of this city. Suit was brought by Mrs. Freese to recover $9500 principal, plus interest on a loan made by her husband, now deceased, to Henry F. Hildreth, late of this city. The latter's estate, some $30,000, was inherited by his wife who later married Mr. Spalding. On her death, Mr. Spaulding received the estate.

PLENTY OF REASON FOR THIS CROWNED HEAD BEING UNEASY

LOTTERY DISCOVERED IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Oct. 24.—A lottery, which is said to be an international affair with its headquarters in Italy, was discovered here today by the local police and two arrests were made. Pasquale de Pippo and Ettore Lonzo, alleged local agents, were arrested this noon and each was held in $500 bonds for appearance in the district court tomorrow.

According to these men, the Italian government is behind the lottery but the local police discredit this. The police say the plan is similar to the old Louisiana lottery in this country. More arrests are expected.

The police were made aware of the local lottery situation when a local man sent the ma letter saying that Lawrence Italians were being fleeced out of hundreds of dollars. Acting on information in this letter, the police made the arrest and seized a quantity of lottery tickets.

Four United States cities which are said to be headquarters for the lottery are Lawrence, Boston, Providence, R. I., and New York.

$2,000,000 ESTATE TO GRANDCHILDREN

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Two grandchildren of Mrs. Robert M. Thompson, Robert Thompson Pell and John H. G. Pell of Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., will ultimately receive the bulk of her estate under her will filed today in the surrogate's court. The value of the estate, totals $2,000,000.

During the lifetime of Colonel Thompson, Mrs. Thompson's husband, he is to have the income from the residuary estate after several gifts have been made to philanthropic institutions and to family servants.

Upon the death of Colonel Thompson Robert Thompson Pell is to receive $100,000, and then share the rest of the estate with his brother.

EVERETT TRUE

DRAGS FAILURE FROM LIMBO TO SUCCESS

By the N.E.A. Play Jury

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—It is the Theatre Guild again that saves the theatrical day.

This time it dashes up in the gay gold, red and blue trappings of a Russian officer to put the touch of buoyant and finished art upon a rather laggard season. In "The Guardsman," Molnar's extremely piquant comedy, the second truly worthwhile play of the year is given; the other was "What Price Glory?"

It is interesting to note that some 11 years ago this same play was given under the name of "Where Ignorance Is Bliss" and came to quick and disastrous finish. Old-timers recall that it was then hastily produced and cast.

At any rate this little comedy masterpiece was rescued from limbo after a dozen years and now seems more up to date than ever.

The tip of high comedy is reached by the situation presented; an actor, with all an actor's little vanities, is wed to an actress, who has not only little vanities but an appetite for amours. Her husband notes signs of her changing interests and to test her, while at the same time setting his ability as an actor, he hits upon the plan to court his own wife while wearing the make-up of a Russian guardsman.

How delightfully droll his complex situation; if he succeeds in the conquest of his wife he proves himself a superb actor, but must suffer the anguish of a fond husband; if he triumphs as a husband he still must take a bitter pill because he has failed as an actor.

Of course, he betrays himself in the end, for he has become too eager for a solution. And, of course, the wife says she has known of his deception all along.

It is here that Molnar has done his finished writing, for the audience leaves in a guessing mood. They ask a question that will be argued up and down the theatrical columns for many a day to come: When did the wife first discover the impersonation? Did she discover it at all until the denouement? Did a certain preference in cigarets give her a tip? Or did she listen at the keyhole in the opera scene?

Few will agree on this. But none will doubt here is one of the most finished bits of acting in many a day. Lynn Fontanne, as the actress, and Alfred Lunt, the actor—they are man and wife off the stage—give such a performance as to cause critics to ponder. Will this play bring about a new partnership that will make theatrical history? Some already hint that it will.

Certainly no such protean ambidexterity has been seen in America's play factory many a moon.

Also there is Helen Westley in the fine role of a theatrically inclined housekeeper.

IN NEW YORK

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Oct., 25.—In Brooklyn the other night a taxi driver picked up a thirsty fare in search of a drink. He took him to his sister's home.

The fare happened to be a "fly bull." He arrested the taxi driver's sister. In court she was sent to jail for 90 days.

Laugh that off!

Saw Al Jolson talking to a theatre ticket salesman in front of the Astor theatre last night. Al's sporting a blue bruise on the bridge of his nose. Didn't ask him how he got it.

Go to any public building in New York on a Sunday. The chances are nine in ten that you will see a Jap with a camera.

In proportion to population there are more amateur photographers among the Japanese in New York than in all other nationalities combined.

The cameras they carry are no little 2x4 boxes. They are fine cameras, of a quality equal to those used by expert news photographers.

You will see these Jap photographers of a Sunday in or around the such as the Museum of Natural History and the Metropolitan museum. You will see them on the ferryboats, taking harbor scenes. You will see them at the public library on Fifth avenue. You will see them in the Wall street section. You will see them along Riverside drive.

What do these ubiquitous Jap photographers do with all their photographs?

WAS TIRED OUT BEFORE NOON

Pains Around the Heart Were Caused by Attacks of Indigestion

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble.

"The tonic method of treating disorders of this kind does not aim to do the work of the stomach, does not demand that the food be predigested, but builds up the weakened organs, so they can do the work that nature intended.

Mrs. Flora Jones, of No. 1414 Elm street, Manchester, N. H., says: "I was tired all the time. By noon I would be so tired that it didn't seem as though I could finish the day. Beside the tired feeling that I had all the time my stomach was upset and after eating I would have heartburn. Gas would press around my heart and my heart would flutter. I had no strength, there were pains all over my body and I had headaches almost constantly.

"One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after the first box I could see that I was a great deal stronger. I could work all day and not feel all dragged out. Before I had finished the second box the pains were all gone and I could eat without distress. I certainly feel better than I have in a long time and whenever I feel run down I shall take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a reliable tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. Price sixty cents. They can be used with safety for any length of time as they contain no opiates, stimulants or harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

The following members of the association had general charge of the arrangements: Eugene Turcotte, chairman; Yvonne Lambert, Wallace Sweet, Michael McInerney, Thomas Tague, Ralph Voissard, and Misses Marion Buckley, Jessie McAdams, Anna Robbins, Anna Muldoon, Loretta Heffernan, Rose Roussell, Mabel Foley and Hertha Soucier.

WANT HEARING ON 20-CENT FARE

Residents of the Collinsville section of Dracut, incensed at the resumption of the 20-cent fare from Lowell on the street railway, have petitioned the board of selectmen to request a hearing on the matter before the Massachusetts board of public utilities.

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

Boston Symphony Orchestra Coming Nov. 2

SERGE KOUSSEVITZKY
Conductor

There are a number of interesting episodes in the career of Serge Koussevitsky, the new Russian conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, who is to come here Sunday, Nov. 2, with his 105 musicians. But probably there is no incident so entirely out of the ordinary, as the musical world goes, as his three trips down the Volga. There might have been more, but as extra-musical disturbances would have it, his tour in the spring of 1914 was his last.

Some legends have arisen about these Volga tours. One is that the concerts were free. They were not. Koussevitsky never patronized these most unusual of symphony publics. They paid the regular theatre prices, listened to the concerts in their own town theatres; and were served with regular symphony programs.

Even with box-office accounts, Koussevitzky's Volga tours involved an appalling deficit. It is no simple matter to hire one hundred fine musicians, charter a steamer with accommodations for two hundred (counting musicians' wives, crew and friends), and sail for 2500 miles, stopping at towns of all sorts along the way. The tour lasted about four weeks.

Such an excursion was of course a chance for a Russian to study his people, and it is not surprising that Stanislavsky of the Russian Art theatre was the guest of one of these tours. Scriabin also made the journey and had the unique experience of observing his symphonies suddenly thrust upon an absolutely untutored and incredibly receptive people. Edward Ritter went along, and played in Beethoven's two standard piano concertos. Koussevitsky gave them such symphonies as Beethoven's 3rd and 7th, Rachmaninoff's 2nd, Tchaikovsky's 6th, Liszt's "Maseppa," Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter" overture, etc. In a word, the programs were such as are regularly attended by the musically sophisticated in any great metropolis.

Mr. A. M. Abell, a guest on the last tour, thus described the effect which this music made:

"I was deeply interested in observing the effect that such music, magnificently played, made on these audiences. Although musically uncultured they were very intelligent and highly receptive. They displayed an instinctive feeling for the lofty and the beautiful and reacted to Koussevitzky's spirited readings as a high strung horse does to a master hand at the bridle.

"The enthusiasm was genuine and spontaneous and the auditors listened with rapt attention. It was like watching the face of an unspoiled child while listening to a beautiful fairy tale and, indeed, to those Russians on the remote Volga this was a veritable fairyland of beauty that Koussevitzky revealed to them. Before this advent they had never heard a symphony orchestra and had never even seen many of the instruments. At Saratow, a deputation of the citizens called on Koussevitzky at his hotel and requested that he place the harps at the front of the stage at the concert in order that the people could see and admire these beautiful golden instruments.

"A few hundred miles north of Astrakhan we visited a tribe of Kalmucks, a wild nomadic people living in tents something after the manner of our Indians. Strange to say these half-savage people were worshippers of Buddha and carried a Buddhist temple about with them on their wanderings over the trackless steppes. When the tribe saw the big steamer approaching their shore, they thought that the czar had come to make them a visit and they turned out in full force to welcome us. The men proved to be very friendly and I took some interesting snapshots of them, but the women were very shy and would not be photographed, believing that the camera was an instrument of the devil."

Seats are now on sale at Steinert's.

MARY PICKFORD IN "DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL"

Another of those genuine motion picture treats is assured the patrons of The Strand for the first four days of the coming week, starting with Sunday's matinee, when the Marshall Neilan production of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," starring the one and only Mary Pickford will be presented as the feature attraction. Need any more be said? Think of the star and the story and draw your own conclusions. Surely playgoers hereabouts who are familiar with true worth of this combination will not hesitate to pronounce it the very best to be had in filmland. It's Mary's latest screen endeavor, and in many ways it's her best, for it affords the premier female screen star an opportunity to not only again reflect her wonderful personal charm and cleverness, but also gives her the chance of demonstrating her versatility. One generally associates her name with characterizations that treat of playful youth and young womanhood, but in this she finds rare opportunity to indicate emotional drama and serious phases of life that stamp her for the wonder picture star she really is. In addition to "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," there will be other contributions to round out a delightfully balanced and satisfying program. The musical numbers on The Strand organ will also help make it most acceptable.

Picturizing the most famous of the Charles Major novels, stands out as one of the cinema events of the year, presenting Mary Pickford in her greatest role. Her thoughts have dwelt so much upon the filming of this story, Mary has given her whole heart and soul to the creation of her newest screen personality. A most capable cast of players will be seen in her support. Allan Forrest is the lover, Sir John Manners, and Marc MacDermott is the villainous cousin, Malcolm Vernon. Anders Randolf makes an ideal father for Dorothy Vernon and Wilfred Lucas is the Earl of Rutland. Clare Eames, famous for her portrayal of queenly roles on the speaking stage, brings to the screen a characterization of Queen Elizabeth that is a revelation of histrionic art. Among the other players of note are Lottie Pickford Forrest, a sister of the star, Malcolm Waite, Courtenay Foote, Howard Gaye, Estelle Taylor, Mme. Carrie Daumery, Eric Mayne, Colin Kenny and Lewis Sargent. The production is lavish, no expense having been spared in erecting stately mansions and medieval castles. Scenes of pageantry and revelry are presented with picturesque magnificence. Under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" has renewed interest in the romantic drama of the screen. Characteristic of all recent Pickford offerings, the wonderful photography is worthy of note. Mary is seen as an eighteen-year-old spitfire. Her wonderful smile changes in an instant to a tempest of anger and stamping of feet to as swiftly turn to plead for pardon. It's rich in humor, alive with thrills, replete in action with Mary in a daring horseback ride. It's a photoplay of the truly worthy sort. Don't miss it.

"The Gold Diggers" Attraction at Opera House

LILLIAN DESMONDE OF STANLEY JAMES PLAYERS

"The Gold Diggers" will be the offering of the Stanley James Stock Players at the Lowell Opera House all next week, with Miss Lillian Desmonde taking the part of Jerry Lamar, made famous by Miss Ina Claire. This play was written by Avery Hopwood and was originally produced by David Belasco, running for two solid years in New York and for a full year in Chicago, following up with a four months' successful stay in Boston.

Gerald Rowan, the popular and talented leading man of the company, and Wilmer Walter; Miss Vessie Farrell and Miss Faith Avery, all have excellent parts. Miss Helen Aubrey and Jack West also are well cast in this particular show which has to do with the off-time activities of the "ladies of the chorus" and that type of masculinity quite frequently referred to as the "stage door Johnnie." It is a great play, regarded by critics as the greatest of Avery Hopwood's many brilliant works. His original production will be strictly followed by Director Millar and a bevy of beautiful girls has been brought on here from New York for the especial purpose of augmenting the cast and adding more vim and more beauty to New England's best stock company.

Manager Stanley James has paid a big royalty to secure the rights to this great play but recently released to stock and, judging from the advance demand for seats, his judgment is already vindicated. Commencing with the matinee on Monday, every performance should be packed full of lovers of the spoken drama for this offering is indeed a treat.

Throughout the season, from the very commencement, Mr. James has maintained a high standard of plays and this particular one is well up to any of them. It is expected that long before midweek the house will be sold out for the week, so for that reason it is really advisable to phone 7640 and make reservations now.

Biron's Opera House orchestra, composed of men who are all soloist musicians, has arranged a special program of delightful music that whiles away the few moments between the acts. The stage effects and settings are all most gorgeous, reflecting the genius and skill of Dan O. Finch, the scenic artist brought on here by Mr. James.

Lowell theatregoers have been appreciative of the James policy of providing only the best and most recent releases. Because of this policy the Opera House is doing a splendid business this season, the patronage being especially heavy. The reservation lists are today the largest they have ever been in the history of stock in Lowell and are each day growing larger. The courteous attitude of the house attaches, from box office to back stage, has done much to lend atmosphere to the playhouse and it is becoming more and more popular.

Gerald Rowan, the leading man of the company, and Jack West, debonair and handsome juvenile man, both have splendid parts in next week's show. It is a show that shouldn't be missed and the best insurance of not missing it is to phone 7640 now and tell the owner of the voice with a smile that answers that you want tickets reserved. The demand is bound to be great and the capacity of the Opera House will certainly be taxed for every performance this week.

FINE BILL AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Merrimack Square theatre patrons have achieved a distinction of being highly discriminating photoplay critics. Only the best calls forth their praise. Hence, the consistently high standard of attractions which are booked week after week for this popular amusement house. The bill for the first part of the coming week, beginning with matinee tomorrow, will be no exception. In fact, it gives promise of being a bit better than even the high Merrimack Square standard.

The leading features will be "Changing Husbands," a story which works out the age-old problem of whether a girl should choose marriage or a career to get the most out of life, with pretty and capable Leatrice Joy in the leading role, and "The Tenth Woman," a novel by Harriet L. Comstock, dealing with women of the present day. June Marlowe and Beverly Bayne are in the leading roles.

LEATRICE JOY

In addition there will be an excellent comedy and the latest number of the International News. Regular Merrimack Square prices will prevail.

There is something about the title of "Changing Husbands" that strikes a responsive chord in the feminine heart. It is safe to assume that every married woman has at least once wanted to exchange her "lord and master" for something a little better in the husband line. As for the prospective bride, the idea of learning a safe and simple method of acquiring a new "Romeo" in case the one she now has does not come up to her expectations, is bound to have a powerful appeal. So there you are! And if you think the men aren't going to sneak in to see what the picture is all about, then you don't know human nature!

Those who read the story by Elizabeth Alexander when it was running serially in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Roles," will remember that it revolves around the complications that ensue when a society matron and an actress who resembles her change places for three months. The opportunities for funny situations are unlimited, and have not been overlooked by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin who adapted the story to the screen. Frank Urson and Paul Iribe co-directed the production and to make sure that nothing would be overlooked in the way of lavish settings and gorgeous clothes, Cecil B. DeMille personally supervised the picture.

Miss Joy in the principal feature role has a part that puts her ability as a versatile actress to a severe test inasmuch as she is called upon to portray a dual role. Among the principal players in the supporting cast are Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith, Zasu Pitts and Julia Faye.

If you are in search of genuine entertainment and at the same time want a little food for serious thought, be sure to see "Changing Husbands."

A picture dealing with a subject that will interest everybody is "The Tenth Woman," the second feature.

The cast is a typical Warner combination of screen stars, including Beverly Bayne, who has just returned to the screen; June Marlowe, John Roche, Raymond McKee, Charles "Buddy" Post, Alec Francis, Edith Yorke, Gilbert Holmes. James Flood is responsible for the direction of this picture.

Willa Brookes, who is saved from suicide by Barry Compton, remains at his ranch as housekeeper. Some time later Barry is compelled to go east on business, and during his visit he receives his friendship with Rose Anne Brainerd who, although married, is a typical flapper type. When Barry is about to go home, Rose Ann has a quarrel with her husband and as a result of her usual thoughtlessness, she leaves for Barry's ranch and arrives before he does. Willa, believing Rose Ann is the girl Barry is to marry, decides to leave. When Barry returns, Rose Ann regrets her hasty action and waits for her husband to come to her. Barry, meanwhile, having discovered Willa's plight, starts out for the station after her and is just in time to save her from an accident.

Good Bill at Keith's — Sunday Program

LEW HUNTING APPEARING AT KEITH'S NEXT WEEK

The special entertainment at the B. F. Keith theatre on Sunday will have Clarence Oliver and Georgie Olp featured in their charming little playlet, with Billy McDermott, giving an inimitable monologue. Others present for the two performances will be Yates & Carson, in fun; Miss Bennett & Miss Pollock, in a musical act, and Rialto & LaMont. The picture will be "Oliver Twist," made from the great story by Dickens and with Jackie Coogan in the title part.

Isabel D'Armond, who has twinkled in many of the best of musical comedies, and Lew Hunting, who has won his laurels on the musical comedy stage, will be the coming week's stellar feature. They have only recently formed a vaudeville team, and so successful have they been with their delightful offering, "Five Minutes from the Station," that bookings now will carry them straight through the season. The story of the piece, in short, tells aspiring employes how to better their positions in life. Of course it is comedy, deliciously played, but underneath it all is a solid current of truth.

A. Robins, who humorously imitates musical instruments, will turn out to be a veritable walking music store. With remarkable powers over his vocal organs, he is able correctly and melodiously to reproduce the tones of many instruments. And there is humor a-plenty in his act.

A little skit entitled "A Girl of To-Day" will be the offering of Jack Fulton and Dorothy Quinette. The authors have woven melody and story into what might be called an abridged musical comedy, with original songs written exclusively for the act.

Fridkin, Jr. and Rhoda, in a flash of color and grace offer a picturesque and unusual dancing act. Here is a dancing entertainment which is as attractive as it is away from the beaten path, and it is bound to score well.

Ray W. Snow and Narine present a clean, clever and up-to-the-minute conversational oddity called "You Pick 'Em." Mr. Snow has been very well known as the creator of "The Man About Town" Monologues, and he is a writer of no mean ability.

For the first time on any American stage—positively—there will appear Ralph Holbein, a rapid fire artist, who will give art while you wait. Holbein is now on the high seas, and it is expected that he will arrive in this country late Sunday night. He has been a great favorite in the European halls.

The week's picture will be "The Chechahcos," otherwise known as "The Tenderfoot," which was filmed exclusively in Alaska. There have been many of the great northern pictures, but until this one they have never been taken in an Alaskan background. It is splendidly told and gripping all the way through.

STRAND TODAY

Sabatini's screen version of his greatest novel, "The Sea Hawk," the picturization that has been attracting capacity audiences at all performances at The Strand during the week, will be shown for the last times this afternoon and tonight. Those who have witnessed the local presentation unqualifiedly pronounce it superior to any shown this season, and the equal of any shown here in years. Milton Sills' treatment of the principal male character is one of the outstanding features of this super-photoplay, while the endeavors of the assisting cast are meritorious. "The Sea Hawk" has everything found in a highly successful motion picture. Action galore, romance and tense moments, while the superior photography and scenic effects are superb. As to the worth of the picture and story, one has but to ask his neighbor. Remember, last times today, and also the fact that the picture will not be shown in this city again this year. If you are partial to good pictures you can't afford to miss "The Sea Hawk." Directing Manager Torgan has arranged other attractions to balance up a perfectly delightful program. Don't miss the last chance today.

"Neglected Women" Chief Attraction at Rialto

SCENE FROM "NEGLECTED WOMEN" AT RIALTO

Because a man saves another man's life is he ever exempt from punishment at the hands of the other man, no matter what he may do against the man's welfare? This is one of the questions asked and dramatically answered in "Neglected Women," which will be the chief attraction at Loew's Rialto Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both these men are in love with the same girl and, in a fit of pique, she marries the one she doesn't love. Later, after love for her husband has come to her, the other man, chiefly because he is her husband's friend, still retains a hold on her affections and he uses this hold to inveigle her into giving him information about her husband's business affairs which he uses to his detriment. When the source of the information comes out, the seed of jealousy is sown in the husband's mind and when the two meet—it's a strong situation and the climax that follows it has a surprise kick to it that will delight every movie fan.

A splendid cast enacts the various roles in the picture, headed by Seena Owen, it includes the following favorites: Thurston Hall, Lawford Davidson, Eva Moore and Joan Morgan.

John Gilbert, who is starred in "Just Off Broadway," has become one of the most popular leading men in pictures. Mr. Gilbert says that if he should ever forsake the silver sheet, he would like to join the United States secret service. Incidentally, Mr. Gilbert has acquired close friendship in the personnel of the secret service men whom he calls by their first names, but who are known to headquarters only by numbers. And he has made a study of their methods, not only in the comfortable chairs at a club, but out on actual assignments with them. The result is that in "Just Off Broadway," Gilbert is said to play a particularly realistic role.

In this picture, Gilbert portrays a character who becomes one of a gang of international crooks. Not once do they suspect him and even the girl with whom he falls in love tries to reform him. Believing that she is one of the band, Gilbert is just as eager to reform her. The manner in which these two straighten out the tangle of their lives and eventually perform a great service, makes a strong dramatic picture. Marian Nixon has the leading feminine role.

"Fighting Blood," a comedy and News reel are the short subjects on the bill.

"The Rustle of Silk," co-starring Betty Compson and Conway Tearle, and "Dollar Devils," with Eva Novak and Cullen Landis, are the attractions for Sunday only.

MUSICAL COMEDY FOR THE ROYAL THEATRE

On Monday next, the Royal theatre management will inaugurate a new form of entertainment, in presenting the famous Patent Leather Girls, a company of eight people, who will specialize in musical comedy. Comedians, dancers and singers make up this select little company of players who are coming to Lowell loaded with all sorts of frivolous bits. Theatregoers are assured a clean, entertaining little performance, which is shown in addition to the usual high-grade photoplay performance. Charles Hutchinson will be seen for the first time in Lowell in his first of his new big series of photoplays. The first of these is "Surging Seas," a masterful drama of the briny, and every indication points to a big entertainment value for next Monday and Tuesday at the Royal. The counter screen attraction is a new 5-act feature, and another episode of the "Daredevil Jack" serial with Jack Dempsey will also be shown these two days.

Tomorrow, the usual four acts of vaudeville, and the Fredette orchestra will be the special attractions. The photoplay features are "Penrod and Sam" and "Broadway After Dark," two excellent screen presentations.

ALEPPO DRUM CORPS OF BOSTON COMING

The Aleppo Drum Corps of Boston, the largest Shriner band of the country, which gives a concert and dance under the auspices of the Temple club in Lowell, Thursday evening, November 6, has, up to the first of October completed 403 rehearsals, and the hours of rehearsal of the combined band total 55,142 hours, and figured on the basis of union musicians' rate, it totals $83,613.

The members of this organization, who are all amateurs with one exception, travel each Monday night for these rehearsals, which are held in their armory in Boston, various distances up to 50 miles.

This organization of 216 trained musicians cannot be hired at any price, but can be induced to go to the uttermost parts of the country to make melody for divers good causes, and are in great demand throughout the country. Few non-professional musical organizations can boast the mileage travelled by The Aleppo Drum Corps, for they have gone as far as 8000 miles on a single engagement.

This is the first time that this aggregation has given a concert in the Merrimack Valley, and those not fortunate enough to be able to hear them at the Auditorium on November 6 are going to miss a rare treat.

Any of the readers who have had the opportunity of hearing the Symphony orchestra at The Capitol Theatre in New York play in conjunction with the pipe organ at this theatre will get a fair conception of what will be heard at the Auditorium when such numbers as "The Last Chord" are played by this body of musicians with the Auditorium organ.

If you are not fortunate enough to secure seats for this engagement, be sure and see this organization on parade at 7.30 on the night of the concert and dance.

Tickets may be procured at $1.25 each from members of The Temple club, or at Steinert's Music Store.

HELD STAG PARTY

Mr. Harold Thomas, a well known resident of the Highlands, was tendered a stag party in the German-American club last night in honor of his approaching marriage. He was presented a handsome electric floor lamp and a purse of $100 by his friends, the presentation being made by Ovit Dostaler. A buffet luncheon was served and entertaining numbers were provided by Oscar Olson, Paul Dostaler, Lawrence Condon, Richard Perry, Edward Bailey. Those responsible for the success of the party were Edward Strauss, O. Dostaler, Norman Spence and O. Olson.

Eat and Get Thin

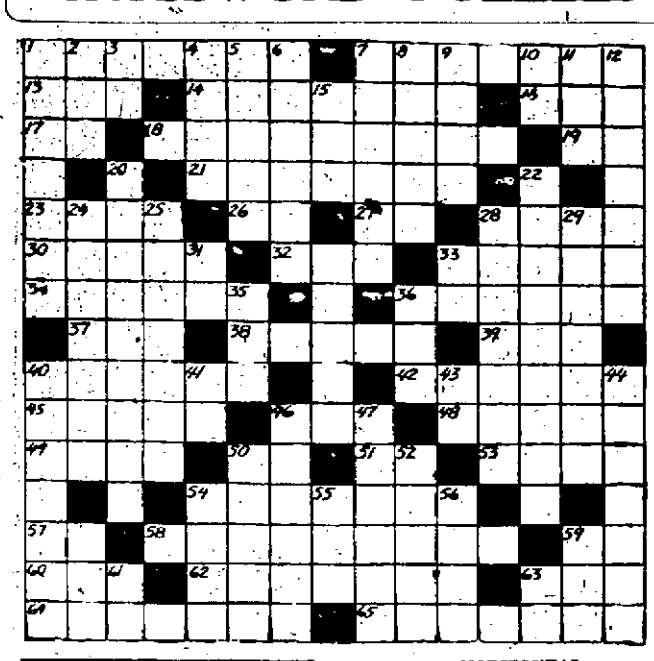

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your druggist and get a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal, healthy reduction of excess weight. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or weakening exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the athletes. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your flabby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why don't you? TOPSFIELD FARMER KILLS WIFE, TWO CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Blows Head Off Infant in High Chair, Shoots Wife Dead; Reloads Gun and Kills Boy of Three and Then Ends Own Life—Three Other Children in School

TOPSFIELD, Oct. 25.—In a fit of temporary insanity, Homer Kennedy, 45, a farmer on the estate of Miss Edith Prince, here, on Prospect street, seized his brand-new shotgun, yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and murdered his wife, Harriet, 40, his three-year-old son, Richard, his 18-months-old daughter, Elizabeth, and then, turning the gun upon himself, blew his brains out. The shootings took place in the kitchen of their cottage on the estate.

A 17-year-old girl, Irene Walsh, daughter of Chief of Police William H. Walsh, was the only witness of the affair, and she fled in terror before its conclusion.

Yesterday afternoon, after high school, Miss Walsh went to visit her neighbor, Mrs. Kennedy, and to play with her babies. She said that she found Kennedy himself in the house and his wife urging him to go out for a walk. Shortly, she says, the two began to quarrel about it. "I don't care if I am moody," Kennedy said. "I'm a sick man and I won't go out."

Upon further urging by his wife, Kennedy became wildly enraged, and shouting, "I'll put you where there'll be no more bother from you," picked up his new gun, which he had been admiring, and blew off the head of his baby, Elizabeth, who was seated in her little high chair across the room.

No sooner had he done this than, warding off the attack of his frenzied wife, he placed the other barrel of the gun at her throat and pulled the trigger. The charge of shot almost decapitated the woman. Her body fell onto the hot kitchen stove, then rolled to the floor.

At this point Miss Walsh, who had been transfixed with terror, regained her senses and ran outside, screaming for help. Two men were nearby, picking apples. These two, Clem Averill and Clearence Lake, rushed over, but, as they arrived, two more shots were heard in the kitchen of the Kennedy home.

On hearing what was wrong, they rushed inside to find no living person in the shambles. Kennedy had rapidly reloaded his gun, killed his son, Richard, with one barrel, and used the other upon himself.

The Kennedys had three other children; Wayne, 11, Homer, Jr., 9, and Theodore, 7. These three were at school at the time, but were now almost home. While sending word to the police, Averill and Lake also sent word to stop the three children from arriving home. Albert Lane, ticket agent at the Topsfield railroad station, heard the news just before he saw the children. He stopped them and entertained them until Mrs. Theodore Kennedy of Danvers, their aunt, took them home with her.

At first, neighbors were at a loss to understand Kennedy's action. With them all, he bore the best of reputation; a steady, sober, quiet man who was devoted to his family.

PARKER LECTURE PROGRAM SUNDAY

The season's first Moses Greeley Parker entertainment will be given at the Auditorium tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, with Hon. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of correction of the city of New York as speaker, and Millo Piece, formerly of Lowell and now widely known baritone of the Metropolitan opera company as the soloist.

Mr. Wallis will discuss the question, "Americanizing the Immigrant" and is acknowledged to be thoroughly qualified to speak intimately of this peculiar problem. He is an authority on Americanization, economic arbitration, progressive good government and on social problems of the day.

Admission to the lecture will be by the regularly issued tickets which will be honored any time after 2.15 p. m. Between 2.45 and 3 o'clock the general public will be admitted without tickets.

WILL RETURN SEALED VERICT

An action of contract brought by George W. Healey, local undertaker, against Bertha E. Boynton of Pepperell, to recover $875, the amount of a bill rendered, went to the jury in superior court here yesterday afternoon and a sealed verdict will be returned at 10 a. m. Monday.

Football Games on Virtually Every Local Playground and Park Over Week-End

LAST APPEARANCE IN EAST OF FAMOUS NOTRE DAME ELEVEN

Highly Charged Tigers Face Baffling Notre Dame Windmill at Princeton—Harvard Plays Dartmouth—Lafayette vs. W. & J. at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Football games upon the eastern stage today will express a wide range of the character of the sport.

Temperament will be stressed at Princeton where the highly-charged Tigers will face the baffling Notre Dame windmill which last year blew the little brother of football's oldest family around Palmer Stadium and scored a 25 to 2 victory before Rockne turned off the speed.

During the last week Princeton has prepared as never before for any team not of the big three. Notre Dame will be without its captain and line star, Captain Adam Walsh, and the Tigers hope to aggravate his absence by charging fast enough to stop the blades of Crowley, Layden and Miller before they gain momentum.

It will mark the last appearance in the east of Rockne's famous squad of the last two years, all of whom leave school next June.

At Harvard the conservative and slowly developing Crimson will wrestle with a powerful Dartmouth eleven polished by its friction with Yale last week. The Green is favored on season's form to win, but the outcome of the contest will be vitally affected by the strength that Harvard unfolds in the slow process of preparation for the big three battles.

With the same idea in mind Tad Jones will tinker about his machine at New Haven while Yale spurs with Brown in what should be a good workout for Ell.

Concerted efficiency, demonstrated in the Syracuse attack throughout th, eyear, will lay its knife upon the form of Penn State, still bewildered from a 15 to 13 defeat by Georgia Tech last week, although the northern squad excelled in all departments of the game but that of scoring. The Orange, with McBride, Bowman and Foley working behind a veteran line, should win its fifth straight victory although the possibility of the Nittany Lion finding itself upon its own gridiron, is strong.

Lafayette and W. and J., choosing to abandon their home fields for a neutral ground, will engage in a game of skill at the Yankee Stadium, with continuance as one of the unbeaten elevens of the year a prize for the victor. Two seasons back W. and J. won 14 to 13. Last year it was 6 to 6. Lafayette looms as one of the strong teams of the present season and is favored to win.

Playing still farther from home are two southern elevens, West Virginia and Center, which came all the way to the Polo grounds to settle a rivalry which began five years ago in the mountains famed for their feuds.

Centre was an unknown then and West Virginia was warm with national applause following a 30 to 0 victory over Princeton. Bob McMillan, Red Roberts and Red Weaver were introduced to the football world that day as Center won 13 to 6. The spotlight has stayed from Danville in recent years and West Virginia has its hand on the switch today, eager to turn it off entirely.

Almost obscured by the visiting delegations, Columbia, New York's own eleven, will come to bitter grips at Baker Field with the brave little Williams eleven that turned Cornell out of the sweet pasture of victory after three years of fat and easy living. Family skeletons will rattle in the battle. Coach Wendell of Williams is a pupil of Percy Haughton, mentor of Columbia. The Blue and White will attempt to reverse three straight defeats by Williams and acquire the winning habit. Columbia is the biggest obstacle in the path of an undefeated season for Williams.

Rutgers and Lehigh, two touch boys, will clash at Bethlehem and the impact may knock one from the undefeated class. Rutgers had beaten Cornell and Lehigh outplayed Princeton slightly in a scoreless tie.

Pitt and Carnegie Tech will tangle at Pittsburgh in a bitter family strife. Each has already been defeated. Pennsylvania, leading eastern team in points scored and games won, should slide home over Greasy Neale's Virginia. Bucknell meets Georgetown and Fordham clashes with Holy Cross in other interesting games for their sections.

Cornell is not scheduled.

Notre Dame-Princeton Lineup

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Tiger's claws have been sharpened and his spirit prodded throughout the entire week for today's meeting with the Notre Dame Gamet, which last year defeated a Roper eleven 25 to 2, in the first gridiron meeting between the two schools.

The lineup:

Brown vs. Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—The Brown Bear and the Bulldog come to grips at Yale Bowl today. The Rhode Island visitors were not scheduled to arrive until noon, which gave them no opportunity to test out the sunshine and shadows of the big saucer before lining up for the kickoff. The game will start at 2.30 o'clock.

The line-ups are announced as follows:

YALE	BROWN
Bingham, le	le, H. Brode
Joss, lt	lt, Roman
Shurhahn, lg	lg, McDermott
Lovejoy, c	c, Stephens
Eckart, rg	rg, H. Metzgar

Officials: Referee, W. R. Crowley, Bowdoin; umpire, W. M. Hollenbach, Pennsylvania; linesman, M. D. Williams, Wesleyan; field judge, F. W. Burleigh, Exeter.

51,000 Pack Stadium

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 25.—Two of the east's strongest teams, Dartmouth and Harvard, today waited the opening whistle for the clash in which the loser will mark down his first defeat of the season. Harvard chafed to wipe out the 16-0 defeat of last year and Dartmouth planned to take the rubber game of the series which started two years ago. A clear, cool day made conditions ideal for the 51,000 spectators packed into the stadium.

An evenly matched pair was the judgment of observers. In each was seen an outstanding threat which was offset by th every strength of the other team. Harvard's edge in punters was matched by Dartmouth's superiority in ends. Both backfields are powerful and fast. Dartmouth has shown a forward passing attack which gave her two touchdowns against Yale last week. The Crimson's overhead attack has been held back, only a few passes having been attempted this season, although one led to the first score against Holy Cross. The Green line has had the advantage of two more weeks' training than their rivals, but must counter the exceptional alertness of a fast aggressive group of frontiersmen.

Fallon was named by Coach Hawley as the starting Dartmouth quarterback to replace Dooley who opened the Yale game this year and last year piloted the Green to a decisive win over Harvard. Holleran, a 19-year-old tackle, has displaced Goldstein, a veteran of last season's team. Harvard's starting lineup includes only four letter men, three of whom, Hammond, Greenough, and Cheek, tried to stop Dartmouth last year. Gehrke, who did not play last year, helped defeat the Green two years ago.

Since their first meeting in 1884, today's rivals have met 23 times, Harvard winning 21 games, Dartmouth 3. Two games were tied. The announced line-up follows:

DARTMOUTH	HARVARD
Tully, le	lt, E. Bradford
Holleran, lt	lt, Linder
Diehl, lg	lg, Kilgour
Whittaker, c	c, Adie
Smith, rg	rg, Daley
Parker, rt	rt, Greenough

Southpaws Dominate Big Leagues

BY BILLY EVANS

Just at present left handed pitchers seem to dominate the major league batsmen.

So pronounced is the superiority of the southpaws over the swatters that Eddie Collins, half in jest and half in earnest, remarked to me one day last summer:

"Now that I am nearly through as an infielder, I only wish I threw left handed. I would start pitching and stick around for about 10 more years."

The White Sox had been beaten that afternoon by a southpaw, who in the language of the ball field is regarded as a "nothing pitcher."

By way of explanation, a "nothing pitcher" to the diamond athletes is a twirler who has nothing to fool the batter, just nice speed to hit and an easy curve to follow.

However, in these days of the lively ball the "nothing pitcher" is quite successful.

Southpaws Jolt Giants

No one would ever accuse Southpaws Zachary and Magridge of Washington of having the stuff of "Rube" Waddell, yet they stood the Giants on their heads in the recent world series, after Walter Johnson, with a world of stuff, had failed.

The supremacy of the southpaw in pitching circles has caused the major league magnates to comb the country for likely material.

Just as the season closed Washington announced that it had purchased the veteran Vean Gregg from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Then years ago Gregg was one of the outstanding pitchers in the majors. In sheer ability he is one of the few southpaws I have ever umpired who compared with the famous Rube Waddell.

Sensational Comeback

An injury robbed Gregg of much of his stuff, he slipped to the minors for a few years then retired from baseball. Now at an age close to the forty mark, he is doing a sensational comeback.

At the close of the world series Connie Mack of the Athletics broke into print in big headlines with the announcement that he had purchased Pitcher Groves of Baltimore for a trifle more than $100,000 and a few German marks.

In Groves, Mack gets the minor league pitching sensation of the last two years. Every major league club has been angling for his services. Big figures have been offered Jack Dunn for his prize left hander. Evidently Connie Mack must have made a flattering proposition to the Baltimore magnate.

Groves has had two phenomenal years at Baltimore. His great work figured largely in the winning of the last two pennants.

Groves, Strikeout King

He is the strikeout king of the league. In 1923 he established a record for the International by whiffing 330 men in 303 innings, an average of better than one an inning. Some pitching, believe me.

Groves' greatest fault is his wildness. It may be a bigger handicap than ever in the majors, where a pitcher inclined to be wild is waited out much more than in the minors.

If Groves is 75 per cent efficient for Mack, he will have repaid Connie for the generous money outlay. Should Groves prove a consistent winner, beware the Athletics.

All-America Possibility

ERNIE NEVERS

"One of the greatest football players I have ever coached. He doesn't seem to have a weakness."

That is the compliment Glenn Warner, head coach at Stanford, pays Ernie Nevers, his star fullback.

Warner, who has developed some of the greatest football players in the history of the game, is enthusiastic over the work of Nevers.

The west looks for Nevers to win a place on the mythical All-America team this year, if he plays up to expectations.

Nevers is a triple-threat man punting consistently 50 yards, gets off long and accurate passes and hits the line hard.

Nevers is a junior. He was the outstanding star of the team last year. He weighs 205 pounds, is 22 years old and stands six feet.

Aside from his football duties he pitches for the varsity team and stars in the track.

Gridiron Gossip

Spirited battles will be staged by local teams on the following gridirons tomorrow:

Butler A. A. vs. Sacred Hearts of East Boston on old Fair grounds.

Ponies vs. Butler Independents on First street oval.

Kenwood Rovers vs. Wanderers on North common.

Bowers H. X. vs. Mysteries on North common.

O. M. I. Cadets vs. University A. C. at Peabody.

Indians vs. Lion A. C. at Haverhill.

St. Peter's Cadets vs. Newton A. A. at Newton.

Acre Athletics vs. St. Joseph's at Peabody.

In connection with the above games, we pick the Butlers to defeat the East Boston S. H. team by a score of 20 to 0; the Ponies to beat the Butler Independents, 6 to 0; the Kenwood Rovers to take the Wanderers, 12 to 0; the Bowers H. X. to defeat the Mysteries, 12 to 5; the O. M. I. Cadets to beat the University A. C., 18 to 0; the Indians to tie the Lion A. C. 7-7; the St. Peter's Cadets to whip the Newton A. A. 8 to 0, and the Acre Athletics to defeat St. Joseph's, 6 to 0.

That statement in last night's gossip by Manager Walsh of the Butlers anent the letting of Alumni field to local football teams on Sundays free of charge, was favorably received in many quarters. Hundreds of fans would welcome the idea of the association in revising its schedule of taxation to allow semi-pro teams to play there on Sunday. As Manager Walsh points out, this is the only day of the week when a fair representation of fans can be gathered together.

The Alumni field squabble begins to look like the calling off of the annual O.M.I. Cadet-Butler engagement. Both teams are anxious to play and thousands of fans are awaiting the signing of agreements, but all apparently are doomed to disappointment—unless Alumni field can be secured on a Sunday with the teams advancing money for the grid and then being prevented from taking up a collection.

It has been proposed that the business managers provide concessions at the park and individual collections would be non essential. At the same time, the contesting teams would be within the law.

The Butler-Cadet game cannot be played on Thanksgiving day, as the Butlers have already booked the Cleveland Panthers for that occasion.

"Pete" Sheehan has recovered from recent injuries sustained in a scrimmage at Dean academy. He got into the game with Dartmouth Freshmen yesterday.

Spencer Sullivan, former star guard on the Lowell high team, is trying hard for the regular berth on the Canisius college eleven at Buffalo, N. Y.

The West Ends, a Broadway element, have organized a 120-125 pound team and would like games with teams of that weight. Timmy Sullivan, well-known Acre-ite and former athlete, is coaching the team.

The South common has been added to the list of playing fields for tomorrow. On this gridiron, the St. Peter's Cadets Seconds will play the Unities.

The Dracut Warriors will clash with the Collinsville Bearcats in Collinsville tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

These scores are merely conjectural. Football is so uncertain that upsets are liable to come at any moment. For instance, the Sacred Heart of East Boston with an array of ex-college and high school stars, may turn the tables on the Butlers and walk away with an easy victory. The East Boston players are no slouches. Their record of three successive wins without a first down being scored against them is truly an achievement that calls for a second thought. Regardless of preliminary guesses, tomorrow's clash on the old Fair grounds is sure to attract attention. The kick-off will take place at 2.30 o'clock with James J. Brilin, mayoralty aspirant doing the honors.

It's a pretty tough proposition to pick a winner in the Ponies-Butler Independent clash on the First street oval. One might just toss up a coin to decide the winner. Evenly matched and rearing to go, both teams are capable of landing the verdict. Whichever outfit wins will at least know it has been in a football match.

The crack St. Peter's Cadets will play the Newton A. A. at Newton tomorrow. Manager Eddie Rogers tried hard to secure the St. Mary's Cadets of Lawrence for a game here, but arrangements fell through. The next home game for the St. Peter's will be against the St. Augustine's of South Boston in this city a week from tomorrow.

In the game with East Boston on the old Fair grounds tomorrow afternoon, Coach O'Hare will select his starting team from the following: Ends, McMahon, Conley, Mullin, Burke; tackles, Whitely, Mullin, Bond, Armstrong, Sheehan; guards, Winters, McArdle, Brown, Sheehan, Corkery; centre, McMahon, White; backs, O'Hare, Chase, Conway, Loucraft, Willard, Rogers, Britton.

Boston college will not play Syracuse next fall. The orange would like very much to take on the Eagles again but the fact that Nebraska is to be put back on the schedule in 1925 forbids this. Chick Mehan does not feel that his team could play two strong teams as Nebraska and B.C. in one season.

Princeton and the Navy will play at Annapolis next year. It is to be the big home game on the Middies' 1925 schedule.

The Lafayette team, which played the Butlers here a couple of weeks ago, is playing the Lion A.C. of Haverhill in a benefit game on the Everett high school grounds this afternoon. The Lowell Indians will play the Lions in Haverhill tomorrow afternoon.

When the Ponies take the field against the Butler Independents on the First street oval tomorrow, they will have in their backfield George Keefe, former "L" man on the Lowell high school squad. After his graduation from the high school, George went to Boston colleg and while he did not participate in varsity athletics at that institution, he was prominently identified with class sports.

Last year Keefe played a few games with the Oakleaves of Centralville and was a bulwark in offensive play. He has been practicing regularly with the horsemen and will start against the Independents in first class shape.

Lowell high took along about 35 men to Fitchburg today. The new sheiter coats similar to those worn by Manchester were distributed to the members of the first and second teams just before the boys left.

The Lowell high third team lost to Howe high in Billerica yesterday afternoon. The score was 12 to 0. In a previous game with the Howe clique the score ended at six all. A. Reynolds and Sadler did teh scoring for the Billerica men yesterday.

That meeting of the Kenwood Rovers and the Wanderers on the North common tomorrow afternoon will be the third successive clash between these outfits. Both former games have resulted in tie scores, so that the elevens have a fighting incentive to give their best tomorrow.

A large truck load of fans will accompany the O.M.I. Cadets to Peabody tomorrow. The truck will leave the corner of Bowers and Salem streets at 12.30 o'clock.

Y.W.C.A. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Mrs. Edward F. Wellington of Malden was the speaker before a meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. She spoke of the importance of woman exercising the franchise at the polls on Nov. 4 and explained the referenda on the ballot. Mrs. Murdock MacKinnon presided at the business session. Several vocal numbers were given by Miss M. Giverson and refreshments were served.

AT FORGE VILLAGE

At Forge Village tomorrow afternoon, the Abbot Worsted soccer team will line up against the Clan McGregor outfit in a state cup series game. This afternoon the Abbots played the Gaylesville team on the latter's grounds.

The industrial league team represented by Abbot Worsted played Smith and Dove of Andover at Forge Village this afternoon.

NEW MOTOR SPEEDWAY

11 Crack Auto Drivers Compete in 250-Mile Event for $25,000 Cash Prizes

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 25.—Eleven crack automobile drivers were ready today for the inaugural race of Charlotte's new $300,000 motor speedway, a 250-mile event, for $25,000 in cash prizes. The winner's share was $9000 with $5000 to the second man, and the remaining $11,000 divided among the other starters.

The race marked the opening of automobile championship racing in the south under sanction of the American Automobile association.

The new board speedway has a mile and a quarter lap. During practice the world's speed record for a single lap was broken when Bennett Hill made 126.4 miles an hour.

LICHTENSTEIN'S BOXERS BARRED IN MINNESOTA

DULUTH, Mich., Oct. 25.—Larney Lichtenstein of Chicago and all pugilists under his management were barred from Minnesota rings after two of his proteges committed fouls in contests here last night.

Low Snyder of Bayonne, N. J., was disqualified in the first round after he had struck Stewart McLean of St. Paul, low. McLean had knocked Snyder down twice and punished him badly. The other contest in which a Lichtenstein fighter was accused of foul tactics was a preliminary bout.

AT BUNTING PARK

The Lowell Y.M.S.C. soccer club, leading the Industrial league, will face a tough opponent in the Smith and Dove team at Bunting park tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 3 o'clock. This afternoon the Y.M.S.C. outfit went to Worcester for a clash with the Whitalls.

WISE COUNSELLOR AND SARAZEN FACE BARRIER

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 25.—Wise Counsellor, Frederick A. Burton's two-time conqueror of Ethnard, and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Sarazen, who broke the Latonia track record to lead the famous French horse across the line in the Latonia stakes, are carded to face the barrier today in the $10,000 Maryland handicap. The race will be over a route of a mile and a quarter and is the fifth event on the program.

Five other three-year olds have accepted the challenge. They are Sun Flag, Ann Klan Initiate, Rustic and Big Blaze, all notable performers. Sarazen has been rated a four pound better horse than Wise Counsellor, the weights being 126 to 122.

Wise Counsellor will have the rail position at the post, with Sarazen in the middle of the field.

PAAVO NURMI SAILS FOR U. S. ON NOV. 6

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Paavo Nurmi, star middle distance runner, who competed for Finland at the Olympic games, will sail for America Nov. 6 and will make his first appearance in a two-months campaign at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6 at the meet of the Finnish-American A.C.

Nurmi will also compete in the municipal games on Jan. 15 and at the Millrose games Jan. 27 and 28, Frederick W. Rubien, A.A.U. secretary, who divulged Nurmi's plans, said.

ROJAS LOST DECISION, THEN FINED $500

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 25.—After he had lost the newspaper decision to Martin Burke, New Orleans, in a ten-round bout here last night, Quintin Romero-Rojas, heavyweight champion of Chile, was fined $500 by the Minnesota boxing commission, it was announced today.

The commission held that Rojas violated a contract with the local fight club in failing to arrive here within a specified time and in failing to post a $250 forfeit before the contest with Burke.

JESS WILLARD'S FARM TO BE SOLD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—The farm of Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion boxer, near Granville, Kas., will be sold at auction Oct. 25 and Willard will make his permanent home in California.

WILL HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies' of Charity of St. John's hospital will hold a rummage sale next Friday and Saturday in the old Courier-Citizen building in the square. All old clothing, furniture, hats, etc., will be accepted by the committee in charge and may be brought to the building Tuesday or Wednesday. If unable to bring the articles a call to 5950 will bring someone to deliver them for you. Men's clothing is particularly wanted but all articles will be thankfully received.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE

The first in a series of five sessions to be held under the direction of Miss Beatrice Billings, assistant home demonstration department, Middlesex county extension service, will be given on Wednesday next in the school house in Tyngsboro at 3 o'clock. The topic to be explained at this meeting will be "Food Selection" and will without doubt be of much educational benefit to the housewife.

MAINE VISITORS HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Herve Thibodeau of Caribou, Me., who are honeymooning in this city were agreeably surprised last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Theberge of Centralville. Miss Florence Taylor, in behalf of the many friends gathered to honor the couple, presented them a number of beautiful gifts, while Miss Alice Theberge, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theberge read an address of congratulation. Mr. and Mrs. Thebodeau responded in a fitting manner. A program of musical numbers was enjoyed during the evening and refreshments were served.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

Leo Daly's orchestra, a musical aggregation which is proving the season's sensation, will be featured at a dancing party to be conducted by the Twentieth Century club next Monday evening, at the Girls' City club. The Twentieth Century club consists of four prominent young men who promise their friends an exceptionally good time on next Monday night. The club members are confident that all who attend their dance will look forward eagerly to similar affairs in the near future and under the same auspices.

PRE-WEDDING SHOWER

Miss Grace Lord who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Francis J. Hanley, was agreeably surprised Wednesday evening when about 40 of her friends gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Lord in Powell street and showered her with numerous gifts of silver, cut glass and linen. A mock marriage was the feature of the evening in which the Misses Katherine Martin, Mayetta McMahon and Mrs. Gertrude Entwistle participated. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Herbert Dawson and Mrs. Royal Sweeney.

EDUCATIONAL CLUB

Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church will be the speaker before the Educational club at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Kitson hall. "Mormonism, Its Growth and Influence" will be his topic. A full attendance is requested.

AN INTERESTING REPORT

Director of Physical Education Submits Report to School Committee

Organized recess play, utilization of vacant rooms in junior high schools, the erection of double portable building in the yards of junior high schools, and the setting aside of a separate budget for the running expenses of the physical education department of the city's public schools, are suggestions contained in a report submitted to each individual member of the school committee by Donald R. MacIntyre, director of the department.

At the August meeting of the school board, it was voted to have the director of physical education report on conditions and facilities for athletics in the public schools. Mr. MacIntyre appeared in person before the board at the September meeting, but because of the importance of other business, it was suggested that he submit his report in writing. This he has done with the following enlightening result:

The Plan—The supervisor of physical education is the director of the department. He being responsible to the superintendent and through him to the school committee.

His duties are to arrange lessons suitable for the various grades, detail to schools and supervise the work of the physical instructors, and visit individual rooms from time to time to observe work done in the home room, to organize and administer athletics in the junior high schools.

The instructors are responsible to the supervisor. They conduct ninth grade junior high school classes twice per week, and all other grades once per week. Other duties are to demonstrate and interpret the lesson to be carried on in their absence, to observe for physical defects and correct them wherever possible, to coach the various sports in their season and to give as much of their time as possible in promoting healthful play among students.

To the principal falls the responsibility for the work in his school and the arranging of a program which allows 75 minutes per week for the pupils. The difference in time between that spent in the room by the instructor and the 75 minutes can be arranged as best suits the administration of a particular school. The department works in close co-operation with the health department.

The Work—In the high school the freshmen and seniors take the work in this department. Freshmen drill three times per week and seniors twice. Class work consists of marching, calisthenics, apparatus, games. Military marching is given in order that there shall be no radical changes in commands or movements when boys enter the regiment. Apparatus work is given on horse, parallel bars, stall bars, horizontal bars, flying wings, chest weights and springboard. Calisthenics consist of free arm and hand apparatus exercises. Games played vary with the seasons. Representative teams are coached by instructors outside of school hours and membership on teams is optional with the pupil. An exhibition of work is held in April and May. Physical and medical examinations are given and corrective exercises to those who are found defective.

Junior High School

In the junior high schools we try to co-ordinate the work so that girls are ready for sophomore senior high school gymnastics and boys are ready for the regiment.

However, the work given can not be put across as thoroughly as in the high school freshman class because we are away behind in facilities.

There are halls in our junior high schools which we are not allowed to use. But if these spaces could be used without injury to the structure I would strongly advocate their being utilized. The wall decorations and pictures could be protected by suspended nettings. However, if the building would suffer by their use the only other suggestion at present for finding suitable space is the erection of double portables in the yards of the junior high schools.

The Varnum and Butler schools are without are facilities that are desirable. The Bartlett school has a gymnasium, but the room in which some girls' classes are held is about 18x18 feet on the basement floor and is open directly on the corridor side. A very unsatisfactory condition.

The Morey school has a hall in which we attempt to carry on work with boys and girls. A beaver board partition about 7 feet high is all that separates the classes. One class disturbs the other. There is also a stage in this hall which I think if taken out and suitable partitions put in we could do better work.

The conditions are also a handicap to the instructors who have no private rooms in which to change their clothing for class work and no conveniences of shower rooms after finishing with their classes. As it is they conduct their classes in their street clothes and at the end of the sessions go out into the open in a more or less heated condition. Their vitality is naturally lowered by their work and going into the open in this condition makes them fit subjects for contracting colds and becoming ill.

Games and Athletics

It is the desire of the department to have every child active in games. One method of doing this is by means of organized recess play. But there is so much to be said on both sides that the department doesn't wish to attempt this organization without definite permission. The opponents of organized recess play will argue that the recess period is the child's free period and should not be taken up in this manner. However, if there were teams of boys and girls definitely chosen and not allowed to change, there would be the advantage of inculcating loyalty to a group and loyalty to school. I would give the child advantage of developing leadership, another very desirable quality. There would be something definite doing at recess other than the present unorganized period. If after giving organized recess play a fair chance it were then dropped I feel that the children would continue along the lines of their own accord rather than return to the old regime. The object isn't to teach the child to play—all children can play; it is just to organize and definitely supervise the play.

In athletics we have organized leagues in which the junior high schools have representative teams. The leagues have been highly successful in baseball, basket ball and track competition has been keen and throughout the schools there has been great enthusiasm.

However, in football we are up against the problem of equipment. It seems to be out of the question to ask boys to play this game unless we can give them the protection offered by proper equipment. The next best thing we can do is to give them football in theory and as much of the practice in fundamentals as our facilities will allow. These boys are losing one year in high school and the result naturally will be that as sophomores their value to a varsity coach will not be as great as the regular high school freshman. The instructors in the junior high schools giving instruction to these pupils would be of great assistance to the varsity coach because they could give the boys the fundamentals and practice necessary in the beginning of team formations.

The girls have no real big out-door game, but the department would like to develop field hockey for girls of the ninth grade. Then again the equipment is lacking.

The equipment which was required for early in the year has not been delivered with the exception of that necessary for the functioning of the baseball league. The department cannot function efficiently under the handicap of no equipment. It is going to be a heavy expense in getting the initial equipment, but if the department is to grow and develop the expense must be met.

I would suggest that a separate budget be set aside for the running expenses of the department and that it be used only for this purpose.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

On behalf of Vincent J. McCann, conveyance has been negotiated of an attractive suburban property situated on Carleton abenue near its junction with Gorham street in East Chelmsford. The house is of 1½-story type with seven rooms and occupies a tract of land in excess of 20,000 square feet. The grantees are Mrs. Marcella T. Clark and Mrs. Allison M. Clark, both at the present time residents of Chelmsford.

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a modern two-apartment property at 69-71 Fort Hill avenue. The apartments have seven rooms and bath each and the property throughout is of the highest grade of construction. The land involved totals 6340 square feet and carries an assessment at the rate of 25 cents per foot. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Freeman B. Shedd. The grantees are Michael Klerce and Katherine Klerce, who purchase for personal occupancy.

Final papers have been sent to record from this office in the transfer of the property at the junction of Pollard and High streets, North Billerica. The building is of frame construction and occupies land approximating 5000 square feet. The transfer is effected on behalf of the resident owner, Percy E. Horne. The grantee is Frank A. Kelley.

In connection with the above transfer there is also conveyed the stock, fixtures and good will of the store on the premises. Mr. Horne has carried on on this site for some years past a thriving business of which he now gives a bill of sale, covering this business together with a large stock to Frank A. Kelley, the purchaser of the real estate.

Sales by E. F. Slattery, Jr.

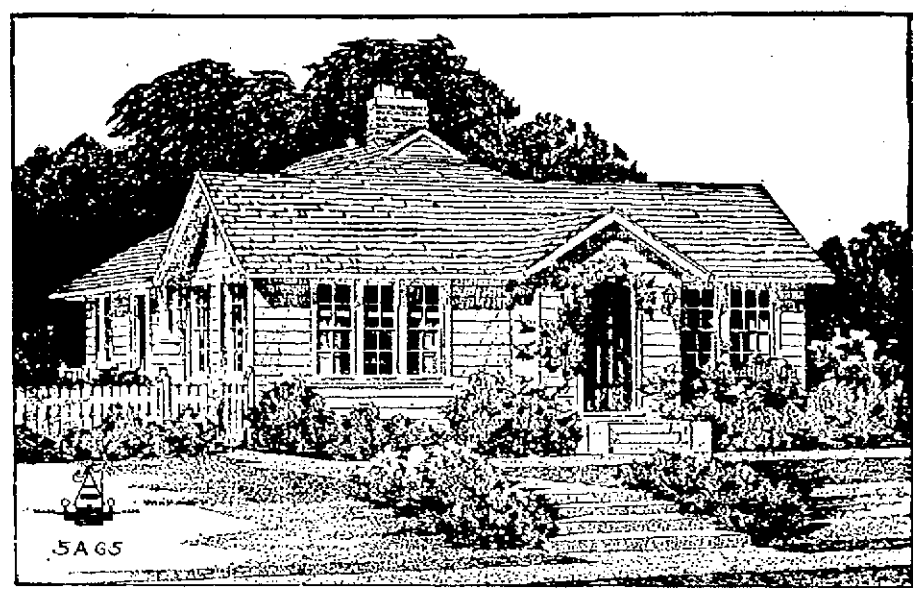

Edward F. Slattery, Jr., real estate and insurance, reports the following sales made through his office during the past week.

Final papers have been placed on record in the sale of the large investment property situated at 824-838 Bridge street. This parcel includes an eight-tenement house having five rooms and bath to each tenement, together with 12,500 square feet of land. The assessed valuation on land and buildings totals $9200. The grantor in this transaction is Mrs. Anna Fudim and the purchaser is John Kochanek, who buys for purposes of investment.

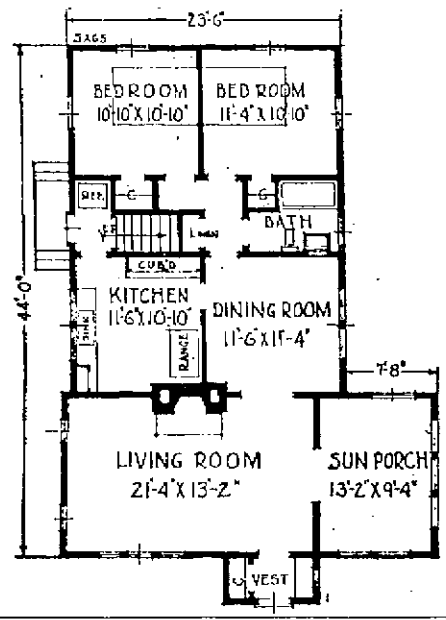

Final papers have been recorded in the purchase and sale of the property situated at 138 Ennell street. The property consists of an eight-room cottage house containing all improvements. About 5000 square feet of land are contained in the deed. Peter J. Largay and Josephine Largay convey title to Arthur Rivanis and Efthimia Rivanis, who buy for a home.

Also the sale of the large dry goods store situated at 143 Lakeview avenue. The stock, fixtures and good will in this store are conveyed to Anna Fudim by John Kochanek.

FIVE ROOM BUNGALOW—40 FOOT LOT

Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 5A65.

This plan should appeal to homebuilders who demand the bungalow type of house at the lowest cost consistent with good construction. It has been designed to build inexpensively, as bungalows go. It can be placed on a 40 foot lot, although a wider frontage would be desirable, of course.

Sun Porch Adds Space to Living Room

There are five rooms, bath and sun porch, and plenty of closet space. If desired the sun porch can be made a part of the living room, and not separated from it by doors, or a plaster arch can be substituted for the partitions.

A fire place occupies the inner wall of the living room in such a manner that the chimney stack may be had without additional expense to serve a coal burning kitchen range.

Study of this plan will reveal many conveniences and economies, not only in housekeeping, but in construction. It is a frame house with exterior finish of wide siding, though shingles or stucco might be substituted. Even though this house is designed to minimize costs, it does not lack in attractiveness and architectural distinction.

The Cost to Build This Bungalow

The cost to build this house, including heating, plumbing, lighting, painting, ready to live in, but not including wall decorations, should range between $6500 and $7500. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $1000 is given to cover differences in the way the house is built, how thoroughly it is equipped and completed and in what district it is erected.

DODGE BROTHERS
TYPE-B SEDAN

This car is now driven by a great many people who never before owned, and never intended to own a closed car.

It is driven daily over roads that heretofore were considered too rough and too heavy for anything except the sturdiest open cars.

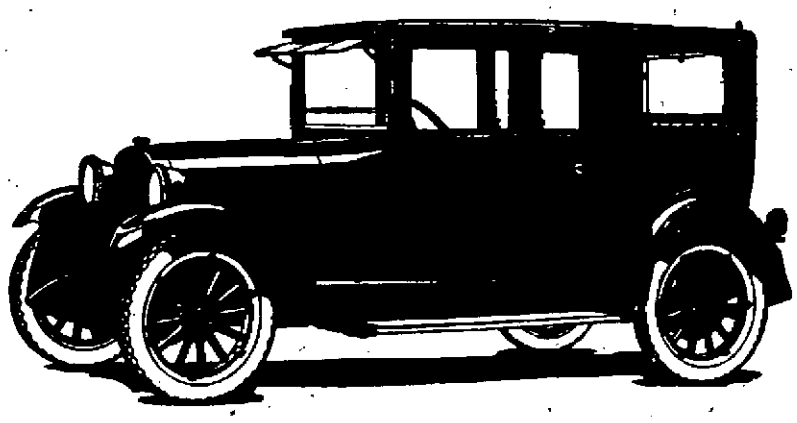

As a matter of fact, the Type-B Sedan is as sturdy as an open car, and was built by Dodge Brothers for the same identical kind of service.

THE TIDE EBBS TO DAVIS

Just nine days until election.

Less than two weeks until the citizens of this country go to the polls to register a decision affecting the future destiny of this nation. And it is not strange that as the end of the campaign nears, unprejudiced observers should see a realignment of sentiment everywhere except in the south as a result of a clarification of issues and principles.

Fogs of prejudicee and partisanship that obscured the vision of many voters at the beginning of this strangest of political campaigns in American history, endured longer than they could have under normal circumstances; but they have been dissipated under the straight-from-the-shoulder onslaughts of John W. Davis, revealing the duplicity and demagoguery of the republican leaders in the interest of their candidate.

Mr. Coolidge's man Butler played the trump card of the G. O. P. when he inflicted upon the country his fairy tale of a democratic-La Follette "conspiracy" to throw the election into congress. It not only failed, utterly and completely, but proved to be the prize boomerang of the most insipid campaign ever waged by a major political party.

Davis today has the edge on the Coolidge-Dawes lineup in many states that even democrats were ready to concede to the republican column only a few weeks ago. Republicans by the thousands now are face to face with the realization that hope of a Coolidge victory is naught but a fanciful dream. So has the republican chairman's attempt to stampede the electorate into supporting his candidate reacted upon his party.

It's Davis or congress, and of the two, the country is swinging to the support of Davis, with a great band of intelligent voters holding to the belief that election by congress is preferable to four more years of republican rule such as we have had under the Harding-Coolidge administration. The republicans and the favored interests are rolling up a big campaign fund to carry the election; but this year it will be found more difficult than formerly to purchase the election by pouring money into the close states. Senator Borah and Senator Walsh of Montana are watching the course of events; and hence not even Manager Butler will dare attempt the venality so openly advocated by Mark Hanna and Tom Platt.

It is fortunate that we have a few such able defenders of the rights of the people and such exponents of honest government as the two senators mentioned, our own Senator Walsh, and above them all John W. Davis who as president will give the nation an administration rivalling that of President Wilson from 1912 to 1920, one of the most prosperous eras in our entire history.

CURLEY AND HIS CRITICS

Daily for several weeks past the Boston Herald has been devoting its leading editorial to attacks upon James M. Curley, the democratic candidate for governor. Of course, every candidate who is running for office must expect to meet opposition and even criticism; but the Herald has been unfair and occasionally also untruthful in its onslaughts on Mr. Curley.

For example, in a recent issue, its editorial against Curley was headed "Me and the Gang." That expression implied that Curley is an uneducated and uncultured political boor whose chief aim in conducting the business of the city of Boston is to provide a gang of heelers with jobs. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The fact is that the powers of the mayor of Boston are so restricted by acts of the legislature that he has little opportunity to do anything of the kind. Owing to the officious interference of the republican legislature, the city of Boston is far from enjoying real home rule. Not only the civil service laws but others applied to Boston alone, prohibit the mayor from exercising such favoritism as the Herald charges against Mayor Curley in its editorials, including that headed "Me and the Gang." That phrase might more fittingly be applied to some of the republican candidates than to Mayor Curley who is one of the most eloquent and polished speakers in the commonwealth. That slang expression is coined deliberately by the Herald with the obvious purpose of identifying Mr. Curley with the lowest elements in the political life of the city, which shows that the Herald is thus resorting to political tactics that should be held beneath the dignity of a great paper, even in the heat of a strenuous campaign.

The Herald has drawn many unjust deductions from the reduction in the state tax under Gov. Cox and the alleged increase in the net debt of the city under Mayor Curley; but the mayor has ably exposed the injustice of the assertions thus made to prejudice his candidacy with the public. For instance, he shows that much of the "economy" boasted of in state affairs has been due to an increase in the fees for motor vehicles.

In an able and exhaustive reply to his critics on these charges he says: "The circumstances, therefore, surrounding the reduction in the state tax for 1924 may be summed up as follows: Whereas the state authorities would imply that the reduction was due to economies, effected in the conduct of the various state activities, the truth of the matter is that the cut was made possible largely as a direct result of the increases in funds received from the registration of motor vehicles, which, for the first time in the history of the state have made it unnecessary to appropriate money from general revenue for highway construction and maintenance.

"On the basis of the actual receipts for 1922 the state authorities could have increased their estimate of income for 1923 by at least one million dollars, which would have reduced the state tax for 1923 by at least half a million dollars."

Moreover, Mr. Curley shows that part of the alleged economies practiced by Gov. Cox consisted in the neglect or refusal to carry through necessary work which is a negative and unprogressive species of economy.

Relative to the increase in the net city debt which the Herald and other critics charge has been increased by $8,000,000 under Mayor Curley, Representative Adlow shows that if the rapid transit debt as of April 30, 1924, be excluded, the increase is but $45,000, and on this point Mayor Curley shows that the amount of loans authorized, but not issued on April, 1924, was $8,472,000, that this amount represented an increase of $3,878,500 during his administration. He shows further, that of the total loans authorized, but not issued, $4,084,000 was authorized by acts of the legislature, yet his critics hold him responsible for these deliberate acts of the Great and General Court. Besides, no unissued loan can be included in the net city debt. Thus Curley shows how his critics are misrepresenting the facts of his administration as well as the financial standing of the city of Boston.

The mayor also quotes the banking firm of Harris, Forbes & Company to the effect that Boston ranks first in credit standing among the ten largest cities of the country. This statement is based upon the tax rate and the ratio of the city debt to its revenues. All of which indicates the unfair tactics being used in an effort to accomplish Mayor Curley's defeat.

DAVIS WON LABOR VICTORY

Since the announcement of the decision by the United States supreme court, upholding the section of the Clayton act which provides that a labor leader cited for contempt outside the court, is entitled to a trial by jury, John W. Davis has been overwhelmed with telegrams of congratulations from all parts of the country. These recall the fact that it was Mr. Davis who wrote this particular section of the act and who led the fight on the floor of the house of representatives on July 9, 1912, for the adoption of this provision. He maintained at that time, that this feature of the act was constitutional although it had been attacked in congress on the ground that it would not stand the constitutional test.

Labor leaders in great number are among those who have offered their felicitations to Mr. Davis on this great victory. Among these are George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's association of Tennessee; Robert N. Dynum, state chairman of Printing Pressmen's union of Columbia, S. C.; Thomas McHugh, North Summitt, Indianapolis, Ind.; Arthur A. Quinn, president of the New Jersey federation of labor with a membership of 120,000; Theodore M. Brandle, chairman, district council, Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of New York and New Jersey and president of the Hudson County Building Trades, New Jersey; William Lyons, president of the Essex County Building Trades, and a great many others.

It is not surprising that labor leaders hasten to congratulate Mr. Davis on this splendid victory which marks a new epoch in the standing of labor organizations in the courts of the United States. If there have been cases in which the courts exercised arbitrary authority or overstepped their judicial powers, this decision of the supreme court providing that contempt cases shall be entitled to trial by jury, offers ample protection against any petty tyranny that might be exercised by an abuse of judicial authority. It is really a great victory for organized labor and one which results almost entirely from the personal efforts and judicial acumen of John W. Davis. This is an entirely just restriction upon judicial power and an ample guarantee of justice in contempt cases.

PROF. HART IS WRONG

Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, as might be expected, judging from his antecedents, comes out in favor of the so-called "child labor amendment," which is very generally condemned throughout the country. He says the proposed constitutional amendment "is no more an assault upon the personal liberty of the American people than the numerous state acts on the same subject, and further, that it confers upon the United States the same kind of power, and no more of it, than it now exercises over the persons employed in interstate transportation. It is the same kind of power that every state has over all laborers, child or adult, within their boundary.

We have yet to hear of any state that has ever attempted to prohibit the labor of all persons under 16 years of age or ever claimed that right. But assuming that the state has such right, that would not justify its transfer to the federal government at Washington. The rights in question are now vested where they properly belong, in the family and the state. To take away these rights and place them in the hands of the federal authorities would be as unwarranted as the confiscation of the private property of the parents and the various states. Indeed, it would rob them of something more sacred than any proprietary right. It would also encroach still further upon state rights, a tendency to centralization of power that threatens to Prussianize our government at the expense of popular liberty. The people are already disgusted with the bureaucracy at Washington and do not want to see it extended. Moreover, they see the necessity of guarding the constitution against movements that under the guise of humanitarian motives would tear down the last guarantee of the people's liberties.

BOARD OF PUBLIC SERVICE

There is much discussion over the status of the board of public service as a department of our city government. The present city charter known as Plan B does not provide for such a board, but permits its adoption by the city council. The board was created by the so-called Casey charter, and as it was giving satisfaction and seemed to offer a practical method of conducting several of the city departments, it was retained by the city council with the same powers it enjoyed under the former charter. Now, however, it becomes necessary to modify part of the arrangements for the direction of the street and other departments. It is desired to give the city engineer full authority, under the direction of the board, of course, over the street and other departments. If it be required to make this a fixed and permanent rule, an ordinance will be necessary for the purpose, although the board can select the heads of the departments under its jurisdiction without special authorization by the city council.

MacCRACKEN FOR DAVIS

President MacCracken of Vassar college, long a republican, has announced that he will vote for Davis for president because he "prefers a man to a myth." He states that he knows John W. Davis to be the leading lawyer of the American bar and that his record is an open book.

President MacCracken criticizes the course of President Coolidge when as vice president he sat at cabinet meetings with Fall, Denby and Daugherty and charges that when he became president he saw no reason for changing these members of the cabinet. In taking this view of the president's course Mr. MacCracken is simply voicing an opinion that is rapidly spreading throughout the country and turning political sentiment against the president and his party.

W. U. CABLE TO ROME

It is announced that the Western Union Telegraph company is starting to lay a new cable between New York and Rome, a distance of 5422 miles. Such a cable must cost a fabulous amount. The investment indicates that the company does not expect radio to supplant the ordinary submarine cable at least for many years to come. Both will be needed, and if the time should come that radio can be used with absolute privacy, then the Western Union and other telegraph companies will be glad to abandon their submarine cables which always need costly repairs.

TYPEWRITING

About 250,000 American-made typewriters a year are being sold to foreign countries. Not many, when you consider the population of the outside world and their average inferior writing machines.

Ours is the first country in which penmanship has become a lost art. We have a mechanical nation—and so far, our civilization is nine-tenths mechanics. The artistic and spiritual and intellectual will come later. Right now America is solving the problem of making a living easily. Once solved, our best brains will turn to so-called "higher pursuits."

THE ENGINE STOPS

We live very close to the thin wall that separates us from the hereafter, even though we do not realize the fact.

William Olson of Chicago came home to his rooming house so happy and full of pep that he danced a jig. Suddenly he fell dead. His engine was worn out and he didn't know it.

When a cotton mill like the Amoskeag, of Manchester, N. H., the largest in the world, passes the annual dividend after reporting a loss of $2,800,000 in a year, there must be something serious amiss. The condition of that mill is apparently worse than the average. It would be interesting to get a fair and candid statement of the causes that led to this unfavorable condition. Is it poor management, labor troubles or just the effect of poor business?

On election day the polls will be open from 6 a. m. till 6 p. m., which should give everybody ample time to vote. It will throw the counting of the ballots back quite a little, but that cannot be avoided.

The municipal candidates are not waiting till after November 4 to push their appeals on the voters, as rallies are being held nightly on street corners and in the homes. After election day, however, we may expect bedlam to break loose.

The Prince of Wales can truthfully say that so far as he could see, the only effect of prohibition in the United States is to cause the drinking to be done in secluded places, chiefly behind closed doors.

Strahn V. Claggett, candidate for state auditor, is not satisfied with ordinary political burial of his opponent, Alonzo Cook. He wants him put down so deep that he will be held sizzling for all time over the roof of Hades.

SEEN AND HEARD

Beauty and brains together are twice too much.

It took six days to make the world, but it frequently seems to have been changed overnight.

At a late hour one Sunday night an observer at Pittsburgh saw a small boy sitting on the curb under a street light getting his lessons for the next day.

The streets in Knoxville, Penn., aren't as good as they might be. After a heavy rainstorm, some playful wag tacked a notice on a pole opposite one of the holes in a street, "No fishing allowed here. By order of the burgess."

In Berlin, Germany, children are required by regulations of the street car company to give up their seats to "ladies" and all older persons. Asked for a ruling as to when a girl becomes a "lady," the company set the age at 12.

A seven-story structure in Chicago, which was carried a distance of 54 feet to a new site, is said to be the largest building ever moved. The task was accomplished with five two-horse teams, which operated five capstans and pulled the load through 14,000 feet of steel cable.

A Thought

Fewer possess virtue than those who wish us to believe that they possess it.—Cicero.

Very Wet Wedding

The Rev. A. N. Lindsey, pastor of the Christian church at Clinton, Mo., baptized and married a couple in the baptismal font. They were Charles Dale of Yale, Okla., and Miss Doris White of Clinton. The rites of baptism were first conferred and the young people remained standing in the water while the marriage ceremony was said.

Quick Service

"It may have been three, as I was in a hurry for shaving water, but that doesn't excuse you for bursting in the door." "Beg pardon," replied the boy, as he backed out, "but it's one ring for the porter, two for the boy and three for a gun, and when a guest rings for a gun in this hotel the orders are to get it for him before the other fellow can beg his pardon!"

Making It Homelike

At a business men's luncheon a scientist, invited to speak, was telling how candy would alleviate any craving for alcohol. He talked learnedly of calories and thermal units. According to him, all the old rounders would soon be turning to bon bons and caramels. "Sounds good," admitted a druggist present. "If I was sure of it I'd put a brass rail in front of the candy case."

Previous Engagement

A lady in great demand socially was duly summoned as a witness in some court proceedings. As she failed to appear a deputy marshal was sent to act as escort. Then the judge explained to her that she was in contempt of court and asked what she had to say. She was manifestly astonished at all this. "I meant no contempt," stated she. "I would have attended the trial gladly, only I had a previous engagement."

The Last Call

The seedy diner was enjoying himself. "Waiter," he called, "get me a nice piece of boiled halibut." The dish was obtained, placed before the customer and consumed. Then he called again: "Waiter, bring a portion of curried veal—and, waiter, another bottle of wine." The bill mounted up, but still the seedy one called the waiter to fetch one dainty after another. At last he lit a cigar, and sat back. "Waiter," he called, "bring—" "Yes, sir," said the waiter; "your bill?" "No," came the languid answer; "bring a policeman; I haven't any money."

Immaterial to Them

Clara Endicott Sears, who has recently written "Days of Delusion," records the religious crisis of 1843, in which the Prophet Miller prophesied that the world was to end. A man quite excited, who accepted the belief that the world was to end on that particular day, met in the roads of Concord, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Theodore Parker. They seemed calm. The Millerite thought it was his duty to inform them of the momentous fact of which they appeared to be so unconscious. So he walked up to them in an excited manner and said: "Gentlemen, do you know, do you realize that the world is coming to an end today?" Mr. Parker said: "It does not concern me, for I live in Boston." And Mr. Emerson said: "The end of the world does not affect me. I can get along without it."

My Path

If I still find you when I come at eve,
Worn and weary with the stress of day,
With welcome in your eyes and on your lips,
Safe and secure I know I'll find the way.

But if at eve a-weary I should come
And find a lovelight in your eyes a-gone,
I do not know, nor would I even care,
What path my feet should seek or wander on.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The best check on moonshine-makers is to meter them and Lowell has done it! For complete list of makers of the mule-powered fluid see Superintendent Robert B. Gardner of the water works. He has all the names. This developed the other day at the meeting of the board of public service when several property owners appeared to ask abatements on excessive water bills.

The first case to be heard was of a Middlesex street merchant and property owner who is a highly respected citizen. The water bill on one piece of tenement property jumped $40 over average last quarter and he couldn't tell why. The meter-reader tipped him off that moonshine was being made in the place. A private investigation by the landlord proved this to be the case and the tenants were ordered out. Supt. Gardner told the board that most excessive water bills are due to persons making moonshine, which requires a considerable amount of water.

In most cases the landlord is not in the know. He gets a big water bill. Generally the next step is to ask for a special intermediate meter reading. The honest and baffled property-owner, still at sea, then calls a plumber. The plumber goes over the place and finds no leaks. Eventually he finds out it's the making of moonshine by some tenant that has caused the great volume to be metered.

This is invariably true in the summer months. Some landlords apparently are said to be paying exorbitant bills without protest, not unlikely being reimbursed by the tenant who is making illicit liquor.

In the winter it is hard to trace the reason for water bills being high. Here the moonshine-maker is matched by the tenant who has no fire and leaves the faucets running all night to save frozen pipes. In many tenements meter readers and inspectors find chains in the water closets nailed down in such a manner to keep a constant flow of water. This causes tremendous bills.

Often, of course, there are leaks or faulty plumbing but the moonshine maker and the man who deliberately leaves faucets open, cause the most complaints.

I learned another thing about water meters at the board meeting from Mr. Gardner that I think few people know. A water meter such as we have here cannot register over the true quantity that passes through. Meters don't overcharge. They are so constructed that they stop rather than cheat you. There's the most pleasant thought about the whole business. Few folks know that, and those who hear this in mind will probably be a lot quicker in learning why they have a high water bill, if they do, than will their brethren who are content to cuss the meter.

And now we are to have a national Education Week, November 17-23 during which time the present condition and needs of the schools will be brought to the attention of the people of the United States by the United States educational bureau in connection with the National Education association and the American Legion. There are certain phases of education which it is generally agreed, require emphasis from a national standpoint. Among those are respect for constituted authority, patriotism, better trained and better paid teachers, improvement of rural schools, more adequately equipped school buildings, eradication of illiteracy and health condition. Each day during the week will be specially designated. Monday, Nov. 17, will be Constitution day; Tuesday, Patriotism day; Wednesday, School and Teacher day; Thursday, Illiteracy day and Friday, Physical Education day. Saturday will be observed as Community day and Sunday as God and Country day.

Mrs. Frank Scanlon, who spoke before the members and friends of the League of Catholic Women this week, is well known locally, having spoken in this city at different times within the past two years. Mrs. Scanlon who possesses a pleasing personality is one of the most broadminded women I have met, and it is because of this that her views are sought on many vital questions of the day. Her talk on the child labor amendment was most instructive and gave her auditors a clear understanding of the dangerous influence of this measure which she termed "an entering wedge into education under a labor guise."

An unattractive horse sold for $34, and was used between the shafts of a delivery wagon. Joe Bijo, the owner, discovered that his nag had the makings of a race-horse. He puts the horse on the track under the name of Billy White—and Billy already paces a mile in 2:20. The case reminds us of human opportunity. Many a man is, figuratively, in a delivery wagon job though capable of fast work on the racetrack. Opportunity is simply the chance to demonstrate ability. But the opportunity is worthless unless the man, like the horse, can make good. Success is nine-tenths made before so-called opportunity comes.

The 51st anniversary of Division 11, A.O.H., will be observed with impressive exercises in A.O.H. hall, Grosvenor building, next Friday night. This division is up among the leaders in the country in numbers and achievement and its membership includes several prominent local citizens. County officers have been invited to attend the celebration Friday night, and a big time is assured.

The war in China is being brought home to Americans with a vengeance, says a news item. There's going to be a big shortage of firecrackers next Fourth of July! Practically all of the firecrackers imported from China come from Canton, where there is plenty of fighting. As a result of the strife all the makers of firecrackers have stopped work. It looks like more of a safe and sane Fourth of July next year than ever.

The Catholic Daughters of America with a national membership of 60,000 is to organize a branch locally. It is the aim of the society to interest its members in various kinds of welfare work. Final organization plans will be made at the meeting to be held in the early part of November and it is intended that Lowell will have as large an organization as any of the cities of its size.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Says the old Sun: "One of the best and foremost Shakespearean scholars in these parts is the Rev. Alfred A. V. Binnington, Episcopal clergyman connected with St. Anne's church. He recently delivered his famous lecture on the bard of Avon before the Lawrence lodge of the Sons of St. George. The lecture treated every aspect of the poet's work. In referring to the theory that Lord Bacon wrote the plays attributed to Shakespeare, he said:

A few words may be said regarding the attempt to deprive Shakespeare of his laurels and to confer them upon Bacon. To me personally the Baconian theory is both untenable and absurd. Professor Gifford of Stuttgart was the first to declare that Shakespeare was but a name and since then Donnelly in America and several well known people in Europe have maintained the same thing. Their chief arguments are briefly that certain words found in Bacon's works are not to be discovered elsewhere but in the plays. Secondly, the scope of the plays is too extended for a confessedly uneducated man like Shakespeare.

Against this reasoning it may be said that perhaps Shakespeare knew the words as well as Bacon or borrowed them and that as for Shakespeare's education, there is no proof that he ever ceased studying or that it was as limited as some people say. Again, Bacon never would have written trash as we find in Henry IV, and there is an entire absence of classical quotation in the plays. Again, all Shakespeare's contemporaries are witnesses for him; and there was no mention of the authorship of the plays by any writer of any kind when there certainly would have been had any deception been practiced. And lastly, on what conceivable ground are we to believe that a man as jealous of his fame as Bacon should deny the work of his own hand and allow another to reap the glory and profit? No, the whole theory is so palpably hollow that it will be the laughing stock of future generations."

Wed 25 Years

Mr. Frederick A. Lamboureux and Miss Jennie Greeley were united in marriage 25 years ago today at St. Peter's church by Rev. Fr. Ronan. Mr. Lamoureux is the well known hardware and paint dealer of 442 Merrimack street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lamoureux are prominently connected with several fraternal organizations locally. They were the recipients of numerous gifts from their many acquaintances locally and out of town and will celebrate their wedding anniversary quietly.

Mr. Charles Dearborn Paige and Miss Lillian Gray Stewart were married Oct. 18 at the home of the bride in Thirteenth street by Rev. C. E. Fisher.

Mr. William A. Murphy and Miss Susie A. McCaffrey were married Oct. 23 at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. William O. Joyce, O.M.I.

The Boer War

In reference to the Boer war just started, The Sun said:

There is a great difference of opinion as to the causes of the war between England and the Boers, some holding that England has a right to insist that her subjects have equal rights with the Boers in the Transvaal, and others that England has no business to interfere and if her subjects do not like the laws of the Transvaal they should stay at home. That is what any disinterested, fair-minded man would aver; but it is far from what England holds to be just or right." That was the third war fought by the Boers for freedom and after great slaughter on both sides, it resulted in the acceptance of home rule under nominal British control same as Canada.

Corporation Tax Cases

The corporation tax cases brought against the city for abatement of taxes went on trial. The case of the Tremont & Suffolk was the first to be called. City Solicitor Francis W. Qua represented the city and Frank E. Dunbar, the corporations.

$50,000 Fire Loss

The great wooden building of the Lowell Card company at the corner of Market and Shattuck streets was partially destroyed by fire 25 years ago and involved a loss of $50,000. Without doubt, one of the largest frame buildings in the city, it was a landmark, but its construction being of wood, it proved an easy prey for flames. The fire started in the Wilfred Jean laundry on the fourth floor and gave the firemen a hard battle for three hours.

At a regular meeting of the board of police, held on Oct. 24, 1899, the following promotions were made from the reserve to the regular force: Geo. S. Abbott, John E. Conway, Patrick J. Frawley, Geo. H. Robinson, William Wilson, D. Wesley Nealey, Joseph Noyes. The following were selected from the civil service list and appointed on the probationary force: Joseph L. Lamoureux, Cornelius T. O'Keefe, Timothy Murphy, Timothy McCloughry, Thomas Hessian and John T. Whelan.

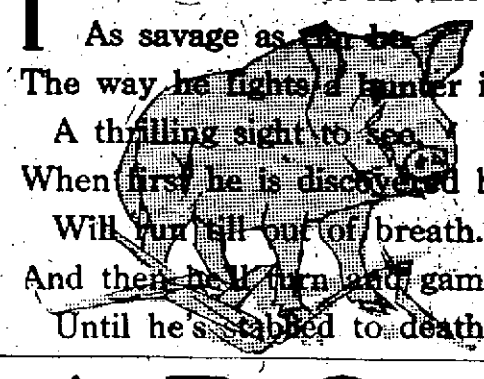

Lecture on Dante

In 1899 Professor Norton gave a series of weekly lectures on Dante before the Middlesex Women's club. He explained the various divisions of the great poet's works and analyzed them. He told of the love of Dante for Beatrice and showed that it was this that inspired his great work, the Divina Comedia.

OLD TIMER.

THE ZOO

THE wild boar lives in Africa,
As savage as can be.
The way he fights a hunter is
A thrilling sight to see.
When first he is discovered he
Will run till out of breath.
And then he'll turn and gamely fight
Until he's stabbed to death.

A.B.C's

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Every little youngster knows the famous A, B, C that the teacher harps on daily in the school. I mean the kind that start with A and end with X, Y, Z. You have them in your lessons as a rule.

But, do you know the modern brand, the brand that means so much? Just study them and think them over, twice. They're worthy of your thought if you can get the proper touch and realize they're based on good advice.

The A stands for Always do as Mom and Daddy say, and Ask no questions 'cept when you're in doubt. They'll always gladly tell you why they want each thing its way and it never gets you anywhere to pout.

The B means Be considerate of grown-ups that you know, Beware of being selfish or unkind. Be mindful of the fact that you are young until you grow, and you will be much happier, you'll find.

The C means Cause your mother and your father to be glad. Console them with caresses, if you please. Then also catch the meaning of the lesson you have had, that's taken from the modern A, B, C's.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 8—MISTER FUZZ WUZZ BECKONS

"OH, DEAR, I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU TWINS AGAIN," HE SAID

"Oh, I know what we'll do!" cried Nancy as the Twins sailed along through the air on Daddy Gander's magic dust-pan. "We'll go and ask the Green Wizard who lives in the tree tops. He has a magic gazing ball. He ought to know where we can find the House-That-Jack-Built."

"That is a very good idea," said Daddy Gander. "But first of all will you look at my eyes and see if my glasses are on straight?"

"Yes, they are, Daddy," said Nancy. "Why?"

"Because I see something most unusual going on in that stump down there," said Daddy. "It looks like a queer sort of person, and as though he were waving to us. Am I mistaken or not?"

Both Twins peeped over the edge of the dust-pan and suddenly Nick cried out, "It's Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man. Oh, we'll have to stop and say how do you do, won't we, Nancy?

"Well," said Daddy Gander, "if you must you must, but all I've got to say is that we never get any place we start for. First we start for a mountain and wind up in an elevator in a silly sort of place in the sky. Now we start for the Green Wizard's house in the tree tops and we have to stop and say polite things to a pipe-cleaner man. What's he called a pipe-cleaner man for anyway? And why Mister Fuzz Wuzz?"

"He is all fuzzy and he's made out of long wire pipe cleaners," said Nick. "But he is far more important than he looks. He is the king of Doofunny Land!"

"My, oh my!" said Daddy Gander straightening his tie. "Is he as much as all that? We'd better stop then and shake his hand. Where is Doofunny Land and what it does mean?"

"Doofunny Land is down the stump," said Nancy. "And the people are queer. They are just odds and ends. Mostly odds."

Daddy Gander parked his magic dust-pan behind some bushes and they all went up to the stump where Mister Fuzz Wuzz was waiting.

"Oh, dear, I'm so glad to see you Twins again," he said. "I certainly couldn't believe my old pipe-cleaner eyes when I saw you gallivanting around through the sky just now. The House-That-Jack-Built!" Lost? You don't say so! Why don't you all come to Doofunny Land and ask all the Doofunny people about it?"

"That's a very good idea, indeed," said Daddy Gander. "They come from all parts of the earth so they ought to know something about it."

Down they went through the stump and there they were in Doofunny Land.

The first person they met was Miss Pithers, the yarn lady.

"The House-That-Jack Built!" she exclaimed. "You mean Jack-in-the-Box, I suppose."

"Oh, no," said Nancy. "Nothing like that."

"That's the only one I know of," said Miss Pithers, passing on.

"The-House-That-Jack-Built!" exclaimed the Cut-Out Lady. "I never knew that the Jumping Jack was a carpenter."

"Oh, I know!" said the Saw Horse. "Jack used me to lay his board on. So it is gone! If anyone in Doofunny Land has seen it, I'll let you know."

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods, I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. Josie M. Shaw, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it.

BACK FROM PLEASANT TOUR OF EUROPE

After a two months' tour of points of interest in Europe, John T. Burns, the well known letter carrier, has returned to this city and in an interview with a Sun representative today, gave a few impressions of his visit.

Ireland, England, France and the other countries visited, impressed him greatly, but the part of the trip which he enjoyed most of all was his visit to Rome, where he was fortunate enough to secure an audience with His Holiness, the pope.

"Rome," he said, "was the goal to which we were heading on our visit to Italy. Its wonders in a religious and historic sense of course are beyond description. Sufficient to say we looked with veneration at the magnificence of St. Peter's and upon the ruins of ancient Rome, and also visited many of the beautiful cathedrals and museums which dot the city.

"We were very fortunate," he continued, "in having the privilege of an audience with Pope Pius XI, arranged through the influence of Edward Hearn, who is in charge of K. of C. activities. The Holy Father appeared to be in excellent health and he gave a short address to the group of pilgrims before him."

The visit to Ireland was greatly enjoyed by Mr. Burns and the members of his party, and from observation gathered there he believes the new government is functioning well.

"Ireland, he said, "was delightful. A very severe rainy season though had set back the crops and practically ruined the turf supply which will make the fuel question an expensive one this winter. The new government appears to be functioning well, although high taxes are a strain on the people who are just about able to make a living.

"Our party spent a week in London," he continued, "and this city certainly appeared to be prosperous. Theatres were filled every evening and the shops were well patronized.

"From London we went to Holland, visiting Amsterdam, which is a beautiful city and as clean as a whistle. It has 80 canals, crossed by 300 substantial bridges. The people are very cordial and our party had no trouble in making its wants known. We also visited the Hague and inspected the royal palace.

"From the Hague we went to Belgium, visiting Brussels, which is another beautiful city, and from there went to Paris. This is a wonderful city for the tourist, chock-full of historic monuments and buildings ancient and modern. We visited churches, museums and churches again, and then went to Versailles to see the palace of the kings. One could not describe the beauties of this palace satisfactorily, it is marvelous beyond words.

"The night life of Paris," he continued, "made a very poor impression on our party. The sidewalks are lined with cafes and everyone buys a little wine and sits at a table on the walk with friends and reviews the passing throng."

The shortage of good cigars in Europe bothered Mr. Burns. He likes a good smoke but found he couldn't get it anywhere on the continent. "Good cigars," he said, "are unknown in Paris, in fact they are scarce throughout Europe. There are few cigar stores that are any good and they carry but a small stock at best for the government has a monopoly on tobacco and the people, as usual, get the short end of it.

"Switzerland," which was next on our itinerary, is a beautiful country with scenery beyond comparison. Snow capped mountains rise almost perpendicularly for thousands of feet from the edges of beautiful lakes, and their peaks are oft-times hidden in the clouds. A ride on one of the lake steamers is an experience never to be forgotten."

The party arrived in Italy in October and found the weather just right for pleasure. The country appealed to Mr. Burns, but he was astonished to see men and women working side by side on the farms. Finally the party arrived in Rome and, after a satisfactory visit there, boarded the steamer and returned to this country. He was accompanied on the trip by his brother, Joseph W. Burns.

BLINDING SNOWSTORM IN EASTERN CANADA

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—Marine activities have been stilled by a blinding snowstorm sweeping the eastern Canada coast, according to advices from Belle Isle, with no signs of abatement. Two liners are reported at anchor awaiting clearer weather before proceeding.

RECOGNITION OF SOVIET BY FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Official recognition of the soviet Russian government by France is now said in official circles to be a matter of but a few days, responsible persons practically admitting that the insistence of the Russians upon unqualified recognition has delayed the decision but that it will not prevent early recognition.

BUD—DAWES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles G. Dawes will bring his speaking campaign as republican candidate for vice president into New York tonight with an address in Brooklyn.

Mr. Dawes continued today his endeavor to get as much rest as possible in preparation for the more strenuous final days of the campaign. He remained at the home of C. A. Hanna, a friend, in Montclair, N. J., and declined all invitations and avoided all conferences.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL CHRISTMAS FAIR

At a meeting of the Junior Patrons of the Old Ladies' Home held in Kitson hall yesterday afternoon with Miss Gertrude Carmichael in the chair, plans were made for the annual Christmas fair to be held on Dec. 6. Several matters of major importance were discussed and plans made for raising funds which will be used to advantage for the women of the home. Mrs. E. T. Shaw, president of the Senior Patrons, was the guest of the afternoon. Miss M. Secor, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Lambert, treasurer, read their reports, while Miss Eunice Cook, vice president, offered helpful suggestions in conducting the fair, as did Mrs. Rodrigue Mignault.

HELD HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Kamn-stee club, composed of members of the student body of the Lowell Normal school held a very pretty Halloween party last night at the home of Miss Winifred Lester on Highand avenue. About 15 couples were present. The party took the form of a barn dance, the barn being decorated with autumn leaves and cornstalks with the orange and black streamers bringing in the Halloween effect. Pumpkins were also used. Garrett McAdams and Alice Bushner entertained with banjo and ukulele numbers and also played for dancing. The party broke up at a sensonable hour. The success of the party was to a great extent due to the efforts of the Misses Mary Frawley, Miriam Lannan, Alice Bushner, Cassie McSorley, Hazel McHale, Barbara McAdams and Margaret Carney.

ORDER OF DE MOLAY

On Sunday evening the local chapter of the Order of De Molay, composed of young men between the ages of 16 and 21 years and sponsored by the Masonic fraternity, will make its first public appearance by attending service at St. Anne's Episcopal church. Chapter members, accompanied by the advisory council and fathers of the boys, will march to the church from Masonic Temple at 6.30 p. m. Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector, will deliver an address pertaining to the order and its tenets.

DEAN ACADEMY BEATEN

In a fiercely contested game in Norwood yesterday, between the Dean Academy eleven and Dartmouth '28, the latter won by the score of 9 to 6. Dean Academy was leading, 6 to 3, when, with three minutes to go, a Dartmouth back broke through the entire Dean team and with a beautiful 85 yard run registered a touchdown. It was a thrilling game throughout. "Pete" Sheehan, local boy, who is on the Dean eleven, played an end position for a short time during the game. Sheehan has been out of the infirmary but a few days where he was laid up with a leg injury. Today the Dean Academy played Salem.

Say Democratic Party Will Win

ment he issued upon his return from those states last night.

The flat statement that "the democratic party will win the presidential election" was made last night by Mr. Davis, upon his return here from a final campaign tour of middle western states.

Mr. Davis, in a formal statement, declared further that "personal contact with the voters has demonstrated that they will not excuse the corruption and mal-administration that has prevailed at Washington during the recent years of republican misrule."

It was also positively asserted that, in addition to the victory he claimed for the national ticket, the democrats "will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

Lower Taxes Promised

Among the "reforms" promised by Mr. Davis are revision of the tariff, reduced taxes, international cooperation, improved inland waterways and farm legislation.

Efforts of his political opponents to bolster up their cause by suggesting danger of the election going into the house, Mr. Davis said, had been investigated, with the result that "more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured."

That announcement is supported, he declared, by the "drift in the west and the central west."

"The democratic party will win the presidential election," the statement said. "I am fully convinced of this. I make my claim only after a very careful investigation into the situation—a first-hand inquiry, which has taken me more than 12,000 miles. My opinion is not based on what politicians have told me. It comes from direct contact with the individual voters themselves.

People Want Change

"The people are making ready to order a change. This is indicated probably more than anywhere else in the greatly increased registration reported from one end of the country to the other. It does not take any great familiarity with political affairs to understand that such heavy increases bode ill to the party in power.

"When the voters are satisfied it is a very hard task to get them to take an interest in politics. They see little reason for a change, and defy the efforts of the party workers to persuade them to qualify to discharge their duties at the polls.

"This year, however, we find reported an increased registration that has astonished the wisest of politicians. It is not confined to any particular section. Everywhere the story is the same—the men and women of the country have registered to do their part in ordering a change in conditions.

Denies Deadlock Possible

"While our opponents are endeavoring to bolster their cause by suggesting the danger of the election going into the house, there is not a single democrat who has investigated the situation who does not feel that as a result of the drift in the west and the central west more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured.

"Panic-stricken, the republican leaders are frantically working night and day circulating propaganda by means of so-called polls which are preposterous on their face and defeat their purpose because the exaggeration is so manifest.

"They solemnly assure the people that their real race for the presidency is not between President Coolidge and myself but between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Bryan. This bogey man may brighten members of the republican party, but it certainly does not alarm the democracy.

"Republicans Rent"

"It has this effect, however; it proves conclusively that the republican leaders have been compelled to launch a forlorn hope attack in an effort to reclaim some of the states in which the La Follette movement has made headway.

"The very fact that the democratic party is united, harmonious and undivided from ocean to ocean, while the republican party is rent in twain by dissensions, is proof sufficient for our claims of success. In addition, the great mass of independent voters realize that their only hope of bringing about the reforms which are so vitally necessary to the national welfare is through supporting the democratic ticket in the coming election.

"The independent voter has no other choice. He realizes that it is only through the democratic party that reform of the character demanded may be secured. He realizes that we can win and that we have the will to win.

La Follette Cannot Win

"He knows that it is impossible for Senator La Follette to obtain the 266 votes needed to make him the choice of the electoral college. He cannot support Mr. Coolidge simply on the assurance that there will be some kind of a change at Washington after March 4 next should the republican candidate be elected.

"For weeks the voters have waited to be taken into the confidence of the administration and told in what manner any change can come after March 4.

"That has not been possible for more than a year. The voter is inclined to accept past performances as the promise for the future, and he or she will not be misled by specious statements that do not square with what actually has been done.

"It is because these things have been brought directly home to me through personal contact with thousands of voters that I have not the slightest hesitancy in unqualifiedly declaring that I will be elected Nov. 4. In addition, the democrats will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

INDICATIONS THAT DAVIS WILL CARRY N. Y. STATE NOW APPARENT

Senator Copeland Says Enthusiasm for Davis and Smith is Unprecedented—Prediction That State Will Give Davis 200,000 Plurality

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—New York state will give John W. Davis a plurality of 200,000. Governor Alfred E. Smith will carry the state over Theodore Roosevelt by 350,000 to 400,000. This is the prediction of United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, who has in the last few weeks campaigned over a large part of the Empire state.

"In the campaign last week," said Senator Copeland, "I covered the same territory over which I traveled in the corresponding week two years ago. We thought we had splendid meetings in 1922 but I am sure that I state a fact when I say that the meetings this year were four times as large.

"I have never witnessed greater enthusiasm for the democratic ticket than I have seen during this campaign. We hear reports that certain groups are disaffected. I have seen no indication of it outside of the Germans who are voting for La Follette, and a limited portion of labor that is going the same way, all the real democrats are throwing up their hats for Davis.

"Everywhere I go I am advised that La Follette sentiment is rapidly fading. His attacks on the supreme court, and the recollection of the uniformly friendly attitude of the democratic party to labor, have brought back to the democratic fold many thousands who had at first been inclined to vote for the republican insurgent.

"I was told of many large meetings where men, women and children had gone out of curiosity to take a look at Teddy Roosevelt. Having taken the look, I am informed they were disappointed, and have decided to keep Governor Smith at Albany. Everywhere I found republicans dissatisfied with the nomination of a man so inexperienced and so young, and they are going to vote for Alfred E. Smith. Likewise, I talked with many republicans who are so dissatisfied at the callousness of the republican party with regard to the oil scandals that they are eager to punish the party which has so signally failed to live up to its obligations.

"If I am any judge at all of political conditions, I should say that Governor Smith will carry the state by from 350,000 to 400,000.

"With such defections as I have noticed, Mr. Davis' majority will not be so large but I feel confident he will carry the state by 200,000.

"The counties I have visited include Clinton, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Essex and Lewis and others in the northeastern section of the state—normally republican territory but now Al Smith strongholds. We had overflow meetings everywhere, and at all these meetings hundreds remained in the hall afterward to talk it over. There is a determination on the part of the people that good government shall be restored at Washington and retained at Albany through the election of John W. Davis and the re-election of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

"Furthermore, all advices I receive indicate that Governor Smith will have a democratic legislature and the new congress will have a democratic majority."

Velvet evening frocks with matching evening capes are very gorgeous and colorful and lovely for the theatre or opera.

PLAN HALLOWEEN PARTY IN LIBERTY HALL

The plans for the Halloween party to be given under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women in Liberty hall on Oct. 30th, are nearing completion. Miner-Doyle's orchestra has been secured and there is every indication that this party will be particularly enjoyable. The committee in charge will be assisted by the following aides:

Edward F. Saunders, John V. Donoghue, Dr. Victor Rochette, Charles McCarthy, Wilfred P. Boulger, James J. Bruin, Esq., James H. Riley, Esq., J. Eugene Mullin, Dr. Joseph W. Jantzen, Leo A. GIRL SCOUTS WILL PERFECT RALLY PLANS

The Girl Scout officers of the city will meet in Middlesex hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of completing plans for the annual rally to be held in Memorial Auditorium Saturday, Nov. 1.

Much interest is being shown in this rally and an elaborate program of scout work in general will be given the Girl Scouts of Greater Lowell. A feature of the program will be the Melrose Drum and Bugle Corps, which will execute various numbers which will be of interest to all attending.

An extensive pageant of Girl Scout activities with all the members of the Greater Lowell council participating will be given. Capt. Hill of Troop 3 will read the theme, while Scout Marjorie Willard of the same troop will interpret "Youth." Miss Julia Fox of Dracut will be the accompanist.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Auditorium a rehearsal for the rally program will be held.

Next Sunday will be observed as "Go-to-Church" Sunday by the Girl Scouts in observance of the birthday of Mrs. Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of America. Members will attend their respective churches in uniform. In some churches special programs will be given. Rev. Charles H. Ellis, pastor of the Central Baptist church, has invited the Chelmsford troop to attend the special evening services to be held in that church. The pastor will speak on various phases of scout work.

VISITORS AT THE TEXTILE SCHOOL

Lowell Textile school was the host to fifty members of the Overseers association of the Arlington mills, Lawrence, yesterday afternoon, and the guests were taken in small groups, with competent guides, through the whole school plant.

The trip had been arranged by Chairman Shirley H. Pulsifer, Secretary Silas Thomas and Edward Wolfendale of the overseers association and President Charles H. Eames of the school. The guests thoroughly enjoyed their trip and, upon its conclusion, complimented the school officials for the important part they are filling well in preparing young men for the textile industry.

MEETING AT THE VARNUM SCHOOL

The parents of seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Varnum school are cordially invited by the principal, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, to be present at a meeting to be held in the school hall on Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The meeting will be an informal one. Matters of interest relative to work of the school year will be discussed and an opportunity given the parents to meet the teachers of their children.

Political Contests in Local Field

tory. Prominent speakers have been secured by the republican city committee and Aitken's 389th F.A. band will give a concert program to add zest to the occasion.

The committee directing the campaign of Humphroy O'Sullivan, who seeks to oust Hon. John Jacob Rogers from his representative berth in the Fifth congressional district, is missing no opportunity to develop strength for the democratic candidate. The O'Sullivan supporters feel confident of cutting deeply into the congressman's vote in Lowell and are waging a more strenuous campaign in the towns of the district than has been the case for a number of years.

Republicans Will Split Ticket

One feature of the state campaign is the statement from any number of republicans that they plan to vote a split ticket insofar as the contest for state auditor is concerned and will make a determined effort to defeat the G.O.P. nominee, Alonzo B. Cook. Stratho V. Claggett, democratic nominee, will receive plenty of republican votes in this neck of the woods, where he has been heard to advantage on several occasions recently.

While it would seem that Walter Perham of Chelmsford, convention nominee of the republicans to succeed Frank H. Putnam as state senator in the Eighth district, has a distinct advantage, Hon. Henry J. Draper, himself a former senator, is running on stickers and if he can place enough of them in circulation is sure of a sizable democratic vote and he himself is confident of victory.

Another democrat, Cornelius J. O'Neill, attorney-at-law, is making a real bid to break into a republican representative trio in the 15th district served now by Representatives Henry Achin, Jr., Victor F. Jewett and Fred O. Lewis. One of those three places is the aim of Mr. O'Neill and he is thoroughly covering the district in his campaign. As he is the nominee of the democrats his name will duly appear on the ballot.

In the 14th representative district Rep. Charles H. Slowey and Patrick F. Nestor, nominated with him, should win the two available places like breaking sticks. The district is democratic and that tells the complete story.

A contest is being waged merrily in the 16th district, with Daniel F. Moriarty, city councilor; Paul V. Angelo and Charles F. Donahue in a three-cornered fight for one place. Personal solicitation has been the favored line of campaigning in this district and each candidate is putting in good licks.

Long Ballot Will Take Up Time

Two reasons stood out in back of the request recently filed by Rep. Henry Achin, Jr., with the election commissioners for an extension of voting hours from 4 to 6 p. m.—first, the probability of a record vote, and second, an unusually long ballot which will take considerable time to mark properly and completely. The commission has acted favorably upon the request, by the way, and the polls on Nov. 4 will be open for 12 hours, from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

On the ballot will be seven referenda, several of which have aroused considerable interest and will be voted upon most generally. Among these are the daylight saving referendum, the liquor or prohibition question, the 2-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax and the question of the employment of persons less than 18 years of age at any sort of labor.

Referendum No. 1 on the ballot in simplified form asks the following question: Do you favor striking out the word "male" in that part of the constitution which specifies what qualifications a voter must have in order to vote for governor, lieutenant-governor, senators or representatives, so that women citizens also will come under the provision? This is to bring our state constitution into conformity with the federal constitution and has been given the unanimous approval of both houses of the Massachusetts legislature.

Referendum No. 2 is more or less closely related to No. 1 and also is for the purpose of conformity between state and national constitutions. It asks the question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution making it possible for women to hold any state, county or municipal office? Both houses of the state legislature have unanimously approved it.

Referendum No. 3 is the so-called "liquor" question and its passage would make similar the state and federal prohibition laws. In simple form the referendum asks this question: Do you favor a law, passed by the Massachusetts legislature and signed by the governor which provides that no person shall manufacture, transport, import or export intoxicating liquor containing more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol without a permit from the United States authorities?

Referendum No. 4 is the gasoline tax question and simplified is as follows: Do you favor the payment by purchasers of a two-cent tax on each gallon of gasoline and other fuel used for driving motor vehicles on the highways if one-half of the money so raised will be spent on the construction and maintenance of public highways within city or town limits and the other half on highways designated by the state department of public works?

Referendum No. 5 is a financial matter and off hand, probably will not be voted upon very generally. It asks the following question: Do you favor a law which provides that persons who desire to engage or become financially interested in the business of receiving deposits of money for safe-keeping or for the purpose of transmitting the same or equivalents thereof to foreign countries, shall file an indemnity bond with the state treasurer for the benefit of depositors and shall obtain a license from the bank commissioner to carry on such business, the license to be revocable for cause?

Referendum No. 6 asks the question, shall daylight saving be retained by law in Massachusetts? and is expected to call for a tremendous expression of opinion.

Referendum No. 7 is the labor amendment relative to the employment of persons under 18 years of age. In simplified form it asks the following question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States which empowers congress to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of boys and girls under 18 years of age and which provides that laws passed thereunder by congress, when in conflict with state laws, shall prevail?

COMMITTEES REPORT ON ARMISTICE BALL

At a meeting of the general committee of Lowell Post 87, American Legion, in charge of arrangements for the annual Armistice ball, last evening in veterans' quarters of the Memorial Auditorium, very satisfactory reports of progress were received from the various sub-committees. The ball will be held the evening of Armistice day, Nov. 11, in the Memorial Auditorium, and it is planned to make this year's the biggest and best in the history of the post.

The entertainment committee, Bernard Horan, chairman, reported that the Braggiotti sisters, Boston society girls and exponents of classic dancing, will give several of their creations. The music committee reported that a 15-piece orchestra has been engaged to play from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Over 100 socially prominent women have promised to serve as patronesses, according to James F. Conway, chairman of the reception committee, and Dana Palmer, for the guest committee, reported that representatives of the army, navy and marine corps and all veterans' organizations have been invited to attend and that invitations will be sent the governor, lieutenant-governor, Congressman Rogers, Gen. Adelbert Ames and the trustees of the Auditorium. For the decorations committee, George Budd announced that a local decorator has been engaged to work out a novel color scheme for the ball.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Oct. 30.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

To the Honorable the Judges of the Land Court:

Respectfully represents Effie M. Park, of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, that she is the owner in fee simple of a parcel of land with buildings thereon situate in said Lowell, on the northwesterly side of Riverside street, and thus bounded:

Southeasterly by Riverside street seventy (70) feet; southwesterly by lands of Frank J. Slavin, Cora B. Horne and James D. Horne, now or formerly, two hundred twenty-six (226) feet, more or less; northwesterly by land of William H. and Marie L. Moreau, now or formerly, seventy-five (75) feet; and northeasterly by other land of your petitioner two hundred twenty-four and 20-100 (224.20) feet.

That the record title of said land is encumbered by an undischarged mortgage given by Abner H. Marshall to J. F. Alderman, dated April 2, 1860, and recorded in Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, in Book 24, Page 82, which mortgage was assigned by said J. F. Alderman to Amariah L. Taft, by assignment dated April 9, 1861, and recorded in said Registry in Book 30, Page 187; that said mortgagor and those having his estate in said land, have had uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time for the full performance of the conditions of said mortgage; that no payment on account of the debt secured by said mortgage has been made, and no act in recognition of its existence as a valid mortgage has been done within said twenty years.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that a decree be entered, reciting the facts and findings and that no action to enforce a title under said mortgage shall hereafter be maintained, and that said mortgage be discharged upon the records.

EFFIE M. PARK.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Paul Vigeant and Virginie Vigeant, wife of said Paul Vigeant, to her own right, both of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to Margaret W. Merrill, of said Lowell, dated December 15, 1922, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book 697, Page 581, which mortgage was assigned by said Merrill to the Lowell Trust Company by assignment dated March 13, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 703, Page 151, and reassigned by said Lowell Trust Company to said Merrill by assignment dated October 14, 1924, and duly recorded in said Registry, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described, on THURSDAY, the THIRTEENTH DAY of NOVEMBER, A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows: (except that portion thereof which was released from the operation of said mortgage deed by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant, by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48. Said premises are described in said mortgage deed as follows: The land in said Lowell, with the buildings thereon, situated on the northerly side of Moody Street and the westerly side of Tilden Street, containing fourteen thousand two hundred sixty-two and 50-100 square feet, more or less, and bounded and described as follows: beginning at a point on the westerly side of Tilden Street which is southerly of and three feet distant from the southeasterly corner of land conveyed by the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack River to Seth Chellis by deed dated July 28, 1813, and at land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Madden; thence running southerly by said Tilden Street one hundred sixty-three feet to said Moody Street; thence westerly at a right angle by said Moody Street eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to land supposed to belong now or formerly to James Saunders; thence northerly at a right angle by said Saunders land and land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Dempsey one hundred sixty-three feet to said Madden land; thence easterly at a right angle by said Madden land eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to the point of beginning. Being all and the same premises to said Virginie Vigeant conveyed by Margaret W. Merrill by deed dated October 25, 1923, and recorded in said Registry of Deeds, Book 693, Page 139, and subject to the restriction in said deed contained or referred to.

That portion of said premises released by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48, as aforesaid is thus bounded and described: A certain piece or parcel of land containing six thousand five hundred and twenty-eight square feet situated on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street, and thus bounded and described: beginning at a point on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street distant eighty-three feet northeasterly from its intersection with the northeasterly side of Moody Street; thence at a right angle northwesterly eighty-one and 5-10 feet, more or less; thence at a right angle northeasterly eighty feet; thence at a right angle southeasterly eighty-one and 5-10 feet, more or less, to said Tilden Street; thence at a right angle southwesterly on said Tilden Street eighty feet to the point of beginning, and be said contents or any or all of said measurements more or less, and however otherwise said premises may be measured, bounded or described. Being Lots Three (3) and Four (4) on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Lowell, Mass., belonging to Paul Vigeant, Surveyed Oct., 1923, Henry O. Brooks, Civil Engr.," and recorded in said Registry, Book of Plans 43, Plan 92. The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to a mortgage to the City Institution for Savings, upon which there is due the principal sum of $7000—and accumulated interest, and also to any and all taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay $500 in cash at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at twelve o'clock noon.

MARGARET W. MERRILL,
Present holder of said mortgage.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—
Middlesex, ss. Probate Court:

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Joanna Walsh, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Thomas H. Pinder, administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of a certain parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County, on the eleventh day of November, A.D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

CITY COUNCIL PASSES ORDER FOR $125,000 BRIDGE

Abutters Waive Rights to Land Damages—Ordinances Defining Status of City Engineer Referred to Committee—White Way for Upper Merrimack Street

An order appropriating $125,000 for the erection of a bridge over Beaver Brook at Conduit street, with the necessary viaduct approaches, was passed unanimously by the city council last evening after a hearing which had been called to ascertain if the abutters would waive right to land damages arising out the bridge erection.

A number of abutters waived their rights to damages and the only voice raised in opposition was William N. Goodell's representing the Locks and Canals, who said his concern was neither a proponent nor opponent, but merely wished to ask that the matter be gone into more deeply as an engineering project and stating that in the opinion of company engineers, the cost of the bridge and its approaches would only be the beginning of the amount necessary to make a permanent improvement in the district.

Two proposed ordinances defining the powers of the city engineer, one presented by a majority of the public service board and the other by Frederick F. Meloy, as a minority report, were referred to the committee on ordinances without being read.

Objection to the placing of Plan B white way lights in upper Merrimack street was withdrawn by Councilor Chretien and the electric light corporation instructed to go ahead with the work of installation there.

The meeting was called to order at 8.25 o'clock with Councilors Chadwick and McFadden absent.

An invitation to attend a Girl Scout rally in the Memorial Auditorium November 1 was accepted.

The proposed ordinances outlining the duties of the city engineer were referred to the ordinance committee without reading, on motion of Councilor Daly.

The hearing on the Beaver Brook bridge proposition was next opened. President Gallagher asked if there were present any abutters who would waive right to land damages resulting from the bridge construction, and 18 residents of the district waived their rights to damages.

Atty. Cornelius J. O'Neill, representing several of the abutters, spoke in favor of the bridge. In the course of his address he said that he had heard that the reason for the hearing was to afford an opportunity to delay action until after the primaries, and said that immediate action should be taken so that the matter could go to the mayor for his approval or disapproval at once.

William N. Goodell, representing the Locks and Canals, was the only person to speak when the hearing was opened for objectors to the plan. He said his company was neither an objector nor a proponent, but wished to ask if the $125,000 represented in the order was all that would be necessary. The Locks and Canals, he said, have no plan concerning the sale of its property to the city and said the completion of the proposed bridge will benefit its land. But, he said, the company engineers believe the cost of the bridge and approaches as outlined in the plan would be merely a starting point. When the work is finished, he said, you will have a bridge and causeway standing 20 feet or so in the air. How much then, he asked, will it cost to complete the work through to Riverside street and the other main highway approaches. He suggested in conclusion that a thorough investigation of the engineering proposition in regard to the bridge be gone into before any action was taken towards building the bridge.

Councilors Lambert, Genest, Chretien, Daly, McFadden, Dickson and Cosgrove spoke briefly in favor of immediate action and Councilor McFadden asked Mr. Goodell why he hadn't appeared at a previous hearing to state his objections.

Mr. Goodell replied that up to last night's hearing, his company had not had an opportunity to view plans of the proposed structure.

Councilor Chretien moved the immediate passage of the order, Councilor Lambert seconding, and it was carried unanimously.

Councilor Chretien stated that an agreement had been reached between objectors to the plan of placing type B white way lights in upper Merrimack street and the electric light corporation, and moved that the latter corporation be notified to go ahead with its work in that district.

On motion of Councilor Stearns, due record was made on the minutes of the meeting concerning the replacal a year ago of the bronze Victory statue in Monument square by the late Frederick Fanning Ayer, son of the donor of the original statue.

NAVY DAY BOAT RACE OFFICIALS NAMED

Officials for the Navy Day boat races to be conducted on the Merrimack river tomorrow afternoon as part of the Lowell Navy club's celebration of the day, were announced today. It was also announced that a free-for-all canoe race, open to any canoeist in the city who cares to enter, will be one of the feature events and that a beautiful silver cup will be awarded the winner.

The list of officials is headed by Mayor Donovan as starter, Commodore Jas. H. Walker, Captain Prouty, Fred Shaw and Arthur Picard as inspectors, and Hon. John J. Rogers, S. C. Garrity and Capt. W. T. White, as judges.

The Navy Day observance will begin with a parade from the Auditorium to the Pawtucket Boat club, starting at 1.15 o'clock. In line will be a band, the Lowell Navy club, and delegations from the Lynn and Lawrence Navy clubs.

Upon arrival at the boat house at about 2 o'clock, the free-for-all canoe races will be started and will be followed by a special race between two four-paddled canoes manned by members of the Winchester Boat club.

The final event of the afternoon will be a three-cornered cutter race between teams representing the Lowell, Lawrence and Lynn Navy clubs.

Silver cups will be awarded the winners in each event. The cups were donated by the Sterling Jewelry Shop, the Prince-Cotter Co., Wood-Abbot Co., Frank Picard and Willis Peltier.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASE

After a two-hour early morning vigil in the cellar of a tenement at 65 Charles street today, Officers William F. Liston and John J. Leahey arrested James F. Dolan of that address on a charge of illegally keeping liquor. The defendant was arraigned in district court this morning and on a plea of not guilty, he was continued in $300 until Nov. 4.

It was 6 o'clock this morning when the officers gained admittance to defendant's cellar. From behind a pile of wood they claim to have seen him in the operation of procuring liquor from a secret hiding place. They allege also that he admitted selling the stuff for one dollar a pint.

HELD FOR FEDERAL COURT

prompt program of sports, target practice and, topping off everything else, a delicious buffet luncheon. The target practice session of the program appeared to be the most popular with the veterans, many who held 'sharpshooters' ratings while in the service being anxious to cuddle a Springfield-Enfield army rifle again in their arms and try their skill at the ranges.

The veterans will return to this city shortly before 5 o'clock and gather again in the veterans' quarters of the Auditorium, where the business meeting will be held with President Thomas J. Godley of Fitchburg, in the chair. The business meeting will extend over a period of an hour, and for an hour following the boys of '98 will enjoy themselves as they please, swapping stories of campaign days and renewing friendships made on the weary marches in Porto Rico, where the regiment put in most of its active duty during the war.

The climax of the reunion will come at 7 o'clock, when the annual reunion will be held in Liberty hall. Among the invited guests are Mayor Donovan, President Fisher of the chamber of commerce, Royal P. White of the Rotary club, commanders of veterans' organizations in this city, Hon. Chas. A. Allen and Gen. Adelbert Ames.

Following the dinner, an entertainment will be given as follows: Selections by the Mendelssohn male quartet of this city; solos by Mrs. Nettie Roberts and Miss Etta B. Thompson; Scotch songs and wit by James E. Donnelly; boxing exhibitions by the Clancy twins and by Young McKenzie and Peter Salley of the Boys' club and various entertainment features by members of the organization.

The committee in charge of the event follows: Frank Dodge, chairman; Alexander D. Mitchell, secretary and treasurer; Arthur F. Salmon, honorary member of the organization; Colby T. Kittredge, Willard D. Pratt, Gardner W. Pearson, Charles J. Duffy, William M. Prescott, P. Henry Driscoll, Frank A. Boyle and Walter R. Joyes, all members of either Company C or G of the Sixth Regiment association.

London Not Notified

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The British government has not been informed of the decision of the Mexican government to close all of its consulates in Great Britain, but the foreign office takes the view that this step will have little effect and probably will not result in the recall of the British officials now in Mexico.

In official circles it is pointed out that no negotiations have been going on between Great Britain and Mexico for the latter's recognition since the breaking down of the informal conversations last spring.

Meantime the British had no diplomatic representatives in Mexico, maintaning consul corps, which the decision of the foreign minister will not affect.

The viewpoint here is that, pending overtures by Mexico, Great Britain cannot take any steps looking towards recognition. It was expected that President-elect Calles, on his recent European trip, might have again brought up the question but he sailed for home, announcing he would not visit England.

The Mexican consulate-general in London has received orders to close all the Mexican consular offices in Great Britain on Nov. 1, the instructions setting forth the reasons which already have been made public in Mexico City. The London office was not informed whether the order would apply to the British dominions.

At the present time there is no heavy shipping between Great Britain and Mexico but the withdrawal of the offices in the dominions might be expected have some affect on trade.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

PRINCE OF WALES SAILS, TO RETURN IN 1926

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Plowing her way across the Atlantic ocean this morning the White Star liner Olympic is bearing the Prince of Wales back to England with souvenirs and memories of his American visit. He was a little wistful as he looked for the last time at the jagged skyline of New York.

Before sailing he promised to return in 1926. Next year he is going to South Africa. Friends of the prince said that when he returns to the United States, it will not be on a pleasure jaunt but rather on a self-educating mission. He wants to study the great industrial plants, the people and the politics of the United States, they said.

A score of reporters boarded the vessel at her pier soon after the prince and his staff had hurried up the gang plank. He bantered with them and posed for photographers willingly, though he still showed a little embarrassment.

On the ship he was greeted by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and Captain Howarth, commander of the Olympic. He was led through lines of sailors to the suite that had been reserved for him. He thought the mahogany and gold finish "too pretty" for him and turned it over to G. M. F. Trottier and took another, done in white and gold, for himself.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Myrtle Blanchard was recently tendered a birthday party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Ryan in Bye street, on the second anniversary of her birth. Beautiful gifts, among them being a gold locket and chain, the gift of her parents were received.

Among the features of the evenings entertainment were piano solos by Mrs. James Ryan and Miss Annie Keefe, songs by Mrs. John Blanchard and Mrs. John Keefe, recitations by Master Raymond Keefe and Master Fred Blanchard, and solos and dance numbers by Leon Vino, John Hogan and James Ryan. Refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable time was had by all.

WALTER E. PARKER DEAD

Agent Emeritus of Pacific Mills in Lawrence and Dover, N. H., Passes Away

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—Walter E. Parker, agent emeritus of the Pacific mills here and in Dover, N. H., died early today at his home on Haverhill street in his 78th year. Born September 27, 1847, in Princeton, Mass., he early learned the mill business and for several years was employed in the Social mills in Woonsocket, R. I. He came to Lawrence in 1881 and was made superintendent of the cotton department of the Pacific mills. During the ten-year period that followed he practically rebuilt the mills, installed modern machinery and literally put it on its feet. In 1892 he was made agent of all the Pacific mills in this city, a position he held actively until March 1, 1916, when Irving W. Southworth, who had been agent of the Pacific mills in the south, was made assistant agent of the local mills and assumed many of Mr. Parker's duties. He became agent emeritus on January 31, 1924.

Mr. Parker was connected with many organizations of mill men and for years was president of the Essex savings bank here and the Lawrence City Mission. He was a trustee of Tufts College and in 1920 made that college a gift of $50,000.

Mr. Parker was four times married.

TO HOLD BOY ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

As the result of the death yesterday of James Harrington, 63 years old, of 74 Maple street, a manslaughter charge will be preferred against 16-year-old Ralph Laprise, alleged driver of the truck which struck and caused the death of the aged man last Friday night.

The victim of the accident died last night in the Lowell Corporation hospital after hovering between life and death since the night of the accident. As the incident was not reported to the police, the driver of the truck was not known until last Thursday night when Laprise was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch. He was arraigned in juvenile court yesterday on charges of driving a motor vehicle without a license, and going away without making himself known after causing injury to person. He was continued in $800 until next Friday, when he will face the more serious charge of manslaughter.

In connection with the same case, Louis R. Trudel, by whom Laprise was employed as truck driver at the time of the accident, and his wife, Margaret Trudel, were arraigned in district court this morning, the man for allowing an automobile to be operated by a person without right, and the woman, in whose name the machine is registered, for allowing a motor vehicle to be operated by a person without legal right to do so. Both pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until Nov. 21.

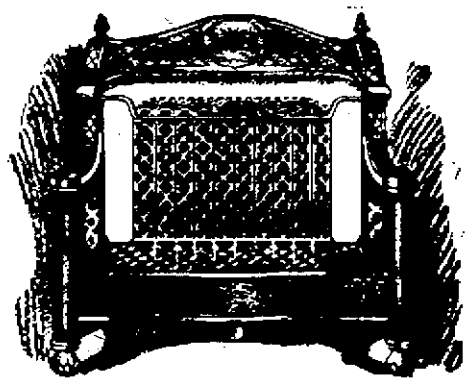

ARRESTED FOR THE ALBANY POLICE

Thomas Noon of this city was arrested last night for the Albany police on the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he stole $140 from his brother on Oct. 18 while visiting in Albany. He will be taken to Albany to face the charge.

"Obvious Forgery"

LONDON, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press)—Christian Rakovsky, soviet Russian charge d'affaires at London, today sent a strong protest to the foreign office, characterizing as an "obvious forgery" the propogandistic letter, allegedly signed by M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Third Communication International, which was appended to the protest against alleged Russian propaganda in Great Britain, submitted yesterday by the foreign office to M. Rakovsky.

The Russian diplomat declared that foreign office officials should have recognized the Zinovieff letter as a forgery and he complained that the usual diplomatic procedure of notifying his office before the publication of such a protest as the one made yesterday, was not allowed in this case.

Yonkers Police Act on Information That 80 Revolvers Were Shipped to City

Said To Be For Use in Chinese Tong War — Guns Seized

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Acting on information that 80 revolvers were being shipped here from Philadelphia for use in the Chinese tong war, police of Yonkers and New York city raided a Herriot street house today and arrested 27 Chinese, most of them members of the Hip Sing Tong. Two revolvers and opium smoking outfits were found in the place.

The roundup was the biggest made since tong warfare was started in New York's Chinatown, with similar hostilities in numerous towns and cities in other parts of the country. Two of the men arrested in today's raid were Chinese already under bail to await trial on charges of attempted murder in the Newark tong war.

The police declared that the house raided was a hiding place for Chinese gunmen. They said they had obtained information concerning the supposed shipment of revolvers from two Chinese court interpreters in New York who were members of another tong.

Upon graduating from Princeton, Mr. O'Donoghue entered the employ of the street railway company in its Boston office, and was later appointed manager of the Brockton district. After two years' service there, he was promoted to manager of the Haverhill district and last week was named manager of the Lowell division.

Maurice E. McCormick, whom Mr. O'Donoghue succeeds as manager here, will begin his duties as manager of the Chelsea division, the largest on the Eastern Massachusetts system, next Monday.

Mr. McCormick expressed considerable regret at leaving Lowell after two years' service here and, through The Sun, wishes extend his thanks to the general public, members of the city council, the press and the police, especially the superintendent and Sergt. Spanish War Vets Hold Reunion Here

LOWELL GIVES GLAD WELCOME TO MEN WHO SERVED IN '98

The Memorial Auditorium is this noon the goal of over 300 veterans who marched under the banner of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment in the Porto Rican campaign of the Spanish-American war in 1898, the event being the annual reunion of this famous regiment.

The regiment association numbers over 700, and the annual reunions have, with but one or two exceptions, always been held in Boston. Lowell, through the efforts of the local members of the association and the chamber of commerce, succeeded this year in being named as the reunion city and is this afternoon opening her arms to welcome the veterans who "carried on" when President McKinley called for men to drive the Spaniards from Cuba.

Shortly before noon today the first of the visiting veterans made their way to the veterans' quarters of the Memorial Auditorium and there signed the registration book of the association. From that time on until 1 o'clock, members of the association kept arriving in ever increasing numbers until well over 200 had registered for the event, and it is expected another hundred will arrive for the festivities of the late afternoon and the annual banquet this evening.

With registration completed, members of the organization remained at the Auditorium until shortly after 2 o'clock, when they boarded automobiles furnished by the Rotary club and chamber of commerce and started on a tour of the city.

Fort Hill park, Shedd park, and city-owned playgrounds, the Textile school, Normal school, high school and municipal buildings, were viewed in turn by the visitors. Then, turning the machines away from the heart of the city, the procession went up Merrimack street, over the Pawtucket bridge, stopping for a view of the falls and the wide expanse of water above, and then proceeded out Mammoth road and on to the rifle range in Drexel Centre.

DEMOCRATS HOLD ROUSING RALLY IN MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Hon. James M. Curley Holds Large Audience Spellbound in Characteristic Speech—Pays High Tribute To Senator David I. Walsh

Mayor James M. Curley of Boston made further great inroads in the hearts of Lowell's men and women voters last night when in a characteristic picturesque pyrotechnical speech at Memorial Auditorium he held a large audience spellbound despite the rearness of a new day as he castigated the Klan, defended his record, ridiculed his republican opponent and declared, amidst a spontaneous and prolonged outburst of true democratic enthusiasm that he will be the next governor of Massachusetts by a majority of 100,000 votes.

Accompanied by Mrs. Curley, the tireless campaigner reached the Auditorium at about 11.30 o'clock, just as

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT CLOSES ITS CONSULATES IN BRITAIN

Drastic Step Due to Britain's Failure to Concede Mexico the Honor of Maintaining Official Relations—Not to Recall British Officials

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Mexico has suppressed commercial relations with Great Britain, the department of foreign affairs ordering the consulates in London, Liverpool and Glasgow closed as well as all the honorary consular officers throughout the United Kingdom.

This drastic step was decided upon, in the words of Foreign Minister Saenz, not to show hostility to Great Britain, but because the Mexicans believe it "unworthy" of themselves to maintain consular representatives under a government which does not concede the honor of maintaining official relations, thus implying that it does not consider Mexica has the moral and

Providence Man Flees to Safety Under Fusilade of Shots Fired by Bandits

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25—John Turgeon, 28, saved a payroll of more than $5000 today when the car in which he and his brother, Edward Turgeon, were transporting the money, was attacked by masked bandits. The Turgeon brothers were within a half mile of their destination, when three men in a speedster, Massachusetts registry number 302,290, swooped in front of their automobile, stopped short, jumped out and held up the payroll car at th epoint of a shotgun and revolver. John Turgeon seized the valise containing the money, leaped from the car and dashed off just as his brother brought it to a stop. One of the bandits opened fire at his fleeing form, but the shots went wild and John succeeded in reaching a store in safety with the money intact. The trail of the bandit car was lost by the police after they had followed it to Centerdale.

Five Armed Men Seize Payroll of Whippany, New Jersey, Paper Factory

Three of Bandits Caught When They Jumped From Taxi and Fled for Ferry

WHIPPANY, N. J., Oct. 25.—Screams of a young woman and two men who had been tied to trees in the South mountain reservation, near South Orange, today led passing motorists to rescue them and revealed a $7000 payroll holdup of the R. I. McEwan Brothers paper board factory at Whippany, by five armed bandits.

Three bandits were captured and $6608 was recovered by police when the men jumped out of a taxicab and attempted to board a ferry for New York.

SUBVERT WILL OF CONGRESS

Sen. La Follette Protests Action of Mellon and Blair in Message to Couzens

Action Follows Official Objection to Publication of Names of Taxpayers

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 25—Chairman Couzens of the senate committee, authorized to investigate the internal revenue bureau, was urged today by Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, to call Secretary Mellon and Commissioner Blair, of the bureau, before the committee and to ask them "by what authority they seek to subvert the will of congress."

In sending a telegram to Mr. Couzens suggesting such action, Mr. La Follette took cognizance of published reports that the two officials have objected to the publication by newspapers of the names of taxpayers and the amount of their income taxes.

Declaring he understood Mr. Blair had issued a warning "threatening newspapers with fine and imprisonment" if they published such information, Senator La Follette said he believed the commissioner's "threat violates the spirit of the publicity amendment of the revenue act and subverts the intent of congress that the public should know who is paying taxes and how much they pay."

"The purpose of this amendment," continued Mr. La Follette's telegram to Mr. Couzens, "was to provide a means of checking up on tax dodgers by exposing the facts to public scrutiny. This purpose will be defeated if publication is prevented."

As he traveled southward today from Syracuse, N. Y., where he spoke last night, Senator La Follette had in prospect a week-end resting in Aiken, Md., a village on the Susquehanna river, before plunging into his final week of campaigning.

The Wisconsin senator had no speaking engagement on his schedule for tonight.

SEC. WALLACE DYING

Latest Bulletin Says Patient "Very Low" and "Just Barely Alive"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Physicians attending Secretary Wallace of the agricultural department, who is lying between life and death at a hospital here, said shortly before noon today that the secretary's condition "could hardly be more unfavorable" for recovery.

There still is a slight hope, but Mr. Wallace has been unconscious since early this morning and the poisoning which followed an operation a week ago appears to have spread to all parts of the body.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, who is in attendance, indicated after this morning's examination that it was only a question of how long the heart action would hold out. There was grave fear that the end might come within a few hours.

Secretary Wallace was said this afternoon to be "very low." His physicians said that he was "just barely alive."

WOMAN TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Elizabeth Hetherman of 55 Rea street died at the Corporation hospital shortly after she had been taken there early this afternoon by a woman whose name is unknown. Hospital physicians, in conversation with police headquarters, stated that death was due to natural causes.

It is believed the woman was fatally stricken while shopping in the downtown district, but particulars of the case are unknown. The police are conducting an investigation.

POLITICAL CONTESTS IN LOCAL FIELD NOW WAXING WARM

Rallies Planned for Coming Week—Referenda Questions To Be Passed Upon By Voters at Polls—Candidates for the Legislature in Strenuous Campaigns

With state and national elections only 10 days distant one thing stands out in the rush and roar of party campaigning as an acknowledged fact—that the vote polled in Lowell on November 4 will be the biggest ever recorded here, probably 90 per cent. of the total registration, which would mean a vote of approximately 31,000. The exact registration today, after heavy drives for new voters for the past several weeks, stands at 35,211.

Whether Coolidge and Dawes will carry the city over Davis and Bryan and to what extent La Follette and Wheeler will cut into the ranks of both parties locally are questions the returns alone can answer. Likewise the battle between Fuller and Curley here will be vigorously fought, with the democratic nominee having the edge in present day prognostications.

Rallies Arouse Enthusiasm

Publication of Foreign Office Document Reveals Conspiracy to Overthrow Existing Institution in Britain and Subversion of Armed Forces

LONDON, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Publication of a foreign office document supposedly revealing a Moscow plot against Great Britain startled the public today.

The document included the text of an alleged letter, marked "very secret," from M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Communist international to the central committee of the British communist party, containing in the words of the foreign office, "instructions to British subjects to work for the violent overthrow of existing institutions in this country and for the subversion of his majesty's armed forces as a means to that end."

A communication from the foreign office to the Russian charge d'affaires, M. Rakovsky, calls attention to the alleged Zinovieff letters and protests against "this violation of the specific

PUBLICATION OF TAX RETURNS PROTESTED BY BUSINESS MEN

Declare Action Divulges Business Secrets to Their Rivals—New York Papers Continue to Print Lists —Single Out Prominent Personages

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York newspapers today continued printing lists of income tax returns, singling out the most prominent personages in the metropolitan district and throughout the nation. Because of different interpretations of the law regarding publicity of returns local collectors in many instances declined to give out figures in their possession resulting in only partial lists being available.

The Herald-Tribune, which refrained from printing returns Friday morning on the basis of a treasury ruling, in its editions today carries several columns of them. Explaining its decision to print returns, the Herald-Tribune says in part:

"The facts which never should have been made known, have become general news of immediate importance. The Herald-Tribune recognizes that the treasury ruling has become ineffective. It therefore prints today the figures made public by the collectors of internal revenue without vouching for their accuracy."

Meanwhile the financial district continues to be deeply stirred. Bankers and corporation heads expressed resentment of the publicity declaring that business secrets were being divulged to their rivals.

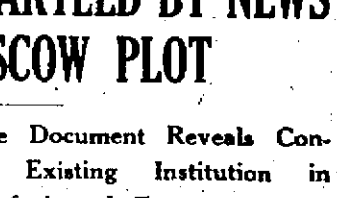

Despite confusion as to the right of the newspapers to publish tax assessments, additional returns were furnished reporters yesterday.

SUICIDE IS IDENTIFIED AS LOWELL MAN

The body of the man who committed suicide by shooting in a Haverhill lodging house last Thursday, was identified this morning as George Racicot, also known as George LaFrance, of 84 Adams street, this city. Identification was made by two Lowell friends, Wilfrid J. Lemire of 23 Prospect street, and Joseph N. Fournier of 23 Shaw street.

Deceased was about 50 years old and the father of two sons and two daughters. His wife, the police state, left him about two years ago, while a son and daughter are in Montreal, Can., with the second son in Ottawa, and the second daughter in New York. His mother lives in La Prairie, Canada, near Montreal.

For 16 years Racicot was a machinist in the Kitson machine shop here. He had steady employment, but left home suddenly last Sunday without informing friends of his destination. He was found dead in a Haverhill lodging house Thursday morning, with a .32 calibre bullet in his head, and a revolver by his side.

The yard adjacent to the home of Mrs. Arthur Harrison in Percy street, Kenwood, was a centre of interest for many days recently to residents of the Kenwood section of Dracut because of an odd-appearing vehicle which stood there.

The vehicle appeared to be a combination of house and automobile—the lower section and wheels being quickly identified by most everyone as part of a standard make of car, while the body appeared to be a small bungalow or summer camp.

This odd vehicle was a house-car, or a portable house, owned by Ralph W. Goodhue of Windsor, Vermont, who was visiting his sister, Mrs. Harrison. The machine arrived there a week or so ago and left within the past few days on the first stage of a trip which, it is expected, will end in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Goodhue has no schedule to go by in making this trip. He doesn't care when he arrives, and when leaving the city said he had only two places in particular to visit on the way—Kansas city, where Alfred L. Baily, a former resident of this city, lives, and a little town in Louisianna where Fred M. Goodhue, another former resident of Lowell, now resides.

For a year and a half before starting out on this trip, Mr. Goodhue spent all his spare time fixing up the house-car in which he is making the journey, and the finished job is a credit to his skill with tools and his ingenuity, for every comfort is provided for in a little house, mounted on a Ford chassis. Berths, tables, storage space, water tanks, a stove, cutlery and china—in fact everything that is ordinarily used in a house, is stored in such a manner on this little house-car that there is plenty of seating room when on tour and a comfortable little house to sit and sleep in when drawn up on the side of the road or parked in one of the many camping sites which dot the main highways from Canada to Mexico and from Cape Ann to the Golden Gate.

The house-car, the best and most cleverly constructed seen in this section of the country, is worthy of description.

The entire chassis of the Ford was first floored-in with matched boards, laid as nicely as the hard wood floor in a living room, to an area of about eight feet by five and a half feet. Then the side walls were raised and a roof put on.

Beneath the floor is plenty of storage room and a large water tank.

Trap doors in the floor open into compartments where tools, spare parts, etc., are stored, and there also is a large water tank. Compartments for storage are also erected over the running boards and fenders, while the spare tire rack is under the car at the rear where it is readily accessible.

In building the house on wheels, Mr. Goodhue ran up against one difficulty that "stumped" him for some time. How could he build the house sufficiently high enough to stand in and yet low enough so as to be able to pass under bridges and under passes and not be top heavy. After considerable planning, he arranged the roof so that it could be raised on pulleys when the car was standing still, and lowered when the party started off again in the morning.

Inside the car on either side are two long window-seats forming lockers. Over these at night are fitted canvas covered frames, six feet long by two feet wide, which are used as beds. During the daytime these frames are folded within the lockers. Gay blankets used as bedding decorate the seats during the day.

The rear corners of the car contain two upright lockers which hold clothing while fitted between these lockers is a kitchen cabinet, the front of which opens to form a table supported by an adjustable leg. Within are kitchen utensils, dishes, and groceries. On the cabinet stands a two-burner alcohol stove and overhead is a two-bulb electric light, sufficiently bright to illuminate the interior of the house. The entire rear panel of the back, under the windows, opens to form an out-of-door table, while stove and cabinet can be removed easily for out-door cooking.

The driver's seat is a comfortable folding chair held in place by clips on the floor, while at the right is a frame maps and guide books. In a locker nearby are stored a typewriter, cameras and a violin.

A clock, thermometer and doormat add to the attractiveness of the house-car while the walls are decorated by hand colored photographs, done by Mr. Goodhue.

Questioned concerning the reason for his long journey across the continent, Mr. Goodhue quotes a Vermont saying: "The weather in Vermont is generally good, except for about three weeks the sleighing is rather poor and you have to drag along on wheels." It is to escape the rigors of Vermont's winter, that the trip is being undertaken.

HELD ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCING PARTY

An enjoyable entertainment and dancing party was held in the Girls' City club rooms in the square last evening under the auspices of the Lowell Children's Aid society, the proceeds of which will be donated to the fund of the organization to purchase clothes for the needy children of the city and prepare them for the colder days to come.

A varied program of songs and novelty dances was given by the Normandy dancing school, the participants ranging from 4 to 12 years of age.

Dorothy Normandy opened the program with a Spanish dance, ably executed by the young miss who proved her ability as a supple dancer.

Alice Ryan was most pleasing with vocal selections. Hardly ten years of age, she possesses a clear, well focused voice and there is great promise in the vocal world for her in the future.

Little Virginia Calnan, dressed in an Egyptian costume of orchid satin and pearls offered the Shiek dance and capably interpreted the various movements of the number.

The pony trot, by Doris Joyce and Francis Ryan was a pleasing number, both children receiving rounds of applaud.

An enjoyable and colorful number was the balloon dance by Irene Joyce. She executed the various movements of a novelty waltz number with precision and ability.

Rose Magee entertained with the Mah Jong dance while the Highland Fling, dance eccentric, jockey and clog numbers were given by Mabel Stafford, Mildred Hodge, Florence Gendron and Dorotyh Normandy respectively.

The minuet, always a pleasing number was beautifully given by Doris Joyce, Francis Ryan, Dorothy Normandy, Mildred Hodge, Mildred Brouder and Florence Gendron.

Following the program general dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Johan de la Parra, Mrs. M. J. Rourke, and Mrs. Sadie Cohen. Dr. Johan de la Parra, Mr. Arthur H. Giroux, Mr. Joseph Rourke and Mr. Son Provost were in charge of the entertainment program.

Members of the Lowell Council Boy Scouts ushered.

The Children's Aid society was organized in March of last year by Mrs Johan de la Parra. At present there are 60 voluntary workers. It is a non-sectarian society and its purpose is to clothe poor children of the city up to the age of 15 years.

The officers of the society are president and treasurer, Mrs. Johan de la Parra; vice president, Mrs. M. J. Rourke; secretary, Mrs. Sadie Cohen.

During the evening thanks were expressed for the contributions made to the association by the following: Fairburn's market, Bell bakery, Swallow bakery, Wright's waiting room bakery, Kresge Co., Strandway Shoppe, Sharff's, Turner Center Co., Cameron's Ice Cream Co., H. P. Hood and Son, Frank Ricard, Prince-Cotter, Wood-Abbott, Garfield's Furniture Co., David Perreault, Prince-Walters, Woolworth's and R. J. McCartney.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Resuming his campaign in New York, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, faced today a schedule of speaking engagements and conferences here and in New Jersey, which is expected to take him to the closing event of his personal participation in the election contest, the speech at Carnegie Hall on the evening of Nov. 1.

The candidate motored to the city from his home in Locust Valley to attend the first of the engagements at a hotel where he was to address a democratic woman's rally this afternoon and afterwards appear at a Staten Island meeting, winding up the day with a third speech before a gathering at the Mount Morris high school, in the Bronx tonight.

It was his intention to outline in part his experiences in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, supplementing the state-

DEATHS

O'BRIEN—The many friends of Michael J. and Mrs. Nellie (Shea) O'Brien of 54 South Walker street, will regret to read of the death of their son, Daniel, which occurred last evening at St. John's hospital, aged 8 years and 9 days. The little fellow underwent a surgical operation a year ago and never thoroughly regained his strength though it was the hope of the parents he would eventually recover as he grew older. This was not to be, as he grew weaker this past week, the end coming peacefully at the hospital. Master O'Brien was a bright boy of a beautiful disposition and lovable nature. He will be greatly missed by his companions at both the Dover street and the Moroy schools where he was a great favorite with both teachers and scholars. He leaves, besides his parents, three sisters, Lillian, Dorothy and Matilda, and one brother, Philip O'Brien. The body will be taken to the home of his parents, 54 South Walker street, by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LESSARD—Mrs. Elizabeth (Beausoleil) Lessard, wife of Adelard Lessard, died at her home, 84 Farmland road, aged 56 years. She had been a resident of Lowell for the past 44 years and was a constant attendant of St. Louis' church. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Aurore Lampron, Mrs. Marie Jane Gaudette, and Miss Yvonne Lessard; six sons, Donat, William, Arthur, Edmond, Albert and Eugene Lessard, all of this city; one sister, Mrs. Elvina Neault of Framingham, and two brothers, Ernest and Joseph Beausoleil. She was a member of St. Anne's sodality and the Third Order of St. Francis.

LETTRELL—James J. Lettrell, for more than sixty years a well known resident of this city and for the greater part a resident of the Belvidere section, died this morning at the home of his son, Edward Lettrell, 52 Third street. Deceased was a man of splendid habits, honorable and trustworthy, much respected and well liked in many circles. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Rose Lettrell; two sons, James of New York and Edward of Lowell; one brother, Christopher of Patterson, N. J., and three grandchildren. He was a member of Court General Shields Foresters of America, and the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church.

HANNIFIN—Mrs. Mary (Huey) Hannifin died Friday at the Carney hospital, Boston. She leaves her husband, John Hannifin; two daughters, Misses Mary and Anna of Los Angeles, Cal.; two sons, Maurice and Edward of the United States navy; two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Herrin and Mrs. Thomas Morris, and a brother, Thomas Buoy. The remains will be brought to this city and will be removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Morris, 40 Chambers street, this afternoon by Undertakers Higgins Bros.

HARRINGTON—James Harrington, who received injuries when struck by an automobile in Gallagher square eight days ago, died last evening at the Corporation hospital. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, John and James Harrington; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Burke and Mrs. Hugh McQuade; and several grandchildren. The remains will be removed to his late home, 74 Maple street, this evening, by Undertakers O'Connell & Fay.

COBURN—Mrs. Mary E. F. Coburn, widow of the late Horace B. Coburn, died this morning at her home, 275 Andover street. She leaves one daughter, Miss Harriet Coburn; one son, Horace B. Coburn of La Grange, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Charles C. Bowen of Ossining, N. Y., and Mrs. George A. Hills of this city. Mrs. Coburn was a member of All Souls church.

FOSTER—Miss Eleanor E. Foster, a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the Old Ladies' home, where she has resided for the past six years, at the age of 78 years 2 months and 18 days. She was a member of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

DESROSIERS—Yvette Desrosiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Desrosiers, died yesterday following injuries received by being run over by an automobile. Her age was 5 years 8 months and 9 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 20 Campaw street, by Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

MAJORITY FOR "DRYS" IN ONTARIO NOW 40,368

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The majority for the Ontario temperance act reached the 40,368 mark today when returns in the liquor plebiscite had been received from all but 741 of the 7833 election sub-divisions.

The vote from the districts already tabulated gave 541,196 for the temperance act and 501,828 for the sale of liquor under government control. Leaders of the "drys" were confident the final majority for the temperance act would be 50,000.

CLASS ELECTIONS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

At the class elections held yesterday at the Lowell State Normal School the following officers were chosen for this year, governing council—Pres., Rose Leary vice pres., Mary O'Conner; sec.-treas., Winnifred Lester; traffic chairman, Mary Frawley; committee, chairman, Mary Luppold; social chairman, Mary Palmer; head housekeeper, Wilma Perkins.

For senior class officers Mary Moran was elected president, Agnes Ryan vice pres. and Mary Lane sec.-treas. Rose Farley and Alice Nugent were elected president and vice president of the junior class. The section officers for this year were also chosen yesterday.

START SEWER WORK IN PARKER STREET

Harry P. Doherty, superintendent of streets and sewers, said today a sewer gang will start in Parker street Monday to lay 1100 feet of 18-inch pipe there. This gang today completed 950 feet of now 12-inch sewer laid in Fourth avenue and Emery street. Nesmith street sewer work will be started Tuesday and five other jobs on Wednesday, he said.

One section of 42-inch pipe, 135 foot long and 37 feet underground, has already been completed by the gang of 50 men at work there and this gang will be augmented Monday by 50 additional men.

VISITORS HOLD OUTDOOR RALLIES

The "Flying Wedge of Industrial Speakers," three young women and a man touring the state in the interests of Coolidge and Gillett, rolled into Lowell early this afternoon where they will remain until late tonight. Outdoor rallies are planned for city hall steps at 4 p. m., Towers corner at 8 p. m. and Paige and Bridge streets at 10 p.m. Edgar P. Dougherty, chairman of the republican city committee, is in charge of the "wedge" while in Lowell.

BAY STATE DANCING SCHOOL

Saturday night dances are becoming extremely popular at the Bay State Dancing school, Dutton street, now being conducted by "Barney" Horan. Miner-Doyle's orchestra, which has an enviable reputation in New England, composed of a picked team of trained and talented musicians, is furnishing the music for these occasions and as usual are scoring a distinct hit. These Saturday evening socials are well conducted as the many who are attending and making it a habit to be there Saturday evenings, will attest.

BILLIARD EXPERT ENTERTAINS

Dr. R. C. Downes of Detroit entertained a number of members of Lowell lodge of Elks last night with an exhibition of trick and fancy billiard shots given at the Warren street firehouse. Officers of Lowell lodge will go to Woburn Monday, to initiate a large class of candidates for the lodge there.

INDECENT LITERATURE

A local magazine distributor was fined $100 in district court this morning for possessing indecent literature as represented in a magazine known as "Snappy Stories." Defendant appealed.

Among those present were relatives and friends from Ware and Chicopee and Hartford, Conn. Burial took place in the family lot in the Holy Trinity cemetery where Rev. A. S. Ogonowski read the committal prayers and also delivered a short eulogy. This was the first burial in the new Polish cemetery in this city. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Urbanek.

URGENT NOTICE

Dear Snookie-Mumsie: Please come back to your loving son. He is crying since you left him; he cannot stop it. He is worried and very sick to hear from you and to have you come home, and will forgive and forget all. I am also deeply grieved. I sign myself,

Humphrey O'Sullivan was concluding a vitriolic resume of the stewardship of John Jacob Rogers as congressman from this district. As Mayor Curley entered from the wings and shook hands with former Mayor James E. O'Donnell the very girders of Lowell's magnificent meeting place reverberated with the thunderous outburst of a spontaneous welcome greeting.

Whispering propaganda of other than a harmonious shoulder-to-shoulder battle with United States David I. Walsh was smothered in the very first words from the mayor of Boston who lost not a moment in voicing his regrets that Senator Walsh could not attend in person.

"There could be no more fitting place for your able junior senator to speak to you than in this magnificent structure erected to commemorate the heroism and sacrifices of those boys he has ever so ably championed," said Mayor Curley. "The prayers of our dead and disabled soldiers, and of their people, rise like incense imploring that that brilliant statesman, their friend and protector, be returned to Washington."

The meeting, arranged by the O'Sullivan congressional campaign committee, working in conjunction with the democratic city committee, was called to order by J. Joseph Hennessy. Mr. Hennessy, chairman of the O'Sullivan committee, declared that if Lowell does as it should for Mr. O'Sullivan he will have a majority of 4000 votes here and with it he will be elected. He then turned the meeting over to Hon. James E. O'Donnell, the presiding officer.

"The time has come to raise the standard of honesty in political parties and purge the parties of those who will not strive to establish and maintain high standards" was the keynote of the opening by Mr. O'Donnell. The speaker said he is not in sympathy with continued abuse of men in public life and admits there are men of high principles in both of the leading parties. He pointed to the administration of Woodrow Wilson as one in which the official integrity of the president was never attacked "and the breath of dishonor never either seen or felt." He said he would

He said he would not impugn the personal honesty of Calvin Coolidge, but he would single him for defeat because he is the standard-bearer of a party which has proven untrue to its trust. He lauded John W. Davis as a man whose integrity is beyond criticism and said that admitting both candidates equal, the matter to decide was one of what they stood for and what stood behind them. With the interest of the honest every-day workingman of New England at heart and there could be but one choice, and that of John W. Davis and the democratic principles which he espouses. Mr. O'Donnell spoke a word of appreciation of the ever loyal service to the Lowell democracy by Humphrey O'Sullivan and urged that Mr. O'Sullivan be strongly supported in his fight for congress.

Oscar Rochleau of Worcester, candidate for secretary of state, spoke briefly for the state ticket and was followed by U. S. Senator Victor Broussard of Louisiana. Senator Broussard prophesied that should Coolidge be returned one of his first steps would be to attempt to put over the Mellon tax reduction plan as it was originally offered and he explained at length the discrimination in favor of predatory wealth contained therein. Senator Broussard spoke for David I. Walsh for United States senator, urging the return of his colleague. "I have served with Senator Walsh for several years," he said. "His standing as a statesman is the highest. He is admired as a man of intelligence and honesty. He has been diligent in his duties. The people of Massachusetts would make a great mistake should they fail to avail themselves of his services."

"Boston's mayor, your candidate for governor, Mr. Curley," he continued. "I know him well. He served for years in congress with my brother. I cannot too strongly urge of you that he be given your loyal support."

State Chairman Charles H. McGlue declared there is no doubt but the verdict of the people at the polls will be for Curley for governor and for Walsh for United States senator. He forecast that Davis would be the next president by vote of the electoral college, giving Davis 190 electoral votes to start and conceding seven states to La Follette, possibly eight. In Massachusetts, he declared, a vote for La Follette is a vote for Coolidge.

Mr. McGlue referred caustically to Mr. Gillett, opponent of Senator Walsh, as "Coolidge's rubber stamp." He urged that "that good old democratic warhorse, Humphrey O'Sullivan, be sent to congress to uphold Davis' hand," and also gave a word for the county and representative candidates.

Miss Mae Matthews of Boston, the next speaker, proved one of the hits of the evening. She referred to the present administration as "a reign of terror or of error," said we've found it "frosty" enough trying to "keep cool with Coolidge," and said the slogan should be changed to "Steer Clear of Cal." She praised Senator Walsh and referred to his opponent as "the Rip Van Winkle of Springfield." She ended with a strong appeal for James M. Curley, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Strabo Y. Claggett and the whole democratic ticket.

Mr. Claggett, the next speaker, delivered a tirade against Alonzo B. Cook, the present state auditor, referred to his practically unanimous newspaper support for the office and ended in an appeal for the whole ticket.

Candidate for Congress

Humphrey O'Sullivan, candidate for congress from the 5th congressional district, was the next speaker.

Mr. O'Sullivan said in part:

"A few months ago representatives from the towns and cities of this district met and drafted me as a candidate for this office. I told them that if they wanted me to run for the office my conditions would be very severe. It would be only on the condition of co-operation on the part of the people that I would undertake to break down the barrier that this gentleman had built around himself in this district, and after I had broken through that I would retain the office for one term only and open up an opportunity for the many qualified men and women of this district to represent you in congress."

He attacked Congressman Rogers for his condemnation of and failure to support the federal reserve act.

"Since opening this campaign I have asked the congressman to give an account of his stewardship, what he has accomplished for this district in the last twelve years," continued Mr. O'Sullivan. "I have asked him to tell what help he has rendered to the farmers, what help he has rendered to the labor interests, what effort he has made to be of any assistance in remedying industrial conditions or in settling strikes, or showing any interest or sympathy in solving our problems. I have asked him how it was that he undertook to have the Merrimack river deepened and gave us as an alibi that he was opposed by the mill agents of Lowell.

"Just think of that. How many people are there in Lowell, can you imagine, that do not line up the congressman as the friend of the Lowell corporations—and then to say that the reason he couldn't get the Merrimack river deepened was because the mill agents were against him."

"But let us be honest with him—he did do something. Everything being lovely at home he turned his thoughts to the consular service, and so he framed a bill for the greater comfort and convenience of the consular service and that bill is known as the Rogers bill, and he did succeed in getting it passed.

"I believe his friends are sorry that they used that word 'unbeatable,' because when I hurled back at them what bad form it was for anyone to claim that he was above his people, an autocrat and superman, they have now lowered their estimate and only claim that he should be elected by a large majority. And they base their claims on the fact that he has been kind enough to answer letters of inquiry of one kind or another to be attended to at Washington, and that he even answered democrats who wrote to him, he made no distinction. Of course they wind up by saying that he put this famous consular bill on the statute books. If they had anything else to claim for him of course they would be glad to do it. Think of it: His heart in the consular service when he should be giving a thought to the Billerica car shop strike. But he was intent on society and 5 o'clock teas.

"At a republican rally in Lowell the afternoon of the 20th the congressman was advertised to speak. Well, he presided. That was near enough to it. But the others who spoke were Senator Fess of Ohio, candidates Gillett, Fuller and others.

"So that you will understand the situation clearly, there were trumpeters on the steps and community singing within the little Liberty Hall which has a seating capacity of about a thousand. Those who entered and desired to go in the gallery were recommended to take a seat in the audience so that the hall would look filled as a courtesy to our congressman.

"The big idea among the republican spellbinders is not to wake the audience up from their dream of happiness. This was fully explained by Senator Fess when he told them that if there was anyone objectionable on their ticket to vote the whole ticket anyway. Of course that statement met with applause. But Senator Fess didn't stop at that. He stated that the reason the republican party should be returned to power was that they are better business men than the democrats, and he also found great gratification in the fact that the German loan was eaten up by American investors in twelve minutes. Wasn't that wonderful? Wouldn't that put any audience to sleep?

"Of course when it came to candidates Fuller's and Gillette's turn to speak they were afraid they would waken the audience and they made their remarks as brief as possible saying they had pressing engagements in a neighboring city.

"Now let us take up the statement of the senator from Ohio who spent about an hour and a half talking about the foreign policies of this administration. Senator Fess of Ohio had the courage to claim the activities of General Dawes and Owen D. Young of the General Electric company, who represented America on the reparations commission, not as politicians or republicans, but as business experts, and yet Senator Fess claims that the so-called Dawes plan was accepted by the reparations commission as a wonderful accomplishment to the credit of the foreign diplomacy of the republican administration.

"But what of his claim that the republicans are better business men than the democrats? When he told his audience of one hundred and ten millions in dollars being swallowed up by the American investors in twelve minutes he forgot to tell them that every dollar was sold for ninety-two cents and it carried an interest of 7½ per cent annually. And he forgot to tell them that in 1917 the Wilson administration sold four billion dollars worth of bonds to the American people at 3½ per cent, that the United States treasury got one hundred cents for every dollar, that the banks didn't get any commission in selling the bonds and the people who bought the bonds only got 3 ½per cent for their money.

"Will Mr. Fess compare that with the flotation of the German loan of only a measly one hundred and ten million dollars? And will he tell them also that this loan was over-subscribed and investors got only about three-quarters what they asked for. I know this from personal knowledge. Mightn't he also tell them that in the flotation of the second, third and fourth liberty bonds the United States never paid over 4¼ per cent for the money, also received one hundred cents on the dollar; and when money was scarce in 1918 the Wilson administration floated the Victory loan at 4¾ per cent and got a hundred cents for every dollar?

"The sum at issue is around four billion dollars. The original interest charge was 5 per cent, later it was made 4¼ per cent, the same price as the United States liberty bonds, and anyone who knows about bonds knows how much the English loan is worth compared to United States liberty bonds.

"But that isn't all. The English government thought they should have a lower rate, and so this government appointed a commission to meet a similar one to adjust the rate between the two parties, and what do you suppose happened? They agreed to have this loan run for sixty-two years, part of the time for 3½ per cent and part of the time for 3 per cent. And here is where I ask you whether this was near collusion or intentional on the part of the adjusters for the republican administration. They agreed that these interest payments, or payments on the principle might be made with liberty bonds.

"I will make this further statement and then you have to do the rest of the thinking for yourselves. They have made some of these interest payments with liberty bonds. At present that is impracticable because the liberties are above par, but who is going to say that in the space of sixty-two years it isn't possible for this country to get into trouble with some nation or another during which time England may be able to buy these liberty bonds at vastly lower than they ever sold and thereby enable herself to clean up her entire debt to this country without it costing her a penny.

"In other words I am going to ask you why did they insert that joker? I leave it to you to answer. If you have never heard of this story before just see if it isn't the exact truth.

"And then on top of this let me ask you why it is that the republican administration are charging the Boston and Maine railroad 6 per cent per annum on a loan of fifty million dollars and letting England have the money, four billion, for 3¾ per cent? And after you have heard this what do you think of Senator Fess' statement that the republicans are better business men and that the United States is making money on the interest that she is receiving on European loans?

"If the people who can stand for this sort of business do not wake up pretty soon there is something worse than corruption in high places to deplore."

Hon. James M. Curley

Following Mr. O'Sullivan and obliged to appear for a halt to the veritable thunder of applause that greeted him came the main speaker of the evening, Boston's capable and energetic mayor, James M. Curley.

Opening with his kind words for his running mate at the head of the state ticket, Senator Walsh, Mayor Curley was early in his stride and he delivered what many declared the greatest of the many Curley speeches ever heard in this city.

He declared he will be the next governor despite "the whispering campaigns of political assassins" and said he has over 500,000 pledge cars, signed by voters, already at his office.

"If Lowell does its part, and I have every reason to believe that it will," said Mayor Curley, "I'll go in as your next governor by over 100,000 votes." He rapped his opponent who, he said, was relying more on his 20-year-old prestige as a bicycle rider to cover his lack of any knowledge or plans on foreign or domestic policies—the very bread and butter of the people of the commonwealth.

"Pledged to a penurious policy he asks your support," said the mayor. He told of the deplorable state of affairs in the Massachusetts insane hospitals, citing 52 deaths by violence in two years, many cases specifically. "Yet Fuller says he's 'satisfied'; he'll continue things as they are," said Mr. Curley. "I'm not satisfied. When I first went in as mayor of Boston I found our poorhouse overcrowded, found women of over 70 years of age obliged to crawl in the upper berths of double-deck beds. I spent a half million dollars to dissipate the cold gray clouds hanging before the eyes of those poor unfortunates behind which they prayed for death to take them from pauperism and I sent through those clouds a light that showed there was one heart and one mind in Boston that had room for them. That's Curleyism. That's the Curleyism you hear flouted and condemned by these smirking, self-satisfied whisperers.

"I spent $10,000,000 to have a seat for every pupil in the public schools of Boston and withal the tax rate for three years has been $24.70 in the city of Boston, lowest of the ten large cities of the United States and third lowest of any city in New England, lower even than your own. You read in the Fuller-bought or Fuller-controlled columns that Curley increased the city debt of Boston eight million dollars in three years. The actual facts are the increase in that time has been $45,000. That's more Curleyism.

"I want to reiterate that I am absolutely and unqualifiedly opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Just as I drove the Dearborn Independent from the streets of Boston when I became mayor, so will I drive the Ku Klux Klan from Massachusetts when I'm elected your governor. After the day I'm inaugurated there'll never be another Ku Klux Klan meeting in Massachusetts."

Mayor Curley told how he drove the Klan from Boston and pledged himself to bend his energies to kill the order in the state. In conclusion he said:

"It has ever been the proud boast of Massachusetts that she has remained true to the principles and practises of American democracy; that she has taught and maintained the doctrine that the men and women of the commonwealth are her first care and superior to all other considerations; and that they outrank trade, commerce, property and material things. In this Massachusetts of ours humanity therefore has first place; and she has cheerfully faced the handicaps of industry and commerce to give man his political and social primacy at all times. She has been first of all the states of the union in humanitarian legislation, in limiting hours of labor, protecting women and children, and eliminating the dangers and hazards of industry; and in the administration of her public institutions, in the care of her poor and the treatment of the insane and helpless, the insistent keynote of her policy has been humanitarianism.

"The people of Massachusetts have ever been generous in their treatment of their state wards; in cities and towns the money spent for charitable purposes cannot be limited by anything but common sense and an economy that is humane; and upon no subject are the people in such common agreement as in the just, generous and humane treatment of those whose age, infirmity and misfortune have made them public charges.

"The honor of our citizens and the good name of our state are involved in this policy and any deflections from the high humanitarian standards are resented as stains on our escutcheon.

Fooling the Tax-Payers

Under the guise of a specious saving and a spurious economy and with the avowed intention of fooling the tax-payers of the state, the republican machine has attempted to juggle the debt figures to enable them to claim a virtue they do not possess. That is statistical lying. In order to make a showing by low appropriations they went beyond, practicing deception. they entered upon a program of parsimony and neglect, of cruelty and starvation in the state hospitals for the insane, the institutions for the poor and in a general lowering of the food, clothing and housing of the inmates.

"The republican machine has through its commission on administration and finance, acting under the spur of the political necessities of the party, proceeded on the theory that a dead public charge was cheaper than a living one; that diet costs money, but the dead needed no diet; that clothing was costly and the dead wore none; that housing and fuel were expensive and six feet of earth was as negligible as narrow; and upon this program of parsimony and scrimping, starvation and neglect, the republican party entered; and when complaints were made, they were ignored, and the reports of trustees concealed from the public. The machine sang the old song: 'Rattles his bones over the stones

"The victimized wards were not in a position to complain; the employes know they could complain and lose their jobs; and the protests of the trustees and staffs were unheeded.

"But cruelty and injustice always come out.

"As early as February, 1924, the facts and conditions began to leak out in the legislative committee hearings. Dr. Eugene R. Kelly, commissioner of public health, testified before the joint ways and means committee that the appropriations for the public institutions had been reduced and inferior and unwholesome goods had been supplied them. In the month of January alone, 332 samples of canned goods supplied were examined at the request of the institutions' stewards and some 79 found unsatisfactory and unfit. Wherever food appropriations had been reduced, the food supplies deteriorated and at the Rutland sanitarium in September, 1923, there was a food shortage and much dissatisfaction.

A Murderous Policy

Normally healthy wards need a sufficiency of food, but underfeeding and starving consumptives, especially dependent on the purity and liberality of their diet, is a murderous policy.

"The trustees of the Belchertown School for Feeble Minded protested against Economist Loring's cut of several hundred thousand dollars for improvements the conditions of the school needed; and in the interest of the same cruel and false economy and the success of the republican party, the improvements asked for the sanitariums at Lakeville, North Reading and Westfield were denied.

"Let it be understood that the trustees of these institutions are all men of standing and prominence in the community, giving their time and talent to their trust without pay and as a matter of public duty. They protested the parsimony and neglect that were the outgrowth of republican political expediency and not a necessity for one of the richest states in the union.

"The superintendent of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble Minded complained of the crowding of employes in small rooms, lack of needed space in the home for nurses, the placing of female help in unsuitable quarters, and the necessity of using boys in the steam plant and in the mechanical work for lack of the needed competent employes. This in a school for the feeble minded.

"The trustees wrote: 'We should be derelict in our duty did we not press upon the legislature and the commission the real need that faces us. Of what use are these bodies of experienced business and professional men giving their time and thought to the public institutions of the state?

"What indeed? The bogus political economists were not concerned about their time and thought, or the cure and care of their wards. The only thing that concerned them was the safety of the republican party and its candidates.

"The conditions of starvation, insufficient medical staff and service, overcrowded and dangerous buildings, lack of nurses and employes, and the evil results of premeditated parsimony, as exhibited at the Northampton State hospital, have rung through the state and angered our citizens by their meanness to employes and inmates and the resultant suffering. The crime of Northampton calls loudly for the defeat of the republican machine; it brings the blush of shame to the face of Massachusetts.

"The Westboro State hospital tells the same story of scrimping and paring, of underpaid employes, of insufficiency of nurses and attendants, and the inability of competent and hard-working staffs to meet their responsibilities under the conditions that let necessary improvements in housing and upkeep go by the board to make a shadowy show of thrift and economy.

"The Gardner state colony complains of the failure to get a very needed water supply by connection with Gardner or Ashburnham, a luck which threatens the health of all concerned and leaves them helpless when fire comes. They object also to having the institution run by department officials in Boston.

Republican Machine Responsible

"These conditions of decay, deterioration, contempt for the purposes of these institutions and the pleas of the men and officials giving their time to such beneficient work, can be laid to the machine in the state house, and not to the public spirited citizens devoting their energies to these humanitarian institutions and their administrative staffs. They are not accidental conditions; they are not the result of emergencies and sudden hazards; they are conditions deliberately planned, and the outcome of a program coldly conceived and brutally executed, by a coterie of conscienceless republican politicians, who were willing to sacrifice the health and lives of the state wards and their administrative guardians and endanger the safety and security of the institutions themselves, that the political interests of their party might be served and the November election won, by a shameless substitute for a true economy.

"The republican party of Massachusetts, through its commission on administration and finance, has committed a crime against humanity and brought shame and disgrace to this proud commonwealth. The state administration is parties criminis in the transaction, for Governor Cox was consenting, and Alvan T. Fuller, lieutenant governor and presiding officer of the governor's council, had full knowledge of the program and plot.

"It is up to the voters of Massachusetts to punish the authors of these outrages and drive them without mercy from the service of Massachusetts."

GOV. SMITH CONFIDENT

Satisfied That People Will Let Col. Roosevelt Stay in Oyster Bay

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Governor Alfred E. Smith went to New York today for a week's campaign in Westchester county and the metropolitan district which also will be the battlegrounds of his republican opponent, Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

"I'm satisfied that on election day the people will let Col. Roosevelt stay in Oyster Bay," the governor told a large audience here last night. "He has a nice big house down there—bigger than mine at 25 Oliver street, in New York—and if he doesn't mind I'll stay in the executive mansion."

A long street parade that wound through the main streets of the city to the music of 15 bands passed in review before Governor Smith last night before his speech.

His speech was on the "Public utterance of Col. Theodore Roosevelt."

"Secretary Hughes," the governor asserted, "said the colonel should be elected because of his knowledge of the government of this state. If he has such knowledge he himself up to this hour and minute has not disclosed it."

DANGEROUS ANARCHICAL MOVEMENT IN INDIA

SIMLA, British India, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, today exercised his emergency powers by the promulgation of an ordinance supplementing the ordinary criminal law in Bengal with a view to suppressing revolutionary crimes on the part of the anarchical movement which it was stated, has been found to be deep seated and dangerous.

A statement was issued asserting that the viceroy was satisfied, as a result of the examination of the evidence placed before him, that the anarchical movement was deep-seated and dangerous and that it was necessary to arm the Bengal government with powers to deal with the preparation for crime because he was convinced that preparations and plans for criminal outrages were dangerously developed.

The Calcutta Gazette announces that a man named Bose, who is right hand man to Chit Ranjan Das, leader of the home rule party; Kumar Mitter, of the Bengal legislature Ro, secretary of the nationalist congress, and twenty-four others have been arrested, mostly under the provisions of the new ordinance on suspicion of associating themselves with violent criminal methods.

The commissioner of police declares that searches are going on throughout the province and that further arrests are expected.

AIM OF AMERICA TO HELP EUROPE HELP ITSELF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The "hope and aim of America" is to help Europe to help itself, President Coolidge declared last night in an address devoted to international relations at a Golden rule dinner of the Near East Relief association.

Speaking before an audience which included many members of the diplomatic corps, Mr. Coolidge outlined at some length the attitude of the Washington government in foreign affairs, which he declared followed the golden rule.

"Europe does not want our benevolence," the president said. "It does want our help and we are ready to give it. America wants the peace of good will and of the golden rule; not the peace of force imposed by those who have power. It wants peace, as the normal, the right, the assured estate in a world from which a wiser generation shall have forever outlawed aggressive war."

Recalling that this country had expended millions in charitable relief, Mr. Coolidge called attention that it also had extended to other governments loans and credits, which they are beginning to repay." There is a "moral obligation" to make such repayments he added.

ESCAPED FROM DANVERS, WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN

MIDDLETON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Ethel Barrow, 27, of Lawrence, for the past six months a patient at the Danvers State hospital, was instantly killed at 6 a. m. today by a train on the Boston & Maine, near Howe's station. According to the train crew she was walking beside the track and stepped in front of the locomotive. She had escaped last night at 7 o'clock from the hospital and an all-night search for her had been fruitless.

HOPPE WINS EVERY BLOCK OF MATCH

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Willie Hoppe, 18.2 balk line champion, proved himself as much a master at three-cushion billiards by winning every block of his 400-point match with Augie Kieckhefer, former angle game champion, 400 to 279, in 384 innings. Hoppe took yesterday's final block by scores of 50 to 26 in 53 innings, and 50 to 45 in 40 innings.

Beside averaging better than one an inning, Hoppe made a high run of 14, within four of the record held by Pierre Mauhons and Charley Morin.

Pains Around the Heart Were Caused by Attacks of Indigestion

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble.

"The tonic method of treating disorders of this kind does not aim to do the work of the stomach, does not demand that the food be predigested, but builds up the weakened organs, so they can do the work that nature intended.

Mrs. Flora Jones, of No. 1414 Elm street, Manchester, N. H., says: "I was tired all the time. By noon I would be so tired that it didn't seem as though I could finish the day. Beside the tired feeling that I had all the time my stomach was upset and after eating I would have heartburn. Gas would press around my heart and my heart would flutter. I had no strength, there were pains all over my body and I had headaches almost constantly.

"One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after the first box I could see that I was a great deal stronger. I could work all day and not feel all dragged out. Before I had finished the second box the pains were all gone and I could eat without distress. I certainly feel better than I have in a long time and whenever I feel run down I shall take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a reliable tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. Price sixty cents. They can be used with safety for any length of time as they contain no opiates, stimulants or harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

ROOSEVELT TO STORM TAMMANY STRONGHOLD

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt left Troy today to embark on the final stage of his campaign for governor—that of seeking to overcome the democratic plurality in New York city.

"We have taken the front line trenches with a rush, and we are now going to storm the Tammany stronghold in New York," was the way the nominee expressed it.

Republican leaders expected to start his New York city campaign with a parade and a huge reception.

WANT HEARING ON 20-CENT FARE

Residents of the Collinsville section of Dracut, incensed at the resumption of the 20-cent fare from Lowell on the street railway, have petitioned the board of selectmen to request a hearing on the matter before the Massachusetts board of public utilities.

HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—George B. Aspinwall, of Washington, D.C., a Harvard senior arrested last night at a collegiate dance charged with forgery as a result of the appearance of many counterfeit dance tickets, was arraigned today and released on nominal bonds when the case was continued until next Saturday. He was not represented by counsel, but student friends said the case was one of a prank only, and that none of the counterfeit tickets were sold to their knowledge.

TWO CARRIED FROM FIRE

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Joseph W. Waxman, crippled with paralysis, was carried by firemen from his apartment in a brick tenement block in the Dorchester district early today when the building was filled with smoke from a fire between two floors. His wife also was found wandering about dazed and carried to safety. Three firemen were scorched, but none seriously injured. The loss was small.

COTTON PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Cotton production this year was forecast today at 12,675,000 bales by the department of agriculture, compared with 12,499,000 bales forecast a fortnight ago, and a crop of 10,139,671 bales last year.

The quantity of cotton ginned prior to Oct. 18 was announced by the census bureau as 7,009,536 running bales, counting round as half bales, compared with 6,409,301 to that date last year, and 6,978,321 in 1923.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Driver of Auto That Killed Child Arraigned in District Court

Charles Apostolakos of 181 Eighteenth street, operator of the automobile which struck and caused the death of 5-year-old Yvette Desrosiers at West Sixth street and Lilley avenue yesterday afternoon, was arraigned in district court today on a charge of manslaughter, and was continued to Nov. 28 pending the result of an inquest hearing on the death.

HELD IN $1000 BONDS FOR AUTO LARCENY

Two young men, William Rivard of this city, and Arthur P. Sawyer of Walpole, were arraigned in district court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Bernard F. Sweeney of 58 Norris street, North Cambridge. They pleaded not guilty and were continued in $1000 bonds each until next Wednesday.

The automobile, a Ford coupe, alleged to have been stolen by the young men last Friday, was found in a wooded section of the Black North district of Dracut, near the Parker school, last Saturday, but efforts to ascertain the thieves were unsuccessful until last night, when Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch, following an investigation by Capt. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer placed Rivard under arrest.

Early this morning, Chief Clinton Coffin and Officer Thomas of the Dracut police went to a house in Dracut and placed the second suspect, Sawyer, under arrest. At the station, the latter is said to have admitted taking the car while returning to his home in Walpole after a visit to New York last week.

When the machine was found in the Dracut woods, it was stripped of its generator, tires, starter, battery, number plates and other accessories. Several of the parts have been recovered.

DANISH EXPEDITION BACK FROM ALASKA

SEATTLE, Oct. 25—After traveling more than three years along the Arctic coast of Canada and Alaska by gasoline schooner, dog team and on foot, Knud Rasmussen, leader of a Danish expedition for study of Eskimos, arrived here yesterday with a party of three, including two Eskimos, from Nome, Alaska. They will leave in a few days for Denmark.

Under commission from the Danish government, Rasmussen said, he had been studying the life of the Eskimos of the Arctic, going to Greenland by ship, thence by the Hudson bay route to the Canadian Arctic and on to Nome.

"From Nome we went to East Cape, Siberia, and returned in the gasoline schooner Teddy Bear of Nome," he said. "I estimate that we have covered more than 20,000 miles."

SECRETARY WELLS BACK FROM CONVENTION

DE VALERA ORDERED OUT

Irish Republican Leader Arrested in Newry Sent Across Ulster Border

BELFAST, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Eamon de Valera, the republican leader who was taken into custody at Newry yesterday when he attempted to address a meeting, was sent across the Ulster border this morning, having been given an understanding to leave quietly.

There was no demonstration when de Valera departed. He was warned that he would incur two years' imprisonment if he returned.

The authorities took the precaution of stationing armed police otside the bedroom in the head constable's quarters in the Newry barracks where the republican leader slept. He refused to eat breakfast when it was brought to his room, but a fellow prisoner disposed of the meal.

Mr. de Valera arrived in Dublin at 11 o'clock this morning and visited republican headquarters where he made arrangements for visits to Sligo Sunday, Derry Monday and Tyrone and Armagh Tuesday. He declared he intended to keep these engagements notwithstanding the threats of arrest by the Ulster government.

U. S. TO BE REPRESENTED

International Financial Conference Will Meet Monday in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The international financial conference, called to settle the distribution of reparations and to revise the costs of the armies of occupation, will meet Monday with James A. Logan, Jr., American representative on the republicans' commission representing the United States.

The various delegations and experts will outline the work the first day, and the finance ministers will meet on Tuesday since M. Clementel of France will be at Lyons, France, on Monday. M. Theunis will represent Belgium and Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, will act for Great Britain.

NATIVE OF LOWELL DIES IN STOCKTON, CAL.

There died in Stockton, Cal., on Thursday, Oct. 9, a pioneer real estate man of San Joaquin county and one of California's earliest residents, Lewis M. Cutting, a native of Lowell where he was born on Sept. 1, 1831 of old New England stock. He was reared in this city, was graduated from the Lowell high school at the age of 13 years and worked for a time in the cotton mills until he entered the employ of Burbank, Chase & Co., hardware merchants.

On Christmas day, 1851, Mr. Cutting left the city of his birth and going by way of the Isthmus of Panama arrived in San Francisco, Feb. 7, 1852. For a short time he worked in 'Frisco, moving to Stockton in June, 1852. Like most of early pioneers he was attracted to the mines and for three years engaged in gold mining at Red Mountain Bar and vicinity in Tuolumne county, meeting with success.

Having come to Stockton in the early fifties, Mr. Cutting was one of the city's oldest residents. He had been in California 72 years and in Stockton 64 years. He was a founder of the city's business prosperity and continued active in his realty affairs almost until his death.

The same year that he began his real estate business, 1860, Mr. Cutting became associated with Capt. Charles Weber, the founder of the city of Stockton. He acted as Capt. Weber's agent for 27 years and continued in that capacity for six years after the death of the city's founder. Mr. Cutting was the senior member of the real estate firm of L. M. Cutting & Co. of Stockton, and had his son Francis associated with him.

Mr. Cutting is survived by two sons and two daughters and several grandchildren. The sons are Francis Cutting of Stockton and Lewis H. Cutting of Artois; the daughters are Mrs. Grace J. Stewart of Stockton and Miss Maria S. Cutting of Stockton.

Mr. Cutting was married July 1, 1857, to Catherine Sophia Howland, who died in October, 1922.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Stock prices moved up briskly in the early part of today's market and then turned reactionary when bears renewed their attacks against a few individual issues bringing about heavy profit taking in some of the recent strong spots. American Woolen was hammered down to 61 1-2, or within 1-4 of a point the year's low, while the preferred touched a new bottom at 90. American Can and Maxwell A yielded readily to realizing as did some of the coppers and the oils. Low priced rails moved up sharply in the early leadings and good buying was noted in the public utilities and Merchandising issues. S. S. Kresge soared 61 points to 131. The closing was irregular. Sales approximately 400,000 shares.

Prices continued to forge ahead throughout the early trading. Chicago & Eastern Illinois preferred assumed the leadership of the rail group by moving up three points. American Water Works and Manhattan Shirt advanced 3 points while Calumet & Arizona, United States Smelting preferred, Federal Mining & Smelting preferred, Rock Island common, United Drug, United States Alcohol, National Biscuit and Fleischmann moved up a point or more. General Baking broke three points and General Electric, International Harvester and Nash Motors sagged a point or so. Foreign exchanges opened steady with trading quiet.

Speculators for the advance resumed their campaign for higher prices at the opening of today's market with buying orders spread over a large list. Prices common and Gulf, Mobile & Northern preferred attained new 1924 peak prices at 39 and 78 3-4, respectively, while United States Cast Iron Pipe moved up to a new top at 117. Willys-Overland preferred was one of the few heavy spots, sagging a point.

PROCESS SERVERS SEEK WITNESSES IN "SLUSH FUND" PROBE

Wanted in Connection With Efforts to Corroborate Somewhat Sensational, But as Yet, Secret Stories Regarding Misuse of Funds in G. O. P. Campaign

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While its process servers sought witnesses wanted in connection with efforts to corroborate somewhat sensational, but, as yet, secret stories regarding the alleged misuse of funds in the republican campaign, the senate campaign fund investigation committee stood today in recess.

Resuming the inquiry Monday, the senators will explore new fields, among them the "straw vote" taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential campaign. Committeemen, in making known that subpoenas had been issued for officials of the Digest publishing company, said they wanted to know the source of the funds used to defray the cost of the nation-wide poll and the manner in which it is being conducted.

Another, as yet unexplored field, which probably will be entered upon next week is the amount and source of the funds collected in the Pittsburgh district for the republican national committee. W. L. Mellon, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon secretary of the treasury, who, the committee has been informed, is chairman of the collection committee in that district, will be the principal witness in this phase of the inquiry.

Decision to issue subpoenas for men who may be able to substantiate stories told by two Chicago men about the misuse of funds in the campaign was reached late yesterday after the character of these stories had been told to the committeemen in executive session by Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, and Samuel Untermyer of New York, counsel for Senator La Follette.

The Chicago men were present at the session, but were not called. Mr. Untermyer said he would hesitate to take the responsibility for having their testimony go to the country until the committee had run down the "leads" they could furnish, and he suggested that they be heard in executive session.

The committee vetoed that suggestion and Chairman Borah announced later that all testimony during the inquiry would be taken in public.

State Contributions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—New York was first among the states in the amount of contributions to the republican campaign fund up to October 10. An official report of the republican national committee received today by the senate campaign fund investigating committees showing New York's total to have been $514,621. Illinois was second with $300,822, and Pennsylvania third with $257,621.

Chairman Butler of the republican national committee, has testified that it was the purpose to obtain $2,000,000 of the maximum budget of $3,000,000 from these three states. Total contributions from other states include: Massachusetts $73,710; Vermont $37,597; Connecticut $6,008; Rhode Island $4,006; Maine $1,170 and New Hampshire $32.

Chairman Borah received a telegram today from J. W. Anderson, state chairman of the farmer-labor party of Montana, saying there was no evidence that large sums were being expended in Montana to defeat Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat, but that there was indication that much was being spent on behalf of his candidacy.

WHEELER FLAYS MELLON

Denounces Secretary for Incomplete Publicity Given Income Tax Returns

WHEELER SPECIAL, ENROUTE TO CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Senator Wheeler, independent vice-presidential candidate, entered Illinois for the second time today. He finished with Missouri, the 24th state in which he has campaigned, at St. Louis last night.

At St. Louis Senator Wheeler termed as "trickery and treachery" on the part of the republicans, particularly on the part of Secretary Mellon, the incomplete publicity given income tax returns.

Declaring Sec. Mellon resorted to that means in making an unfair attack on John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, Senator Wheeler asserted the income tax returns of other candidates should be made public.

Secretary Mellon, he charged, "deliberately and premeditately released only a few of the income tax returns to the public in order to show what Davis, the democratic nominee, paid.

"And what's more important than that, is the fact that Mr. Mellon has failed to make public his own tax payment. I challenge him to make it public. Mr. Rockefeller's return has been given out. Now let's have the return of the second richest man, Mr. Mellon."

WHOLESALE VACCINATION AT SMITH COLLEGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Wholesale vaccination was in progress at Smith college today as a result of the temporary quarantine announced yesterday by President William Allan Nielson because a recent visitor to Smith had developed small pox after her return to her home in New York state. The new college gymnasium was being used for vaccination purposes and it was said today that by Monday the entire student body would be inoculated gainst small pox and the restrictions would be removed.

Dr. Florence Meredith, college physician, issued a statement today in which she said:

"There is no case of small pox among the students at Smith. There is no case in Northampton now or has there been for twenty years or more. The steps now being taken are purely precautionary."

LISTS LOCKED IN SAFE

Woman Finds Out For First Time Just How Much Husband Makes

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Income tax lists of the headquarters for collection in Lower Manhattan have been placed in a large safe until curiosity dies down. Special watchmen have been assigned to guard the books.

Frank K. Bowers, collector for the second district, said that the rush of people to see the returns had compelled precautions.

The first caller at Mr. Bowers' office today was a woman who demanded, excitedly, her husband's return. While a clerk was hunting for the papers, the woman said:

"I am finally going to find out just how much my husband makes. For years I have suspected that he made much more money than he ever told me about, and I felt that I was entitled to a whole lot more than I have been getting. You can bet I am not going to miss this opportunity of finding out for myself."

Just then the husband's return was presented to her. After making many notes she departed.

ANOTHER VICTIM IN RUM ROW WARFARE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Rum row warfare claimed another victim early today when one man of a crew of three on a launch alleged to have been running whiskey from the rum fleet to shore was killed by coast guardsmen aboard the cutter Seneca.

Meagre details of the fray said the Seneca was steaming to port with the body of the victim aboard, and with two prisoners, his companions of the launch crew. The Seneca, it was reported, after cruising about the rum fleet 22 miles off the Jersey coast throughout the night, saw a launch leaving the side of the schooner Howes, anchored in rum row. The decks of the launch were piled with cases of whiskey. The rum runners, sighting the cutter, fled and the Seneca pursued. Repeated demands for surrender were ignored and the crew of the Seneca opened fire, bringing the fugitive to a stop only after one of its crew had been shot down.

SOLDIER'S INJURIES PROVE FATAL

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25.—Gaudiose Gourde, 24, died in a hospital today as the result of injuries received Wednesday night when his motorcycle was in collision with an automobile driven by Dr. Waldo T. Skillin at South Portland. Gourde was a private in the Fifth Infantry at Fort Preble, and a former resident of St. Acealic, P. Q. His body will be forward to relatives in Canada for burial.

MISSING BOY REPORTED FOUND

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Frank J. Roshek, 14, who disappeared from his home near Central Park, has been found, the police reported today. Information as to the boy's whereabouts was refused. A liberal reward had been offered by the parents.

FAKE ALARM DELAYS CALL FOR REAL FIRE

ATTLEBORO, Oct. 25.—While firemen were responding to a fake alarm in the railroad street factory district, a call from a private box at the Watson factory on Mechanics street was delayed by the ringing of the fake alarm. The real fire in a shed in the Watson factory was subdued after some delay and blame for the fake call has not yet been fixed.

ASSOCIATION FOR EDUCATION METHODS

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—Teachers and educators from many parts of New England are in this city today for the annual fall meeting of the Massachusetts Association for Educational Methods. The principal address of the day was by Dr. Frank M. McMurray of Teachers College, Columbia, Columbia university. A discussion followed, the speakers including Clarence H. Dempsey, Vermont state commissioner of education; Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, president of Clark university; Dr. Guy M. Wilson, deputy of education, Boston university, and Hector L. Belisle, superintendent of schools, Fall River.

Boston Symphony Orchestra Coming Nov. 2

Conductor

There are a number of interesting episodes in the career of Serge Koussevitsky, the new Russian conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, who is to come here Sunday, Nov. 2, with his 105 musicians. But probably there is no incident so entirely out of the ordinary, as the musical world goes, as his three trips down the Volga. There might have been more, but as extra-musical disturbances would have it, his tour in the spring of 1911 was his last.

Some legends have arisen about these Volga tours. One is that the concerts were free. They were not. Koussevitsky never patronized these most unusual of symphony publics. They paid the regular theatre prices, listened to the concerts in their own town theatres, and were served with regular symphony programs.

Even with box-office accounts, Koussevitzky's Volga tours involved an appalling deficit. It is no simple matter to hire one hundred fine musicians, charter a steamer with accommodations for two hundred (counting musicians' wives, crew and friends), and sail for 2500 miles, stopping at towns of all sorts along the way. The tour lasted about four weeks.

Such an excursion was of course a chance for a Russian to study his people, and it is not surprising that Stanislavsky of the Russian Art theatre was the guest of one of these tours. Scriabin also made the journey and had the unique experience of observing his symphonies suddenly thrust upon an absolutely untutored and incredibly receptive people. Edward Rizler went along, and played in Beethoven's two standard piano concertos. Koussevitsky gave them such symphonies as Beethoven's 3rd and 7th, Rachmaninoff's 2nd, Tchaikovsky's 5th, Liszt's "Maseppa," Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter" overture, etc. In a word, the programs were such as are regularly attended by the musically sophisticated in any great metropolis.

Mr. A. M Abell, a guest on the last tour, thus described the effect which this music made:

"I was deeply interested in observing the effect that such music, magnificently played, made on these audiences. Although musically uncultured they were very intelligent and highly receptive. They displayed an instinctive feeling for the lofty and the beautiful and reacted to Koussevitzky's spirited readings as a high strung horse does to a master hand at the bridle.

"The enthusiasm was genuine and spontaneous and the auditors listened with rapt attention. It was like watching the face of an unspoiled child while listening to a beautiful fairy tale and, indeed, to those Russians on the remote Volga this was a veritable fairyland of beauty that Koussevitzky revealed to them. Before this advent they had never heard a symphony orchestra and had never even seen many of the instruments. At Saratow, a deputation of the citizens called on Koussevitzky at his hotel and requested that he place the harps at the front of the stage at the concert in order that the people could see and admire these beautiful golden instruments.

"A few hundred miles north of Astrakhan we visited a tribe of Kalmucks, a wild nomadic people living in tents something after the manner of our Indians. Strange to say these half-savage people were worshippers of Buddha and carried a Buddhist temple about with them on their wanderings over the trackless steppes. When the tribe saw the big steamer approaching their shore, they thought that the czar had come to make them a visit and they turned out in full force to welcome us. The men proved to be very friendly and I took some interesting snapshots of them, but the women were very shy and would not be photographed, believing that the camera was an instrument of the devil."

Seats are now on sale at Steinert's.

MARY PICKFORD IN "DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL"

Another of those genuine motion picture treats is assured the patrons of The Strand for the first four days of the coming week, starting with Sunday's matinee, when the Marshall Neilan production of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," starring the one and only Mary Pickford will be presented as the feature attraction. Need any more be said? Think of the star and the story and draw your own conclusions. Surely playgoers hereabouts who are familiar with true worth of this combination will not hesitate to pronounce it the very best to be had in filmland. It's Mary's latest screen endeavor, and in many ways it's her best, for it affords the premier female screen star an opportunity to not only again reflect her wonderful personal charm and cleverness, but also gives her the chance of demonstrating her versatility. One generally associates her name with characterizations that treat of playful youth and young womanhood, but in this she finds rare opportunity to indicate emotional drama and serious phases of life that stamp her for the wonder picture star she really is. In addition to "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," there will be other contributions to round out a delightfully balanced and satisfying program. The musical numbers on The Strand organ will also help make it most acceptable.

Picturizing the most famous of the Charles Major novels, stands out as one of the cinema events of the year, presenting Mary Pickford in her greatest role. Her thoughts have dwelt so much upon the filming of this story, Mary has given her whole heart and soul to the creation of her newest screen personality. A most capable cast of players will be seen in her support. Allan Forrest is the lover, Sir John Manners, and Marc MacDermott is the villainous cousin, Malcolm Vernon. Anders Randolf makes an ideal father for Dorothy Vernon and Wilfred Lucas is the Earl of Rutland. Clare Eames, famous for her portrayal of queenly roles on the speaking stage, brings to the screen a characterization of Queen Elizabeth that is a revelation of histrionic art. Among the other players of note are Lottie Pickford Forrest, a sister of the star, Malcolm Waite, Courtenay Foote, Howard Gaye, Estelle Taylor, Mme. Carrie Daumery, Eric Mayne, Colin Kenny and Lewis Sargent. The production is lavish, no expense having been spared in erecting stately mansions and medieval castles. Scenes of pageantry and revelry are presented with picturesque magnificence. Under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" has renewed interest in the romantic drama of the screen. Characteristic of all recent Pickford offerings, the wonderful photography is worthy of note. Mary is seen as an eighteen-year-old spitfire. Her wonderful smile changes in an instant to a tempest of anger and stamping of feet, to as swiftly turn to plead for pardon. It's rich in humor, alive with thrills, replete in action with Mary in a daring horseback ride. It's a photoplay of the truly worthy sort. Don't miss it.

LILLIAN DESMONDE OF STANLEY JAMES PLAYERS

"The Gold Diggers" will be the offering of the Stanley James Stock Players at the Lowell Opera House all next week, with Miss Lillian Desmonde taking the part of Jerry Lamar, made famous by Miss Ina Claire. This play was written by Avery Hopwood and was originally produced by David Belasco running for two solid years in New York and for a full year in Chicago, following up with a four months' successful stay in Boston.

Gerald Rowan, the popular and talented leading man of the company, and Wilmer Walter, Miss Vessie Farrell and Miss Faith Avery, all have excellent parts. Miss Helen Aubrey and Jack West also are well cast in this particular show which has to do with the off-time activities of the "ladies of the chorus" and that type of masculinity quite frequently referred to as the "stage door Jonnie." It is a great play, regarded by critics as the greatest of Avery Hopwood's many brilliant works. Its original production will be strictly followed by Director Miller and a bevy of beautiful girls has been brought on here from New York for the especial purpose of augmenting the cast and adding more vim and more beauty to New England's best stock company.

Manager Stanley James has paid a big royalty to secure the rights to this great play but recently released to stock and, judging from the advance demand for seats, his judgment is already vindicated. Commencing with the matinee on Monday, every performance should be packed full of lovers of the spoken drama for this offering is indeed a treat.

Throughout the season, from the very commencement, Mr. James has maintained a high standard of plays and this particular one is well up to any of them. It is expected that long before midweek the house will be sold out for the week, so for that reason it is really advisable to phone 7840 and make reservations now.

Biron's Opera House orchestra, composed of men who are all soloist musicians, has arranged a special program of delightful music that whiles away the few moments between the acts. The stage effects and settings are all most gorgeous, reflecting the genius and skill of Dan O. Finch, the scenic artist brought on here by Mr. James.

Lowell theatregoers have been appreciative of the James policy of providing only the best and most recent releases. Because of this policy the Opera House is doing a splendid business this season, the patronage being especially heavy. The reservation lists are today the largest they have ever been in the history of stock in Lowell and are each day growing larger. The courteous attitude of the house attaches, from box office to back stage, has done much to lend atmosphere to the playhouse and it is becoming more and more popular.

Gerald Rowan, the leading man of the company, and Jack West, debonair and handsome juvenile man, both have splendid parts in next week's show. It is a show that shouldn't be missed and the best insurance of not missing it is to phone 7840 now and tell the owner of the voice with a smile that answers that you want tickets reserved. The demand is bound to be great and the capacity of the Opera House will certainly be taxed for every performance this week.

FINE BILL AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Merrimack Square theatre patrons have achieved a distinction of being highly discriminating photoplay critics. Only the best calls forth their praise. Hence, the consistently high standard of attractions which are booked week after week for this popular amusement house. The bill for the first part of the coming week, beginning with matinee tomorrow, will be no exception. In fact, it gives promise of being a bit better than even the high Merrimack Square standard.

The leading features will be "Changing Husbands," a story which works out the age-old problem of whether a girl should choose marriage or a career to get the most out of life, with pretty and capable Leatrice Joy in the leading role, and "The Tenth Woman," a novel by Harriet L. Comstock, dealing with women of the present day. June Marlowe and Beverly Bayne are in the leading roles.

In addition there will be an excellent comedy and the latest number of the International News. Regular Merrimack Square prices will prevail.

There is something about the title of "Changing Husbands" that strikes a responsive chord in the feminine heart. It is safe to assume that every married woman has at least once wanted to exchange her "lord and master" for something a little better in the husband line. As for the prospective bride, the idea of learning a safe and simple method of acquiring a new "women" in case the one she now has does not come up to her expectations, is bound to have a powerful appeal. So there you are! And if you think the men aren't going to sneak in to see what the picture is all about, then you don't know human nature!

Those who read the story by Elizabeth Alexander when it was running serially in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Roles," will remember that it revolves around the complications that ensue when a society matron and an actress who resembles her change places for three months. The opportunities for funny situations are unlimited, and have not been overlooked by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin who adapted the story to the screen. Frank Urson and Paul Iribe co-directed the production and to make sure that nothing would be overlooked in the way of lavish settings and gorgeous clothes, Cecil B. DeMille personally supervised the picture.

Miss Joy in the principal feature role has a part that puts her ability as a versatile actress to a severe test inasmuch as she is called upon to portray a dual role. Among the principal players in the supporting cast are Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith, ZaSu Pitts and Julia Faye.

If you are in search of genuine entertainment and at the same time want a little food for serious thought, be sure to see "Changing Husbands."

A picture dealing with a subject that will interest everybody is "The Tenth Woman," the second feature.

The cast is a typical Warner combination of screen stars, including Beverly Bayne, who has just returned to the screen; June Marlowe, John Roche, Raymond McKee, Charles "Buddy" Post, Alec Francis, Edith Yorke, Gilbert Holmes. James Flood is responsible for the direction of this picture.

Willa Brookes, who is saved from suicide by Barry Compton, remains at his ranch as housekeeper. Some time later Barry is compelled to go east on business, and during his visit he renews his friendship with Rose Anne Brainerd who, although married, is a typical flapper type. When Barry is about to go home, Rose Ann has a quarrel with her husband and as a result of her usual thoughtlessness, she leaves for Barry's ranch and arrives before he does. Willa, believing Rose Ann is the girl Barry is to marry, decides to leave. When Barry returns, Rose Ann regrets her hasty action and waits for her husband to come to her. Barry, meanwhile, having discovered Willa's flight, starts out for the station after her and is just in time to save her from an accident.

The special entertainment at the B. F. Keith theatre on Sunday will have Clarence Oliver and Georgie Olp featured in their charming little playlet, with Billy McDermott, giving an inimitable monologue. Others present for the two performances will be Yates & Carson, in fun; Miss Bennett & Miss Pollock, in a musical act, and Rialto & LaMont. The picture will be "Oliver Twist," made from the great story by Dickens and with Jackie Coogan in the title part.

Isabel D'Armond, who has twinkled in many of the best of musical comedies, and Lew Hunting, who has won his laurels on the musical comedy stage, will be the coming week's stellar feature. They have only recently formed a vaudeville team, and so successful have they been with their delightful offering, "Five Minutes from the Station," that bookings now will carry them straight through the season. The story of the piece, in short, tells aspiring employes how to better their positions in life. Of course it is comedy, deliciously played, but underneath it all is a solid current of truth.

A. Robins, who humorously imitates musical instruments, will turn out to be a veritable walking music store. With remarkable powers over his vocal organs, he is able correctly and melodiously to reproduce the tones of many instruments. And there is humor a-plenty in his act.

A little skit entitled "A Girl of To-Day" will be the offering of Jack Fulton and Dorothy Quinette. The authors have woven melody and story into what might be called an abridged musical comedy, with original songs written exclusively for the act.

Fridkin, Jr. and Rhoda, in a flash of color and grade offer a picturesque and unusual dancing act. Here is a dancing entertainment which is as attractive as it is away from the beaten path, and it is bound to score well.

Ray W. Snow and Narine present a clean, clever and up-to-the-minute conversational oddity called "You Pick 'Em." Mr. Snow has been very well known as the creator of "The Man About Town" Monologues, and he is a writer of no mean ability.

For the first time on any American stage—positively—there will appear Ralph Holbein, a rapid fire artist, who will give art while you wait. Holbein is now on the high seas, and it is expected that he will arrive in this country late Sunday night. He has been a great favorite in the European halls.

The week's picture will be "The Chechahcos," otherwise known as "The Tenderfoot," which was filmed exclusively in Alaska. There have been many of the great northern pictures, but until this one they have never been taken in an Alaskan background. It is splendidly told and gripping all the way through.

STRAND TODAY

Sabatini's screen version of his greatest novel, "The Sea Hawk," the picturization that has been attracting capacity audiences at all performances at The Strand during the week, will be shown for the last times this afternoon and tonight. Those who have witnessed the local presentation unqualifiedly pronounce it superior to any shown this season, and the equal of any shown here in years. Milton Sills' treatment of the principal male character is one of the outstanding features of this super-photoplay, while the endeavors of the assisting cast are meritorious. "The Sea Hawk" has everything found in a highly successful motion picture. Action galore, romance and tense moments, while the superior photography and scenic effects are superb. As to the worth of the picture and story, one has but to ask his neighbor. Remember, last times today, and also the fact that the picture will not be shown in this city again this year. If you are partial to good pictures you can't afford to miss "The Sea Hawk." Directing Manager Torgan has arranged other attractions to balance up a perfectly delightful program. Don't miss the last chance today.

"Neglected Women" Chief Attraction at Rialto

SCENE FROM "NEGLECTED WOMEN" AT RIALTO

Because a man saves another man's life is he ever exempt from punishment at the hands of the other man, no matter what he may do against the man's welfare? This is one of the questions asked and dramatically answered in "Neglected Women," which will be the chief attraction at Loew's Rialto Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both these men are in love with the same girl and, in a fit of pique, she marries the one she doesn't love. Later, after love for her husband has come to her, the other man, chiefly because he is her husband's friend, still retains a hold on her affections and he uses this hold to inveigle her into giving him information about her husband's business affairs which he uses to his detriment. When the source of the information comes out, the seed of jealousy is sown in the husband's mind and when the two meet—it's a strong situation and the climax that follows it has a surprise kick to it that will delight every movie fan.

John Gilbert, who is starred in "Just Off Broadway," has become one of the most popular leading men in pictures. Mr. Gilbert says that if he should ever forsake the silver sheet, he would like to join the United States secret service. Incidentally, Mr. Gilbert has acquired close friendship in the personnel of the secret service men whom he calls by their first names, but who are known to headquarters only by numbers. And he has made a study of their methods, not only in the comfortable chairs at a club, but out on actual assignments with them. The result is that in "Just Off Broadway," Gilbert is said to play a particularly realistic role.

In this picture, Gilbert portrays a character who becomes one of a gang of international crooks. Not once do they suspect him and even the girl with whom he falls in love tries to reform him. Believing that she is one of the band, Gilbert is just as eager to reform her. The manner in which these two straighten out the tangle of their lives and eventually perform a great service, makes a strong dramatic picture. Marian Nixon has the leading feminine role.

"Fighting Blood," a comedy and News reel are the short subjects on the bill.

MUSICAL COMEDY FOR THE ROYAL THEATRE

On Monday next, the Royal theatre management will inaugurate a new form of entertainment, in presenting the famous Patent Leather Girls, a company of eight people, who will specialize in musical comedy. Comedians, dancers and singers make up this select little company of players who are coming to Lowell loaded with all sorts of frivolous bits. Theatregoers are assured a clean, entertaining little performance, which is shown in addition to the usual high-grade photoplay performance. Charles Hutchinson will be seen for the first time in Lowell in his first of his new big series of photoplays. The first of these is "Singing Seas," a masterful drama of the briny, and every indication points to a big entertainment value for next Monday and Tuesday at the Royal. The counter screen attraction is a new 5-act feature, and another episode of the "Daredevil Jack" serial with Jack Dempsey will also be shown these two days.

Tomorrow, the usual four acts of vaudeville, and the Fredette orchestra will be the special attractions. The photoplay features are "Penrod and Sam" and "Broadway After Dark," two excellent screen presentations.

ALEPPO DRUM CORPS OF BOSTON COMING

The Aleppo Drum Corps of Boston, the largest Shriner band of the country, which gives a concert and dance under the auspices of the Temple club in Lowell, Thursday evening, November 6, has, up to the first of October completed 403 rehearsals, and the hours of rehearsal of the combined band total 55,742 hours, and figured on the basis of union musicians' rate, it totals $83,613.

The members of this organization, who are all amateurs with one exception, travel each Monday night for these rehearsals, which are held in their armory in Boston, various distances up to 50 miles.

This organization of 216 trained musicians cannot be hired at any price, but can be induced to go to the uttermost parts of the country to make melody for divers good causes, and are in great demand throughout the country. Few non-professional musical organizations can boast the mileage travelled by The Aleppo Drum Corps, for they have gone as far as 3000 miles on a single engagement.

This is the first time that this aggregation has given a concert in the Merrimack Valley, and those not fortunate enough to be able to hear them at the Auditorium on November 6 are going to miss a rare treat.

Any of the readers who have had the opportunity of hearing the Symphony orchestra at The Capitol Theatre in New York play in conjunction with the pipe organ at this theatre will get a fair conception of what will be heard at the Auditorium when such numbers as "The Lost Chord" are played by this body of musicians with the Auditorium organ.

If you are not fortunate enough to secure seats for this engagement, be sure and see this organization on parade at 7.30 on the night of the concert and dance.

Tickets may be procured at $1.25 each from members of The Temple club, or at Steinert's Music Store.

HELD STAG PARTY

Mr. Harold Thomas, a well known resident of the Highlands, was tendered a stag party in the German-American club last night in honor of his approaching marriage. He was presented a handsome electric floor lamp and a purse of $100 by his friends, the presentation being made by Ovil Dostaler. A buffet luncheon was served and entertaining numbers were provided by Oscar Olson, Paul Dostaler, Lawrence Condon, Richard Perry, Edward Bailey. Those responsible for the success of the party were Edward Strauss, O. Dostaler, Norman Spence and O. Olson.

Eat and Get Thin

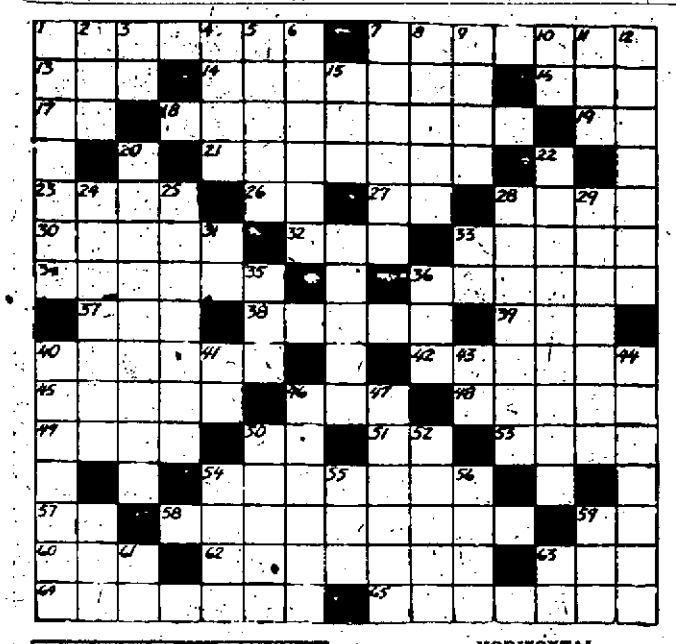

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your druggist and get a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal, healthy reduction of excess weight. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or weakening exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the athletes. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your flabby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why don't you? Marmola Prescription Tablets are so pleasant and easy to take that anyone who is suffering the embarrassment and discomfort of overweight owes it to himself to try them. All drug stores the world over sell Marmola Prescription Tablets for one dollar a box. Or send the money direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid—Adv.

TOPSFIELD FARMER KILLS WIFE, TWO CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Blows Head Off Infant in High Chair, Shoots Wife Dead; Reloads Gun and Kills Boy of Three and Then Ends Own Life—Three Other Children in School

TOPSFIELD, Oct. 25.—In a fit of temporary insanity, Homer Kennedy, 45, a farmer on the estate of Miss Edith Prince, here, on Prospect street, seized his brand-new shotgun, yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and murdered his wife, Harriet, 40, his three-year-old son, Richard, his 18-months-old daughter, Elizabeth, and then, turning the gun upon himself, blew his brains out. The shootings took place in the kitchen of their cottage on the estate.

A 17-year-old girl, Irene Walsh, daughter of Chief of Police William H. Walsh, was the only witness of the affair, and she fled in terror before its conclusion.

Yesterday afternoon, after high school, Miss Walsh went to visit her neighbor, Mrs. Kennedy, and to play with her babies. She said that she found Kennedy himself in the house and his wife urging him to go out for a walk. Shortly, she says, the two began to quarrel about it. "I don't care if I am moody," Kennedy said. "I'm a sick man and I won't go out."

Upon further urging by his wife, Kennedy became wildly enraged, and shouting, "I'll put you where there'll be no more bother from you," picked up his new gun, which he had been admiring, and blew off the head of his baby, Elizabeth, who was seated in her little high chair across the room.

No sooner had he done this than, warding off the attack of his frenzied wife, he placed the other barrel of the gun at her throat and pulled the trigger. The charge of shot almost decapitated the woman. Her body fell onto the hot kitchen stove, then rolled to the floor.

At this point Miss Walsh, who had been transfixed with terror, regained her senses and ran outside, screaming for help. Two men were nearby, picking apples. These two, Clem Averill and Clearence Lake, rushed over, but, as they arrived, two more shots were heard in the kitchen of the Kennedy home.

On hearing what was wrong, they rushed inside to find no living person in the shambles. Kennedy had rapidly reloaded his gun, killed his son, Richard, with one barrel, and used the other upon himself.

The Kennedys had three other children; Wayne 11, Homer, Jr., 9, and Theodore, 7. These three were at school at the time, but were now almost home. While sending word to the police, Averill and Lake also sent word to stop the three children from arriving home. Albert Lane, ticket agent at the Topsfield railroad station, heard the news just before he saw the children. He stopped them and entertained them until Mrs. Theodore Kennedy of Danvers, their aunt, took them home with her.

At first, neighbors were at a loss to understand Kennedy's action. With them all, he bore the best of reputation; a steady, sober, quiet man who was devoted to his family.

Highly Charged Tigers Face Baffling Notre Dame Windmill at Princeton—Harvard Plays Dartmouth—Lafayette vs. W. & J. at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Football games upon the eastern stage today will express a wide range of the character of the sport.

Temperament will be stressed at Princeton where the highly-charged Tigers will face the baffling Notre Dame windmill which last year blew the little brother of football's oldest family around Palmer Stadium and scored a 25 to 2 victory before Rockne turned off the speed.

During the last week Princeton has prepared as never before for any team not of the big three. Notre Dame will be without its captain and line star, Captain Adam Walsh, and the Tigers hope to aggravate his absence by charging fast enough to stop the blades of Crowley, Layden and Miller before they gain momentum.

It will mark the last appearance in the east of Rockne's famous squad of the last two years, all of whom leave school next June.

At Harvard the conservative and slowly developing Crimson will wrestle with a powerful Dartmouth eleven polished by its friction with Yale last week. The Green is favored on season's form to win, but the outcome of the contest will be vitally affected by the strength that Harvard unfolds in the slow process of preparation for the big three battles.

With the same idea in mind Tad Jones will tinker about his machine at New Haven while Yale spars with Brown in what should be a good workout for Ell.

Concerted efficiency, demonstrated in the Syracuse attack throughout th ayear, will lay its knife upon the form of Penn State, still bewildered from a 15 to 13 defeat by Georgia Tech last week, although the northern squad excelled in all departments of the game but that of scoring. The Orange with McBride, Bowman and Foley working behind a veteran line, should win its fifth straight victory although the possibility of the Nittany Lion finding itself upon its own gridiron, is strong.

Lafayette and W. and J., choosing to abandon their home fields for a neutral ground, will engage in a game of skill at the Yankee Stadium, with continuance as one of the unbeaten elevens of the year a prize for the victor. Two seasons back W. and J. won 14 to 13: Last year it was 6 to 6. Lafayette looms as one of the strong teams of the present season and is favored to win.

Playing still farther from home are two southern elevens, West Virginia and Center, which came all the way to the Polo grounds to settle a rivalry which began five years ago in the mountains famed for their feuds.

Centre was an unknown then and West Virginia was warm with national applause following a 30 to 0 victory over Princeton. Bob McMillan, Red Roberts and Red Weaver were introduced to the football world that day as Center won 13 to 6. The spotlight has stayed from Danville in recent years and West Virginia has its hand on the switch today, eager to turn it off entirely.

Almost obscured by the visiting delegations, Columbia, New York's own eleven, will come to bitter grips art Baker Field with the brave little Williams eleven that turned Cornell out of the sweet pasture of victory after three years of fat and easy flying. Family skeletons will rattle in the battle. Coach Wendell of Williams is a pupil of Percy Haughton, mentor of Columbia. The Blue and White will attempt to reverse three straight defeats by Williams and acquire the winning habit. Columbia is the biggest obstacle in the path of an undefeated season for Williams.

Rutgers and Lehigh, two touch boys, will clash at Bethlehem and the impact may knock one from the undefeated class: Rutgers had beaten Cornell and Lehigh outplayed Princeton slightly in a scoreless tie.

Pitt and Carnegie Tech will tangle at Pittsburgh in a bitter family strife. Each has already been defeated. Pennsylvania, leading eastern team in points scored and games won, should slide home over Greasy Neale's Virginia. Bucknell meets Georgetown and Fordham clashes with Holy Cross in other interesting games for their sections.

Cornell is not scheduled.

Notre Dame-Princeton Lineup

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Tiger's claws have been sharpened and his spirit prodded throughout the entire week for today's meeting with the Notre Dame Comet, which last year defeated a Roper eleven 25 to 2, in the first gridiron meeting between the two schools.

The lineup:

NOTRE DAME	PRINCETON
Collins, le	le, Drews

Layden, fb	fb, Caldwell

Referee: V. A. Schwartz; umpire, Lieut. Nelly; linesmen, Col. Mumma; field judge, F. R. Gillinder.

Brown vs. Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—The Brown Bear and the Bulldog come to grips at Yale Bowl today. The Rhode Island visitors were not scheduled to arrive until noon, which gave them no opportunity to test out the sunshine and shadows of the big saucer before lining up for the kickoff. The game will start at 2.30 o'clock.

The line-ups are announced as follows:

YALE	BROWN
Bingham, le	le, H. Brode
Joss, lt	lt, Roman
Stuhlahn, lg	lg, McDermott

51,000 Pack Stadium

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 25.—Two of the east's strongest teams, Dartmouth and Harvard, today waited the opening whistle for the clash in which the loser will mark down his first defeat of the season. Harvard chafed to wipe out the 16-0 defeat of last year and Dartmouth palnned to take the rubber game of the series which started two years ago. A clear, cool day made conditions ideal for the 51,000 spectators packed into the stadium.

An evenly matched pair was the judgment of observers. In each was seen an outstanding threat which was offset by th every strength of the other team. Harvard's edge in punters was matched by Dartmouth's superiority in ends. Both backfields are powerful and fast. Dartmouth has shown a forward passing attack which gave her two touchdowns against Yale last week. The Crimson's overhead attack has been held back, only a few passes having been attempted this season, although one led to the first score against Holy Cross. The Green line has had the advantage of two more weeks' training than their rivals but must counter the exceptional alertness of a fast aggressive group of frontiersmen.

Fallon was named by Coach Hawley as the starting Dartmouth quarterback to replace Dooley who opened the Yale game this year and last year piloted the Green to a decisive win over Harvard. Holleran, a 19-year-old tackle, has displaced Goldstein, a veteran of last season's team. Harvard's starting lineup includes only four letter men, three of whom, Hammond, Greenough, and Cheek, tried to stop Dartmouth last year. Gehrke, who did not play last year, helped defeat the Green two years ago.

Since their first meeting in 1881, today's rivals have met 29 times, Harvard winning 24 games, Dartmouth 3. Two games were tied. The announced line-up follows:

DARTMOUTH	HARVARD
Tully, le	le, E. Bradford
Holleran, lt	lt, Linder
Diehl, lg	lg, Kilgour
Whittaker, c	c, Adie
Smith, rg	rg, Daley
Parker, rt	rt, Greenough
Bjorkman, re	re, Chase
Fallon, qb	qb, Cheek
Hall, lhb	lhb, Hammond
Oberlander, rhb	rhb, Miller
Leavitt, fb	fb, Gehrke

Southpaws Dominate Big Leagues

BY BILLY EVANS

Just at present left handed pitchers seem to dominate the major league batsmen.

So pronounced is the superiority of the southpaws over the swatters that Eddie Collins, half in jest and half in earnest, remarked to me one day last summer:

"Now that I am nearly through as an infielder, I only wish I threw left handed. I would start pitching and stick around for about 10 more years."

The White Sox had been beaten that afternoon by a southpaw, who in the language of the ball field is regarded as a "nothing pitcher."

By way of explanation, a "nothing pitcher" to the diamond athletes is a twirler who has nothing to fool the batter, just nice speed to hit and an easy curve to follow.

However, in these days of the lively ball the "nothing pitcher" is quite successful.

Southpaws Jolt Giants

No one would ever accuse Southpaws Zachary and Mogridge of Washington of having the stuff of "Rube" Waddell, yet they stood the Giants on their heads in the recent world series, after Walter Johnson, with a world of stuff, had failed.

The supremacy of the southpaw in pitching circles has caused the major league magnates to comb the country for likely material.

Just as the season closed Washington announced that it had purchased the veteran Vean Gregg from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Sensational Comeback

An injury robbed Gregg of much of his stuff, he slipped to the minors for a few years then retired from baseball. Now at an age close to the forty mark, he is doing a sensational comeback.

At the close of the world series Connie Mack of the Athletics broke into print in big headlines with the announcement that he had purchased Pitcher Groves of Baltimore for a little more than $100,000 and a few German marks.

In Groves, Mack gets the minor league pitching sensation of the last two years. Every major league club has been angling for his services. Big figures have been offered Jack Dunn for his prize left hander. Evidently Connie Mack must have made a flattering proposition to the Baltimore magnate.

Groves has had two phenomenal years at Baltimore. His great work figured largely in the winning of the last two pennants.

Groves, Strikeout King

He is the strikeout king of the league. In 1923 he established a record for the International by whiffing 330 men in 303 innings, an average of better than one an inning. Some pitching, believe me.

Groves' greatest fault is his wildness. It may be a bigger handicap than ever in the majors, where a pitcher inclined to be wild is waited out much more than in the minors.

If Groves is 75 per cent efficient for Mack, he will have repaid Connie for the generous money outlay. Should Groves prove a consistent winner, beware the Athletics.

All-America Possibility

ERNIE NEVERS

"One of the greatest football players I have ever coached. He doesn't seem to have a weakness."

That is the compliment Glenn Warner, head coach at Stanford, pays Ernie Nevers, his star fullback.

Warner, who has developed some of the greatest football players in the history of the game, is enthusiastic over the work of Nevers.

The west looks for Nevers to win a place on the mythical All-America team this year, if he plays up to expectations.

Nevers is a triple-threat man, punting consistently 50 yards, gets off long and accurate passes and hits the line hard.

Nevers is a junior. He was the outstanding star of the team last year. He weighs 205 pounds, is 22 years old and stands six feet.

Aside from his football duties he pitches for the varsity team and stars in the track.

11 Crack Auto Drivers Compete in 250-Mile Event for $25,000 Cash Prizes

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 25.—Eleven crack automobile drivers were ready today for the inaugural race of Charlotte's new $300,000 motor speedway, a 250-mile event, for $25,000 in cash prizes. The winner's share was $9000 with $5000 to the second man, and the remaining $11,000 divided among the other starters.

The race marked the opening of automobile championship racing in the south under sanction of the American Automobile association.

The new board speedway has a mile and a quarter lap. During practice the world's speed record for a single lap was broken when Bennett Hill made 126.4 miles an hour.

LICHTENSTEIN'S BOXERS BARRED IN MINNESOTA

DULUTH, Mich., Oct. 25.—Larney Lichtenstein of Chicago and all pugilists under his management were barred from Minnesota rings after two of his proteges committed fouls in contests here last night.

Lew Snyder of Bayonne, N. J., was disqualified in the first round after he had struck Stewart McLean of St. Paul, low. McLean had knocked Snyder down twice and punished him badly. The other contest in which a Lichtenstein fighter was accused of foul tactics was a preliminary bout.

AT BUNTING PARK

The Lowell Y.M.S.C. soccer club, leading the Industrial league, will face a tough opponent in the Smith and Dove team at Bunting park tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 2 o'clock. This afternoon the Y.M.S.C. outfit went to Worcester for a clash with the Whitalls.

Gridiron Gossip

Butler A. A. vs. Sacred Hearts of East Boston on old Fair grounds.

Ponies vs. Butler Independents on First street oval.

Kenwood Rovers vs. Wanderers on North common.

Bowers R. X. vs. Mysteries on North common.

O. M. I. Cadets vs. University A. C. at Peabody.

Indians vs. Lion A. C. at Haverhill.

St. Peter's Cadets vs. Newton A. A. at Newton.

Acre Athletics vs. St. Joseph's at Peabody.

In connection with the above games, we pick the Butlers to defeat the East Boston S. H. team by a score of 20 to 0; the Ponies to beat the Butler Independents, 6 to 0; the Kenwood Rovers to take the Wanderers, 12 to 0; the Bowers R. X. to defeat the Mysteries, 12 to 6; the O. M. I. Cadets to beat the University A. C., 18 to 0; the Indians to tie the Lion A. C. 7-7; the St. Peter's Cadets to whip the Newton A. A., 6 to 0, and the Acre Athletics to defeat St. Joseph's, 6 to 0.

That statement in last night's gossip by Manager Walsh of the Butlers anent the letting of Alumni field to local football teams on Sundays free of charge, was favorably received in many quarters. Hundreds of fans would welcome the idea of the association in revising its schedule of taxation to allow semi-pro teams to play there on Sunday. As Manager Walsh points out, this is the only day of the week when a fair representation of fans can be gathered together.

The Alumni field squabble begins to look like the calling off of the annual O.M.I. Cadet-Butler engagement. Both teams are anxious to play and thousands of fans are awaiting the signing of agreements, but all apparently are doomed to disappointment—unless Alumni field can be secured on a Sunday with the teams advancing money for the grid and then being prevented from taking up a collection.

It has been proposed that the business managers provide concessions at the park and individual collections would be non essential. At the same time, the contesting teams would be within the law.

The Butler-Cadet game cannot be played on Thanksgiving day, as the Butlers have already booked the Cleveland Panthers for that occasion.

"Pete" Sheehan has recovered from recent injuries sustained in a scrimmage at Dean academy. He got into the game with Dartmouth Freshmen yesterday.

Spencer Sullivan, former star guard on the Lowell high team, is trying hard for the regular berth on the Canisius college eleven at Buffalo, N. Y.

The West Ends, a Broadway element, have organized a 120-125 pound team and would like games with teams of that weight. Timmy Sullivan, well-known Acre-ite and former athlete, is coaching the team.

The South common has been added to the list of playing fields for tomorrow. On this gridiron, the St. Peter's Cadets Seconds will play the Unities.

The Drucut Warriors will clash with the Collinsville Bearcats in Collinsville tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

These scores are merely conjectural. Football is so uncertain that upsets are liable to come at any moment. For instance, the Sacred Heart of East Boston with an array of ex-college and high school stars, may turn the tables on the Butlers and walk away with an easy victory. The East Boston players are no slouches. Their record of three successive wins without a first down being scored against them is truly an achievement that calls for a second thought. Regardless of preliminary guesses, tomorrow's clash on the old Fair grounds is sure to attract attention. The kick-off will take place at 2.30 o'clock with James J. Bruin, mayoralty aspirant, doing the honors.

It's a pretty tough proposition to pick a winner in the Ponies-Butler Independent clash on the First street oval. One might just toss up a coin to decide the winner. Evenly matched and rearing to go, both teams are capable of landing the verdict. Whichever outfit wins will at least know it has been in a football match.

The crack St. Peter's Cadets will play the Newton A. A. at Newton tomorrow. Manager Eddie Rogers tried hard to secure the St. Mary's Cadets of Lawrence for a game here, but arrangements fell through. The next home game for the St. Peter's will be against the St. Augustine's of South Boston in this city a week from tomorrow.

In the game with East Boston on the old Fair grounds tomorrow afternoon, Coach O'Hare will select his starting team from the following: Ends, McMahon, Conley, Mullin, Burke; tackles, Whitely, Mullin, Bond, Armstrong, Sheehan; guards, Winters, McArdle, Brown, Sheehan, Corkery; centre, McMahon, White; backs, O'Hare, Chase, Conway, Loucraft, Willard, Rogers, Britton.

Boston college will not play Syracuse next fall. The orange would like very much to take on the Eagles again but the fact that Nebraska is to be put back on the schedule in 1925 forbids this. Chick Mahan does not feel that his team could play two strong teams as Nebraska and B.C. in one season.

Princeton and the Navy will play at Annapolis next year. It is to be the big home game on the Middies' 1925 schedule.

The Lafayette team, which played the Butlers here a couple of weeks ago, is playing the Lion A.C. of Haverhill in a benefit game on the Everett high school grounds this afternoon. The Lowell Indians will play the Lions in Haverhill tomorrow afternoon.

When the Ponies take the field against the Butler Independents on the First street oval tomorrow, they will have in their backfield George Keefe, former "L" man on the Lowell high school squad. After his graduation from the high school, George went to Boston college and while he did not participate in varsity athletics at that institution, he was prominently identified with class sports.

Last year Keefe played a few games with the Oakleaves of Centralville and was a bulwark in offensive play. He has been practicing regularly with the horsemen and will start against the Independents in first class shape.

Lowell high took along about 35 men to Fitchburg today. The new shelter coats similar to those worn by Manchester were distributed to the members of the first and second teams just before the boys left.

The Lowell high third team lost to Howe high in Billerica yesterday afternoon. The score was 12 to 0. In a previous game with the Howe clique the score ended at six all. A. Reynolds and Sadler did teh scoring for the Billerica men yesterday.

That meeting of the Kenwood Rovers and the Wanderers on the North common tomorrow afternoon will be the third successive clash between these outfits. Both former games have resulted in tie scores, so that the elevens have a fighting incentive to give their best tomorrow.

A large truck load of fans will accompany the O.M.I. Cadets to Peabody tomorrow. The truck will leave the corner of Bowers and Salem streets at 12.30 o'clock.

Y.W.C.A. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Mrs. Edward F. Wellington of Malden was the speaker before a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. She spoke of the importance of woman exercising the franchise at the polls on Nov. 4 and explained the referenda on the ballot. Mrs. Murdock MacKinnon presided at the business session. Several vocal numbers were given by Miss M. Giverson and refreshments were served.

AT FORGE VILLAGE

At Forge Village tomorrow afternoon, the Abbot Worsted soccer team will line up against the Clan McGregor outfit in a state cup series game. This afternoon the Abbots played the Saylesville team on the latter's grounds.

The Industrial league team represented by Abbot Worsted played Smith and Dove of Andover at Forge Village this afternoon.

WISE COUNSELLOR AND SARAZEN FACE BARRIER

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 25.—Wise Counsellor, Frederick A. Burton's two-time conqueror of Epinard, and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Sarazen, who broke the Latonia track record to lead the famous French horse across the line in the Latonia stakes, are carded to face the barrier today in the $10,000 Maryland handicap. The race will be over a route of a mile and a quarter and is the fifth event on the program.

Five other three-year olds have accepted the challenge. They are Sun Flag, Aga Khan Initiate, Rustic and Big Blaze, all notable performers. Sarazen has been rated a four pound better horse than Wise Counsellor, the weights being 126 to 122.

PAAVO NURMI SAILS FOR U. S. ON NOV. 6

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Paavo Nurmi, star middle distance runner, who competed for Finland at the Olympic games, will sail for America Nov. 6 and will make his first appearance in a two-months campaign at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6 at the meet of the Finnish-American A. C.

Nurmi will also compete in the municipal games on Jan. 15 and at the Millrose games Jan. 27 and 28, Frederick W. Rubien, A.A.U. secretary, who divulged Nurmi's plans, said.

ROJAS LOST DECISION, THEN FINED $500

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 25.—After he had lost the newspaper decision to Martin Burke, New Orleans, in a ten-round bout here last night, Quintin Romero-Rojas, heavyweight champion of Chile, was fined $500 by the Minnesota boxing commission, it was announced today.

The commission held that Rojas violated a contract with the local fight club in failing to arrive here within a specified time and in failing to post a $250 forfeit before the contest with Burke.

JESS WILLARD'S FARM TO BE SOLD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—The farm of Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion boxer, near Grantville, Kas., will be sold at auction Oct. 25 and Willard will make his permanent home in California.

WILL HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies' of Charity of St. John's hospital will hold a rummage sale next Friday and Saturday in the old Courier-Citizen building in the square. All old clothing, furniture, hats, etc., will be accepted by the committee in charge and may be brought to the building Tuesday or Wednesday. If unable to bring the articles a call to 5930 will bring someone to deliver them for you. Men's clothing is particularly wanted but all articles will be thankfully received.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE

The first in a series of five sessions to be held under the direction of Miss Beatrice Billings, assistant home demonstration department, Middlesex county extension service, will be given on Wednesday next in the school house in Tyngsboro at 3 o'clock. The topic to be explained at this meeting will be "Food Selection" and will without doubt be of much educational benefit to the housewife.

MAINE VISITORS HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Herve Thibodeau of Caribou, Me., who are honeymooning in this city were agreeably surprised last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Theberge of Centralville. Miss Florence Taylor, in behalf of the many friends gathered to honor the couple, presented them a number of beautiful gifts, while Miss Alice Theberge, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theberge read an address of congratulation. Mr. and Mrs. Thebodeau responded in a fitting manner. A program of musical numbers was enjoyed during the evening and refreshments were served.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

Leo Daly's orchestra, a musical aggregation which is proving the season's sensation, will be featured at a dancing party to be conducted by the Twentieth Century club next Monday evening, at the Girls' City club. The Twentieth Century club consists of four prominent young men who promise their friends an exceptionally good time on next Monday night. The club members are confident that all who attend their dance will look forward eagerly to similar affairs in the near future and under the same auspices.

PRE-WEDDING SHOWER

Miss Grace Lord who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Francis J. Hanley, was agreeably surprised Wednesday evening when about 40 of her friends gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Lord in Powell street and showered her with numerous gifts of silver, cut glass and linen. A mock marriage was the feature of the evening in which the Misses Katherine Martin, Mayetta McMahon and Mrs. Gertrude Entwistle participated. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Herbert Dawson and Mrs. Royal Sweeney.

EDUCATIONAL CLUB

Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church will be the speaker before the Educational club at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Kitson hall. "Mormonism, Its Growth and Influence" will be his topic. A full attendance is requested.

AN INTERESTING REPORT

Director of Physical Education Submits Report to School Committee

Organized recess play, utilization of vacant rooms in junior high schools, the erection of double portable building in the yards of junior high schools, and the setting aside of a separate budget for the running expenses of the physical education department of the city's public schools, are suggestions contained in a report submitted to each individual member of the school committee by Donald R. MacIntyre, director of the department.

At the August meeting of the school board, it was voted to have the director of physical education report on conditions and facilities for athletics in the public schools. Mr. MacIntyre appeared in person before the board at the September meeting, but because of the importance of other business, it was suggested that he submit his report in writing. This he has done with the following enlightening result:

The Plan—The supervisor of physical education is the director of the department. He being responsible to the superintendent and through him to the school committee.

His duties are to arrange lessons suitable for the various grades, detail to schools and supervise the work of the physical instructors, and visit individual rooms from time to time to observe work done in the home room, to organize and administer athletics in the junior high schools.

The instructors are responsible to the supervisor. They conduct ninth grade junior high school classes twice per week, and all other grades once per week. Other duties are to demonstrate and interpret the lesson to be carried on in their absence, to observe for physical defects and correct them wherever possible, to coach the various sports in their season and to give as much of their time as possible in promoting healthful play among students.

To the principal falls the responsibility for the work in his school and the arranging of a program which allows 75 minutes per week for the pupils. The difference in time between that spent in the room by the instructor and the 75 minutes can be arranged as best suits the administration of a particular school. The department works in close co-operation with the health department.

The Work—In the high school the freshmen and seniors take the work in this department. Freshmen drill three times per week and seniors twice. Class work consists of marching, calisthenics, apparatus, games. Military marching is given in order that there shall be no radical changes in commands or movements when boys enter the regiment. Apparatus work is given on horse, parallel bars, stall bars, horizontal bars, flying wings, chest weights and springboard. Calisthenics consist of free arm and hand apparatus exercises. Games played vary with the seasons. Representative teams are coached by instructors outside of school hours and membership on teams is optional with the pupil. An exhibition of work is held in April and May. Physical and medical examinations are given and corrective exercises to those who are found defective.

Junior High School

In the junior high schools we try to co-ordinate the work so that girls are ready for sophomore senior high school gymnastics and boys are ready for the regiment.

However, the work given can not be put across as thoroughly as in the high school freshman class because we are away behind in facilities.

There are halls in our junior high schools which we are not allowed to use. But if these spaces could be used without injury to the structure I would strongly advocate their being utilized The wall decorations and pictures could be protected by suspended nettings. However, if the building would suffer by their use the only other suggestion at present for finding suitable space is the erection of double portables in the yards of the junior high schools.

The Varnum and Butler schools are without are facilities that are desirable. The Bartlett school has a gymnasium, but the room in which some girls' classes are held is about 18x18 feet on the basement floor and is open directly, on the corridor side. A very unsatisfactory condition.

The Morey school has a hall in which we attempt to carry on work with boys and girls. A beaver board partition about 7 feet high is all that separates the classes. One class disturbs the other. There is also a stage in this hall which I think if taken out and suitable partitions put in we could do better work.

The conditions are also a handicap to the instructors who have no private rooms in which to change their clothing for class work and no conveniences of shower rooms after finishing with their classes. As it is they conduct their classes in their street clothes and at the end of the sessions go out into the open in a more or less heated condition. Their vitality is naturally lowered by their work and going into the open in this condition makes them fit subjects for contracting colds and becoming ill.

Games and Athletics

It is the desire of the department to have every child active in games. One method of doing this is by means of organized recess play. But there is so much to be said on both sides that the department doesn't wish to attempt this organization without definite permission. The opponents of organized recess play will argue that the recess period is the child's free period and should not be taken up in this manner. However, if there were teams of boys and girls definitely chosen and not allowed to change, there would be the advantage of inculcating loyalty to a group and loyalty to school. I would give the child advantage of developing leadership, another very desirable quality. There would be something definite doing at recess other than the present unorganized period. If after giving organized recess play a fair chance it were then dropped I feel that the children would continue along the lines of their own accord rather than return to the old regime. The object isn't to teach the child to play—all children can play; it is just to organize and definitely supervise the play.

In athletics we have organized leagues in which the junior high schools have representative teams. The leagues have been highly successful In baseball, basket ball and track competition has been keen and throughout the schools there has been great enthusiasm.

However, in football we are up against the problem of equipment. It seems to be out of the question to ask boys to play this game unless we can give them the protection offered by proper equipment. The next best thing we can do is to give them football in theory and as much of the practice in fundamentals as our facilities will allow. These boys are losing one year in high school and the result naturally will be that as sophomores their value to a varsity coach will not be as great as the regular high school freshman. The instructors in the junior high schools giving instruction to these pupils would be of great assistance to the varsity coach because they could give the boys the fundamentals and practice necessary in the beginning of team formations.

The girls have no real big out-door game, but the department would like to develop field hockey for girls of the ninth grade. Then again the equipment is lacking.

The equipment which was required for early in the year has not been delivered with the exception of that necessary for the functioning of the baseball league. The department cannot function efficiently under the handicap of no equipment. It is going to be a heavy expense in getting the initial equipment, but if the department is to grow and develop the expense must be met.

I would suggest that a separate budget be set aside for the running expenses of the department and that it be used only for this purpose.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

On behalf of Vincent J. McCann, conveyance has been negotiated of an attractive suburban property situated on Carleton abenue near its junction with Gorham street in East Chelmsford. The house is of 1½-story type with seven rooms and occupies a tract of land in excess of 20,000 square feet. The grantees are Mrs. Marcella T. Clark and Mrs. Allison M. Clark, both at the present time residents of Chelmsford.

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a modern two-apartment property at 69-71 Fort Hill avenue. The apartments have seven rooms and bath each and the property throughout is of the highest grade of construction. The land involved totals 6340 square feet and carries an assessment at the rate of 25 cents per foot. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Freeman B. Shedd. The grantees are Michael Kierce and Katherine Kierce, who purchase for personal occupancy.

Final papers have been sent to record from this office in the transfer of the property at the junction of Pollard and High streets, North Billerica. The building is of frame construction and occupies land approximating 6000 square feet. The transfer is effected on behalf of the resident owner, Percy E. Horn. The grantee is Frank A. Kelley.

In connection with the above transfer there is also conveyed the stock, fixtures and good will of the store on the premises. Mr. Horne has carried on on this site for some years past a thriving business of which he now gives a bill of sale, covering this business together with a large stock to Frank A. Kelley, the purchaser of the real estate.

Sales by E. F. Slattery, Jr.

Edward F. Slattery, Jr., real estate and insurance, reports the following sales made through his office during the past week.

Final papers have been placed on record in the sale of the large investment property situated at 824-838 Bridge street. This parcel includes an eight-tenement house having five rooms and bath to each tenement, together with 12,600 square feet of land. The assessed valuation on land and buildings totals $9200. The grantor in this transaction is Mrs. Anna Fudim and the purchaser is John Kochanek, who buys for purposes of investment.

Final papers have been recorded in the purchase and sale of the property situated at 138 Ennell street. The property consists of an eight-room cottage house containing all improvements. About 6000 square feet of land are contained in the deed. Peter J. Largay and Josephine Largay convey title to Arthur Rivanis and Efthimia Rivanis, who buy for a home.

Also the sale of the large dry goods store situated at 143 Lakeview avenue. The stock, fixtures and good will in this store are conveyed to Anna Fudim by John Kochanek.

REPORT NEW ATTACK ON SHANGHAIKWAN

PEKING, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press)—It was stated authoritatively here that General Wu Pei-Fu, Chihli military leader, who was reported to have fled to Tsing-Tao with his troops, had launched today a heavy attack on the Shanghaikwan front in an attempt to turn the right flank of the opposing force of General Chang Tso-Lin, the war lord.

General Wu, it was believed here, apparently determined to try for a quick final decision in his war of General Chang by assuming the offensive instead of a strategic withdrawal. His men evidently were unaware of the recent events in Peking brought about by the defection of the "Christian" General Feng Yu-Hsiang, and their morale was reported as excellent.

GAVE LIFE IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE 22 HORSES

CROSS COUNTRY RUN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25. In the junior A.A.U. championship cross-country run held here over a three-mile course, Thomas Edwards of Crosby high school, Waterbury, was the winner in the time of 15 minutes, 19 seconds. Crosby high school and the Yale junior varsity tied for team total with 49 points each while the Cygnet A. C., of Portchester was third with 72 points and New Haven high school, the only other entrant, was last with 87 points.

BERNSTORFF NOT CANDIDATE

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Friends of Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States, learn that he is not inclined to be a candidate for re-election to the reichstag and that in all probability he will retire from elective politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Marland Oil Co., sponsored by the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., which has just bought $20,000,000 of its two-year 5 per cent. notes maturing in 1926, reports net income of $2,178,453 for the first eight months of 1924 after interest, abandoned wells and leaseages, in addition to reserve of $2,012,282 for depreciation and depletion. This is equal to $140 a share on the capital stock.

FOUR SCHOOL GIRLS HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 25—Four young ladies, pupils at Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training school, 100 Riverway, Boston, were badly but not dangerously hurt, when the sedan in which they were riding, owned by Miss Lucy Wheelock, 100 Riverway, and operated by Everett F. Foiz, 14 Westland avenue, Boston, was in a head-on collision shortly before noon today on the Wareham road, near the home of Frank Hastay.

An automobile truck driven by Harry Parr of Cambridge, proceeding toward Middleboro behind a load of wood, swung out to pass the wood team just as the Boston sedan came from the opposite direction, according to report made to the police. The two machines came together with great force, the crash attracting Hastay, who immediately telephoned for the police and physicians.

All six people in the crash were removed to St. Luke's hospital where they were reported as badly hurt but not on the danger list.

The individual injuries could not be ascertained until late afternoon, the authorities being busy taking care of the six patients.

The four girl students gave the names of Miss Laura Holmes, Miss Helen McKillop, Miss Eleanor Johnson and Miss Margaret Little, all of 100 Riverway, Boston.

LIST GIVEN BY MELLON FULL OF INACCURACIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Charges that a list of duplicated bonds furnished the special house committee investigating the bureau of engraving and printing by Secretary Mellon was "full of inaccuracies and misstatements," was made before committee today by Charles B. Brewer, committee investigator.

"The list furnished is only a partial list of duplicated bonds because a great many have been destroyed," said Brewer.

"It is for the committee to determine who is telling the biggest lies," interposed Representative King, republican, Illinois.

WILL MEET HOTEL MANAGEMENT EXPERT

George L. Macfarlane of New York city, an expert on hotel management, will confer with the hotel committee of the chamber of commerce next Monday noon. Mr. Macfarlane has studied the hotel game thoroughly and it is expected that he will have several important suggestions to make in connection with plans to erect and maintain a large modern hotel in this city.

PRESIDENT OF PEKING GOVERNMENT RESIGNS

PEKING, Oct. 25—(By the Associated Press) Tsao Kun has resigned the presidency of the Central Chinese government.

It is understood that General Feng Yu-Hsiang, who is in control of the capital, has instructed the cabinet to carry on.

A mandate last night by President Tsao-Kun ending the war in which the Peking forces had been resisting the armies of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, and exiling General Wu Pei-Fu, military head of the Peking government to Tibet, led to the assumption that Manchurian and Peking military chieftains had reached an agreement.

The surmise that the overthrow of the Peking government by General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian general," was with the knowledge and probably by agreement, of General Chang Tso-Lin, was voiced in many quarters.

SAYS TEXAS LIZARD FATHER OF ALL SNAKES

NORTHAMPTON, Oct. 25.—A lizard that roamed through Texas 25,000,000 years ago was father of all snakes, it was said in a paper by Dr. W. H. Dallon of New York that was prepared for the meeting of the American Society of Ichtyologists and Herpetologists at Smith college today. It took more than 10,000,000 years for the lizard to become a snake, having got rid of the legs with which it leaped, and most of its bones, together with a third eye that was on the top of the head. A gigantic serpent that flourished in Patagonia some 5,000,000 years ago was said to be the conclusion of this development; with the solid rooted skull of the lizard changed to include ears, and a mouth that could be opened widely with sharp teeth that could be turned forward to seize prey, and backward to swallow.

R. R. FIREMAN UNCONSCIOUS

PUTNAM, Conn., Oct. 25.—Joseph Hoppman, the fireman on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad passenger train which collided with a freight train here late yesterday remained unconscious today and the chances of recovery are slight in the opinion of the surgeons at the Day Kimball hospital. Hoppman was hurled from the cab and it is thought he was internally hurt and probably has a fractured skull. The other men hurt are resting comfortably. A wrecker worked all night clearing the tracks.

DODGE BROTHERS
TYPE-B SEDAN

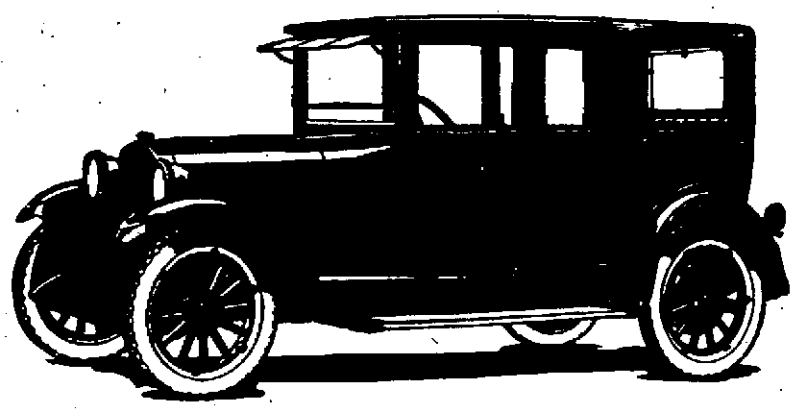

This car is now driven by a great many people who never before owned, and never intended to own a closed car.

It is driven daily over roads that heretofore were considered too rough and too heavy for anything except the sturdiest open cars.

As a matter of fact, the Type-B Sedan is as sturdy as an open car, and was built by Dodge Brothers for the same identical kind of service.

THE TIDE EBBS TO DAVIS

Just nine days until election.

Less than two weeks until the citizens of this country go to the polls to register a decision affecting the future destiny of this nation. And it is not strange that as the end of the campaign nears, unprejudiced observers should see a realignment of sentiment everywhere except in the south as a result of a clarification of issues and principles.

Fogs of prejudicee and partisanship that obscured the vision of many voters at the beginning of this strangest of political campaigns in American history, endured longer than they could have under normal circumstances; but they have been dissipated under the straight-from-the-shoulder onslaughts of John W. Davis, revealing the duplicity and demagoguery of the republican leaders in the interest of their candidate.

Mr. Coolidge's man Butler played the trump card of the G. O. P. when he inflicted upon the country his fairy tale of a democratic-La Follette "conspiracy" to throw the election into congress. It not only failed, utterly and completely, but proved to be the prize boomerang of the most insipid campaign ever waged by a major political party.

Davis today has the edge on the Coolidge-Dawes lineup in many states that even democrats were ready to concede to the republican column only a few weeks ago. Republicans by the thousands now are face to face with the realization that hope of a Coolidge victory is naught but a fanciful dream. So has the republican chairman's attempt to stampede the electorate into supporting his candidate reacted upon his party.

It's Davis or congress, and of the two, the country is swinging to the support of Davis, with a great band of intelligent voters holding to the belief that election by congress is preferable to four more years of republican rule such as we have had under the Harding-Coolidge administration. The republicans and the favored interests are rolling up a big campaign fund to carry the election; but this year it will be found more difficult than formerly to purchase the election by pouring money into the close states. Senator Borah and Senator Walsh of Montana are watching the course of events; and hence not even Manager Butler will dare attempt the venality so openly advocated by Mark Hanna and Tom Platt.

It is fortunate that we have a few such able defenders of the rights of the people and such exponents of honest government as the two senators mentioned, our own Senator Walsh, and above them all John W. Davis who as president will give the nation an administration rivalling that of President Wilson from 1912 to 1920, one of the most prosperous eras in our entire history.

CURLEY AND HIS CRITICS

Daily for several weeks past the Boston Herald has been devoting its leading editorial to attacks upon James M. Curley, the democratic candidate for governor. Of course, every candidate who is running for office must expect to meet opposition and even criticism; but the Herald has been unfair and occasionally also untruthful in its onslaughts on Mr. Curley.

For example, in a recent issue, its editorial against Curley was headed "Me and the Gang." That expression implied that Curley is an uneducated and uncultured political boor whose chief aim in conducting the business of the city of Boston is to provide a gang of heelers with jobs. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The fact is that the powers of the mayor of Boston are so restricted by acts of the legislature that he has little opportunity to do anything of the kind. Owing to the officious interference of the republican legislature, the city of Boston is far from enjoying real home rule. Not only the civil service laws but others applied to Boston alone, prohibit the mayor from exercising such favoritism as the Herald charges against Mayor Curley in its editorials, including that headed "Me and the Gang." That phrase might more fittingly be applied to some of the republican candidates than to Mayor Curley who is one of the most eloquent and polished speakers in the commonwealth. That slang expression is coined deliberately by the Herald with the obvious purpose of identifying Mr. Curley with the lowest elements in the political life of the city, which shows that the Herald is thus resorting to political tactics that should be held beneath the dignity of a great paper, even in the heat of a strenuous campaign.

The Herald has drawn many unjust deductions from the reduction in the state tax under Gov. Cox and the alleged increase in the net debt of the city under Mayor Curley; but the mayor has ably exposed the injustice of the assertions thus made to prejudice his candidacy with the public. For instance, he shows that much of the "economy" boasted of in state affairs has been due to an increase in the fees for motor vehicles.

In an able and exhaustive reply to his critics on these charges he says: "The circumstances, therefore, surrounding the reduction in the state tax for 1924 may be summed up as follows: Whereas the state authorities would imply that the reduction was due to economies, effected in the conduct of the various state activities, the truth of the matter is that the cut was made possible largely as a direct result of the increases in funds received from the registration of motor vehicles, which, for the first time in the history of the state have made it unnecessary to appropriate money from general revenue for highway construction and maintenance.

"On the basis of the actual receipts for 1922 the state authorities could have increased their estimate of income for 1923 by at least one million dollars, which would have reduced the state tax for 1923 by at least half a million dollars."

Moreover, Mr. Curley shows that part of the alleged economies practiced by Gov. Cox consisted in the neglect or refusal to carry through necessary work which is a negative and unprogressive species of economy.

Relative to the increase in the net city debt which the Herald and other critics charge has been increased by $8,000,000 under Mayor Curley, Representative Adlow shows that if the rapid transit debt as of April 30, 1924, be excluded, the increase is but $45,000, and on this point Mayor Curley shows that the amount of loans authorized, but not issued on April, 1924, was $8,472,000, that this amount represented an increase of $3,878,500 during his administration. He shows further, that of the total loans authorized, but not issued, $4,084,000 was authorized by acts of the legislature, yet his critics hold him responsible for these deliberate acts of the Great and General Court. Besides, no unissued loan can be included in the net city debt. Thus Curley shows how his critics are misrepresenting the facts of his administration as well as the financial standing of the city of Boston.

The mayor also quotes the banking firm of Harris, Forbes & Company to the effect that Boston ranks first in credit standing among the ten largest cities of the country. This statement is based upon the tax rate and the ratio of the city debt to its revenues. All of which indicates the unfair tactics being used in an effort to accomplish Mayor Curley's defeat.

DAVIS WON LABOR VICTORY

Since the announcement of the decision by the United States supreme court, upholding the section of the Clayton act which provides that a labor leader cited for contempt outside the court, is entitled to a trial by jury, John W. Davis has been overwhelmed with telegrams of congratulations from all parts of the country. These recall the fact that it was Mr. Davis who wrote this particular section of the act and who led the fight on the floor of the house of representatives on July 9, 1912, for the adoption of this provision. He maintained at that time, that this feature of the act was constitutional although it had been attacked in congress on the ground that it would not stand the constitutional test.

Labor leaders in great number are among those who have offered their felicitations to Mr. Davis on this great victory. Among these are George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's association of Tennessee; Robert N. Dynum, state chairman of Printing Pressmen's union of Columbia, S. C.; Thomas McHugh, North Summitt, Indianapolis, Ind.; Arthur A. Quinn, president of the New Jersey federation of labor with a membership of 120,000; Theodore M. Brandle, chairman, district council, Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of New York and New Jersey and president of the Hudson County Building Trades, New Jersey; William Lyons, president of the Essex County Building Trades, and a great many others.

It is not surprising that labor leaders hasten to congratulate Mr. Davis on this splendid victory which marks a new epoch in the standing of labor organizations in the courts of the United States. If there have been cases in which the courts exercised arbitrary authority or overstepped their judicial powers, this decision of the supreme court providing that contempt cases shall be entitled to trial by jury, offers ample protection against any petty tyranny that might be exercised by an abuse of judicial authority. It is really a great victory for organized labor and one which results almost entirely from the personal efforts and judicial acumen of John W. Davis. This is an entirely just restriction upon judicial power and an ample guarantee of justice in contempt cases.

Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, as might be expected, judging from his antecedents, comes out in favor of the so-called "child labor amendment," which is very generally condemned throughout the country. He says the proposed constitutional amendment "is no more an assault upon the personal liberty of the American people than the numerous state acts on the same subject, and further, that it confers upon the United States the same kind of power, and no more of it, than it now exercises over the persons employed in interstate transportation. It is the same kind of power that every state has over all laborers, child or adult, within their boundary.

We have yet to hear of any state that has ever attempted to prohibit the labor of all persons under 18 years of age or ever claimed that right. But assuming that the state has such right, that would not justify its transfer to the federal government at Washington. The rights in question are now vested where they properly belong, in the family and the state. To take away these rights and place them in the hands of the federal authorities would be as unwarranted as the confiscation of the private property of the parents and the various states. Indeed, it would rob them of something more sacred than any proprietary right. It would also encroach still further upon state rights, a tendency to centralization of power that threatens to Prussianize our government at the expense of popular liberty. The people are already disgusted with the bureaucracy at Washington and do not want to see it extended. Moreover, they see the necessity of guarding the constitution against movements that under the guise of humanitarian motives would tear down the last guarantee of the people's liberties.

BOARD OF PUBLIC SERVICE

There is much discussion over the status of the board of public service as a department of our city government. The present city charter known as Plan B does not provide for such a board, but permits its adoption by the city council. The board was created by the so-called Casey charter, and as it was giving satisfaction and seemed to offer a practical method of conducting several of the city departments, it was retained by the city council with the same powers it enjoyed under the former charter. Now, however, it becomes necessary to modify part of the arrangements for the direction of the street and other departments. It is desired to give the city engineer full authority, under the direction of the board, of course, over the street and other departments. If it be required to make this a fixed and permanent rule, an ordinance will be necessary for the purpose, although the board can select the heads of the departments under its jurisdiction without special authorization by the city council.

MacCRACKEN FOR DAVIS

President MacCracken of Vassar college, long a republican, has announced that he will vote for Davis for president because he "prefers a man to a myth." He states that he knows John W. Davis to be the leading lawyer of the American bar and that his record is an open book.

President MacCracken criticizes the course of President Coolidge when as vice president he sat at cabinet meetings with Fall, Denby and Daugherty and charges that when he became president he saw no reason for changing these members of the cabinet. In taking this view of the president's course Mr. MacCracken is simply voicing an opinion that is rapidly spreading throughout the country and turning political sentiment against the president and his party.

W. U. CABLE TO ROME

It is announced that the Western Union Telegraph company is starting to lay a new cable between New York and Rome, a distance of 5423 miles. Such a cable must cost a fabulous amount. The investment indicates that the company does not expect radio to supplant the ordinary submarine cable at least for many years to come. Both will be needed, and if the time should come that radio can be used with absolute privacy, then the Western Union and other telegraph companies will be glad to abandon their submarine cables which always need costly repairs.

TYPEWRITING

About 250,000 American-made typewriters a year are being sold to foreign countries. Not many, when you consider the population of the outside world and their average inferior writing machines.

Ours is the first country in which penmanship has become a lost art. We have a mechanical nation—and so far, our civilization is nine-tenths mechanics. The artistic and spiritual and intellectual will come later. Right now America is solving the problem of making a living easily. Once solved, our best brains will turn to so-called "higher pursuits."

THE ENGINE STOPS

We live very close to the thin wall that separates us from the hereafter, even though we do not realize the fact.

William Olson of Chicago came home to his rooming house so happy and full of pep that he danced a jig. Suddenly he fell dead. His engine was worn out and he didn't know it.

When a cotton mill like the Amoskeag, of Manchester, N. H., the largest in the world, passes the annual dividend after reporting a loss of $2,800,000 in a year, there must be something serious amiss. The condition of that mill is apparently worse than the average. It would be interesting to get a fair and candid statement of the causes that led to this unfavorable condition. Is it poor management, labor troubles or just the effect of poor business?

On election day the polls will be open from 6 a. m. till 6 p. m., which should give everybody ample time to vote. It will throw the counting of the ballots back quite a little, but that cannot be avoided.

The municipal candidates are not waiting till after November 4 to push their appeals on the voters, as rallies are being held nightly on street corners and in the homes. After election day, however, we may expect bedlam to break loose.

The Prince of Wales can truthfully say that so far as he could see, the only effect of prohibition in the United States is to cause the drinking to be done in secluded places, chiefly behind closed doors.

Strabo V. Claggett, candidate for state auditor, is not satisfied with ordinary political burial of his opponent, Alonzo Cook. He wants him put down so deep that he will be held sizzling for all time over the roof of Hades.

SEEN AND HEARD

Beauty and brains together are twice too much.

It took six days to make the world, but it frequently seems to have been changed overnight.

At a late hour one Sunday night an observer at Pittsburgh saw a small boy sitting on the curb under a street light getting his lessons for the next day.

The streets in Knoxville, Penn., aren't as good as they might be. After a heavy rainstorm some playful wag tacked a notice on a pole opposite one of the holes in a street, "No fishing allowed here. By order of the burgess."

In Berlin, Germany, children are required by regulations of the street car company to give up their seats to "ladies" and all older persons. Asked for a ruling as to when a girl becomes a "lady," the company set the age at 12.

A seven-story structure in Chicago, which was carried a distance of 54 feet to a new site, is said to be the largest building ever moved. The task was accomplished with five two-horse teams, which operated five capstans and pulled the load through 14,000 feet of steel cable.

A Thought

Fewer possess virtue than those who wish us to believe that they possess it.—Cicero.

Very Wet Wedding

The Rev. A. N. Lindsey, pastor of the Christian church at Clinton, Mo., baptized and married a couple in the baptismal font. They were Charles Dale of Yale, Okla., and Miss Doris White of Clinton. The rites of baptism were first conferred and the young people remained standing in the water while the marriage ceremony was said.

Quick Service

"It may have been three, as I was in a hurry for shaving water, but that doesn't excuse you for bursting in the door." "Beg pardon," replied the boy, as he backed out, "but it's one ring for the porter, two for the boy and three for a gun, and when a guest rings for a gun in this hotel the orders are to get it for him before the other fellow can hog his pardon!"

Making It Homelike

At a business men's luncheon a scientist, invited to speak, was telling how candy would alleviate any craving for alcohol. He talked learnedly of calories and thermal units. According to him, all the old rounders would soon be turning to bon bons and caramels. "Sounds good," admitted a druggist present. "If I was sure of it I'd put a brass rail in front of the candy case."

Previous Engagement

A lady in great demand socially was duly summoned as a witness in some court proceedings. As she failed to appear a deputy marshal was sent to act as escort. Then the judge explained to her that she was in contempt of court and asked what she had to say. She was manifestly astonished at all this. "I meant no contempt," stated she. "I would have attended the trial gladly, only I had a previous engagement."

The Last Call

The seedy diner was enjoying himself. "Waiter," he called, "get me a nice piece of boiled halibut." The dish was obtained, placed before the customer and consumed. Then he called again: "Waiter, bring a portion of curried veal—and, waiter, another bottle of wine." The bill mounted up, but still the seedy one called the waiter to fetch one dainty after another. At last he lit a cigar, and sat back. "Waiter," he called, "bring—" "Yes, sir," said the waiter; "your bill?" "No," came the languid answer; "bring a policeman; I haven't any money."

Immaterial to Them

Clara Endicott Sears, who has recently written "Days of Delusion," records the religious crisis of 1843, in which the Prophet Miller prophesied that the world was to end. A man quite excited, who accepted the belief that the world was to end on that particular day, met in the roads of Concord, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Theodore Parker. They seemed calm. The Millerite thought it was his duty to inform them of the momentous fact of which they appeared to be so unconscious. So he walked up to them in an excited manner and said: "Gentlemen, do you know, do you realize that the world is coming to an end today?" Mr. Parker said: "It does not concern me, for I live in Boston." And Mr. Emerson said: "The end of the world does not affect me. I can get along without it."

My Path

If I still find you when I come at eve,
Worn and weary with the stress of day,
With welcome in your eyes and on your lips,
Safe and secure I know I'll find the way.

But if at eve a-weary I should come
And find a lovelight in your eyes a-gone,
I do not know, nor would I even care,
What path my feet should seek or wander on.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The best check on moonshine-makers is to meter them and Lowell has done it! For complete list of makers of the mule-powered fluid see Superintendent Robert B. Gardner of the water works. He has all the names. This developed the other day at the meeting of the board of public service when several property owners appeared to ask abatements on excessive water bills.

The first case to be heard was of a Middlesex street merchant and property owner who is a highly respected citizen. The water bill on one piece of tenement property jumped $40 over average last quarter and he couldn't tell why. The meter-reader tipped him off that moonshine was being made in the place. A private investigation by the landlord proved this to be the case and the tenants were ordered out. Supt. Gardner told the board that most excessive water bills are due to persons making moonshine, which requires a considerable amount of water.

In most cases the landlord is not in the know. He gets a big water bill. Generally the next step is to ask for a special intermediate meter reading. The honest and baffled property-owner, still at sea, then calls a plumber. The plumber goes over the place and finds no leaks. Eventually he finds out it's the making of moonshine by some tenant that has caused the great volume to be metered.

This is invariably true in the summer months. Some landlords apparently are said to be paying exorbitant bills without protest, not unlikely being reimbursed by the tenant who is making illicit liquor.

In the winter it is hard to trace the reason for water bills being high. Here the moonshine-maker is matched by the tenant who has no fire and leaves the faucets running all night to save frozen pipes. In many tenements meter readers and inspectors find chains in the water closets nailed down in such a manner to keep a constant flow of water. This causes tremendous bills.

Often, of course, there are leaks or faulty plumbing but the moonshine maker and the man who deliberately leaves faucets open, cause the most complaints.

I learned another thing about water meters at the board meeting from Mr. Gardner that I think few people know. A water meter such as we have here cannot register over the true quantity that passes through. Meters don't overcharge. They are so constructed that they stop rather than cheat you. There's the most pleasant thought about the whole business. Few folks know that, and those who bear this in mind will probably be a lot quicker in learning why they have a high water bill, if they do, than will their brethren who are content to cuss the meter.

And now we are to have a national Education Week, November 17-23 during which time the present condition and needs of the schools will be brought to the attention of the people of the United States by the United States educational bureau in connection with the National Education association and the American Legion. There are certain phases of education which it is generally agreed, require emphasis from a national standpoint. Among those are respect for constituted authority, patriotism, better trained and better paid teachers, improvement of rural schools, more adequately equipped school buildings, eradication of illiteracy and health condition. Each day during the week will be specially designated. Monday, Nov. 17, will be Constitution day; Tuesday, Patriotism day; Wednesday, School and Teacher day; Thursday, Illiteracy day and Friday, Physical Education day. Saturday will be observed as Community day and Sunday as God and Country day.

Mrs. Frank Scanlon, who spoke before the members and friends of the League of Catholic Women this week, is well known locally, having spoken in this city at different times within the past two years. Mrs. Scanlon who possesses a pleasing personality is one of the most broadminded women I have met, and it is because of this that her views are sought on many vital questions of the day. Her talk on the child labor amendment was most instructive and gave her auditors a clear understanding of the dangerous influence of this measure which she termed "an entering wedge into education under a labor guise."

An unattractive horse sold for $34, and was used between the shafts of a delivery wagon. Joe Bijo, the owner, discovered that his nag had the makings of a race-horse. He puts the horse on the track under the name of Billy White—and Billy already paces a mile in 2:20. The case reminds us of human opportunity. Many a man is, figuratively, in a delivery wagon job though capable of fast work on the racetrack. Opportunity is simply the chance to demonstrate ability. But the opportunity is worthless unless the man, like the horse, can make good. Success is nine-tenths made before so-called opportunity comes.

The 51st anniversary of Division 11, A.O.H., will be observed with impressive exercises in A.O.H. hall, Grosvenor building, next Friday night. This division is up among the leaders in the country in numbers and achievement and its membership includes several prominent local citizens. County officers have been invited to attend the celebration Friday night, and a big time is assured.

The war in China is being brought home to Americans with a vengeance, says a news item. There's going to be a big shortage of firecrackers next Fourth of July! Practically all of the firecrackers imported from China come from Canton, where there is plenty of fighting. As a result of the strife all the makers of firecrackers have stopped work. It looks like more of a safe and sane Fourth of July next year than ever.

The Catholic Daughters of America with a national membership of 60,000 is to organize a branch locally. It is the aim of the society to interest its members in various kinds of welfare work. Final organization plans will be made at the meeting to be held in the early part of November and it is intended that Lowell will have as large an organization as any of the cities of its size.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Says the old Sun: "One of the best and foremost Shakespearean scholars in these parts is the Rev. Alfred A. V. Binnington, Episcopal clergyman connected with St. Anne's church. He recently delivered his famous lecture on the bard of Avon before the Lawrence lodge of the Sons of St. George. The lecture treated every aspect of the poet's work. In referring to the theory that Lord Bacon wrote the plays attributed to Shakespeare, he said:

A few words may be said regarding the attempt to deprive Shakespeare of his laurels and to confer them upon Bacon. To me personally the Baconian theory is both untenable and absurd. Professor Gifford of Stuttgart was the first to declare that Shakespeare was but a name and since then Donnelly in America and several well known people in Europe have maintained the same thing. Their chief arguments are briefly that certain words found in Bacon's works are not to be discovered elsewhere but in the plays. Secondly, the scope of the plays is too extended for a confessedly uneducated man like Shakespeare.

Against this reasoning it may be said that perhaps Shakespeare knew the words as well as Bacon or borrowed them and that as for Shakespeare's education, there is no proof that he ever ceased studying or that it was as limited as some people say. Again, Bacon never would have written trash as we find in Henry IV, and there is an entire absence of classical quotation in the plays. Again, all Shakespeare's contemporaries are witnesses for him; and there was no mention of the authorship of the plays by any writer of any kind which there certainly would have been had any deception been practiced. And lastly, on what conceivable ground are we to believe that a man as jealous of his fame as Bacon should deny the work of his own hand and allow another to reap the glory and profit? No, the whole theory is so palpably hollow that it will be the laughing stock of future generations.

Mr. Frederick A. Lamoureux and Miss Jennie Greeley were united in marriage 25 years ago today at St. Peter's church by Rev. Fr. Ronan. Mr. Lamoureux is the well known hardware and paint dealer of 442 Merrimack street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lamoureux are prominently connected with several fraternal organizations locally. They were the recipients of numerous gifts from their many acquaintances locally and out of town and will celebrate their wedding anniversary quietly.

Mr. Charles Dearborn Paige and Miss Lillian Gray Stewart were married Oct. 18 at the home of the bride in Thirteenth street by Rev. C. E. Fisher.

Mr. William A. Murphy and Miss Susie A. McCaffrey were married Oct. 23 at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. William D. Joyce, O.M.I.

The Boer War

In reference to the Boer war just started, The Sun said:

There is a great difference of opinion as to the causes of the war between England and the Boers, some holding that England has a right to insist that her subjects have equal rights with the Boers in the Transvaal, and others that England has no business to interfere and if her subjects do not like the laws of the Transvaal they should stay at home. That is what any disinterested, fair-minded man would aver; but it is far from what England holds to be just or right." That was the third war fought by the Boers for freedom and after great slaughter, on both sides, it resulted in the acceptance of home rule under nominal British control same as Canada.

Corporation Tax Cases

The corporation tax cases brought against the city for abatement of taxes went on trial. The case of the Tremont & Suffolk was the first to be called. City Solicitor Francis W. Qua represented the city and Frank E. Dunbar, the corporations.

$50,000 Fire Loss

The great wooden building of the Lowell Card company at the corner of Market and Shattuck streets was partially destroyed by fire 25 years ago and involved a loss of $50,000. Without doubt, one of the largest frame buildings in the city, it was a landmark; but its construction being of wood, it proved an easy prey for flames. The fire started in the Wilfred Jean laundry on the fourth floor and gave the firemen a hard battle for three hours.

Promotions in Police Dept.

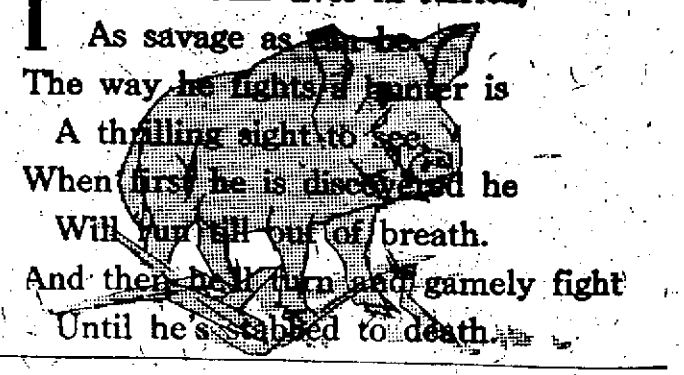

At a regular meeting of the board of police, held on Oct. 24, 1899, the following promotions were made from the reserve to the regular force: Geo. S. Abbott, John E. Conway, Patrick J. Frawley, Geo. H. Robinson, William Wilson, D. Wesley Nealey, Joseph Noyes. The following were selected from the civil service list and appointed on the probationary force: Joseph L. Lamoureux, Cornelius T. O'Keefe, Timothy Murphy, Timothy McCloughry, Thomas Hesslan and John T. Whelan.

Lecture on Dante

In 1899 Professor Norton gave a series of weekly lectures on Dante before the Middlesex Women's club. He explained the various divisions of the great poet's works and analyzed them. He told of the love of Dante for Beatrice and showed that it was this that inspired his great work, the Divina Comedia.

A.B.C's

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Every little youngster knows the famous A, B, C that the teacher harps on daily in the school. I mean the kind that start with A and end with X, Y, Z. You have them in your lessons as a rule.

But, do you know the modern brand; the brand that means so much? Just study them and think them over twice. They're worthy of your thought if you can get the proper touch and realize they're based on good advice.

The A stands for Always do as Mom and Daddy say, and Ask no questions 'cept when you're in doubt. They'll always gladly tell you why they want each thing its way and it never gets you anywhere to pout.

The B means Be considerate of grown-ups that you know. Beware of being selfish or unkind. Be mindful of the fact that you are young until you grow, and you will be much happier, you'll find.

The C means Cause your mother and your father to be glad. Console them with caresses, if you please. Then also catch the meaning of the lesson you have had, that's taken from the modern A, B, C's.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 6—MISTER FUZZ WUZZ BECKONS

"OH, DEAR, I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU TWINS AGAIN," HE SAID

"Oh, I know what we'll do!" cried Nancy as the Twins sailed along through the air on Daddy Gander's magic dust-pan. "We'll go and ask the Green Wizard who lives in the tree tops. He has a magic gazing ball. He ought to know where we can find the House-That-Jack-Built."

"That is a very good idea," said Daddy Gander. "But first of all will you look at my eyes and see if my glasses are on straight?"

"Yes, they are, Daddy," said Nancy. "Why?"

"Because I see something most unusual going on in that stump down there," said Daddy. "It looks like a queer sort of person, and as though he were waving to us. Am I mistaken or not?"

Both Twins peeped over the edge of the dust-pan and suddenly Nick cried out, "It's Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man. Oh, we'll have to stop and say how do you do, won't we, Nancy?

"Well," said Daddy Gander, "if you must you must, but all I've got to say is that we never get any place we start for. First we start for a mountain and wind up in an elevator in a silly sort of place in the sky. Now we start for the Green Wizard's house in the tree tops and we have to stop and say polite things to a pipe-cleaner man. What's he called a pipe-cleaner man for anyway? And why Mister Fuzz Wuzz?"

"He is all fuzzy and he's made out of long wire pipe cleaners," said Nick. "But he is far more important than he looks. He is the king of Doofunny Land!"

"My, oh my!" said Daddy Gander straightening his tie. "Is he as much as all that? We'd better stop then and shake his hand. Where is Doofunny Land and what it does mean?"

"Doofunny Land is down the stump," said Nancy. "And the people are queer. They are just odds and ends. Mostly odds."

Daddy Gander parked his magic dust-pan behind some bushes and they all went up to the stump where Mister Fuzz Wuzz was waiting.

"Oh, dear, I'm so glad to see you Twins again," he said. "I certainly couldn't believe my old pipe-cleaner eyes when I saw you gallivanting around through the sky just now. The House-That-Jack-Built?" Lost? You don't say so! Why don't you all come to Doofunny Land and ask all the Doofunny people about it?"

"That's a very good idea, indeed," said Daddy Gander. "They come from all parts of the earth so they ought to know something about it."

Down they went through the stump and there they were in Doofunny Land.

The first person they met was Miss Pithers, the yarn lady.

"The House-That-Jack Built!" she exclaimed. "You mean Jack-in-the-Box, I suppose."

"Oh, no," said Nancy. "Nothing like that."

"That's the only one I know of," said Miss Pithers, passing on.

"The-House-That-Jack-Built?" exclaimed the Cut-Out Lady. "I never knew that the Jumping Jack was a carpenter."

"Oh, I know!" said the Saw Horse. "Jack used me to lay his board on. So it is gone! If anyone in Doofunny Land has seen it, I'll let you know."

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

BACK FROM PLEASANT TOUR OF EUROPE

After a two months' tour of points of interest in Europe, John T. Burns, the well known letter carrier, has returned to this city and in an interview with a Sun representative today, gave a few impressions of his visit.

Ireland, England, France and the other countries visited, impressed him greatly, but the part of the trip which he enjoyed most of all was his visit to Rome, where he was fortunate enough to secure an audience with His Holiness, the pope.

"Rome," he said, "was the goal to which we were heading on our visit to Italy. Its wonders in a religious and historic sense of course are beyond description. Sufficient to say we looked with veneration at the magnificence of St. Peter's and upon the ruins of ancient Rome, and also visited many of the beautiful cathedrals and museums which dot the city.

"We were very fortunate," he continued, "in having the privilege of an audience with Pope Pius XI, arranged through the influence of Edward Hearn, who is in charge of K. of C. activities. The Holy Father appeared to be in excellent health and he gave a short address to the group of pilgrims before him."

The visit to Ireland was greatly enjoyed by Mr. Burns and the members of his party, and from observation gathered there he believes the new government is functioning well.

"Ireland," he said, "was delightful. A very severe rainy season though had set back the crops and practically ruined the turf supply which will make the fuel question an expensive one this winter. The new government appears to be functioning well, although high taxes are a strain on the people who are just about able to make a living.

"Our party spent a week in London," he continued, "and this city certainly appeared to be prosperous. Theatres were filled every evening and the shops were well patronized.

"From London we went to Holland, visiting Amsterdam, which is a beautiful city and as clean as a whistle. It has 80 canals, crossed by 300 substantial bridges. The people are very cordial and our party had no trouble in making its wants known. We also visited the Hague and inspected the royal palace.

"From the Hague we went to Belgium, visiting Brussels, which is another beautiful city, and from there went to Paris. This is a wonderful city for the tourist, chock-full of historic monuments and buildings ancient and modern. We visited churches, museums and churches again, and then went to Versailles to see the palace of the kings. One could not describe the beauties of this palace satisfactorily, it is marvelous beyond words.

"The night life of Paris," he continued, "made a very poor impression on our party. The sidewalks are lined with cafes and everyone buys a little wine and sits at a table on the walk with friends and reviews the passing throng."

The shortage of good cigars in Europe bothered Mr. Burns. He likes a good smoke but found he couldn't get it anywhere on the continent. "Good cigars," he said, "are unknown in Paris, in fact they are scarce throughout Europe. There are few cigar stores that are any good and they carry but a small stock at best for the government has a monopoly on tobacco and the people, as usual, get the short end of it.

"Switzerland," which was next on our itinerary, is a beautiful country with scenery beyond comparison. Snow capped mountains rise almost perpendicularly for thousands of feet from the edges of beautiful lakes, and their peaks are oft-times hidden in the clouds. A ride on one of the lake steamers is an experience never to be forgotten."

The party arrived in Italy in October and found the weather just right for pleasure. The country appealed to Mr. Burns, but he was astonished to see men and women working side by side on the farms. Finally the party arrived in Rome and, after a satisfactory visit there, boarded the steamer and returned to this country. He was accompanied on the trip by his brother, Joseph W. Burns.

BLINDING SNOWSTORM IN EASTERN CANADA

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—Marine activities have been stilled by a blinding snowstorm sweeping the eastern Canada coast, according to advices from Belle Isle, with no signs of abatement. Two liners are reported at anchor awaiting clearer weather before proceeding.

RECOGNITION OF SOVIET BY FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Official recognition of the soviet Russian government by France is now said in official circles to be a matter of but a few days, responsible persons practically admitting that the insistence of the Russians upon unqualified recognition has delayed the decision but that it will not prevent early recognition.

DAWES SPEAKS IN BROOKLYN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles G. Dawes will bring his speaking campaign as republican candidate for vice president into New York tonight with an address in Brooklyn.

Mr. Dawes continued today his endeavor to get as much rest as possible in preparation for the more strenuous final days of the campaign. He remained at the home of C. A. Hanna, a friend, in Montclair, N. J., and declined all invitations and avoided all conferences.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL CHRISTMAS FAIR

At a meeting of the Junior Patrons of the Old Ladies' Home held in Kitson hall yesterday afternoon with Miss Gertrude Carmichael in the chair, plans were made for the annual Christmas fair to be held on Dec. 6. Several matters of major importance were discussed and plans made for raising funds which will be used to advantage for the women of the home. Mrs. E. T. Shaw, president of the Senior Patrons, was the guest of the afternoon. Miss M. Secor, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Lambert, treasurer, read their reports, while Miss Eunice Cook, vice president, offered helpful suggestions in conducting the fair, as did Mrs. Rodrigue Mignault.

HELD HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Kamn-stee club, composed of members of the student body of the Lowell Normal school held a very pretty Halloween party last night at the home of Miss Winifred Lester on Highland avenue. About 15 couples were present. The party took the form of a barn dance, the barn being decorated with autumn leaves and cornstalks with the orange and black streamers bringing in the Halloween effect. Pumpkins were also used. Garrett McAdams and Alice Bushner entertained with banjo and ukulele numbers and also played for dancing. The party broke up at a seasonable hour. The success of the party was to a great extent due to the efforts of the Misses Mary Frawley, Miriam Lannan, Alice Bushner, Cassie McSorley, Hazel McHale, Barbara McAdams and Margaret Carney.

ORDER OF DE MOLAY

On Sunday evening the local chapter of the Order of De Molay, composed of young men between the ages of 16 and 21 years, and sponsored by the Masonic fraternity, will make its first public appearance by attending service at St. Anne's Episcopal church. Chapter members, accompanied by the advisory council and fathers of the boys, will march to the church from Masonic Temple at 6.30 p. m. Rev. Appleton Grannis, rector, will deliver an address pertaining to the order and its tenets.

DEAN ACADEMY BEATEN

In a fiercely contested game in Norwood yesterday, between the Dean Academy eleven and Dartmouth '28, the latter won by the score of 9 to 6. Dean Academy was leading, 6 to 3, when, with three minutes to go, a Dartmouth back broke through the entire Dean team and with a beautiful 55 yard run registered a touchdown. It was a thrilling game throughout. "Pete" Sheehan, local boy, who is on the Dean eleven, played an end position for a short time during the game. Sheehan has been out of the infirmary but a few days where he was laid up with a leg injury. Today the Dean Academy played Salem.

ment he issued upon his return from those states last night.

The flat statement that "the democratic party will win the presidential election" was made last night by Mr. Davis, upon his return here from a final campaign tour of middle western states.

Mr. Davis, in a formal statement, declared further that "personal contact with the voters has demonstrated that they will not excuse the corruption and mal-administration that has prevailed at Washington during the recent years of republican misrule."

It was also positively asserted that, in addition to the victory he claimed for the national ticket, the democrats "will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

Lower Taxes Promised

Among the "reforms" promised by Mr. Davis are revision of the tariff, reduced taxes, international cooperation, improved inland waterways and farm legislation.

Efforts of his political opponents to bolster up their cause by suggesting danger of the election going into the house, Mr. Davis said, had been investigated, with the result that "more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured."

"Panic-stricken, the republican leaders are frantically working night and day circulating propaganda by means of so-called polls which are preposterous on their face and defeat their purpose because the exaggeration is so manifest.

"They solemnly assure the people that their real race for the presidency is not between President Coolidge and myself but between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Bryan. This bogey man may brighten members of the republican party, but it certainly does not alarm the democracy.

"Republicans Rent"

"It has this effect, however; it proves conclusively that the republican leaders have been compelled to launch a forlorn hope attack in an effort to reclaim some of the states in which from one end of the country to the other. It does not take any great familiarity with political affairs to understand that such heavy increases bode ill to the party in power.

"When the voters are satisfied it is a very hard task to get them to take an interest in politics. They see little reason for a change, and defy the efforts of the party workers to persuade them to qualify to discharge their duties at the polls.

"This year, however, we find reported an increased registration that has astonished the wisest of politicians. It is not confined to any particular section. Everywhere the story is the same—the men and women of the country have registered to do their part in ordering a change in conditions.

Denies Deadlock Possible

"While our opponents are endeavoring to bolster their cause by suggesting the danger of the election going into the house, there is not a single democrat who has investigated the situation who does not feel that as a result of the drift in the west and the central west more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured.

"For weeks the voters have waited to be taken into the confidence of the administration and told in what manner any change can come after March 4.

"That has not been possible for more than a year. The voter is inclined to accept past performances as the promise for the future, and he or she will not be misled by specious statements that do not square with what actually has been done.

"It is because these things have been brought directly home to me through personal contact with thousands of voters that I have not the slightest hesitancy in unqualifiedly declaring that I will be elected Nov. 4. In addition, the democrats will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

La Follette Cannot Win

"He knows that it is impossible for Senator La Follette to obtain the 266 votes needed to make him the choice of the electoral college. He cannot support Mr. Coolidge simply on the assurance that there will be some kind of a change at Washington after March 4 next should the republican candidate be elected.

"The independent voter has no other choice. He realizes that it is only through the democratic party that reform of the character demanded may be secured. He realizes that we can win and that we have the will to win.

"He knows that it is impossible for the La Follette movement has made headway.

"The very fact that the democratic party is united, harmonious and undivided from ocean to ocean, while the republican party is rent in twain by dissensions, is proof sufficient for our claims of success. In addition, the great mass of independent voters realize that their only hope of bringing about the reforms which are so vitally necessary to the national welfare is through supporting the democratic ticket in the coming election.

INDICATIONS THAT DAVIS WILL CARRY N. Y. STATE NOW APPARENT

Senator Copeland Says Enthusiasm for Davis and Smith is Unprecedented—Prediction That State Will Give Davis 200,000 Plurality

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—New York state will give John W. Davis a plurality of 200,000. Governor Alfred E. Smith will carry the state over Theodore Roosevelt by 350,000 to 400,000. This is the prediction of United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, who has in the last few weeks campaigned over a large part of the Empire state.

"In the campaign last week," said Senator Copeland, "I covered the same territory over which I traveled in the corresponding week two years ago. We thought we had splendid meetings in 1922 but I am sure that I state a fact when I say that the meetings this year were four times as large.

"I have never witnessed greater enthusiasm for the democratic ticket than I have seen during this campaign. We hear reports that certain groups are disaffected. I have seen no indication of it outside of the Germans who are voting for La Follette, and a limited portion of labor that is going the same way, all the real democrats are throwing up their hats for Davis.

"Everywhere I go I am advised that La Follette sentiment is rapidly fading. His attacks on the supreme court, and the recollection of the uniformly friendly attitude of the democratic party to labor, have brought back to the democratic fold many thousands who had at first been inclined to vote for the republican insurgent.

"I was told of many large meetings where men, women and children had gone out of curiosity to take a look at Teddy Roosevelt. Having taken the look, I am informed they were disappointed and have decided to keep Governor Smith at Albany. Everywhere I found republicans dissatisfied with the nomination of a man so inexperienced and so young, and they are going to vote for Alfred E. Smith. Likewise, I talked with many republicans who are so dissatisfied at the callousness of the republican party with regard to the oil scandals that they are eager to punish the party which has so signally failed to live up to its obligations.

"If I am any judge at all of political conditions, I should say that Governor Smith will carry the state by from 350,000 to 400,000.

"With such defections as I have noticed, Mr. Davis' majority will not be so large but I feel confident he will carry the state by 200,000.

"The counties I have visited include Clinton, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Essex and Lewis and others in the northeastern section of the state—normally republican territory but now Al Smith strongholds. We had overflow meetings everywhere, and at all these meetings hundreds remained in the hall afterward to talk it over. There is a determination on the part of the people that good government shall be restored at Washington and retained at Albany through the election of John W. Davis and the re-election of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

"Furthermore, all advices I receive indicate that Governor Smith will have a democratic legislature and the new congress will have a democratic majority."

Velvet evening frocks with matching evening capes are very gorgeous and colorful and lovely for the theatre or opera.

PLAN HALLOWEEN PARTY IN LIBERTY HALL

The plans for the Halloween party to be given under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women in Liberty hall on Oct. 30th, are nearing completion. Miner-Doyle's orchestra has been secured and there is every indication that this party will be particularly enjoyable. The committee in charge will be assisted by the following aides:

GIRL SCOUTS WILL PERFECT RALLY PLANS

The Girl Scout officers of the city will meet in Middlesex hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of completing plans for the annual rally to be held in Memorial Auditorium Saturday, Nov. 1.

Much interest is being shown in this rally and an elaborate program of scout work in general will be given the Girl Scouts of Greater Lowell. A feature of the program will be the Melrose Drum and Bugle Corps, which will execute various numbers which will be of interest to all attending.

An extensive pageant of Girl Scout activities with all the members of the Greater Lowell council participating will be given. Capt. Hill of Troop 3 will read the theme, while Scout Marjorie Willard of the same troop will interpret "Youth." Miss Julia Fox of Dracut will be the accompanist.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Auditorium a rehearsal for the rally program will be held.

Next Sunday, will be observed as "Go-to-Church" Sunday by the Girl Scouts in observance of the birthday of Mrs. Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of America. Members will attend their respective churches in uniform. In some churches special programs will be given. Rev. Charles H. Ellis, pastor of the Central Baptist church, has invited the Chelmsford troop to attend the special evening services to be held in that church. The pastor will speak on various phases of scout work.

VISITORS AT THE TEXTILE SCHOOL

Lowell Textile school was the host to fifty members of the Overseers association of the Arlington mills, Lawrence, yesterday afternoon, and the guests were taken in small groups, with competent guides, through the whole school plant.

The trip had been arranged by Chairman Shirley H. Pulsifer, Secretary Silas Thomas and Edward Wolfendale of the overseers association and President Charles H. Eames of the school. The guests thoroughly enjoyed their trip and, upon its conclusion, complimented the school officials for the important part they are filling well in preparing young men for the textile industry.

MEETING AT THE VARNUM SCHOOL

The parents of seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Varnum school are cordially invited by the principal, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, to be present at a meeting to be held in the school hall on Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The meeting will be an informal one. Matters of interest relative to work of the school year will be discussed and an opportunity given the parents to meet the teachers of their children.

tory. Prominent speakers have been secured by the republican city committee and Aitken's 339th F.A. band will give a concert program to add zest to the occasion.

The committee directing the campaign of Humphrey O'Sullivan, who seeks to oust Hon. John Jacob Rogers from his representative berth in the Fifth congressional district, is missing no opportunity to develop strength for the democratic candidate. The O'Sullivan supporters feel confident of cutting deeply into the congressman's vote in Lowell and are waging a more strenuous campaign in the towns of the district than has been the case for a number of years.

Republicans Will Split Ticket

One feature of the state campaign is the statement from any number of republicans that they plan to vote a split ticket insofar as the contest for state auditor is concerned and will make a determined effort to defeat the G.O.P. nominee, Alonzo B. Cook. Strahe V. Claggett, democratic nominee, will receive plenty of republican votes in this neck of the woods, where he has been heard to advantage on several occasions recently.

While it would seem that Walter Perham of Chelmsford, convention nominee of the republicans to succeed Frank H. Putnam as state senator in the Eighth district, has a distinct advantage, Hon. Henry J. Draper, himself a former senator, is running on stickers and if he can place enough of them in circulation is sure of a sizable democratic vote and he himself is confident of victory.

Another democrat, Cornelius J. O'Neill, attorney-at-law, is making a real bid to break into a republican representative trio in the 15th district served now by Representatives Henry Achin, Jr., Victor F. Jewett and Fred O. Lewis. One of those three places is the aim of Mr. O'Neill and he is thoroughly covering the district in his campaign. As he is the nominee of the democrats his name will duly appear on the ballot.

In the 14th representative district Rep. Charles H. Slowey and Patrick F. Nestor, nominated with him, should win the two available places like breaking sticks. The district is democratic and that tells the complete story.

A contest is being waged merrily in the 16th district, with Daniel F. Moriarty, city councilor; Paul V. Angelo and Charles F. Donahue in a three-cornered fight for one place. Personal solicitation has been the favored line of campaigning in this district and each candidate is putting in good licks.

Long Ballot Will Take Up Time

Two reasons stood out in back of the request recently filed by Rep. Henry Achin, Jr., with the election commissioners for an extension of voting hours from 4 to 8 p. m.—first, the probability of a record vote, and second, an unusually long ballot which will take considerable time to mark properly and completely. The commission has acted favorably upon the request, by the way, and the polls on Nov. 4 will be open for 12 hours, from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

On the ballot will be seven referenda, several of which have aroused considerable interest and will be voted upon most generally. Among these are the daylight saving referendum, the liquor or prohibition question, the 2-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax and the question of the employment of persons less than 18 years of age at any sort of labor.

Referendum No. 1 on the ballot in simplified form asks the following question: Do you favor striking out the word "male" in that part of the constitution which specifies what qualifications a voter must have in order to vote for governor, lieutenant-governor, senators or representatives, so that women citizens also will come under the provision? This is to bring our state constitution into conformity with the federal constitution and has been given the unanimous approval of both houses of the Massachusetts legislature.

Referendum No. 2 is more or less closely related to No. 1 and also is for the purpose of conformity between state and national constitutions. It asks the question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution making it possible for women to hold any state, county or municipal office? Both houses of the state legislature have unanimously approved it.

Referendum No. 3 is the so-called "liquor" question and its passage would make similar the state and federal prohibition laws. In simple form the referendum asks this question: Do you favor a law, passed by the Massachusetts legislature and signed by the governor which provides that no person shall manufacture, transport, import or export intoxicating liquor containing more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol without a permit from the United States authorities?

Referendum No. 4 is the gasoline tax question and simplified is as follows: Do you favor the payment by purchasers of a two-cent tax on each gallon of gasoline and other fuel used for driving motor vehicles on the highways if one-half of the money so raised will be spent on the construction and maintenance of public highways within city or town limits and the other half on highways designated by the state department of public works?

Referendum No. 5 is a financial matter and off hand, probably will not be voted upon very generally. It asks the following question: Do you favor a law which provides that persons who desire to engage or become financially interested in the business of receiving deposits of money for safe-keeping or for the purpose of transmitting the same or equivalents thereof to foreign countries, shall file an indemnity bond with the state treasurer for the benefit of depositors and shall obtain a license from the bank commissioner to carry on such business, the license to be revocable for cause?

Referendum No. 6 asks the question, shall daylight saving be retained by law in Massachusetts? and is expected to call for a tremendous expression of opinion.

Referendum No. 7 is the labor amendment relative to the employment of persons under 18 years of age. In simplified form it asks the following question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States which empowers congress to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of boys and girls under 18 years of age and which provides that laws passed thereunder by congress, when in conflict with state laws, shall prevail?

COMMITTEES REPORT ON ARMISTICE BALL

At a meeting of the general committee of Lowell Post 87, American Legion, in charge of arrangements for the annual Armistice ball, last evening in veterans' quarters of the Memorial Auditorium, very satisfactory reports of progress were received from the various sub-committees. The ball will be held the evening of Armistice day, Nov. 11, in the Memorial Auditorium, and it is planned to make this year's the biggest and best in the history of the post.

The entertainment committee, Bernard Horan, chairman, reported that the Braggiotti sisters, Boston society girls and exponents of classic dancing, will give several of their creations. The music committee reported that a 15-piece orchestra has been engaged to play from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Over 100 socially prominent women have promised to serve as patronesses, according to James F. Conway, chairman of the reception committee, and Dana Palmer, for the guest committee, reported that representatives of the army, navy and marine corps and all veterans' organizations have been invited to attend and that invitations will be sent the governor, lieutenant-governor, Congressman Rogers, Gen. Adelbert Ames and the trustees of the Auditorium. For the decorations committee, George Budd announced that a local decorator has been engaged to work out a novel color scheme for the ball.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Oct. 30.

"Maybe you men can tell us where we have landed," said the aviator. "Well, you're right in one of the wildest parts of India," came the reply. Then the horsemen explained that they were out on a wild boar hunt. "But I'd much rather take a plane ride," said one of them. (Continued.)

Legal Notices

To the Honorable the Judges of the Land Court:

Respectfully represents Effie M. Park, of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, that she is the owner in fee simple of a parcel of land with buildings thereon situate in said Lowell, on the northwesterly side of Riverside street, and thus bounded:

Southeasterly by Riverside street seventy (70) feet; southwesterly by lands of Frank J. Slavin, Cora B. Horne and James D. Horne, now or formerly, two hundred twenty-six (226) feet, more or less; northwesterly by land of William H. and Marie L. Moreau, now or formerly, seventy-five (75) feet; and northeasterly by other land of your petitioner two hundred twenty-four and 20-100 (224.20) feet.

That the record title of said land is encumbered by an undischarged mortgage given by Abner H. Marshall to J. F. Alderman, dated April 2, 1860, and recorded in Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, in Book 24, Page 92, which mortgage was assigned by said J. F. Alderman to Amariah A. Tuft, by assignment dated April 9, 1861, and recorded in said Registry in Book 30, Page 167; that said mortgagor and those having his estate in said land, have had uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time for the full performance of the conditions of said mortgage; that no payment on account of the debt secured by said mortgage has been made, and no act in recognition of its existence as a valid mortgage has been done within said twenty years.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that a decree be entered, reciting the facts and findings and that no action to enforce a title under said mortgage shall hereafter be maintained, and that said mortgage be discharged upon the records.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Paul Vigeant and Virginie Vigeant, wife of said Paul Vigeant, to her own right, both of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to Margaret W. Merrill, of said Lowell, dated December 15, 1923, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book 697, Page 581, which mortgage was assigned by said Merrill to the Lowell Trust Company by assignment dated March 12, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 703, Page 151, and reassigned by said Lowell Trust Company to said Merrill by assignment dated October 14, 1924, and duly recorded in said Registry, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described, on THURSDAY, the THIRTEENTH DAY of NOVEMBER, A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows: Except that portion thereof which was released from the operation of said mortgage deed by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant, by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48. Said premises are described in said mortgage deed as follows: The land in said Lowell, with the buildings thereon, situated on the northerly side of Moody Street and the westerly side of Tilden Street, containing fourteen thousand two hundred sixty-two and 50-100 square feet, more or less, and bounded and described as follows: beginning at a point on the westerly side of Tilden Street which is southerly of and three feet distant from the southeasterly corner of land conveyed by the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack River to Seth Chellis by deed dated July 28, 1843, and at land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Madden; thence running southerly by said Tilden Street one hundred sixty-three feet to said Moody Street; thence westerly at a right angle by said Moody Street eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to land supposed to belong now or formerly to James Saunders; thence northerly at a right angle by said Saunders land and land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Dempsey one hundred sixty-three feet to said Madden land; thence easterly at a right angle by said Madden land eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to the point of beginning. Being all and the same premises to said Virginie Vigeant conveyed by Margaret W. Merrill by deed dated October 25, 1923, and recorded in said Registry of Deeds, Book 698, Page 139, and subject to the restriction in said deed contained or referred to.

That portion of said premises released by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48, as aforesaid is thus bounded and described: A certain piece or parcel of land containing six thousand five hundred and twenty-eight square feet situated on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street, and thus bounded and described: beginning at a point on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street distant eighty-three feet northeasterly from its intersection with the northeasterly side of Moody Street; thence at a right angle northwesterly eighty-one and 6-10 feet, more or less; thence at a right angle northeasterly eighty feet; thence at a right angle southeasterly eighty-one and 6-10 feet, more or less, to said Tilden Street; thence at a right angle southwesterly on said Tilden Street eighty feet to the point of beginning, and be said contents or any or all of said measurements more or less, and however otherwise said premises may be measured, bounded or described. Being Lots Three (3) and Four (4) on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Lowell, Mass., belonging to Paul Vigeant, Surveyed Oct., 1923, Henry O. Brooks, Civil Engr.," and recorded in said Registry, Book of Plans 43, Plan 92. The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to a mortgage to the City Institution for Savings, upon which there is due the principal sum of $7000.—and accumulated interest, and also to any and all taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay $500 in cash at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at twelve o'clock noon.

MARGARET W. MERRILL,
Present holder of said mortgage.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts— Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Joanna Walsh, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Thomas H. Pinder, administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of a certain parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County, on the eleventh day of November, A.D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

CHARLES N. HARRIS, Register.

Abutters Waive Rights to Land Damages—Ordinances Defining Status of City Engineer Referred to Committee—White Way for Upper Merrimack Street

An order appropriating $125,000 for the erection of a bridge over Beaver Brook at Coolidge street, with the necessary viaduct approaches, was passed unanimously by the city council last evening after a hearing which had been called to ascertain if the abutters would waive right to land damages resulting from the bridge construction, and 18 residents of the district waived their rights to damages.

Atty. Cornelius J. O'Neill, representing several of the abutters, spoke in favor of the bridge. In the course of his address he said that he had heard that the reason for the hearing was to afford an opportunity to delay action until after the primaries, and said that immediate action should be taken so that the matter could go to the mayor for his approval or disapproval at once.

William N. Goodell, representing the Locks and Canals, was the only person to speak when the hearing was opened for objectors to the plan. He said his company was neither an objector nor a proponent, but wished to ask if the $125,000 represented in the order was all that would be necessary. The Locks and Canals, he said, have no plan concerning the sale of its property to the city and said the completion of the proposed bridge will benefit its land. But, he said, the company engineers believe the cost of the bridge and approaches as outlined in the plan would be merely a starting point. When the work is finished, he said, you will have a bridge and causeway standing 20 feet or so in the air. How much then, he asked, will it cost to complete the work through to Riverside street and the other main highway approaches. He suggested in conclusion that a thorough investigation of the engineering proposition in regard to the bridge be gone into before any action was taken towards building the bridge.

Councilors Lambert, Genest, Chretien, Daly, McFadden, Dickson and Cosgrove spoke briefly in favor of immediate action and Councilor McFadden asked Mr. Goodell why he hadn't appeared at a previous hearing to state his objections.

Mr. Goodell replied that up to last night's hearing, his company had not had an opportunity to view plans of the proposed structure.

Councilor Chretien moved the immediate passage of the order, Councilor Lambert seconding, and it was carried unanimously.

Councilor Chretien stated that an agreement had been reached between objectors to the plan of placing type B white way lights in upper Merrimack street and the electric light corporation, and moved that the latter corporation be notified to go ahead with its work in that district.

On motion of Councilor Stearns, due record was made on the minutes of the meeting concerning the replacal a year ago of the bronze Victory statue in Monument square by the late Frederick Fanning Ayer, son of the donor of the original statue.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

NAVY DAY BOAT RACE OFFICIALS NAMED

Officials for the Navy Day boat races to be conducted on the Merrimack river tomorrow afternoon as part of the Lowell Navy club's celebration of the day, were announced today. It was also announced that a free-for-all canoe race, open to any canoeist in the city who cares to enter, will be one of the feature events and that a beautiful silver cup will be awarded the winner.

The list of officials is headed by Mayor Donovan as starter, Commodore Jas. H. Walker, Captain Prouty, Fred Shaw and Arthur Picard as inspectors, and Hon. John J. Rogers, S. C. Gorrity and Capt. W. T. White, as judges.

The Navy Day observance will begin with a parade from the Auditorium to the Pawtucket Boat club, starting at 1.15 o'clock. In line will be a band, the Lowell Navy club, and delegations from the Lynn and Lawrence Navy clubs.

Upon arrival at the boat house at about 2 o'clock, the free-for-all canoe races will be started and will be followed by a special race between two four-paddled canoes manned by members of the Winchester Boat club.

The final event of the afternoon will be a three-cornered cutter race between teams representing the Lowell, Lawrence and Lynn Navy clubs.

Silver cups will be awarded the winners in each event. The cups were donated by the Sterling Jewelry Shop, the Prince-Cotter Co., Wood-Abbot Co., Frank Picard and Willis Peltier.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASE

After a two-hour early morning vigil in the cellar of a tenement at 62 Charles street today, Officers William F. Liston and John J. Leahey arrested James F. Dolan of that address on a charge of illegally keeping liquor. The defendant was arraigned in district court this morning and on a plea of not guilty, he was continued in $300 until Nov. 4.

It was 6 o'clock this morning when the officers gained admittance to defendant's cellar. From behind a pile of wood they claim to have seen him in the operation of procuring liquor from a secret hiding place. They allege also that he admitted selling the stuff for one dollar a pint.

HELD FOR FEDERAL COURT

prompin program of sports, target practice and, topping off everything else, a delicious buffet luncheon. The target practice session of the program appeared to be the most popular with the veterans, many who held sharpshooters' ratings while in the service being anxious to cuddle a Springfield-Enfield army rifle again in their arms and try their skill at the ranges.

The veterans will return to this city shortly before 5 o'clock and gather again in the veterans' quarters of the Auditorium, where the business meeting will be held with President Thomas J. Godley of Fitchburg, in the chair. The business meeting will extend over a period of an hour, and for an hour following the boys of '98 will enjoy themselves as they please, swapping stories of campaign days and renewing friendships made on the weary marches in Porto Rico, where the regiment put in most of its active duty during the war.

The climax of the reunion will come at 7 o'clock, when the annual reunion will be held in Liberty hall. Among the invited guests are Mayor Donovan, President Fisher of the chamber of commerce, Royal P. White of the Rotary club, commanders of veterans' organizations in this city, Hon. Chas. A. Allen and Gen. Adelbert Ames.

Following the dinner, an entertainment will be given as follows: Selections by the Mendelssohn male quartet of this city; solos by Mrs. Nettie Roberts and, Miss Etta B. Thompson; Scotch songs and wit by James F. Donnelly; boxing exhibitions by the Clancy twins and by Young McKenzie and Peter Salley of the Boys' club and various entertainment features by members of the organization.

The committee in charge of the event follows: Frank Dodge, chairman; Alexander D. Mitchell, secretary and treasurer; Arthur F. Salmon, honorary member of the organization; Colby T. Kittredge, Willard D. Pratt, Gardner W. Pearson, Charles J. Duffy, William M. Prescott, P. Henry Driscoll, Frank A. Boyle and Walter R. Jeyes, all members of either Company C or G of the Sixth Regiment association.

Mexican Government Closes Its Consulates in Britain

London Not Notified

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The British government has not been informed of the decision of the Mexican government to close all of its consulates in Great Britain, but the foreign office takes the view that this step will have little effect and probably will not result in the recall of the British officials now in Mexico.

In official circles it is pointed out that no negotiations have been going on between Great Britain and Mexico for the latter's recognition since the breaking down of the informal conversations last spring.

Meantime the British had no diplomatic representatives in Mexico, maintaning consul corps, which the decision of the foreign minister will not affect.

The viewpoint here is that, pending overtures by Mexico, Great Britain cannot take any steps looking towards recognition. It was expected that President-elect Calles, on his recent European trip, might have again brought up the question but he sailed for home, announcing he would not visit England.

The Mexican consulate-general in London has received orders to close all the Mexican consular offices in Great Britain on Nov. 1, the instructions setting forth the reasons which already have been made public in Mexico City. The London office was not informed whether the order would apply to the British dominions.

At the present time there is no heavy shipping between Great Britain and Mexico but the withdrawal of the offices in the dominions might be expected have some affect on trade.

PRINCE OF WALES SAILS, TO RETURN IN 1926

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Plowing her way across the Atlantic ocean this morning the White Star liner Olympic is bearing the Prince of Wales back to England with souvenirs and memories of his American visit. He was a little wistful as he looked for the last time at the jagged skyline of New York.

Before sailing he promised to return in 1926. Next year he is going to South Africa. Friends of the prince said that when he returns to the United States, it will not be on a pleasure jaunt but rather on a self-educating mission. He wants to study the great industrial plants, the people and the politics of the United States, they said.

A score of reporters boarded the vessel at her pier soon after the prince and his staff had hurried up the gang plank. He bantered with them and posed for photographers willingly, though he still showed a little embarrassment.

On the ship he was greeted by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and Captain Howarth, commander of the Olympic. He was led through lines of sailors to the suite that had been reserved for him. He thought the mahogany and gold finish "too pretty" for him and turned it over to G. M. F. Trottier and took another, done in white and gold, for himself.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Myrtle Blanchard was recently tendered a birthday party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Ryan in Bye street, on the second anniversary of her birth. Beautiful gifts, among them being a gold locket and chain, the gift of her parents were received.

Among the features of the evenings entertainment were piano solos by Mrs. James Ryan and Miss Annie Keefe, songs by Mrs. John Blanchard and Mrs. John Keefe, recitations by Master Raymond Keefe and Master Fred Blanchard, and solos and dance numbers by Leon Vino, John Hogan and James Ryan. Refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable time was had by all.

WALTER E. PARKER DEAD

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—Walter E. Parker, agent emeritus of the Pacific mills here and in Dover, N. H., died early today at his home on Haverhill street in his 78th year. Born September 27, 1847, in Princeton, Mass., he early learned the mill business and for several years was employed in the Social mills in Woonsocket, R. I. He came to Lawrence in 1881 and was made superintendent of the cotton department of the Pacific mills. During the ten-year period that followed he practically rebuilt the mills, installed modern machinery and literally put it on its feet. In 1892 he was made agent of all the Pacific mills in this city, a position he held actively until March 1, 1920, when Irving W. Southworth, who had been agent of the Pacific mills in the south, was made assistant agent of the local mills and assumed many of Mr. Parker's duties. He became agent emeritus on January 31, 1921.

Mr. Parker was connected with many organizations of mill men and for years was president of the Essex savings bank here and the Lawrence City Mission. He was a trustee of Tufts College and in 1920 made that college a gift of $50,000.

Mr. Parker was four times married.

ESCAPED FROM LYMAN SCHOOL

The Lowell police have been notified that Cyril J. Morrison of 226 Cross street, this city, escaped from the Lyman school in Westboro on Oct. 21.

TO HOLD BOY ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

As the result of the death yesterday of James Harrington, 68 years old, of 74 Maple street, a manslaughter charge will be preferred against 16-year-old Ralph Laprise, alleged driver of the truck which struck and caused the death of the aged man last Friday night.

The victim of the accident died last night in the Lowell Corporation hospital after hovering between life and death since the night of the accident. As the incident was not reported to the police, the driver of the truck was not known until last Thursday night when Laprise was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch. He was arraigned in juvenile court yesterday on charges of driving a motor vehicle without a license, and going away without making himself known after causing injury to person. He was continued in $300 until next Friday, when he will face the more serious charge of manslaughter.

In connection with the same case, Louis R. Trudel, by whom Laprise was employed as truck driver at the time of the accident, and his wife, Margaret Trudel, were arraigned in district court this morning, the man for allowing an automobile to be operated by a person without right, and the woman, in whose name the machine is registered, for allowing a motor vehicle to be operated by a person without legal right to do so. Both pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until Nov. 21.

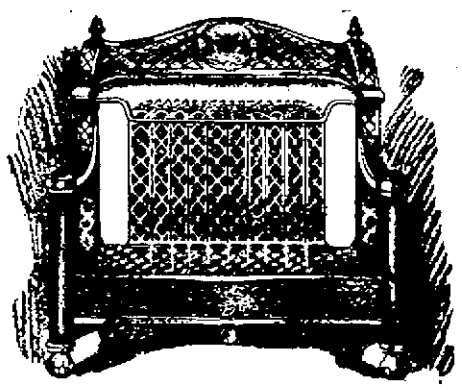

ARRESTED FOR THE ALBANY POLICE

Thomas Noon of this city was arrested last night for the Albany police on the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he stole $140 from his brother on Oct. 18 while visiting in Albany. He will be taken to Albany to face the charge.

"Obvious Forgery"

LONDON, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press)—Christian Rakovsky, soviet Russian charge d'affaires at London, today sent a strong protest to the foreign office, characterizing as an "obvious forgery" the propogandistic letter, allegedly signed by M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Third Communication International, which was appended to the protest against alleged Russian propaganda in Great Britain, submitted yesterday by the foreign office to M. Rakovsky.

The Russian diplomat declared that foreign office officials should have recognized the Zinovieff letter as a forgery and he complained that the usual diplomatic procedure of notifying his office before the publication of such a protest as the one made yesterday, was not allowed in this case.

Said To Be For Use In Chinese Tong War — Guns Seized

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Acting on information that 80 revolvers were being shipped here from Philadelphia for use in the Chinese tong war, police of Yonkers and New York city raided a Herriot street house today and arrested 27 Chinese, most of them members of the Hip Sing Tong. Two revolvers and opium smoking outfits were found in the place.

The roundup was the biggest made since tong warfare was started in New York's Chinatown, with similar hostilities in numerous towns and cities in other parts of the country. Two of the men arrested in today's raid were Chinese already under bail to await trial on charges of attempted murder in the Newark tong war.

The police declared that the house raided was a hiding place for Chinese gunmen. They said they had obtained information concerning the supposed shipment of revolvers from two Chinese court interpreters in New York who were members of another tong.

LOWELL GIVES GLAD WELCOME TO MEN WHO SERVED IN '98

The Memorial Auditorium is this noon the goal of over 300 veterans ho marched under the banner of the ixth Massachusetts regiment in the orto Rican campaign of the Spanish-merican war, in 1898, the event be-ng the annual reunion of this fam-us regiment.

The regiment association numbers ver 700, and the annual reunions ave, with but one or two exceptions, lways been held in Boston. Lowell, hrough the efforts of the local mem-ers of the association and the chamber of commerce, succeeded this year being named as the reunion city nd is this afternoon opening her ims to welcome the veterans who arried on" when President McKinley called for men to drive the anlards from Cuba.

Shortly before noon today the first the visiting veterans made their ay to the veterans' quarters of the emorial Auditorium and there signed e registration book of the associa-on. From that time on until 1 clock, members of the association kept arriving in ever increasing numbers until well over 200 had registered for the event, and it is expected another hundred will arrive for the festivities of the late afternoon and the annual banquet this evening.

With registration completed, members of the organization remained at the Auditorium until shortly after 2 o'clock, when they bourded automobiles furnished by the Rotary club and chamber of commerce and started on a tour of the city.

Fort Hill park, Shedd park, and city-owned playgrounds, the Textile school, Normal school, high school and municipal buildings, were viewed in turn by the visitors. Then, turning the machines away from the heart of the city, the procession went up Merrimack street, over the Pawtucket bridge, stopping for a view of the falls and the wide expanse of water above, and then proceeded out Mammoth road and on to the rifle range in Dracut Centre.

SAVES $5000 PAYROLL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25—John Turgeon, 28, saved a payroll of more than $5000 today when the car in which he and his brother, Edward Turgeon, were transporting the money, was attacked by masked bandits. The Turgeon brothers were within a half mile of their destination, when three men in a speedster, Massachusetts registry number 202,290, swooped in front of their automobile, stopped short, jumped out and held up the payroll car at th epoint of a shotgun and revolver. John Turgeon seized the valise containing the money, leaped from the car and dashed off just as his brother brought it to a stop. One of the bandits opened fire at his fleeing form, but the shots went wild and John succeeded in reaching a store in safety with the money intact. The trail of the bandit car was lost by the police after they had followed it to Centerdale.

52,000 People Witness Green-Crimson Gridiron Battle in Harvard Stadium

HARVARD STADIUM, Cambridge, Oct. 25.—Dartmouth and Harvard unbeaten teams, met for their annual game before a crowd of 52,000 persons that filled the stadium and added wooden stands today. The weather was more for baseball than for football.

Captain Bjorkman of Dartmouth won the toss and chose to defend the south goal, Harvard to kick against the wind at the start.

Gehrke's kick-off went over for a touchback. Leavitt gained four yards for Dartmouth on an off-tackle play and was downed by Gehrke.

When Hall was thrown for a yard loss Dartmouth elected to kick and Hall punted to Harvard's 40 yard line, from which Cheek ran it back 8 yards.

Hammond was thrown without gain and Miller pushed the ball forward three yards. Then Hammond punted to Fallon on Dartmouth's ten yard line. The run back was three yards. Hall added two more and Oberlander went through Harvard's left side for a three-yard gain. Hall kicked outside on Harvard's 43 yard line.

After Hammond had been thrown without gain and Miller rushed five yards, Hammond kicked again. Fallon's run back was stopped after one yard by Kilgour.

Green Recovers Fumble

When Hall and Oberlander failed to gain Dartmouth kicked again. Hall's punt was caught by Cheek on Harvard's 45-yard line. He fumbled when he was downed at the 35-yard line and Diehl recovered for Dartmouth. A forward pass, Hall to Bjorkman, brought the ball to Harvard's 43-yard line, where Cheek brought down the Dartmouth captain.

Field Goal Attempt Fails

Dartmouth men made a series of rushes that tore through Harvard's line. Leavitt slipped through tackle for an 8-yard gain. Then he tore past the Harvard left end for a first down on Harvard's 22 yard line. Hall added two yards, but on a forward pass attempt Cheek downed him for a 5-yard loss. After Fallon had failed to gain Tully tried a goal from field, standing on the 35 yard line, but failed.

Harvard made two tries for gain by rush, but found the Dartmouth line too strong. Then Hammond kicked again to Fallon, who was downed on Dartmouth's 35 yard line. Oberlander and Leavitt could gain only two yards, and Hall kicked to Harvard's 28 yard line, where Cheek made a run back of 13 yards. Miller failed to gain, Oberlander bringing him down. Hammond also was stopped with only a yard advance.

Hammond kicked to Fallon on Dartmouth's 20 yard line and the ball was run back to the 30 yard mark. Hall made two yards on a wide swing. He added another on the same play, Captain Greenough bringing him down. Oberlander made three yards. Then Hall punted to Cheek on Harvard's 27 yard line. The run back was 10 yards.

Bjorkman Goes Ball Hawk

There was a fumble in the Harvard backfield and again Dartmouth recovered, Captain Bjorkman getting the ball on Harvard's 28 yard line.

Oberlander gained a yayrd and Leavitt's rush brought it to Harvard's 23-yard line. An attempted pass failed. A double pass, followed by a forward pass, Oberlander to Bjorkman, planted the ball on Harvard's 5-yard line. Captain Bjorkman was injured and time was called. It was Gehrke who tackled the Dartmouth captain.

Another Drop Kick Failed

Dooley replaced Fallon at quarterback for Dartmouth, supposedly with instructions from the Dartmouth coach. Hall was thrown for a yard loss by Miller. Three assaults on the Harvard line from the 5-yard line mark having failed, Tully went back to try for a field goal. The Harvard forwards pushed him hard and the ball went wide, another failure.

It was Harvard's ball on the 20-yard line. Two Crimson rushes were negative and Hammond kicked to Dooley who ran the ball back to Dartmouth's 47-yard line.

Score first period: Dartmouth 0, Harvard 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Dartmouth was penalized five yards for offside play. Sage replaced Tully at left end for Dartmouth and Theopold took Kilgour's place at left guard for Harvard. It was first down, Dartmouth's ball on her own 42 yard-line. Oberlander made three yards, Leavitt added another.

Hall kicked butside on Harvard's 31 yard line. Spaulding took Cheek's place for Harvard to direct a new offensive. Miller bowled Dartmouth defenders over for a 5 yard smash. Miller rushed again for a 4 yard gain.

Dartmouth Scores Touchdown

The measurement showed Harvard had made first down. Hammond was thrown for a yard loss and then lost two more, running from kick formation. A Harvard forward pass, started by Spaulding, was caught by Holloren, and it was Dartmouth's ball on Harvard's 32 yard line. A Dartmouth forward pass failed and then Hall ran wide for a 20 yard gain, being tackled by Leopold on Harvard's ten yard line. Again Dartmouth was attacking on the crimson threshold. The Green moved the ball up to within a foot of the line, on Oberlander's rush, and Leavitt pushed it over on the next rush. Dooley's try for point by kick failed.

Score: Dartmouth 6, Harvard 0.

Dartmouth was rushing from its 26-yard line a minute later after Gehrke had kicked off over the line for a touchback. Three Dartmouth rushes netted five yards, and Hall punted to Spaulding on Harvard's 45-yard line.

A run back of 10 yards brought the ball in Crimson hands on Dartmouth territory for the first time. Miller threw all defense aside to put the ball on Dartmouth's 27-yard line for first down. The Crimson stands called for a touchdown, and Dartmouth cheerers applauded their team.

Third Crimson Fumble Recovered

Miller was downed without gain on the next rush, then fumbled rushing again. Parker recovered for Dartmouth on the 22 yard line. It was the third green recovery of a Harvard fumble during the game. A five yard rush by Leavitt was the only successful attack in a series of Dartmouth plays. Then Hall punted to Spaulding who downed the ball on Harvard's 39 yard line.

Two rushes by Hammond netted only 3 yards and then the Crimson tried a long forward pass, unsuccessfully. Hammond punted to Dooley, who was downed on Dartmouth's 18 yard line after a seven yard run back.

A penalty set Dartmouth back 5 yards. Stafford replaced Spaulding at quarterback for Harvard. Three Dartmouth rushes, two of them by Oberlander, advanced the ball only 2 yards and Hall punted to Stafford on Dartmouth's 47 yard, the ball being run back to the 43 yard line. The Crimson started a passing attack and a toss from Hammond to Stafford brought the ball to Dartmouth's 10 yard line. The play covered 33 yards. Miller gained two yards and then added three more. The Crimson was now on Dartmouth's four yard line. Coach Fisher sent McGlone in for Stafford. It was third down four yards to gain. The pass from Center Adie bobbed along the ground until Hammond recovered on the 15 yard line where Bjorkman tackled. The Crimson's handling of the ball was the poorest seen in years. Hammond tried a long forward pass, which was grounded. It was Dartmouth's ball on her own 15 yard line.

End of first half—Score: Dartmouth 6, Harvard 0.

THIRD PERIOD

The third period began with Harvard kicking off Gehrke's boot, being picked up by Sage on Dartmouth's 10-yard line and run back to Dartmouth's 27 yard line. One of the changes was the substituting of Maloney for Bjorkman at right end for Dartmouth. After three Dartmouth rushes had developed only nominal gains, Maloney kicked and the ball was downed on Harvard's 20-yard line. Miller gained two yards for the Crimson. Hammond went zigzagging through the line and then tore loose and raced to Dartmouth's 37-yard line before he was downed by Dooley. Miller added four yards. The Crimson was once more in Dartmouth territory. Hammond was downed by Sage without gain.

From third down, Hammond pretended to kick, but rushed instead for only half a yard gain. Standing on Dartmouth's 42-yard line, Stafford tried for a field goal, but the ball rolled along the ground, a failure. A Dartmouth penalty for offside play forced the Green to kick from their 15-yard line, and Stafford ran the ball back 15 yards to Dartmouth's 41-yard line. Miller gained three yards, tackled by Oberlander. The Crimson put a wheel shift in play, but Hammond was downed without gain, Whittaker tackling this time. Hammond stimulated a forward pass, but decided to run, and was downed for a two-yard loss by Smith. Then he punted behind the Dartmouth goal. Dartmouth put the ball in play from their own 20-yard line.

Zarakov replaced Hammond in the Harvard backfield. Oberlander made four yards. Harvard's offside play gave Dartmouth five yards. Oberlander made three yards. Hall was downed without gain and Maloney kicked to Stafford who made a run back of seven yards to Harvard's 33-yard line.

Miller smashed through the Dartmouth line for 25 yards, being downed by Dooley on Dartmouth's 42-yard line. Harvard was pressing its attack in this period, rushing in Green territory for the third time. Dartmouth had been unable to cross midfield, possibly playing safe. Gehrke gained two yards and Zarakov one on line plays and then Zarakov broke through for a 5-yard advance. It was fourth down, two yards to gain for Harvard.

From a wing shift, Gehrke rushed four yards for first down on Dartmouth's 30-yard line. Zarakov gained two yards. A forward pass, Zarakov to Stafford, was fumbled by the latter after he started to run and Dooley recovered to make it Dartmouth's ball on the Green's 35-yard line. Oberlander rushed 15 yards.

It was first down for Dartmouth on their own 30-yard line. Hall was thrown for a two-yard loss. Oberlander gained 5 yards, and then Hall was thrown by Miller for six-yard loss. Dooley kicked to Zarakov at Harvard's 27-yard line and the run back was to Harvard's 40-yard line. Stafford gained two yards. Miller added two more. Gehrke kicked to Dartmouth's 25-yard line where the ball was downed.

Oberlander ran 30 yards to gain eight. Leavitt gained three yards and then Dooley's kick got away just before a Harvard man was on him and Harvard put it in play on their own 45-yrd line. Zarakov gained three yards. Here the period ended.

Score: Dartmouth 6, Harvard 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

The fourth period began with the ball in Harvard's possession on Dartmouth's 47-yard line.

Dartmouth sent in several substitutes. Miller was downed by Diehl without gain and then made two yards before Diehl tackled him again. A forward pass, Zarakov to Stafford, failed. Another forward pass attempted by Zarakov was grounded and it was Dartmouth's ball on downs on their own 36-yard line. Oberlander twice rushed for five-yard gains and for first down. The ball was brought to middield on his next rush of two yards. Hall broke through for an eight-yard advance, and it was first down again on Harvard's 42-yard line. Capt. Greenough was replaced by Condy.

Spaulding intercepted a Dartmouth forward pass, and it was Harvard's ball on their own 20-yard line. Miller was able to gain only a yard each on two rushes in which Harvard used much attempted deception. Zarakov kicked to Dooley on Dartmouth's 25-yard line, and then there was a two-yard run back.

Hall was downed for a yard loss by Robb. Oberlander gained a yard. Dooley kicked outside on Harvard's 46-yard line. Miller was downed for a 5-yard loss by Allen. He gained 3 yards on the next rush, losing an opportunity to slip through a hole as big as a barn door. Dartmouth broke up Zarakov's attempted forward pass.

Harvard punted to Dooley. Oberlander made 4 yards. Hall brought the ball to Midfield. Allquist who had replaced Leavitt made it first down on Harvard's 48-yard line with a two-yard gain. Hall then was thrown for slight loss. The Crimson was sent in substitution in an attemtp to get new strength. Oberlander made three yards. Hall lost two yards on the next rush.

Hall was injured and limped off the field. Robinson, who succeeded him, kicked to Harvard's 17-yard line where Zarakov got the ball. Zarakov raced down the field until he was downed on Dartmouth's 41-yard line.

Miller made three yards. Then he added two more. Joe McGlone then replaced Spaulding at quarterback for Harvard. He is a field goal specialist, but the Crimson needed six points to tie. Harvard tried by forward pass, but Gehrke's throw was intercepted by Capt. Bjorkman who had returned to the game. It was Dartmouth's ball again on their own 30-yard line.

Oberlander made three yards in two rushes.

Oberlander made four yards on a wide run. Then Robinson kicked to Harvard's 35-yard line, where McGlone was downed in his tracks. An atempted Crimson forward pass fell flat, and Crimson rushes netted only a yard each. A Crimson penalty of five yards was imposed.

SUBVERT WILL OF CONGRESS

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 25—Chairman Couzens of the senate committee, authorized to investigate the internal revenue bureau, was urged today by Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, to call Secretary Mellon and Commissioner Blair, of the bureau, before the committee and to ask them "by what authority they seek to subvert the will of congress."

WOMAN TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Elizabeth Hetherman of 55 Rea street died at the Corporation hospital shortly after she had been taken there early this afternoon by a woman whose name is unknown. Hospital physicians, in conversation with police headquarters, stated that death was due to natural causes.

It is believed the woman was fatally stricken while shopping in the downtown district, but particulars of the case are unknown. The police are conducting an investigation.

POLITICAL CONTESTS IN LOCAL FIELD NOW WAXING WARM

With state and national elections only 10 days distant one thing stands out in the rush and roar of party campaigning as an acknowledged fact—that the vote polled in Lowell on November 4 will be the biggest ever recorded here, probably 90 per cent. of the total registration, which would mean a vote of approximately 31,000. The exact registration today, after heavy drives for new voters for the past several weeks, stands at 35,214.

Whether Coolidge and Dawes will carry the city over Davis and Bryan and to what extent La Follette and Wheeler will cut into the ranks of both parties locally are questions the returns alone can answer. Likewise the battle between Fuller and Curley here will be vigorously fought, with the democratic nominee having the edge in present day prognostications.

REPORT RED MOSCOW PLOT AGAINST BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Publication of a foreign office document supposedly revealing a Moscow plot against Great Britain startled the public today.

The document included the text of an alleged letter, marked "very secret," from M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Communist international to the central committee of the British communist party, containing in the words of the foreign office, "instructions to British subjects to work for the violent overthrow of existing institutions in this country and for the subversion of his majesty's armed forces as a means to that end."

A communication from the foreign office to the Russian charge d'affaires, M. Rakovsky, calls attention to the alleged Zinovieff letters and protests against "this violation of the specific

PROTEST PUBLICATION OF TAX RETURNS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York newspapers today continued printing lists of income tax returns, singling out the most prominent personages in the metropolitan district and throughout the nation. Because of different interpretations of the law regarding publicity of returns local collectors in many instances declined to give out figures in their possession resulting in only partial lists being available.

The Herald-Tribune, which refrained from printing returns Friday morning on the basis of a treasury ruling, in its editions today carries several columns of them. Explaining its decision to print returns, the Herald-Tribune says in part:

"The facts which never should have been made known, have become general news of immediate importance. The Herald-Tribune recognizes that the treasury ruling has become ineffective. It therefore prints today the figures made public by the collectors of internal revenue without vouching for their accuracy."

Meanwhile the financial district continues to be deeply stirred. Bankers and corporation heads expressed resentment of the publicity declaring that business secrets were being divulged to their rivals.

Despite confusion as to the right of the newspapers to publish tax assessments, additional returns were furnished reporters yesterday.

GIRL, TWO MEN TIED TO TREES

Screams Led Motorists to the Rescue and Revealed $7000 Holdup

WHIPPANY, N. J., Oct. 25.—Screams of a young woman and two men who had been tied to trees in the South mountain reservation, near South Orange, today led passing motorists to rescue them and revealed a $7000 payroll holdup of the R. L. McEwan Brothers paper board factory at Whippany, by five armed bandits.

Three bandits were captured and $6608 was recovered by police when the men jumped out of a taxicab and attempted to board a ferry for New York.

SUICIDE IS IDENTIFIED AS LOWELL MAN

The body of the man who committed suicide by shooting in a Haverhill lodging house last Thursday, was identified this morning as George Racicot, also known as George LaFrance, of 34 Adams street, this city. Identification was made by two Lowell friends, Wilfrid J. Lemire of 23 Prospect street, and Joseph N. Fournier of 23 Shaw street.

Deceased was about 50 years old and the father of two sons and two daughters. His wife, the police state, left him about two years ago, while a son and daughter are in Montreal, Can., with the second son in Ottawa, and the second daughter in New York. His mother lives in La Prairie, Canada, near Montreal.

For 16 years Racicot was a machinist in the Kitson machine shop here. He had steady employment, but left home suddenly last Sunday without informing friends of his destination. He was found dead in a Haverhill lodging house Thursday morning, with a .32 calibre bullet in his head, and a revolver by his side.

The yard adjacent to the home of Mrs. Arthur Harrison in Percy street, Kenwood, was a centre of interest for many days recently to residents of the Kenwood section of Dracut because of an odd-appearing vehicle which stood there.

The vehicle appeared to be a combination of house and automobile—the lower section and wheels being quickly identified by most everyone as part of a standard make of car, while the body appeared to be a small bungalow or summer camp.

This odd vehicle was a house-car, or a portable house, owned by Ralph W. Goodhue of Windsor, Vermont, who was visiting his sister, Mrs. Harrison. The machine arrived there a week or so ago and left within the past few days on the first stage of a trip which, it is expected, will end in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Goodhue has no schedule to go by in making this trip. He doesn't care when he arrives, and when leaving the city said he had only two places in particular to visit on the way—Kansas city, where Alfred L. Baily, a former resident of this city, lives, and a little town in Louisianna where Fred M. Goodhue, another former resident of Lowell, now resides.

For a year and a half before starting out on this trip, Mr. Goodhue spent all his spare time fixing up the house-car in which he is making the journey, and the finished job is a credit to his skill with tools and his ingenuity, for every comfort is provided for in a little house, mounted on a Ford chassis. Berths, tables, storage space, water tanks, a stove, cutlery and china—in fact everything that is ordinarily used in a house, is stored in such a manner on this little house-car that there is plenty of seating room when on tour and a comfortable little house to sit and sleep in when drawn up on the side of the road or parked in one of the many camping sites which dot the main highways from Canada to Mexico and from Cape Ann to the Golden Gate.

The house-car, the best and most cleverly constructed seen in this section of the country, is worthy of description.

The entire chassis of the Ford was first floored-in with matched boards, laid as nicely as the hard wood floor in a living room, to an area of about eight feet by five and a half feet. Then the side walls were raised and a roof put on.

Beneath the floor is plenty of storage room and a large water tank.

Trap doors in the floor open into compartments where tools, spare parts, etc., are stored, and there also is a large water tank. Compartments for storage are also erected over the running boards and fenders, while the spare tire rack is under the car at the rear where it is readily accessible.

In building the house on wheels, Mr. Goodhue ran up against one difficulty that "stumped" him for some time. How could he build the house sufficiently high enough to stand in and yet low enough so as to be able to pass under bridges and under passes and not be top heavy. After considerable planning, he arranged the roof so that it could be raised on pulleys when the car was standing still, and lowered when the party started off again in the morning.

Inside the car on either side are two long window-seats forming lockers. Over these at night are fitted canvas covered frames, six feet long by two feet wide, which are used as beds. During the daytime these frames are folded within the lockers. Gay blankets used as bedding decorate the seats during the day.

The rear corners of the car contain two upright lockers which hold clothing while fitted between these lockers is a kitchen cabinet, the front of which opens to form a table supported by an adjustable leg. Within are kitchen utensils, dishes, and groceries. On the cabinet stands a two-burner alcohol stove and overhead is a two-bulb electric light, sufficiently bright to illuminate the interior of the house. The entire rear panel of the back, under the windows, opens to form an out-of-door table, while stove and cabinet can be removed easily for out-door cooking.

The driver's seat is a comfortable folding chair held in place by clips on the floor, while at the right is a frame maps and guide books. In a locker nearby are stored a typewriter, cameras and a violin.

A clock, thermometer and doormat add to the attractiveness of the house-car while the walls are decorated by hand colored photographs, done by Mr. Goodhue.

Questioned concerning the reason for his long journey across the continent, Mr. Goodhue quotes a Vermont saying: "The weather in Vermont is generally good, except for about three weeks the sleighing is rather poor and you have to drag along on wheels." It is to escape the rigors of Vermont's winter, that the trip is being undertaken.

program with a Spanish dance, ably executed by the young miss who proved her ability as a supple dancer.

Alice Ryan was most pleasing with vocal selections. Hardly ten years of age, she possesses a clear, well focused voice and there is great promise in the vocal world for her in the future.

Little Virginia Calnan, dressed in an Egyptian costume of orchid satin and pearls offered the Shiek dance and capably interpreted the various movements of the number.

The pony trot, by Doris Joyce and Francis Ryan was a pleasing number, both children receiving rounds of applaud.

An enjoyable and colorful number was the balloon dance by Irene Joyce. She executed the various movements of a novelty waltz number with precision and ability.

Rose Magee entertained with the Mah Jong dance while the Highland Fling, dance eccentric, jockey and clog numbers were given by Mabel Stafford, Mildred Hodge, Florence Gendron and Dorothy Normandy respectively.

The minuet, always a pleasing number was beautifully given by Doris Joyce, Francis Ryan, Dorothy Normandy, Mildred Hodge, Mildred Brouder and Florence Gendron.

Following the program general dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Johan de la Parra, Mrs. M. J. Rourke, and Mrs. Sadie Cohen, Dr. Johan de la Parra, Mr. Arthur H. Giroux, Mr. Joseph Rourke and Mr. Soe Provost were in charge of the entertainment program.

Members of the Lowell Council Boy Scouts ushered.

The Children's Aid society was organized in March of last year by Mrs. Johan de la Parra. At present there are 60 voluntary workers. It is a non-sectarian society and its purpose is to clothe poor children of the city up to the age of 16 years.

The officers of the society are president and treasurer, Mrs. Johan de la Parra; vice president, Mrs. M. J. Rourke; secretary, Mrs. Sadie Cohen.

The winners of the three grand prizes, Miss Helen Morgan of Chippewa street; E. B. Richards, Gershom avenue and J. J. Hogan may receive their prizes by calling at Dr. Parra's office in the square.

During the evening thanks were expressed for the contributions made to the association by the following: Fairburn's market, Bell bakery, Swallow bakery, Wright's waiting room bakery, Kresge Co., Strandway Shoppe, Sharf's, Turner Center Co., Cameron's Ice Cream Co., H. P. Hood and Son, Frank Ricard, Prince-Cetter, Wood-Abbott, Garfield's Furniture Co., David Perreault, Prince-Waltera, Woolworth's and R. J. McCartney.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Resuming his campaign in New York, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, faced today a schedule of speaking engagements and conferences here and in New Jersey, which is expected to take him to the closing event of his personal participation in the election contest, the speech at Carnegie Hall on the evening of Nov. 1.

The candidate motored to the city from his home in Locust Valley to attend the first of the engagements at a hotel where he was to address a democratic woman's rally this afternoon and afterwards appear at a Staten Island meeting, winding up the day with a third speech before a gathering at the Mount Morris high school, in the Bronx tonight.

It was his intention to outline in part his experiences in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, supplementing the state-

DEATHS

O'BRIEN—The many friends of Michael J. and Mrs. Nellie (Shea) O'Brien of 54 South Walker street, will regret to read of the death of their son, Daniel, which occurred last evening at St. John's hospital, aged 8 years and 9 days. The little fellow underwent a surgical operation a year ago and never thoroughly regained his strength though it was the hope of the parents he would eventually recover as he grew older. This was not to be, as he grew weaker this past week, the end coming peacefully at the hospital. Master O'Brien was a bright boy of a beautiful disposition and lovable nature. He will be greatly missed by his companions at both the Dover street and the Morey schools where he was a great favorite with both teachers and scholars. He leaves, besides his parents, three sisters, Lillian, Dorothy and Matilda, and one brother, Philip O'Brien. The body will be taken to the home of his parents, 54 South Walker street, by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LESSARD—Mrs. Elizabeth ((Beausoleil) Lessard, wife of Adelard Lessard, died at her home, 84 Farmland road, aged 66 years. She had been a resident of Lowell for the past 44 years and was a constant attendant of St. Louis' church. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Aurore Lampron, Mrs. Marie Jane Gaudette and Miss Yvonne Lessard; six sons, Donat, William, Arthur, Edmond, Albert and Eugene Lessard, all of this city; one sister, Mrs. Elvina Neault of Framingham, and two brothers, Ernest and Joseph Beausoleil. She was a member of St. Anne's sodality and the Third Order of St. Francis.

LETTRELL—James J. Lettrell, for more than sixty years a well known resident of this city and for the greater part a resident of the Belvidere section, died this morning at the home of his son, Edward Lettrell, 52 Third street. Deceased was a man of splendid habits, honorable and trustworthy, much respected, and will be missed in many circles. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Rose Lettrell; two sons, James of New York and Edward of Lowell; one brother, Christopher of Patterson, N. J., and three grandchildren. He was a member of Court General Shields Foresters of America, and the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church.

HANNIFIN—Mrs. Mary (Buey) Hannifin died Friday at the Carney hospital, Boston. She leaves her husband, John Hannifin; two daughters, Misses Mary and Anna of Los Angeles, Cal.; two sons, Maurice and Edward of the United States navy; two sisters, Mrs. Patrick Herrin and Mrs. Thomas Morris, and a brother, Thomas Buey. The remains will be brought to this city and will be removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Morris, 40 Chambers street, this afternoon by Undertakers Higgins Bros.

HARRINGTON—James Harrington, who received injuries when struck by an automobile in Gallagher square eight days ago, died last evening at the Corporation hospital. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, John and James Harrington; two sdaughters, Mrs. Edward Burke and Mrs. Hugh McQuade; and several grandchildren. The remains will be removed to his late home, 74 Maple street, this evening, by Undertakers O'Connell & Fay.

COBURN—Mrs. Mary E. F. Coburn, widow of the late Horace B. Coburn, died this morning at her home, 275 Andover street. She leaves one daughter, Miss Hariet Coburn; one son, Horace B. Coburn of La Grange, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Charles C. Gowen of Ossining, N. Y., and Mrs. George A. Hills of this city. Mrs. Coburn was a member of All Souls church.

FOSTER—Miss Eleanor E. Foster, a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the Old Ladies' home, where she has resided for the past six years, at the age of 78 years 2 months and 18 days. She was a member of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

DESROSIERS—Yvette Desrosiers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Desrosiers, died yesterday following injuries received by being run over by an automobile. Her age was 5 years 8 months and 9 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 20 Campaw street, by Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

MAJORITY FOR "DRYS" IN ONTARIO NOW 40,368

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The majority for the Ontario temperance act reached the 40,368 mark today when returns in the liquor plebiscite had been received from all but 741 of the 7332 election sub-divisions.

The vote from the districts already tabulated gave 541,196 for the temperance act and 501,825 for the sale of liquor under government control. Leaders of the "drys" were confident the final majority for the temperance act would be 50,000.

CLASS ELECTIONS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

At the class elections held yesterday at the Lowell State Normal School the following officers were chosen for this year, governing council—Pres., Rose Leary vice pres., Mary O'Conner; sec.-treas., Winnifred Lester; traffic-chairman, Mary Frawley; committee chairman, Mary Luppold; social chairman, Mary Palmer; head housekeeper, Wilma Berkins.

For senior class officers Mary Moran was elected president, Agnes Ryan vice pres. and Mary Lane secretary. Rose Farley and Alice Nugent were elected president and vice president of the junior class. The section officers for this year were also chosen yesterday.

START SEWER WORK IN PARKER STREET

Harry P. Doherty, superintendent of streets and sewers, said today a sewer gang will start in Parker street Monday to lay 1100 feet of 18-inch pipe there. This gang today completed 950 feet of new 12-inch sewer laid in Fourth avenue and Emery street. Nesmith street sewer work will be started Tuesday and five other jobs on Wednesday, he said.

One section of 42-inch pipe, 135 foot long and 37 feet underground, has already been completed by the gang of 50 men at work there and this gang will be augmented Monday by 50 additional men.

VISITORS HOLD OUTDOOR RALLIES

The "Flying Wedge of Industrial Speakers," three young women and a man touring the state in the interests of Coolidge and Gillett, rolled into Lowell early this afternoon where they will remain until late tonight. Outdoor rallies are planned for city hall steps at 4 p. m., Towers corner at 8 p. m. and Paige and Bridge streets at 10 p.m. Edgar P. Dougherty, chairman of the republican city committee is in charge of the "wedge" while in Lowell.

BAY STATE DANCING SCHOOL

Saturday night dances are becoming extremely popular at the Bay State Dancing school, Dutton street, now being conducted by "Barney" Horan. Miner-Doyle's orchestra, which has an enviable reputation in New England, composed of a picked team of trained and talented musicians, is furnishing the music for these occasions, and as usual are scoring a distinct hit. These Saturday evening socials are well conducted as the many who are attending and making it a habit to be there Saturday evenings, will attest.

BILLIARD EXPERT ENTERTAINS

Dr. R. C. Downes of Detroit entertained a number of members of Lowell lodge of Elks last night with an exhibition of trick and fancy billiard shots given at the Warren street firehouse. Officers of Lowell lodge will go to Woburn Monday to initiate a large class of candidates for the lodge there.

INDECENT LITERATURE

A local magazine distributor was fined $100 in district court this morning for possessing indecent literature as represented in a magazine known as "Snappy Stories." Defendant appealed.

Among those present were relatives and friends from Ware and Chicopee and Hartford, Conn. Burial took place in the family lot in the Holy Trinity cemetery where Rev. A. S. Ogonowski read the committal prayers and also delivered a short eulogy. This was the first burial in the new Polish cemetery in this city. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Urbanek.

Humphrey O'Sullivan was concluding a vitriolic resume of the stewardship of John Jacob Rogers as congressman from this district. As Mayor Curley entered from the wings and shook hands with former Mayor James E. O'Donnell the very girders of Lowell's magnificent meeting place reverberated with the thunderous outburst of a spontaneous welcome greeting.

Whispering propaganda of other than a harmonious shoulder-to-shoulder battle with United States David I. Walsh was smothered in the very first words from the mayor of Boston who lost not a moment in voicing his regrets that Senator Walsh could not attend in person.

"There could be no more fitting place for your able junior senator to speak to you than in this magnificent structure erected to commemorate the heroism and sacrifices of those boys he has ever so ably championed," said Mayor Curley. "The prayers of our dead and disabled soldiers, and of their people, rise like incense imploring that that brilliant statesman, their friend and protector, be returned to Washington."

The meeting, arranged by the O'Sullivan congressional campaign committee, working in conjunction with the democratic city committee, was called to order by J. Joseph Hennessy. Mr. Hennessy, chairman of the O'Sullivan committee, declared that if Lowell does as it should for Mr. O'Sullivan he will have a majority of 4000 votes here and with it he will be elected. He then turned the meeting over to Hon. James E. O'Donnell, the presiding officer.

"The time has come to raise the standard of honesty in political parties and purge the parties of those who will not strive to establish and maintain high standards" was the keynote of the opening by Mr. O'Donnell. The speaker said he is not in sympathy with continued abuse of men in public life and admits there are men of high principles in both of the leading parties. He pointed to the administration of Woodrow Wilson as one in which the official integrity of the president was never attacked "and the breath of dishonor never either seen or felt." He said he would

He said he would not impugn the personal honesty of Calvin Coolidge, but he would single him for defeat because he is the standard-bearer of a party which has proven untrue to its trust. He lauded John W. Davis as a man whose integrity is beyond criticism and said that admitting both candidates equal, the matter to decide was one of what they stood for and what stood behind them. With the interest of the honest every-day workingman of New England at heart and there could be but one choice, and that of John W. Davis and the democratic principles which he espouses. Mr. O'Donnell spoke a word of appreciation of the ever loyal service to the Lowell democracy by Humphrey O'Sullivan and urged that Mr. O'Sullivan be strongly supported in his fight for congress.

Oscar Rochleau of Worcester, candidate for secretary of state, spoke briefly for the state ticket and was followed by U. S. Senator Victor Broussard of Louisiana. Senator Broussard prophesied that should Coolidge be returned one of his first steps would be to attempt to put over the Mellon tax reduction plan as it was originally offered and he explained at length the discrimination in favor of predatory wealth contained therein. Senator Broussard spoke for David I. Walsh for United States senator, urging the return of his colleague. "I have served with Senator Walsh for several years," he said. "His standing as a statesman is the highest. He is admired as a man of intelligence and honesty. He has been diligent in his duties. The people of Massachusetts would make a great mistake should they fail to avail themselves of his services."

"Boston's mayor, your candidate for governor, Mr. Curley," he continued. "I know him well. He served for years in congress with my brother. I cannot too strongly urge of you that he be given your loyal support."

State Chairman Charles H. McGlue declared there is no doubt but the verdict of the people at the polls will be for Curley for governor and for Walsh for United States senator. He forecast that Davis would be the next president by vote of the electoral college, giving Davis 190 electoral votes to start and conceding seven states to La Follette, possibly eight. In Massachusetts, he declared, a vote for La Follette is a vote for Coolidge.

Mr. McGlue referred caustically to Mr. Gillett, opponent of Senator Walsh, as "Coolidge's rubber stamp." He urged that "that good old democratic warhorse, Humphrey O'Sullivan, be sent to congress to uphold Davis' hand," and also gave a word for the county and representative candidates.

Miss Mae Matthews of Boston, the next speaker, proved one of the hits of the evening. She referred to the present administration as "a reign of terror or of error," said we've found it "frosty" enough trying to "keep cool with Coolidge," and said the slogan should be changed to "Steer Clear of Cal." She praised Senator Walsh and referred to his opponent as "the Rip Van Winkle of Springfield." She ended with a strong appeal for James M. Curley, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Strabo V. Claggett and the whole democratic ticket.

Mr. Claggett, the next speaker, delivered a tirade against Alonzo B. Cook, the present state auditor, referred to his practically unanimous newspaper support for the office and ended in an appeal for the whole ticket.

Candidate for Congress

Humphrey O'Sullivan, candidate for congress from the 5th congressional district, was the next speaker.

Mr. O'Sullivan said in part:

"A few months ago representatives from the towns and cities of this district met and drafted me as a candidate for this office. I told them that if they wanted me to run for the office my conditions would be very severe. It would be only on the condition of co-operation on the part of the people that I would undertake to break down the barrier that this gentleman had built around himself in this district, and after I had broken through that I would retain the office for one term only and open up an opportunity for the many qualified men and women of this district to represent you in congress."

He attacked Congressman Rogers for his condemnation of and failure to support the federal reserve act.

"Since opening this campaign I have asked the congressman to give an account of his stewardship, what he has accomplished for this district in the last twelve years," continued Mr. O'Sullivan. "I have asked him to tell what help he has rendered to the farmers, what help he has rendered to the labor interests, what effort he has made to be of any assistance in remedying industrial conditions or in settling strikes, or showing any interest or sympathy in solving our problems. I have asked him how it was that he undertook to have the Merrimack river deepened and gave us as an alibi that he was opposed by the mill agents of Lowell.

"Just think of that. How many people are there in Lowell, can you imagine, that do not line up the congressman as the friend of the Lowell corporations—and then to say that the reason he couldn't get the Merrimack river deepened was because the mill agents were against him."

"But let us be honest with him—he did do something. Everything being lovely at home he turned his thoughts to the consular service, and so he framed a bill for the greater comfort and convenience of the consular service and that bill is known as the Rogers bill, and he did succeed in getting it passed.

"I believe his friends are sorry that they used that word 'unbeatable,' because when I hurled back at them what had form it was for anyone to claim that he was above his people, an autocrat and superman, they have now lowered their estimate and only claim that he should be elected by a large majority. And they base their claims on the fact that he has been kind enough to answer letters of inquiry of one kind or another to be attended to at Washington, and that he even answered democrats who wrote to him, he made no distinction. Of course they wind up by saying that he put this famous consular bill on the statute books. If they had anything else to claim for him of course they would be glad to do it. Think of it: His heart in the consular service when he should be giving a thought to the Billerica car shop strike. But he was intent on society and 5 o'clock teas.

"At a republican rally in Lowell the afternoon of the 20th the congressman was advertised to speak. Well, he presided. That was near enough to it. But the others who spoke were Senator Fess of Ohio, candidates Gillett, Fuller and others.

"So that you will understand the situation clearly, there were trumpeters on the steps and community singing within the little Liberty Hall which has a seating capacity of about a thousand. Those who entered and desired to go in the gallery were recommended to take a seat in the audience so that the hall would look filled as a courtesy to our congressman.

"The big idea among the republican spellbinders is not to wake the audience up from their dream of happiness. This was fully explained by Senator Fess when he told them that if there was anyone objectionable on their ticket to vote the whole ticket anyway. Of course that statement met with applause. But Senator Fess didn't stop at that. He stated that the reason the republican party should be returned to power was that they are better business men than the democrats, and he also found great gratification in the fact that the German loan was eaten up by American investors in twelve minutes. Wasn't that wonderful? Wouldn't that put any audience to sleep?

"Of course when it came to candidates Fuller's and Gillette's turn to speak they were afraid they would waken the audience and they made their remarks as brief as possible saying they had pressing engagements in a neighboring city.

"Now let us take up the statement of the senator from Ohio who spent about an hour and a half talking about the foreign policies of this administration. Senator Fess of Ohio had the courage to claim the activities of General Dawes and Owen D. Young of the General Electric company, who represented America on the reparations commission, not as politicians or republicans, but as business experts, and yet Senator Fess claims that the so-called Dawes plan was accepted by the reparations commission as a wonderful accomplishment to the credit of the foreign diplomacy of the republican administration.

"But what of his claim that the republicans are better business men than the democrats? When he told his audience of one hundred and ten millions in dollars being swallowed up by the American investors in twelve minutes he forgot to tell them that every dollar was sold for ninety-two cents and it carried an interest of 7½ per cent annually. And he forgot to tell them that in 1917 the Wilson administration sold four billion dollars worth of bonds to the American people at 3½ per cent, that the United States treasury got one hundred cents for every dollar, that the banks didn't get any commission in selling the bonds and the people who bought the bonds only got 3 ½per cent for their money.

"Will Mr. Fess compare that with the flotation of the Gorman loan of only a measly one hundred and ten million dollars? And will he tell them also that this loan was over-subscribed and investors got only about three-quarters what they asked for. I know this from personal knowledge. Mightn't he also tell them that in the flotation of the second, third and fourth liberty bonds the United States never paid over 4¼ per cent for the money, also received one hundred cents on the dollar; and when money was scarce in 1918 the Wilson administration floated the Victory loan at 4¾ per cent and got a hundred cents for every dollar?

"The sum at issue is around four billion dollars. The original interest charge was 5 per cent, later it was made 4¼ per cent, the same price as the United States liberty bonds, and anyone who knows about bonds knows how much the English loan is worth compared to United States liberty bonds.

"But that isn't all. The English government thought they should have a lower rate, and so this government Appointed a commission to meet a similar one to adjust the rate between the two parties, and what do you suppose happened? They agreed to have this loan run for sixty-two years, part of the time for 3½ per cent and part of the time for 3 per cent. And here is where I ask you whether this was near collusion or intentional on the part of the adjusters for the republican administration. They agreed that these interest payments, or payments on the principle might be made with liberty bonds.

"I will make this further statement and then you have to do the rest of the thinking for yourselves. They have made some of these interest payments with liberty bonds. At present that is impracticable because the liberties are above par, but who is going to say that in the space of sixty-two years it isn't possible for this country to get into trouble with some nation or another during which time England may be able to buy these liberty bonds at vastly lower than they ever sold and thereby enable herself to clean up her entire debt to this country without it costing her a penny.

"In other words I am going to ask you why did they insert that joker? I leave it to you to answer. If you have never heard of this story before just see if it isn't the exact truth.

"And then on top of this let me ask you why it is that the republican administration are charging the Boston and Maine railroad 6 per cent per annum on a loan of fifty million dollars and letting England have the money, four billion, for 3¾ per cent? And after you have heard this what do you think of Senator Fess' statement that the republicans are better business men and that the United States is making money on the interest that she is receiving on European loans?

"If the people who can stand for this sort of business do not wake up pretty soon there is something worse than corruption in high places to deplore."

Hon. James M. Curley

Following Mr. O'Sullivan and obliged to appeal for a halt to the veritable thunder of applause that greeted him came the main speaker of the evening, Boston's capable and energetic mayor, James M. Curley.

Opening with his kind words for his running mate at the head of the state ticket, Senator Walsh, Mayor Curley was early in his stride and he delivered what many declared the greatest of the many Curley speeches ever heard in this city.

He declared he will be the next governor despite "the whispering campaigns of political assassins" and said he has over 500,000 pledge cars, signed by voters, already at his office.

"If Lowell does its part, and I have every reason to believe that it will," said Mayor Curley, "I'll go in as your next governor by over 100,000 votes." He rapped his opponent who, he said, was relying more on his 20-year-old prestige as a bicycle rider to cover his lack of any knowledge or plans on foreign or domestic policies—the very brend and butter of the people of the commonwealth.

"Pledged to a penurious policy he asks your support," said the mayor. He told of the deplorable state of affairs in the Massachusetts insane hospitals, citing 52 deaths by violence in two years, many cases specifically. "Yet Fuller says he's 'satisfied'; he'll continue things as they are," said Mr. Curley. "I'm not satisfied. When I first went in as mayor of Boston I found our poorhouse overcrowded, found women of over 70 years of age obliged to crawl in the upper berths of double-deck beds. I spent a half million dollars to dissipate the cold gray clouds hanging before the eyes of those poor unfortunates behind which they prayed for death to take them from pauperism and I sent through those clouds a light that showed there was one heart and one mind in Boston that had room for them. That's Curleyism. That's the Curleyism you hear flouted and condemned by these smirking, self-satisfied whisperers.

"I spent $10,000,000 to have a seat for every pupil in the public schools of Boston and withal the tax rate for three years has been $24.70 in the city of Boston, lowest of the ten large cities of the United States and third lowest of any city in New England, lower even than your own. You read in the Fuller-bought or Fuller-controlled columns that Curley increased the city debt of Boston eight million dollars in three years. The actual facts are the increase in that time has been $46,000. That's more Curleyism.

"I want to reiterate that I am absolutely and unqualifiedly opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Just as I drove the Dearborn Independent from the streets of Boston when I became mayor, so will I drive the Ku Klux Klan from Massachusetts when I'm elected your governor. After the day I'm inaugurated there'll never be another Ku Klux Klan meeting in Massachusetts."

Mayor Curley told how he drove the Klan from Boston and pledged himself to bend his energies to kill the order in the state. In conclusion he said:

"It has ever been the proud boast of Massachusetts that she has remained true to the principles and practises of American democracy; that she has taught and maintained the doctrine that the men and women of the commonwealth are her first care and superior to all other considerations; and that they outrank trade, commerce, property and material things. In this Massachusetts of ours humanity therefore has first place; and she has cheerfully faced the handicaps of industry and commerce to give man his political and social primacy at all times. She has been first of all the states of the union in humanitarian legislation, in limiting hours of labor, protecting women and children, and eliminating the dangers and hazards of industry; and in the administration of her public institutions. In the care of her poor and the treatment of the insane and helpless, the insistent keynote of her policy has been humanitarianism.

"The people of Massachusetts have ever been generous in their treatment of their state wards; in cities and towns the money spent for charitable purposes cannot be limited by anything but common sense and an economy that is humane; and upon no subject are the people in such common agreement as in the just, generous and humane treatment of those whose age, infirmity and misfortune have made them public charges.

"The honor of our citizens and the good name of our state are involved in this policy and any deflections from the high humanitarian standards are resented as stains on our escutcheon.

Fooling the Tax-Payers

Under the guise of a specious saving and a spurious economy and with the avowed intention of fooling the tax-payers of the state, the republican machine has attempted to juggle the debt figures to enable them to claim a virtue they do not possess. That is statistical lying. In order to make a showing by low appropriations they went beyond, practicing deception, they entered upon a program of parsimony and neglect, of cruelty and starvation in the state hospitals for the insane, the institutions for the poor and in a general lowering of the food, clothing and housing of the inmates.

"The republican machine has through its commission on administration and finance, acting under the spur of the political necessities of the party, proceeded on the theory that a dead public charge was cheaper than a living one; that diet costs money, but the dead needed no diet; that clothing was costly and the dead wore none; that housing and fuel were expensive and six foot of earth was as negligible as narrow; and upon this program of parsimony and scrimping, starvation and neglect, the republican party entered; and when complaints were made, they were ignored, and the reports of trustees concealed from the public. The machine sang the old song: 'Rattles his bones over the stones He's only a beggar that nobody owns.'

"The victimized wards were not in a position to complain; the employes know they could complain and lose their jobs; and the protests of the trustees and staffs were unheeded.

"But cruelty and injustice always come out.

"As early as February, 1924, the facts and conditions began to leak out in the legislative committee hearings. Dr. Eugene R. Kelly, commissioner of public health, testified before the joint ways and means committee that the appropriations for the public institutions had been reduced and inferior and unwholesome goods had been supplied them. In the month of January alone, 332 samples of canned goods supplied were examined at the request of the institutions' stewards and some 79 found unsatisfactory and unfit. Wherever food appropriations had been reduced, the food supplies deteriorated and at the Rutland sanitarium in September, 1923, there was a food shortage and much dissatisfaction.

A Murderous Policy

Normally healthy wards need a sufficiency of food, but underfeeding and starving consumptives, especially dependent on the purity and liberality of their diet, is a murderous policy.

"The trustees of the Belchertown School for Feeble Minded protested against Economist Loring's cut of several hundred thousand dollars for improvements the conditions of the school needed; and in the interest of the same cruel and false economy and the success of the republican party, the improvements asked for the sanitariums at Lakeville, North Reading and Westfield were denied.

"Let it be understood that the trustees of these institutions are all men of standing and prominence in the community, giving their time and talent to their trust without pay and as a matter of public duty. They protested the parsimony and neglect that were the outgrowth of republican political expediency and not a necessity for one of the richest states in the union.

"The superintendent of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble Minded complained of the crowding of employes in small rooms, lack of needed space in the home for nurses, the placing of female help in unsuitable quarters, and the necessity of using boys in the steam plant and in the mechanical work for lack of the needed competent employes. This in a school for the feeble minded.

"The trustees wrote: 'We should be derelict in our duty did we not press upon the legislature and the commission the real need that faces us. Of what use are these bodies of experienced business and professional men giving their time and thought to the public institutions of the state?

"What indeed? The bogus political economists were not concerned about their time and thought, or the cure and care of their wards. The only thing that concerned them was the safety of the republican party and its candidates.

"The conditions of starvation, insufficient medical staff and service, overcrowded and dangerous buildings, lack of nurses and employes, and the evil results of premeditated parsimony, as exhibited at the Northampton State hospital, have rung through the state and angered our citizens by their meanness to employes and inmates and the resultant suffering. The crime of Northampton calls loudly for the defeat of the republican machine; it brings the blush of shame to the face of Massachusetts.

"The Westboro State hospital tells the same story of scrimping and paring, of underpaid employes, of insufficiency of nurses and attendants, and the inability of competent and hard-working staffs to meet their responsibilities under the conditions that let necessary improvements in housing and upkeep go by the board to make a shadowy show of thrift and economy.

"The Gardner state colony complains of the failure to get a very needed water supply by connection with Gardner or Ashburnham, a lack which threatens the health of all concerned and leaves them helpless when fire comes. They object also to having the institution run by department officials in Boston.

Republican Machine Responsible

"These conditions of decay, deterioration, contempt for the purposes of these institutions and the pleas of the men and officials giving their time to such beneficient work, can be laid to the machine in the state house, and not to the public spirited citizens devoting their energies to these humanitarian institutions and their administrative staffs. They are not accidental conditions; they are not the result of emergencies and sudden hazards; they are conditions deliberately planned, and the outcome of a program coldly conceived and brutally executed, by a coterie of conscienceless republican politicians, who were willing to sacrifice the health and lives of the state wards and their administrative guardians and endanger the safety and security of the institutions themselves, that the political interests of their party might be served and the November election won, by a shameless substitute for a true economy.

"The republican party of Massachusetts, through its commission on administration and finance, has committed a crime against humanity and brought shame and disgrace to this proud commonwealth. The state administration is particeps criminis in the transaction, for Governor Cox was consenting, and Alvan T. Fuller, lieutenant governor and presiding officer of the governor's council, had full knowledge of the program and plot.

"It is up to the voters of Massachusetts to punish the authors of these outrages and drive them without mercy from the service of Massachusetts."

GOV. SMITH CONFIDENT

Satisfied That People Will Let Col. Roosevelt Stay in Oyster Bay

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Governor Alfred E. Smith went to New York today for a week's campaign in Westchester county and the metropolitan district which also will be the battlegrounds of his republican opponent, Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

"I'm satisfied that on election day the people will let Col. Roosevelt stay in Oyster Bay," the governor told a large audience here last night. "He has a nice big house down there—bigger than mine at 25 Oliver street, in New York—and if he doesn't mind I'll stay in the executive mansion."

A long street parade that wound through the main streets of the city to the music of 15 bands passed in view before Governor Smith last night before his speech.

His speech was on the "Public utterances of Col. Theodore Roosevelt."

"Secretary Hughes," the governor asserted, "said the colonel should be elected because of his knowledge of the government of this state. If he has such knowledge he himself up to this hour and minute has not disclosed it."

DANGEROUS ANARCHICAL MOVEMENT IN INDIA

SIMLA, British India, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, today exercised his emergency powers by the promulgation of an ordinance supplementing the ordinary criminal law in Bengal with a view to suppressing revolutionary crimes on the part of the anarchical movement which it was stated, has been found to be deep seated and dangerous.

A statement was issued asserting that the viceroy was satisfied, as a result of the examination of the evidence placed before him, that the anarchical movement was deep-seated and dangerous and that it was necessary to arm the Bengal government with powers to deal with the preparation for crime because he was convinced that preparations and plans for criminal outrages were dangerously developed.

The Calcutta Gazette announces that a man named Bose, who is right hand man to Chit Ranjan Das, leader of the home rule party; Kumar Mitter, of the Bengal legislature Ro, secretary of the nationalist congress, and twenty-four others have been arrested, mostly under the provisions of the new ordinance on suspicion of associating themselves with violent criminal methods.

The commissioner of police declares that searches are going on throughout the province and that further arrests are expected.

AIM OF AMERICA TO HELP EUROPE HELP ITSELF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The "hope and aim of America" is to help Europe to help itself, President Coolidge declared last night in an address devoted to international relations at a Golden rule dinner of the Near East Relief association.

Speaking before an audience which included many members of the diplomatic corps, Mr. Coolidge outlined at some length the attitude of the Washington government in foreign affairs, which he declared followed the golden rule.

"Europe does not want our benevolence," the president said. "It does want our help and we are ready to give it. America wants the peace of good will and of the golden rule; not the peace of force imposed by those who have power. It wants peace, as the normal, the right, the assured estate in a world from which a wiser generation shall have forever outlawed aggressive war."

Recalling that this country had expended millions in charitable relief, Mr. Coolidge called attention that it also had extended to other governments loans and credits, which they are "beginning to repay." There is a "moral obligation" to make such repayments he added.

ESCAPED FROM DANVERS, WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN

MIDDLETON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Ethel Barrow, 27, of Lawrence, for the past six months a patient at the Danvers State hospital, was instantly killed at 6 a. m. today by a train on the Boston & Maine, near Howe's station. According to the train crew she was walking beside the track and stepped in front of the locomotive. She had escaped last night at 7 o'clock from the hospital and an all-night search for her had been fruitless.

HOPPE WINS EVERY BLOCK OF MATCH

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Willie Hoppe, 18.2 balk line champion, proved himself as much a master at three-cushion billiards by winning every block of his 400-point match with Augie Kleckhefer, former angle game champion, 400 to 275, in 384 innings. Hoppe took yesterday's final block by scores of 50 to 36 in 52 innings, and 50 to 45 in 40 innings.

Beside saveraging better than one an inning, Hoppe made a high run of 14, within four of the record held by Pierre Mauhone and Charley Morin.

Pains Around the Heart Were Caused by Attacks of Indigestion

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble.

"The tonic method of treating disorders of this kind does not aim to do the work of the stomach, does not demand that the food be predigested, but builds up the weakened organs, so they can do the work that nature intended.

Mrs. Flora Jones, of No. 1414 Elm street, Manchester, N. H., says: "I was tired all the time. By noon I would be so tired that it didn't seem as though I could finish the day. Beside the tired feeling that I had all the time my stomach was upset and after eating I would have heartburn. Gas would press around my heart and my heart would flutter. I had no strength, there were pains all over my body and I had headaches almost constantly.

"One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after the first box I could see that I was a great deal stronger. I could work all day and not feel all dragged out. Before I had finished the second box the pains were all gone and I could eat without distress. I certainly feel better than I have in a long time and whenever I feel run down I shall take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a reliable tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. Price sixty cents. They can be used with safety for any length of time as they contain no opiates, stimulants or harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

ROOSEVELT TO STORM TAMMANY STRONGHOLD

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt left Troy today to embark on the final stage of his campaign for governor—that of seeking to overcome the democratic plurality in New York city.

"We have taken the front line trenches with a rush, and we are now going to storm the Tammany stronghold in New York," was the way the nominee expressed it.

Republican leaders expected to start his New York city campaign with a parade and a huge reception.

WANT HEARING ON 20-CENT FARE

Residents of the Collinsville section of Dracut, incensed at the resumption of the 20-cent fare from Lowell on the street railway, have petitioned the board of selectmen to request a hearing on the matter before the Massachusetts board of public utilities.

HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—George B. Aspinwall, of Washington, D.C., a Harvard senior arrested last night at a collegiate dance charged with forgery as a result of the appearance of many counterfeit dance tickets, was arraigned today and released on nominal bonds when the case was continued until next Saturday. He was not represented by counsel, but student friends said the case was one of a prank only, and that none of the counterfeit tickets were sold to their knowledge.

COTTON PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Cotton production this year was forecast today at 12,675,000 bales by the department of agriculture, compared with 12,499,000 bales forecast a fortnight ago, and a crop of 10,139,671 bales last year.

The quantity of cotton ginned prior to Oct. 18 was announced by the census bureau as 7,600,836 running bales, counting round as half bales, compared with 5,409,391 to that date last year, and 6,978,821 in 1922.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Driver of Auto That Killed Child Arraigned in District Court

Charles Apostolakos of 181 Eighteenth street, operator of the automobile which struck and caused the death of 5-year-old Yvette Desrosiers at West Sixth street and Lilley avenue yesterday afternoon, was, arraigned in district court today on a charge of manslaughter, and was continued to Nov. 22 pending the result of an inquest hearing on the death.

HELD IN $1000 BONDS FOR AUTO LARCENY

Two young men, William Rivard of this city, and Arthur P. Sawyer of Walpole, were arraigned in district court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Bernard F. Sweeney of 58 Norris street, North Cambridge. They pleaded not guilty and were continued in $1000 bonds each until next Wednesday.

The automobile, a Ford coupe, alleged to have been stolen by the young men last Friday, was found in a wooded section of the Black North district of Dracut, near the Parker school, last Saturday, but efforts to ascertain the thieves were unsuccessful until last night, when Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch, following an investigation by Capt. Petrie and Sergt. Dwyer placed Rivard under arrest.

Early this morning, Chief Clinton Coffin and Officer Thomas of the Dracut police went to a house in Dracut and placed the second suspect, Sawyer, under arrest. At the station, the latter is said to have admitted taking the car while returning to his home in Walpole after a visit to New York last week.

When the machine was found in the Dracut woods, it was stripped of its generator, tires, starter, battery, number plates and other accessories. Several of the parts have been recovered.

DANISH EXPEDITION BACK FROM ALASKA

SEATTLE, Oct. 25—After traveling more than three years along the Arctic coast of Canada and Alaska by gasoline schooner, dog team and on foot, Knud Rasmussen, leader of a Danish expedition for study of Eskimos, arrived here yesterday with a party of three, including two Eskimos, from Nome, Alaska. They will leave in a few days for Denmark.

Under commission from the Danish government, Rasmussen said, he had been studying the life of the Eskimos of the Arctic, going to Greenland by ship, thence by the Hudson bay route to the Canadian Arctic and on to Nome.

"From Nome we went to East Cape, Siberia, and returned in the gasoline schooner Teddy Bear of Nome," he said. "I estimate that we have covered more than 20,000 miles."

SECRETARY WELLS BACK FROM CONVENTION

DE VALERA ORDERED OUT

Irish Republican Leader Arrested in Newry Sent Across Ulster Border

BELFAST, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Eamon de Valera, the republican leader who was taken into custody at Newry yesterday when he attempted to address a meeting, was sent across the Ulster border this morning, having been given an understanding to leave quietly.

There was no demonstration when de Valera departed. He was warned that he would incur two years' imprisonment if he returned.

The authorities took the precaution of stationing armed police otside the bedroom in the head constable's quarters in the Newry barracks where the republican leader slept. He refused to eat breakfast when it was brought to his room, but a fellow prisoner disposed of the meal.

Mr. de Valera arrived in Dublin at 11 o'clock this morning and visited republican headquarters where he made arrangements for visits to Sligo Sunday, Derry Monday and Tyrone and Armagh Tuesday. He declared he intended to keep these engagements notwithstanding the threats of arrest by the Ulster government.

U. S. TO BE REPRESENTED

International Financial Conference Will Meet Monday in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The international financial conference, called to settle the distribution of reparations and to revise the costs of the armies of occupation, will meet Monday with James A. Logan, Jr., American representative on the republicans' commission representing the United States.

The various delegations and experts will outline the work the first day, and the finance ministers will meet on Tuesday since M. Clementel of France will be at Lyons, France, on Monday. M. Theunis will represent Belgium and Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, will act for Great Britain.

NATIVE OF LOWELL DIES IN STOCKTON, CAL.

There died in Stockton, Cal., on Thursday, Oct. 9, a pioneer real estate man of San Joaquin county and one of California's earliest residents, Lewis M. Cutting, a native of Lowell where he was born on Sept. 1, 1831 of old New England stock. He was reared in this city, was graduated from the Lowell high school at the age of 13 years and worked for a time in the cotton mills until he entered the employ of Burbank, Chase & Co., hardware merchants.

On Christmas day, 1851, Mr. Cutting left the city of his birth and going by way of the Isthmus of Panama arrived in San Francisco, Feb. 7, 1852. For a short time he worked in 'Frisco; moving to Stockton in June, 1852. Like most of early pioneers he was attracted to the mines and for three years engaged in gold mining at Red Mountain Bar and vicinity in Tuolumne county, meeting with success.

Having come to Stockton in the early fifties, Mr. Cutting was one of the city's oldest residents. He had been in California 73 years and in Stockton 54 years. He was a founder of the city's business prosperity and continued active in his realty affairs almost until his death.

The same year that he began his real estate business, 1860, Mr. Cutting became associated with Capt. Charles Weber, the founder of the city of Stockton. He acted as Capt. Weber's agent for 27 years and continued in that capacity for six years after the death of the city's founder. Mr. Cutting was the senior member of the real estate firm of L. M. Cutting & Co. of Stockton, and had his son Francis associated with him.

Mr. Cutting is survived by two sons and two daughters and several grandchildren. The sons are Francis Cutting of Stockton and Lewis H. Cutting of Artois; the daughters are Mrs. Grace J. Stewart of Stockton and Miss Maria S. Cutting of Stockton.

Mr. Cutting was married July 1, 1857, to Catherine Sophia Howland, who died in October, 1922.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Stock prices moved up briskly in the early part of today's market and then turned reactionary when bears renewed their attacks against a few individual issues bringing about heavy profit taking in some of the recent strong spots. American Woolen was hammered down to 61 1-2, or within 1-4 of a point the year's low, while the preferred touched a new bottom at 80. American Can and Maxwell A yielded readily to realizing as did some of the coppers and the oils. Low priced rails moved up sharply in the early leadings and good buying was noted in the public utilities and Merchandising issues. S. S. Kresge soared 61 points to 481. The closing was irregular. Sales approximately 400,000 shares.

Prices continued to forge ahead throughout the early trading. Chicago & Eastern Illinois preferred assumed the leadership of the rail group by moving up three points. American Water Works and Manhattan Shirt advanced 2 points while Calumet & Arizona, United States Smelting preferred, Federal Mining & Smelting preferred, Rock Island common, United Drug, United States Alcohol, National Biscuit and Fleischmann moved up a point or more. General Baking broke three points and General Electric, International Harvester and Nash Motors sagged a point or so. Foreign exchanges opened steady with trading quiet.

Speculators for the advance resumed their campaign for higher prices at the opening of today's market with buying orders spread over a large list. Frisco common and Gulf, Mobile & Northern preferred attained new 1924 peak prices at 39 and 78 3-4, respectively, while United States Cast Iron Pipe moved up to a new top at 117. Willys-Overland preferred was one of the few heavy spots, sagging a point.

Money Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Foreign exchanges steady. Great Britain demand 4.48 15-16; cables, 4.49 3-16; 60 day bills on banks, 4.46 3-16. PROCESS SERVERS SEEK WITNESSES IN "SLUSH FUND" PROBE

Wanted in Connection With Efforts to Corroborate Somewhat Sensational, But as Yet, Secret Stories Regarding Misuse of Funds in G. O. P. Campaign

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While its process servers sought witnesses wanted in connection with efforts to corroborate somewhat sensational, but, as yet, secret stories regarding the alleged misuse of funds in the republican campaign, the senate campaign fund investigation committee stood today in recess.

Resuming the inquiry Monday, the senators will explore new fields, among them the "straw vote" taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential campaign. Committeemen, in making known that subpoenas had been issued for officials of the Digest publishing company, said they wanted to know the source of the funds used to defray the cost of the nation-wide poll and the manner in which it is being conducted.

Another, as yet unexplored field, which probably will be entered upon next week is the amount and source of the funds collected in the Pittsburgh district for the republican national committee. W. L. Mellon, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon secretary of the treasury, who, the committee has been informed, is chairman of the collection committee in that district, will be the principal witness in this phase of the inquiry.

Decision to issue subpoenas for men who may be able to substantiate stories told by two Chicago men about the misuse of funds in the campaign was reached late yesterday after the character of these stories had been told to the committeemen in executive session by Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, and Samuel Untermyer of New York, counsel for Senator La Follette.

The Chicago men were present at the session, but were not called. Mr. Untermyer said he would hesitate to take the responsibility for having their testimony go to the country until the committee had run down the "leads" they could furnish, and he suggested that they be heard in executive session.

The committee vetoed that suggestion and Chairman Borah announced later that all testimony during the inquiry would be taken in public.

State Contributions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—New York was first among the states in the amount of contributions to the republican campaign fund up to October 10. An official report of the republican national committee received today by the senate campaign fund investigating committee showing New York's total to have been $514,521. Illinois was second with $390,822, and Pennsylvania third with $257,621.

Chairman Butler of the republican national committee, has testified that it was the purpose to obtain $2,000,000 of the maximum budget of $3,000,000 from these three states. Total contributions from other states include: Massachusetts $73,710; Vermont $37,597; Connecticut $6,008; Rhode Island $4,006; Maine $1,170 and New Hampshire $32.

Chairman Borah received a telegram today from J. W. Anderson, state chairman of the farmer-labor party of Montana, saying there was no evidence that large sums were being expended in Montana to defeat Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat, but that there was indication that much was being spent on behalf of his candidacy.

WHEELER FLAYS MELLON

Denounces Secretary for Incomplete Publicity Given Income Tax Returns

WHEELER SPECIAL ENROUTE TO CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Senator Wheeler, independent vice-presidential candidate, entered Illinois for the second time today. He finished with Missouri, the 24th state in which he has campaigned, at St. Louis last night.

At St. Louis Senator Wheeler termed as "trickery and treachery" on the part of the republicans, particularly on the part of Secretary Mellon, the incomplete publicity given income tax returns.

Declaring Sec. Mellon resorted to that means in making an unfair attack on John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, Senator Wheeler asserted the income tax returns of other candidates should be made public.

Secretary Mellon, he charged, "deliberately and premeditatedly released only a few of the income tax returns to the public in order to show what Davis, the democratic nominee, paid.

"And what's more important than that, is the fact that Mr. Mellon has failed to make public his own tax payment. I challenge him to make it public. Mr. Rockefeller's return has been given out. Now let's have the return of the second richest man, Mr. Mellon."

WHOLESALE VACCINATION AT SMITH COLLEGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 25.—Wholesale vaccination was in progress at Smith college today as a result of the temporary quarantine announced yesterday by President William Allan Nielson because a recent visitor to Smith had developed small pox after her return to her home in New York state. The new college gymnasium was being used for vaccination purposes and it was said today that by Monday the entire student body would be inoculated gainst small pox and the restrictions would be removed.

Dr. Florence Meredith, college physician, issued a statement today in which she said:

"There is no case of small pox among the students at Smith. There is no case in Northampton now or has there been for twenty years or more. The steps now being taken are purely precautionary."

LISTS LOCKED IN SAFE

Woman Finds Out For First Time Just How Much Husband Makes

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Income tax lists of the headquarters for collection in Lower Manhattan have been placed in a large safe until curiosity dies down. Special watchmen have been assigned to guard the books.

Frank K. Bowers, collector for the second district, said that the rush of people to see the returns had compelled precautions.

The first caller at Mr. Bowers' office today was a woman who demanded, excitedly, her husband's return. While a clerk was hunting for the papers, the woman said:

"I am finally going to find out just how much my husband makes. For years I have suspected that he made much more money than he ever told me about, and I felt that I was entitled to a whole lot more than I have been getting. You can bet I am not going to miss this opportunity of finding out for myself."

Just then the husband's return was presented to her. After making many notes she departed.

ANOTHER VICTIM IN RUM ROW WARFARE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Rum row warfare claimed another victim early today when one man of a crew of three on a launch alleged to have been running whiskey from the rum fleet to shore was killed by coast guardsmen aboard the cutter Seneca.

Meagre details of the fray said the Seneca was steaming to port with the body of the victim aboard, and with two prisoners, his companions of the launch crew. The Seneca, it was reported, after cruising about the rum fleet 22 miles off the Jersey coast throughout the night, saw a launch leaving the side of the schooner Howes, anchored in rum row. The decks of the launch were piled with cases of whiskey. The rum runners, sighting the cutter, fled and the Seneca pursued. Repeated demands for surrender were ignored and the crew of the Seneca opened fire, bringing the fugitive to a stop only after one of its crew had been shot down.

SOLDIER'S INJURIES PROVE FATAL

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25.—Gandiose Gourde, 24, died in a hospital today as the result of injuries received Wednesday night when his motorcycle was in collision with an automobile driven by Dr. Waldo T. Skillin at South Portland. Gourde was a private in the Fifth Infantry at Fort Preble, and a former resident of St. Aceatic, P. Q. His body will be forward to relatives in Canada for burial.

MISSING BOY REPORTED FOUND

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Frank J. Roshek, 14, who disappeared from his home near Central Park, has been found, the police reported today. Information as to the boy's whereabouts was refused. A liberal reward had been offered by the parents.

FAKE ALARM DELAYS CALL FOR REAL FIRE

ATTLEBORO, Oct. 25.—While firemen were responding to a fake alarm in the railroad street factory district, a call from a private box at the Watson factory on Mechanics street was delayed by the ringing of the fake alarm. The real fire in a shed in the Watson factory was subdued after some delay and blame for the fake call has not yet been fixed.

ASSOCIATION FOR EDUCATION METHODS

WORCESTER, Oct. 25.—Teachers and educators from many parts of New England are in this city today for the annual fall meeting of the Massachusetts Association for Educational Methods. The principal address of the day was by Dr. Frank M. McMurray of Teachers College, Columbia, Columbia university. A discussion followed, the speakers including Clarence H. Dempsey, Vermont state commissioner of education; Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, president of Clark university; Dr. Guy M. Wilson, deputy of education, Boston university, and Hector L. Belisle, superintendent of schools, Fall River.

Boston Symphony Orchestra Coming Nov. 2

Conductor

There are a number of interesting episodes in the career of Serge Koussevitsky, the new Russian conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, who is to come here Sunday, Nov. 2, with his 105 musicians. But probably there is no incident so entirely out of the ordinary, as the musical world goes, as his three trips down the Volga. There might have been more, but as extra-musical disturbances would have it, his tour in the spring of 1911 was his last.

Some legends have arisen about these Volga tours. One is that the concerts were free. They were not. Koussevitsky never patronized these most unusual of symphony publics. They paid the regular theatre prices, listened to the concerts in their own town theatres; and were served with regular symphony programs.

Even with box-office accounts, Koussevitzky's Volga tours involved an appalling deficit. It is no simple matter to hire one hundred fine musicians, charter a steamer with accommodations for two hundred (counting musicians' wives, crew and friends), and sail for 2500 miles, stopping at towns of all sorts along the way. The tour lasted about four weeks.

Such an excursion was of course a chance for a Russian to study his people, and it is not surprising that Stanislavsky of the Russian Art theatre was the guest of one of these tours. Scriabin also made the journey and had the unique experience of observing his symphonies suddenly thrust upon an absolutely untutored and incredibly receptive people. Edward Rizler went along, and played in Beethoven's two standard piano concertos. Koussevitsky gave them such symphonies as Beethoven's 3rd and 7th, Rachmaninoff's 2nd, Tchaikovsky's 5th, Liszt's "Mazeppa," Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter" overture, etc. In a word, the programs were such as are regularly attended by the musically sophisticated in any great metropolis.

Mr. A. M Abell, a guest on the last tour, thus described the effect which this music made:

"I was deeply interested in observing the effect that such music, magnificently played, made on these audiences. Although musically uncultured they were very intelligent and highly receptive. They displayed an instinctive feeling for the lofty and the beautiful and reacted to Koussevitzky's spirited readings as a high strung horse does to a master hand at the bridle.

"The enthusiasm was genuine and spontaneous and the auditors listened with rapt attention. It was like watching the face of an unspoiled child while listening to a beautiful fairy tale and, indeed, to those Russians on the remote Volga this was a veritable fairyland of beauty that Koussevitzky revealed to them. Before this advent they had never heard a symphony orchestra and had never even seen many of the instruments. At Saratow, a deputation of the citizens called on Koussevitzky at his hotel and requested that he place the harps at the front of the stage at the concert in order that the people could see and admire these beautiful golden instruments.

"A few hundred miles north of Astrakhan we visited a tribe of Kalmucks, a wild nomadic people living in tents something after the manner of our Indians. Strange to say these half-savage people were worshippers of Buddha and carried a Buddhist temple about with them on their wanderings over the trackless steppes. When the tribe saw the big steamer approaching their shore, they thought that the czar had come to make them a visit and they turned out in full force to welcome us. The men proved to be very friendly and I took some interesting snapshots of them, but the women were very shy and would not be photographed, believing that the camera was an instrument of the devil."

Seats are now on sale at Steinert's.

MARY PICKFORD IN "DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL"

Another of those genuine motion picture treats is assured the patrons of The Strand for the first four days of the coming week, starting with Sunday's matinee, when the Marshall Neilan production of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," starring the one and only Mary Pickford will be presented as the feature attraction. Need any more be said? Think of the star and the story and draw your own conclusions. Surely playgoers hereabouts who are familiar with true worth of this combination will not hesitate to pronounce it the very best to be had in filmland. It's Mary's latest screen endeavor, and in many ways it's her best, for it affords the premier female screen star an opportunity to not only again reflect her wonderful personal charm and cleverness, but also gives her the chance of demonstrating her versatility. One generally associates her name with characterizations that treat of playful youth and young womanhood, but in this she finds rare opportunity to indicate emotional drama and serious phases of life that stamp her for the wonder picture star she really is. In addition to "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," there will be other contributions to round out a delightfully balanced and satisfying program. The musical numbers on The Strand organ will also help make it most acceptable.

Picturizing the most famous of the Charles Major novels, stands out as one of the cinema events of the year, presenting Mary Pickford in her greatest role. Her thoughts have dwelt so much upon the filming of this story, Mary has given her whole heart and soul to the creation of her newest screen personality. A most capable cast of players will be seen in her support. Allan Forrest is the lover, Sir John Manners, and Marc MacDermott is the villainous cousin, Malcolm Vernon. Anders Randolf makes an ideal father for Dorothy Vernon and Wilfred Lucas is the Earl of Rutland. Clare Eames, famous for her portrayal of queenly roles on the speaking stage, brings to the screen a characterization of Queen Elizabeth that is a revelation of histrionic art. Among the other players of note are Lottie Pickford Forrest, a sister of the star, Malcolm Waite, Courtenay Foote, Howard Gaye, Estelle Taylor, Mme. Carrie Daumery, Eric Mayne, Colin Kenny and Lewis Sargent. The production is lavish, no expense having been spared in erecting stately mansions and medieval castles. Scenes of pageantry and revelry are presented with picturesque magnificence. Under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" has renewed interest in the romantic drama of the screen. Characteristic of all recent Pickford offerings, the wonderful photography is worthy of note. Mary is seen as an eighteen-year-old spitfire. Her wonderful smile changes in an instant to a tempest of anger and stamping of feet to as swiftly turn to plead for pardon. It's rich in humor, alive with thrills, replete in action with Mary in a daring horseback ride. It's a photoplay of the truly worthy sort. Don't miss it.

LILLIAN DESMONDE OF STANLEY JAMES PLAYERS

"The Gold Diggers" will be the offering of the Stanley James Stock Players at the Lowell Opera House all next week, with Miss Lillian Desmonde taking the part of Jerry Lamar, made famous by Miss Ina Claire. This play was written by Avery Hopwood and was originally produced by David Belasco, running for two solid years in New York and for a full year in Chicago, following up with a four months' successful stay in Boston.

Gerald Rowan, the popular and talented leading man of the company, and Wilmer Walter, Miss Vessie Farrell and Miss Faith Avery, all have excellent parts. Miss Helen Aubrey and Jack West also are well cast in this particular show which has to do with the off-time activities of the "ladies of the chorus" and that type of masculinity, quite frequently referred to as the "stage door Jonnie." It is a great play, regarded by critics as the greatest of Avery Hopwood's many brilliant works. Its original production will be strictly followed by Director Millar and a bevy of beautiful girls has been brought on here from New York for the especial purpose of augmenting the cast and adding more vim and more beauty to New England's best stock company.

Manager Stanley James has paid a big royalty to secure the rights to this great play but recently released to stock and, judging from the advance demand for seats, his judgment is already vindicated. Commencing with the matinee on Monday, every performance should be packed full of lovers of the spoken drama for this offering is indeed a treat.

Throughout the season, from the very commencement, Mr. James has maintained a high standard of plays and this particular one is well up to any of them. It is expected that long before midweek the house will be sold out for the week, so for that reason it is really advisable to phone 7640 and make reservations now.

Biron's Opera House orchestra, composed of men who are all soloist musicians, has arranged a special program of delightful music that whiles away the few moments between the acts. The stage effects and settings are all most gorgeous, reflecting the genius and skill of Dan O. Finch, the scenic artist brought on here by Mr. James.

Lowell theatregoers have been appreciative of the James policy of providing only the best and most recent releases. Because of this policy the Opera House is doing a splendid business this season, the patronage being especially heavy. The reservation lists are today the largest they have ever been in the history of stock in Lowell and are each day growing larger. The courteous attitude of the house attaches, from box office to back stage, has done much to lend atmosphere to the playhouse and it is becoming more and more popular.

Gerald Rowan, the leading man of the company, and Jack West, debonair and handsome juvenile man, both have splendid parts in next week's show. It is a show that shouldn't be missed and the best insurance of not missing it is to phone 7640 now and tell the owner of the voice with a smile that answers that you want tickets reserved. The demand is bound to be great and the capacity of the Opera House will certainly be taxed for every performance this week.

FINE BILL AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Merrimack Square theatre patrons have achieved a distinction of being highly discriminating photoplay critics. Only the best calls forth their praise. Hence, the consistently high standard of attractions which are booked week after week for this popular amusement house. The bill for the first part of the coming week, beginning with matinee tomorrow, will be no exception. In fact, it gives promise of being a bit better than even the high Merrimack Square standard.

The leading features will be "Changing Husbands," a story which works out the age-old problem of whether a girl should choose marriage or a career to get the most out of life, with pretty and capable Leatrice Joy in the leading role, and "The Tenth Woman," a novel by Harriet L. Comstock, dealing with women of the present day. June Marlowe and Beverly Bayne are in the leading roles.

In addition there will be an excellent comedy and the latest number of the International News. Regular Merrimack Square prices will prevail.

There is something about the title of "Changing Husbands" that strikes a responsive chord in the feminine heart. It is safe to assume that every married woman has at least once wanted to exchange her "lord and master" for something a little better in the husband line. As for the prospective bride, the idea of learning a safe and simple method of acquiring a new "Romeo" in case the one she now has does not come up to her expectations, is bound to have a powerful appeal. So there you are! And if you think the men aren't going to sneak in to see what the picture is all about, then you don't know human nature!

Those who read the story by Elizabeth Alexander when it was running serially in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Roles," will remember that it revolves around the complications that ensue when a society matron and an actress who resembles her exchange places for three months. The opportunities for funny situations are unlimited, and have not been overlooked by Suda Cowan and Howard Higgin who adapted the story to the screen. Frank Urson and Paul Irfhe co-directed the production and to make sure that nothing would be overlooked in the way of lavish settings and gorgeous clothes, Cecil B. DeMille personally supervised the picture.

Miss Joy in the principal feature role has a part that puts her ability as a versatile actress to a severe test inasmuch as she is called upon to portray a dual role. Among the principal players in the supporting cast are Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith, ZaSu Pitts and Julia Faye.

If you are in search of genuine entertainment and at the same time want a little food for serious thought, be sure to see "Changing Husbands."

A picture dealing with a subject that will interest everybody is "The Tenth Woman," the second feature.

The cast is a typical Warner combination of screen stars, including Irene Rayne, who has just returned to the screen; June Marlowe, John Roche, Raymond McKee, Charles "Buddy" Post, Alec Francis, Edith Yorke, Gilbert Holmes. James Flood is responsible for the direction of this picture.

Willa Brookes, who is saved from suicide by Barry Compton, remains at his ranch as housekeeper. Some time later Barry is compelled to go east on business, and during his visit he renews his friendship with Rose Anne Brainerd who, although married, is a typical flapper type. When Barry is about to go home, Rose Ann has a quarrel with her husband and as a result of her usual thoughtlessness, she leaves for Barry's ranch and arrives before he does. Willa, believing Rose Ann is the girl Barry is to marry, decides to leave. When Barry returns, Rose Ann regrets her hasty action and waits for her husband to come to her. Barry, meanwhile, having discovered Willa's flight, starts out for the station after her and is just in time to save her from an accident.

The special entertainment at the B. F. Keith theatre on Sunday will have Clarence Oliver and Georgie Olp featured in their charming little playlet, with Billy McDermott, giving an inimitable monologue. Others present for the two performances will be Yates & Carson, in fun; Miss Bennett & Miss Pollock, in a musical act, and Rialto & LaMont. The picture will be "Oliver Twist," made from the great story by Dickens and with Jackie Coogan in the title part.

Isabel D'Armond, who has twinkled in many of the best of musical comedies, and Lew Hunting, who has won his laurels on the musical comedy stage, will be the coming week's stellar feature. They have only recently formed a vaudeville team, and so successful have they been with their delightful offering, "Five Minutes from the Station," that bookings now will carry them straight through the season. The story of the piece, in short, tells aspiring employes how to better their positions in life. Of course it is comedy, deliciously played, but underneath it all is a solid current of truth.

A. Robins, who humorously imitates musical instruments, will turn out to be a veritable walking music store. With remarkable powers over his vocal organs, he is able correctly and melodiously to reproduce the tones of many instruments. And there is humor a-plenty in his act.

A little skit entitled "A Girl of To-Day" will be the offering of Jack Fulton and Dorothy Quinette. The authors have woven melody and story into what might be called an abridged musical comedy, with original songs written exclusively for the act.

Fridkin, Jr. and Rhoda, in a flash of color and grade offer a picturesque and unusual dancing act. Here is a dancing entertainment which is as attractive as it is away from the beaten path, and it is bound to score well.

Ray W. Snow and Narine present a clean, clever and up-to-the-minute conversational oddity called "You Pick 'Em." Mr. Snow has been very well known as the creator of "The Man About Town" Monologues, and he is a writer of no mean ability.

For the first time on any American stage—positively—there will appear Ralph Hoibein, a rapid fire artist, who will give art while you wait. Hoibein is now on the high seas, and it is expected that he will arrive in this country late Sunday night. He has been a great favorite in the European halls.

The week's picture will be "The Cheechakoes," otherwise known as "The Tenderfoot," which was filmed exclusively in Alaska. There have been many of the great northern pictures, but until this one they have never been taken in an Alaskan background. It is splendidly told and gripping all the way through.

STRAND TODAY

Sabatini's screen version of his greatest novel, "The Sea Hawk," the picturization that has been attracting capacity audiences at all performances at The Strand during the week, will be shown for the last times this afternoon and tonight. Those who have witnessed the local presentation unqualifiedly pronounce it superior to any shown this season, and the equal of any shown here in years. Milton Sills' treatment of the principal male character is one of the outstanding features of this super-photoplay, while the endeavors of the assisting cast are meritorious. "The Sea Hawk" has everything found in a highly successful motion picture. Action galore, romance and tense moments, while the superior photography and scenic effects are superb. As to the worth of the picture and story, one has but to ask his neighbor. Remember, last times today, and also the fact that the picture will not be shown in this city again this year. If you are partial to good pictures you can't afford to miss "The Sea Hawk." Directing Manager Torgan has arranged other attractions to balance up a perfectly delightful program. Don't miss the last chance today.

"Neglected Women" Chief Attraction at Rialto

SCENE FROM "NEGLECTED WOMEN" AT RIALTO

Because a man saves another man's life is he ever exempt from punishment at the hands of the other man, no matter what he may do against the man's welfare? This is one of the questions asked and dramatically answered in "Neglected Women," which will be the chief attraction at Loew's Rialto Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both these men are in love with the same girl and, in a fit of pique, she marries the one she doesn't love. Later, after love for her husband has come to her, the other man, chiefly because he is her husband's friend, still retains a hold on her affections and he uses this hold to inveigle her into giving him information about her husband's business affairs which he uses to his detriment. When the source of the information comes out, the seed of jealousy is sown in the husband's mind and when the two meet—it's a strong situation and the climax that follows it has a surprise kick to it that will delight every movie fan.

John Gilbert, who is starred in "Just Off Broadway," has become one of the most popular leading men in pictures. Mr. Gilbert says that if he should ever forsake the silver sheet, he would like to join the United States secret service. Incidentally, Mr. Gilbert has acquired close friendship in the personnel of the secret service men whom he calls by their first names, but who are known to headquarters only by numbers. And he has made a study of their methods, not only in the comfortable chairs at a club, but out on actual assignments with them. The result is that in "Just Off Broadway," Gilbert is said to play a particularly realistic role.

In this picture, Gilbert portrays a character who becomes one of a gang of international crooks. Not once do they suspect him and even the girl with whom he falls in love tries to reform him. Believing that she is one of the band, Gilbert is just as eager to reform her. The manner in which these two straighten out the tangle of their lives and eventually perform a great service, makes a strong dramatic picture. Marian Nixon has the leading feminine role.

"Fighting Blood," a comedy and News reel are the short subjects on the bill.

MUSICAL COMEDY FOR THE ROYAL THEATRE

On Monday next, the Royal theatre management will inaugurate a new form of entertainment, in presenting the famous Patent Leather Girls, a company of eight people, who will specialize in musical comedy. Comedians, dancers and singers make up this select little company of players who are coming to Lowell loaded with all sorts of frivolous hits. Theatregoers are assured a clean, entertaining little performance, which is shown in addition to the usual high-grade photoplay performance. Charles Hutchinson will be seen for the first time in Lowell in his first of his new big series of photoplays. The first of these is "Surging Seas," a masterful drama of the briny, and every indication points to a big entertainment value for next Monday and Tuesday at the Royal. The counter screen attraction is a new 5-act feature, and another episode of the "Daredevil Jack" serial with Jack Dempsey will also be shown these two days.

Tomorrow, the usual four acts of vaudeville, and the Fredette orchestra will be the special attractions. The photoplay features are "Tenrod and Sam" and "Broadway After Dark," two excellent screen presentations.

ALEPPO DRUM CORPS OF BOSTON COMING

The Aleppo Drum Corps of Boston, the largest Shriner band of the country, which gives a concert and dance under the auspices of the Temple club in Lowell, Thursday evening, November 6, has, up to the first of October completed 403 rehearsals, and the hours of rehearsal of the combined band total 55,742 hours, and figured on the basis of union musicians' rate, it totals $53,618.

The members of this organization, who are all amateurs with one exception, travel each Monday night for these rehearsals, which are held in their armory in Boston, various distances up to 50 miles.

This organization of 216 trained musicians cannot be hired at any price, but can be induced to go to the uttermost parts of the country to make melody for divers good causes, and are in great demand throughout the country. Few non-professional musical organizations can boast the mileage travelled by The Aleppo Drum Corps, for they have gone as far as 8000 miles on a single engagement.

This is the first time that this aggregation has given a concert in the Merrimack Valley, and those not fortunate enough to be able to hear them at the Auditorium on November 6 are going to miss a rare treat.

Any of the readers who have had the opportunity of hearing the Symphony orchestra at The Capitol Theatre in New York play in conjunction with the pipe organ at this theatre will get a fair conception of what will be heard at the Auditorium when such numbers as "The Lost Chord" are played by this body of musicians with the Auditorium organ.

If you are not fortunate enough to secure seats for this engagement, be sure and see this organization on parade at 7.30 on the night of the concert and dance.

Tickets may be procured at $1.25 each from members of The Temple club, or at Steinert's Music Store.

HELD STAG PARTY

Mr. Harold Thomas, a well known resident of the Highlands, was tendered a stag party in the German-American club last night in honor of his approaching marriage. He was presented a handsome electric floor lamp and a purse of $100 by his friends, the presentation being made by Ovit Dostaler. A buffet luncheon was served and entertaining numbers were provided by Oscar Olson, Paul Dostaler, Lawrence Condon, Richard Perry, Edward Bailey. Those responsible for the success of the party were Edward Strauss, O. Dostaler, Norman Spence and O. Olson.

Eat and Get Thin

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your druggist and get a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal, healthy reduction of excess weight. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or weakening exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the athletes. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your flabby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why don't you? Marmola Prescription Tablets are so pleasant and easy to take that anyone who is suffering the embarrassment and discomfort of overweight owes it to himself to try them. All drug stores the world over sell Marmola Prescription Tablets for one dollar a box. Or send the money direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid.—Adv.

TOPSFIELD FARMER KILLS WIFE, TWO CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Blows Head Off Infant in High Chair, Shoots Wife Dead; Reloads Gun and Kills Boy of Three and Then Ends Own Life—Three Other Children in School

TOPSFIELD, Oct. 25.—In a fit of temporary insanity, Homer Kennedy, 45, a farmer on the estate of Miss Edith Prince, here, on Prospect street, seized his brand-new shotgun, yesterday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, and murdered his wife, Harriet, 40, his three-year-old son, Richard, his 15-months-old daughter, Elizabeth, and then, turning the gun upon himself, blew his brains out. The shootings took place in the kitchen of their cottage on the estate.

A 17-year-old girl, Irene Walsh, daughter of Chief of Police William H. Walsh, was the only witness of the affair, and she fled in terror before its conclusion.

Yesterday afternoon, after high school, Miss Walsh went to visit her neighbor, Mrs. Kennedy, and to play with her babies. She said that she found Kennedy himself in the house and his wife urging him to go out for a walk. Shortly, she says, the two began to quarrel about it. "I don't care if I am moody," Kennedy said. "I'm a sick man and I won't go out."

Upon further urging by his wife, Kennedy became wildly enraged, and shouting, "I'll put you where there'll be no more bother from you," picked up his new gun, which he had been admiring, and blew off the head of his baby, Elizabeth, who was seated in her little high chair across the room.

No sooner had he done this than, warding off the attack of his frenzied wife, he placed the other barrel of the gun at her throat and pulled the trigger. The charge of shot almost decapitated the woman. Her body fell onto the hot kitchen stove, then rolled to the floor.

At this point Miss Walsh, who had been transfixed with terror, regained her senses and ran outside, screaming for help. Two men were nearby, picking apples. These two, Clem Averill and Clarence Lake, rushed over, but, as they arrived, two more shots were heard in the kitchen of the Kennedy home.

On hearing what was wrong, they rushed inside to find no living person in the shambles. Kennedy had rapidly reloaded his gun, killed his son, Richard, with one barrel, and used the other upon himself.

The Kennedys had three other children; Wayne 11, Homer, Jr., 9, and Theodore, 7. These three were at school at the time, but were now almost home. While sending word to the police, Averill and Lake also sent word to stop the three children from arriving home. Albert Lane, ticket agent at the Topsfield railroad station, heard the news just before he saw the children. He stopped them and entertained them until Mrs. Theodore Kennedy of Danvers, their aunt, took them home with her.

At first, neighbors were at a loss to understand Kennedy's action. With them all, he bore the best of reputation; a steady, sober, quiet man who was devoted to his family.

PARKER LECTURE PROGRAM SUNDAY

The season's first Moses Greeley Parker entertainment will be given at the Auditorium tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, with Hon. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of correction of the city of New York as speaker, and Millo Picco, formerly of Lowell and now widely known baritone of the Metropolitan opera company as the soloist.

Mr. Wallis will discuss the question, "Americanizing the Immigrant" and is acknowledged to be thoroughly qualified to speak intimately of this peculiar problem. He is an authority on Americanization, economic arbitration, progressive good government and on social problems of the day.

Admission to the lecture will be by the regularly issued tickets which will be honored any time after 2.15 p. m. Between 2.45 and 3 o'clock the general public will be admitted without tickets.

WILL RETURN SEALED VERICT

An action of contract brought by George W. Healey, local undertaker, against Bertha E. Boynton of Pepperell, to recover $875, the amount of a bill rendered, went to the jury in superior court here yesterday afternoon and a sealed verdict will be returned at 10 a. m. Monday.

Football Games on Virtually Every Local Playground and Park Over Week-End

Highly Charged Tigers Face Baffling Notre Dame Windmill at Princeton—Harvard Plays Dartmouth—Lafayette vs. W. & J. at Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Football games upon the eastern stage today will express a wide range of the character of the sport.

Temperament will be stressed at Princeton where the highly-charged Tigers will face the baffling Notre Dame windmill which last year blew the little brother of football's oldest family around Palmer Stadium and scored a 25 to 2 victory before Rockne turned off the speed.

During the last week Princeton has prepared as never before for any team not of the big three. Notre Dame will be without its captain and line star, Captain Adam Walsh, and the Tigers hope to aggravate his absence by charging fast enough to stop the blades of Crowley, Layden and Miller before they gain momentum.

It will mark the last appearance in the east of Rockne's famous squad of the last two years, all of whom leave school next June.

At Harvard the conservative and slowly developing Crimson will wrestle with a powerful Dartmouth eleven polished by its friction with Yale last week. The Green is favored on season's form to win, but the outcome of the contest will be vitally affected by the strength that Harvard unfolds in the slow process of preparation for the big three battles.

With the same idea in mind Tad Jones will tinker about his machine at New Haven while Yale spars with Brown in what should be a good workout for Eli.

Concerted efficiency, demonstrated in the Syracuse attack throughout th eyear, will lay its knife upon the form of Penn State, still bewildered from a 15 to 13 defeat by Georgia Tech last week, although the northern squad excelled in all departments of the game but that of scoring. The Orange, with McBride, Bowman and Foley working behind a veteran line, should win its fifth straight victory although the possibility of the Nittany Lion finding itself upon its own gridiron, is strong.

Lafayette and W. and J., choosing to abandon their home fields for a neutral ground, will engage in a game of skill at the Yankee Stadium, with continuance as one of the unbeaten elevens of the year a prize for the victor. Two seasons back W. and J. won 14 to 13. Last year it was 6 to 6. Lafayette looms as one of the strong teams of the present season and is favored to win.

Playing still farther from home are two southern elevens, West Virginia and Center, which came all the way to the Polo grounds to settle a rivalry which began five years ago in the mountains famed for their feuds.

Centre was an unknown then and West Virginia was warm with national applause following a 30 to 0 victory over Princeton. Bob McMillan, Red Roberts and Red Weaver were introduced to the football world that day as Center won 13 to 6. The spotlight has stayed from Danville in recent years and West Virginia has its hand on the switch today, eager to turn it off entirely.

Almost obscured by the visiting delegations, Columbia, New York's own eleven, will come to bitter grips art Baker Field with the brave little Williams eleven that turned Cornell out of the sweet pasture of victory after three years of fat and easy living. Family skeletons will rattle in the battle. Coach Wendell of Williams is a pupil of Percy Haughton, mentor of Columbia. The Blue and White will attempt to reverse three straight defeats by Williams and acquire the winning habit. Columbia is the biggest obstacle in the path of an undefeated season for Williams.

Rutgers and Lehigh, two touch boys, will clash at Bethlehem and the impact may knock one from the undefeated class. Rutgers had beaten Cornell and Lehigh outplayed Princeton slightly in a scoreless tie.

Pitt and Carnegie Tech will tangle at Pittsburgh in a bitter family strife. Each has already been defeated. Pennsylvania, leading eastern team in points scored and games won, should slide home over Greasy Neale's Virginia. Bucknell meets Georgetown and Fordham clashes with Holy Cross in other interesting games for their sections.

Cornell is not scheduled.

Notre Dame-Princeton Lineup

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Tiger's claws have been sharpened and his spirit prodded throughout the entire week for today's meeting with the Notre Dame Comet, which last year defeated a Roper eleven 25 to 2, in the first gridiron meeting between the two schools.

The lineup:

Referee: V. A. Schwartz; umpire, Lieut. Nelly; linesmen, Col. Mumma; field judge, F. R. Gilfinder.

Brown vs. Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—The Brown Bear and the Bulldog come to grips at Yale Bowl today. The Rhode Island visitors were not scheduled to arrive until noon, which gave them no opportunity to test out the sunshine and shadows of the big saucer before lining up for the kickoff. The game will start at 2.30 o'clock.

The line-ups are announced as follows:

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 25.—Two of the east's strongest teams, Dartmouth and Harvard, today waited the opening whistle for the clash in which the loser will mark down his first defeat of the season. Harvard chafed to wipe out the 16-0 defeat of last year and Dartmouth palmed to take the rubber game of the series which started two years ago. A clear, cool day made conditions ideal for the 51,000 spectators packed into the stadium.

An evenly matched pair was the judgment of observers. In each was seen an outstanding threat which was offset by th every strength of the other team. Harvard's edge in punters was matched by Dartmouth's superiority in ends. Both backfields are powerful and fast. Dartmouth has shown a forward passing attack which gave her two touchdowns against Yale last week. The Crimson's overhead attack has been held back, only a few passes having been attempted this season, although one led to the first score against Holy Cross. The Green line has had the advantage of two more weeks' training than their rivals but must counter the exceptional alertness of a fast aggressive group of frontiersmen.

Fallon was named by Coach Hawley as the starting Dartmouth quarterback to replace Dooley who opened the Yale game this year and last year piloted the Green to a decisive win over Harvard. Holleran, a 19-year-old tackle, has displaced Goldstein, a veteran of last season's team. Harvard's starting lineup includes only four letter men, three of whom, Hammond, Greenough, and Cheek, tried to stop Dartmouth last year. Gehrke, who did not play last year, helped defeat the Green two years ago.

Since their first meeting in 1884, today's rivals have met 29 times, Harvard winning 24 games, Dartmouth 3. Two games were tied. The announced line-up follows:

DARTMOUTH		HARVARD
Tully, le		lt, E. Bradford
Holleran, lt		lt, Linder
Diehl, lg		lg, Kilgour
Whittaker, c		c, Adie
Smith, rg		rg, Daley

BY BILLY EVANS

Just at present left handed pitchers seem to dominate the major league batsmen.

So pronounced is the superiority of the southpaws over the swatters that Eddie Collins, half in jest and half in earnest, remarked to me one day last summer:

"Now that I am nearly through as an infielder, I only wish I threw left handed. I would start pitching and stick around for about 10 more years."

The White Sox had been beaten that afternoon by a southpaw, who in the language of the ball field is regarded as a "nothing pitcher."

By way of explanation, a "nothing pitcher" to the diamond athletes is a twirler who has nothing to feel the batter, just nice speed to hit and an easy curve to follow.

However, in these days of the lively ball the "nothing pitcher" is quite successful.

Southpaws Jolt Giants

No one would ever accuse Southpaws Zachary and Mogridge of Washington of having the stuff of "Rube" Waddell, yet they stood the Giants on their heads in the recent world series, after Walter Johnson, with a world of stuff, had failed.

The supremacy of the southpaw in pitching circles has caused the major league magnates to comb the country for likely material.

Just as the season closed Washington announced that it had purchased the veteran Vean Gregg from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Sensational Comeback

An injury robbed Gregg of much of his stuff, he slipped to the minors for a few years then retired from baseball. Now at an age close to the forty mark, he is doing a sensational comeback.

At the close of the world series Connie Mack of the Athletics broke into print in big headlines with the announcement that he had purchased Pitcher Groves of Baltimore for a trifle more than $100,000 and a few German marks.

In Groves, Mack gets the minor league pitching sensation of the last two years. Every major league club has been angling for his services. Big figures have been offered Jack Dunn for his prize left hander. Evidently Connie Mack must have made a flattering proposition to the Baltimore magnate.

Groves has had two phenomenal years at Baltimore. His great work figured largely in the winning of the last two pennants.

Groves, Strikeout King

He is the strikeout king of the league. In 1923 he established a record for the International by whiffing 330 men in 303 innings, an average of better than one an inning. Some pitching, believe me.

Groves' greatest fault is his wildness. It may be a bigger handicap than ever in the majors, where a pitcher inclined to be wild is walled out much more than in the minors.

If Groves is 75 per cent efficient for Mack, he will have repaid Connie for the generous money outlay. Should Groves prove a consistent winner, beware the Athletics.

All-America Possibility

ERNIE NEVERS

"One of the greatest football players I have ever coached. He doesn't seem to have a weakness."

That is the compliment Glenn Warner, head coach at Stanford, pays Ernie Nevers, his star fullback.

Warner, who has developed some of the greatest football players in the history of the game, is enthusiastic over the work of Nevers.

The west looks for Nevers to win a place on the mythical All-America team this year, if he plays up to expectations.

Nevers is a triple-threat man, punting consistently 50 yards, gets off long and accurate passes and hits the line hard.

Nevers is a junior. He was the outstanding star of the team last year. He weighs 205 pounds, is 22 years old and stands six feet.

Aside from his football duties he pitches for the varsity team and stars in the track.

11 Crack Auto Drivers Compete in 250-Mile Event for $25,000 Cash Prizes

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 25.—Eleven crack automobile drivers were ready today for the inaugural race of Charlotte's new $300,000 motor speedway, a 250-mile event, for $25,000 in cash prizes. The winner's share was $9000 with $5000 to the second man, and the remaining $11,000 divided among the other starters.

The race marked the opening of automobile championship racing in the south under sanction of the American Automobile association.

The new board speedway has a mile and a quarter lap. During practice the world's speed record for a single lap was broken when Bennett Hill made 136.4 miles an hour.

LICHTENSTEIN'S BOXERS BARRED IN MINNESOTA

DULUTH, Mich., Oct. 25.—Larney Lichtenstein of Chicago and all pugilists under his management were barred from Minnesota rings after two of his proteges committed fouls in contests here last night.

Lew Snyder of Bayonne, N. J., was disqualified in the first round after he had struck Stewart McLean of St. Paul, low. McLean had knocked Snyder down twice and punished him badly. The other contest in which a Lichtenstein fighter was accused of foul tactics was a preliminary bout.

AT BUNTING PARK

The Lowell Y.M.S.C. soccer club, leading the Industrial league, will face a tough opponent in the Smith and Dove team at Bunting park tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 3 o'clock. This afternoon the Y.M.S.C. outfit went to Worcester for a clash with the Whitalls.

Gridiron Gossip

Spirited battles will be staged by local teams on the following gridirons tomorrow:

Butler A. A. vs. Sacred Hearts of East Boston on old Fair grounds.

Ponies vs. Butler Independents on First street oval.

Kenwood Rovers vs. Wanderers on North common.

Bowers R. X. vs. Mysteries on North common.

O. M. I. Cadets vs. University A. C. at Peabody.

Indians vs. Lion A. C. at Haverhill.

St. Peter's Cadets vs. Newton A. A. at Newton.

Acre Athletics vs. St. Joseph's at Peabody.

In connection with the above games, we pick the Butlers to defeat the East Boston S. H. team by a score of 20 to 0; the Ponies to beat the Butler Independents, 6 to 0; the Kenwood Rovers to take the Wanderers, 12 to 0; the Bowers R. X. to defeat the Mysteries, 12 to 6; the O. M. I. Cadets to beat the University A. C. 18 to 0; the Indians to tie the Lion A. C. 7-7; the St. Peter's Cadets to whip the Newton A. A. 6 to 0, and the Acre Athletics to defeat St. Joseph's, 6 to 0.

That statement in last night's gossip by Manager Walsh of the Butlers anent the letting of Alumni field to local football teams on Sundays free of charge, was favorably received in many quarters. Hundreds of fans would welcome the idea of the association in revising its schedule of taxation to allow semi-pro teams to play there on Sunday. As Manager Walsh points out, this is the only day of the week when a fair representation of fans can be gathered together.

The Alumni field squabble begins to look like the calling off of the annual O.M.I. Cadet-Butler engagement. Both teams are anxious to play and thousands of fans are awaiting the signing of agreements, but all apparently are doomed to disappointment—unless Alumni field can be secured on a Sunday with the teams advancing money for the grid and then being prevented from taking up a collection.

It has been proposed that the business managers provide concessions at the park and individual collections would be non essential. At the same time, the contesting teams would be within the law.

The Butler-Cadet game cannot be played on Thanksgiving day, as the Butlers have already booked the Cleveland Panthers for that occasion.

"Pete" Sheehan has recovered from recent injuries sustained in a scrimmage at Dean academy. He got into the game with Dartmouth Freshmen yesterday.

Spencer Sullivan, former star guard on the Lowell high team, is trying hard for the regular berth on the Canisius college eleven at Buffalo, N. Y.

The West Ends, a Broadway element, have organized a 120-125 pound team and would like games with teams of that weight. Timmy Sullivan, well-known Acre-ite and former athlete, is coaching the team.

The South common has been added to the list of playing fields for tomorrow. On this gridiron, the St. Peter's Cadets Seconds will play the Unities.

The Dracut Warriors will clash with the Collinsville Bearcats in Collinsville tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

These scores are merely conjectural. Football is so uncertain that upsets are liable to come at any moment. For instance, the Sacred Heart of East Boston with an array of ex-college and high school stars, may turn the tables on the Butlers and walk away with an easy victory. The East Boston players are no slouches. Their record of three successive wins without a first down being scored against them is truly an achievement that calls for a second thought. Regardless of preliminary guesses, tomorrow's clash on the old Fair grounds is sure to attract attention. The kickoff will take place at 2.30 o'clock with James J. Bruin, mayoralty aspirant doing the honors.

It's a pretty tough proposition to pick a winner in the Ponies-Butler Independent clash on the First street oval. One might just toss up a coin to decide the winner. Evenly matched and rearing to go, both teams are capable of landing the verdict. Whichever outfit wins will at least know it has been in a football match.

The crack St. Peter's Cadets will play the Newton A. A. at Newton tomorrow. Manager Eddie Rogers tried hard to secure the St. Mary's Cadets of Lawrence for a game here, but arrangements fell through. The next home game for the St. Peter's will be against the St. Augustine's of South Boston in this city a week from tomorrow.

In the game with East Boston on the old Fair grounds tomorrow afternoon, Coach O'Hare will select his starting team from the following: Ends, McMahon, Conley, Mullin, Burke; tackles, Whitely, Mullin, Bond, Armstrong, Sheehan; guards, Winters, McArdle, Brown, Sheehan, Corkery; centre, McMahon, White; backs, O'Hare, Chase, Conway, Loucraft, Willard, Rogers, Britton.

Boston college will not play Syracuse next fall. The orange would like very much to take on the Eagles again but the fact that Nebraska is to be put back on the schedule in 1925 forbids this. Chick Mehan does not feel that his team could play two strong teams as Nebraska and B.C. in one season.

Princeton and the Navy will play at Annapolis next year. It is to be the big home game on the Middies' 1925 schedule.

The Lafayette team, which played the Butlers here a couple of weeks ago, is playing the Lion A.C. of Haverhill in a benefit game on the Everett high school grounds this afternoon. The Lowell Indians will play the Lions in Haverhill tomorrow afternoon.

When the Ponies take the field against the Butler independents on the First street oval tomorrow, they will have in their backfield George Keefe, former "L" man on the Lowell high school squad. After his graduation from the high school, George went to Boston college and while he did not participate in varsity athletics at that institution, he was prominently identified with class sports.

Last year Keefe played a few games with the Oakleaves of Centralville and was a bulwark in offensive play. He has been practicing regularly with the horsemen and will start against the Independents in first class shape.

Lowell high took along about 35 men to Fitchburg today. The new shelter coats similar to those worn by Manchester were distributed to the members of the first and second teams just before the boys left.

The Lowell high third team lost to Howe high in Billerica yesterday afternoon. The score was 13 to 0. In a previous game with the Howe clique the score ended at six all. A. Reynolds and Sadler did tah scoring for the Billerica men yesterday.

That meeting of the Kenwood Rovers and the Wanderers on the North common tomorrow afternoon will be the third successive clash between these outfits. Both former games have resulted in tie scores, so that the elevens have a fighting incentive to give their best tomorrow.

A large truck load of fans will accompany the O.M.I. Cadets to Peabody tomorrow. The truck will leave the corner of Bowers and Salem streets at 12.30 o'clock.

Y.W.C.A. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Mrs. Edward F. Wellington of Malden was the speaker before a meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. She spoke of the importance of woman exercising the franchise at the polls on Nov. 4 and explained the referenda on the ballot. Mrs. Murdock MacKinnon presided at the business session. Several vocal numbers were given by Miss M. Giverson and refreshments were served.

AT FORGE VILLAGE

At Forge Village tomorrow afternoon, the Abbot Worsted soccer team will line up against the Clan McGregor outfit in a state cup series game. This afternoon the Abbots played the Saylesville team on the latter's grounds.

The industrial league team represented by Abbot Worsted played Smith and Dove of Andover at Forge Village this afternoon.

WISE COUNSELLOR AND SARAZEN FACE BARRIER

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 25.—Wise Counsellor, Frederick A. Burton's two-time conqueror of Epinard, and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Sarazen, who broke the Latonia track record to lead the famous French horse across the line in the Latonia stakes, are carded to face the barrier today in the $10,000 Maryland handicap. The race will be over a route of a mile and a quarter and is the fifth event on the program.

Five other three-year olds have accepted the challenge. They are Sun Flag, Aga Khan Initiate, Hustle and Big Blaze, all notable performers. Sarazen has been rated a four pound better horse than Wise Counsellor, the weights being 126 to 122.

PAAVO NURMI SAILS FOR U. S. ON NOV. 6

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Paavo Nurmi, star middle distance runner, who competed for Finland at the Olympic games, will sail for America Nov. 6 and will make his first appearance in a two-months campaign at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6 at the meet of the Finnish-American A.C.

Nurmi will also compete in the municipal games on Jan. 16 and at the Millrose games Jan. 27 and 28, Frederick W. Rublen, A.A.U. secretary, who divulged Nurmi's plans, said.

ROJAS LOST DECISION, THEN FINED $500

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 25.—After he had lost the newspaper decision to Martin Burke, New Orleans, in a ten-round bout here last night, Quintin Romero-Rojas, heavyweight champion of Chile, was fined $500 by the Minnesota boxing commission, it was announced today.

The commission held that Rojas violated a contract with the local fight club in failing to arrive here within a specified time and in failing to post a $250 forfeit before the contest with Burke.

JESS WILLARD'S FARM TO BE SOLD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—The farm of Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion boxer, near Grantville, Kas., will be sold at auction Oct. 25 and Willard will make his permanent home in California.

WILL HOLD RUMMAGE SALE

The Ladies of Charity of St. John's hospital will hold a rummage sale next Friday and Saturday in the old Courier-Citizen building in the square. All old clothing, furniture, hats, etc., will be accepted by the committee in charge and may be brought to the building Tuesday or Wednesday. If unable to bring the articles a call to 5980 will bring someone to deliver them for you. Men's clothing is particularly wanted but all articles will be thankfully received.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE

The first in a series of five sessions to be held under the direction of Miss Beatrice Billings, assistant home demonstration department, Middlesex county extension service, will be given on Wednesday next in the school house in Tyngsboro at 3 o'clock. The topic to be explained at this meeting will be "Food Selection" and will without doubt be of much educational benefit to the housewife.

MAINE VISITORS HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Herve Thibodeau of Caribou, Me., who are honeymooning in this city were agreeably surprised last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Theberge of Centralville. Miss Florence Taylor, in behalf of the many friends gathered to honor the couple, presented them a number of beautiful gifts, while Miss Alice Theberge, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theberge read an address of congratulation. Mr. and Mrs. Thebodeau responded in a fitting manner. A program of musical numbers was enjoyed during the evening and refreshments were served.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

Led Daly's orchestra, a musical aggregation which is proving the season's sensation, will be featured at a dancing party to be conducted by the Twentieth Century club next Monday evening, at the Girls' City club. The Twentieth Century club, consists of four prominent young men who promise their friends an exceptionally good time on next Monday night. The club members are confident that all who attend their dance will look forward eagerly to similar affairs in the near future and under the same auspices.

PRE-WEDDING SHOWER

Miss Grace Lord who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Francis J. Hanley, was agreeably surprised Wednesday evening when about 40 of her friends gathered at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louis Lord in Powell street and showered her with numerous gifts of silver, cut glass and linen. A mock marriage was the feature of the evening in which the Misses Katherine Martin, Mayetta McMahon and Mrs. Gertrude Entwistle participated. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Herbert Dawson and Mrs. Royal Sweeney.

EDUCATIONAL CLUB

Rev. Appleton Granuls, rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church will be the speaker before the Educational club at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Kitson hall. "Mormonism, Its Growth and Influence" will be his topic. A full attendance is requested.

AN INTERESTING REPORT

Director of Physical Education Submits Report to School Committee

Organized recess play, utilization of vacant rooms in junior high schools, the erection of double portable building in the yards of junior high schools, and the setting aside of a separate budget for the running expenses of the physical education department of the city's public schools, are suggestions contained in a report submitted to each individual member of the school committee by Donald R. MacIntyre, director of the department.

At the August meeting of the school board, it was voted to have the director of physical education report on conditions and facilities for athletics in the public schools. Mr. MacIntyre appeared in person before the board at the September meeting, but because of the importance of other business, it was suggested that he submit his report in writing. This he has done with the following enlightening result:

The Plan—The supervisor of physical education is the director of the department. He being responsible to the superintendent and through him to the school committee.

His duties are to arrange lessons suitable for the various grades, detail to schools and supervise the work of the physical instructors, and visit individual rooms from time to time to observe work done in the home room, to organize and administer athletics in the junior high schools.

The instructors are responsible to the supervisor. They conduct ninth grade junior high school classes twice per week, and all other grades once per week. Other duties are to demonstrate and interpret the lesson to be carried on in their absence, to observe for physical defects and correct them wherever possible, to coach the various sports in their season and to give as much of their time as possible in promoting healthful play among students.

To the principal falls the responsibility for the work in his school and the arranging of a program which allows 75 minutes per week for the pupils. The difference in time between that spent in the room by the instructor and the 75 minutes can be arranged as best suits the administration of a particular school. The department works in close co-operation with the health department.

The Work—In the high school the freshmen and seniors take the work in this department. Freshmen drill three times per week and seniors twice. Class work consists of marching, calisthenics, apparatus, games. Military marching is given in order that there shall be no radical changes in commands or movements when boys enter the regiment. Apparatus work is given on horse, parallel bars, stall bars, horizontal bars, flying wings, chest weights and springboard. Calisthenics consist of free arm and hand apparatus exercises. Games played vary with the seasons. Representative teams are coached by instructors outside of school hours and membership on teams is optional with the pupil. An exhibition of work is held in April and May. Physical and medical examinations are given and corrective exercises to those who are found defective.

Junior High School

In the junior high schools we try to co-ordinate the work so that girls are ready for sophomore senior high school gymnastics and boys are ready for the regiment.

However, the work given can not be put across as thoroughly as in the high school freshman class because we are away behind in facilities.

There are halls in our junior high schools which we are not allowed to use. But if these spaces could be used without injury to the structure I would strongly advocate their being utilized. The wall decorations and pictures could be protected by suspended nettings. However, if the building would suffer by their use the only other suggestion at present for finding suitable space is the erection of double portables in the yards of the junior high schools.

The Varnum and Butler schools are without are facilities that are desirable. The Bartlett school has a gymnasium, but the room in which some girls' classes are held is about 18x18 feet on the basement floor and is open directly on the corridor side. A very unsatisfactory condition.

The Morey school has a hall in which we attempt to carry on work with boys and girls. A beaver board partition about 7 feet high is all that separates the classes. One class disturbs the other. There is also a stage in this hall which I think if taken out and suitable partitions put in we could do better work.

DONALD R. MacINTYRE

The conditions are also a handicap to the instructors who have no private rooms in which to change their clothing for class work and no conveniences of shower rooms after finishing with their classes. As it is they conduct their classes in their street clothes and at the end of the sessions go out into the open in a more or less heated condition. Their vitality is naturally lowered by their work and going into the open in this condition makes them fit subjects for contracting colds and becoming ill.

Games and Athletics

It is the desire of the department to have every child active in games. One method of doing this is by means of organized recess play. But there is so much to be said on both sides that the department doesn't wish to attempt this organization without definite permission. The opponents of organized recess play will argue that the recess period is the child's free period and should not be taken up in this manner. However, if there were teams of boys and girls definitely chosen and not allowed to change, there would be the advantage of inculcating loyalty to a group and loyalty to school. I would give the child advantage of developing leadership, another very desirable quality. There would be something definite doing at recess other than the present unorganized period. If after giving organized recess play a fair chance it were then dropped I feel that the children would continue along the lines of their own accord rather than return to the old regime. The object isn't to teach the child to play—all children can play; it is just to organize and definitely supervise the play.

In athletics we have organized leagues in which the junior high schools have representative teams. The leagues have been highly successful in baseball, basket ball and track competition has been keen and throughout the schools there has been great enthusiasm.

However, in football we are up against the problem of equipment. It seems to be out of the question to ask boys to play this game unless we can give them the protection offered by proper equipment. The next best thing we can do is to give them football in theory and as much of the practice in fundamentals as our facilities will allow. These boys are losing one year in high school and the result naturally will be that as sophomores their value to a varsity coach will not be as great as the regular high school freshman. The instructors in the junior high schools giving instruction to these pupils would be of great assistance to the varsity coach because they could give the boys the fundamentals and practice necessary in the beginning of team formations.

The girls have no real big out-door game, but the department would like to develop field hockey for girls of the ninth grade. Then again the equipment is lacking.

The equipment which was required for early in the year has not been delivered with the exception of that necessary for the functioning of the baseball league. The department cannot function efficiently under the handicap of no equipment. It is going to be a heavy expense in getting the initial equipment, but if the department is to grow and develop the expense must be met.

I would suggest that a separate budget be set aside for the running expenses of the department and that it be used only for this purpose.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, reports, the following sales negotiated during the past week:

On behalf of Vincent J. McCann, conveyance has been negotiated of an attractive suburban property situated on Carleton abenue near its junction with Gorham street in East Chelmsford. The house is of 1½-story type with seven rooms and occupies a tract of land in excess of 20,000 square feet. The grantees are Mrs. Marcella T. Clark and Mrs. Allison M. Clark, both at the present time residents of Chelmsford.

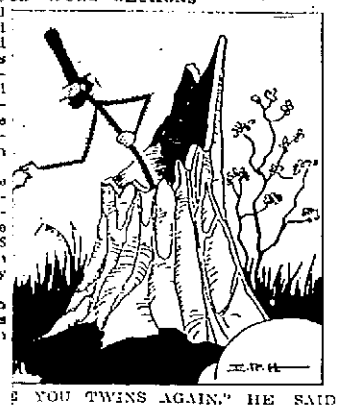

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a modern two-apartment property at 69-71 Fort Hill avenue. The apartments have seven rooms and bath each and the property throughout is of the highest grade of construction. The land involved totals 5340 square feet and carries an assessment at the rate of 25 cents per foot. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the Final papers have been recorded in the purchase and sale of the property situated at 138 Ennell street. The property consists of an eight-room cottage house containing all improvements. About 5000 square feet of land are contained in the deed. Peter J. Largay and Josephine Largay convey title to Arthur Rivanis and Efthimia Rivanis, who buy for a home.

Also the sale of the large dry goods store situated at 143 Lakeview avenue. The stock, fixtures and good will in this store are conveyed to Anna Fudim by John Kochanek.

REPORT NEW ATTACK ON SHANGHAIKWAN

PEKING, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press)—It was stated authoritatively here that General Wu Pei-Fu, Chihli military leader, who was reported to have fled to Tsing-Tao with his troops, had launched today a heavy attack on the Shanghaikwan front in an attempt to turn the right flank of the opposing force of General Chang Tso-Lin, the war lord.

General Wu, it was believed here, apparently determined to try for a quick final decision in his war of General Chang by assuming the offensive instead of a strategic withdrawal. His men evidently were unaware of the recent events in Peking brought about by the defection of the "Christian" General Feng Yu-Hsiang, and their morale was reported as excellent.

GAVE LIFE IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE 22 HORSES

CROSS COUNTRY RUN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—In the junior A.A.U. championship cross-country run held here over a three-mile course, Thomas Edwards of Crosby high school, Waterbury, was the winner in the time of 17 minutes, 10 seconds. Crosby high school and the Yale Junior varsity tied for team total with 49 points each while the Cygnet A. C., of Portchester was third with 72 points and New Haven high school, the only other entrant, was last, with 81 points.

BERNSTORFF NOT CANDIDATE

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Friends of Count von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States, learn that he is not inclined to be a candidate for re-election to the reichstag and that in all probability he will retire from elective politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Marland Oil Co., sponsored by the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., which has just bought $20,000,000 of its two-year 5 per cent notes maturing in 1926, reports net income of $2,175,453 for the first eight months of 1924 after interest, abandoned wells and leseases, in addition to reserve of $2,012,232 for depreciation and depletion. This is equal to $140 a share on the capital stock.

LIST GIVEN BY MELLON FULL OF INACCURACIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Charges that a list of duplicated bonds furnished the special house committee investigating the bureau of engraving and printing by Secretary Mellon was "full of inaccuracies and misstatements," was made before committee today by Charles B. Brewer, committee investigator.

"The list furnished is only a partial list of duplicated bonds because a great many have been destroyed," said Brewer.

"It is for the committee to determine who is telling the biggest lies," interposed Representative King, republican, Illinois.

WILL MEET HOTEL MANAGEMENT EXPERT

George L. Macfarlane of New York city, an expert on hotel management, will confer with the hotel committee of the chamber of commerce next Monday noon. Mr. Macfarlane has studied the hotel game thoroughly and it is expected that he will have several important suggestions to make in connection with plans to erect and maintain a large modern hotel in this city.

PRESIDENT OF PEKING GOVERNMENT RESIGNS

PEKING, Oct. 25—(By the Associated Press) Tsao Kun has resigned the presidency of the Central Chinese government.

It is understood that General Feng Yu-Hsiang, who is in control of the capital, has instructed the cabinet to carry on.

A mandate last night by President Tsao-Kun ending the war in which the Peking forces had been resisting the armies of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, and exiling General Wu Pei-Fu, military head of the Peking government to Tibet, led to the assumption that Manchurian and Peking military chieftains had reached an agreement.

The surmise that the overthrow of the Peking government by General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian general," was with the knowledge and probably by agreement, of General Chang Tso-Lin, was voiced in many quarters.

SAYS TEXAS LIZARD FATHER OF ALL SNAKES

NORTHAMPTON, Oct. 25.—A lizard that roamed through Texas 25,000,000 years ago was father of all snakes, it was said in a paper by Dr. W. H. Ballou of New York that was prepared for the meeting of the American Society of Ichtyologists and Herpetologists at Smith college today. It took more than 10,000,000 years for the lizard to become a snake, having got rid of the legs with which it leaped, and most of its bones, together with a third eye that was on the top of the head. A gigantic serpent that flourished in Patagonia some 5,000,000 years ago was said to be the conclusion of this development; with the solid roofed skull of the lizard changed to include ears, and a mouth that could be opened widely with sharp teeth that could be turned forward to seize prey, and backward to swallow.

R. R. FIREMAN UNCONSCIOUS

PUTNAM, Conn., Oct. 25.—Joseph Hoppman, the fireman on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad passenger train which collided with a freight train here late yesterday remained unconscious today and the chances of recovery are slight in the opinion of the surgeons at the Day Kimball hospital. Hoppman was buried from the cab and it is thought he was internally hurt and probably has a fractured skull. The other men hurt are resting comfortably. A wrecker worked all night clearing the tracks.

TYPE-B SEDAN

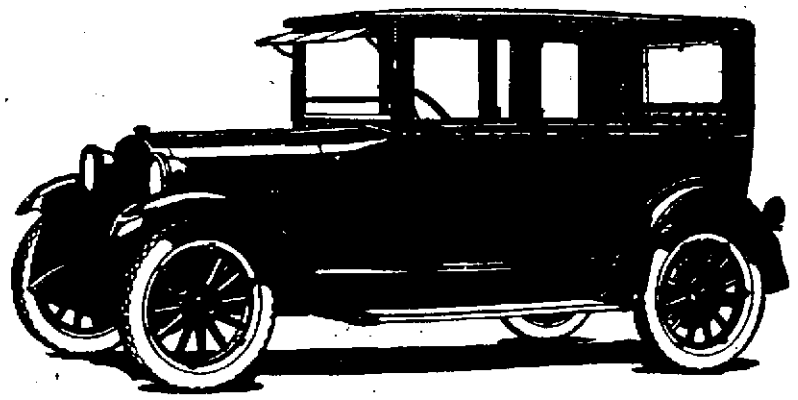

This car is now driven by a great many people who never before owned, and never intended to own a closed car.

It is driven daily over roads that heretofore were considered too rough and too heavy for anything except the sturdiest open cars.

As a matter of fact, the Type-B Sedan is as sturdy as an open car, and was built by Dodge Brothers for the same identical kind of service.

THE TIDE EBBS TO

Just nine days until election.

Less than two weeks until the citizens of polls to register a decision affecting the future And it is not strange that as the end of th prejudiced observers should see a realignment where except in the south as a result of a clar principles.

Fogs of prejudice and partisanship that of many voters at the beginning of this strangest c in American history, endured longer than they could circumstances; but they have been dissipated under the-shoulder onslaughts of John W. Davis, revealing demagoguery of the republican leaders in the interest

Mr. Coolidge's man Butler played the trump car when he inflicted upon the country his fairy tale of a c lette "conspiracy" to throw the election into congre failed, utterly and completely, but proved to be the prize boomerang of the most insipid campaign ever waged by a major political party.

Davis today has the edge on the Coolidge-Dawes lineup in many states that even democrats were ready to concede to the republican column only a few weeks ago. Republicans by the thousands now are face to face with the realization that hope of a Coolidge victory is naught but a fanciful dream. So has the republican chairman's attempt to stampede the electorate into supporting his candidate reacted upon his party.

It's Davis or congress, and of the two, the country is swinging to the support of Davis, with a great band of intelligent voters holding to the belief that election by congress is preferable to four more years of republican rule such as we have had under the Harding-Coolidge administration. The republicans and the favored interests are rolling up a big campaign fund to carry the election; but this year it will be found more difficult than formerly to purchase the election by pouring money into the close states. Senator Borah and Senator Walsh of Montana are watching the course of events; and hence not even Manager Butler will dare attempt the venality so openly advocated by Mark Hanna and Tom Platt.

It is fortunate that we have a few such able defenders of the rights of the people and such exponents of honest government as the two senators mentioned, our own Senator Walsh, and above them all John W. Davis who as president will give the nation an administration rivalling that of President Wilson from 1912 to 1920, one of the most prosperous eras in our entire history.

CURLEY AND HIS CRITICS

Daily for several weeks past the Boston Herald has been devoting its leading editorial to attacks upon James M. Curley, the democratic candidate for governor. Of course, every candidate who is running for office must expect to meet opposition and even criticism; but the Herald has been unfair and occasionally also untruthful in its onslaughts on Mr. Curley.

For example, in a recent issue, its editorial against Curley was headed "Me and the Gang." That expression implied that Curley is an uneducated and uncultured political boor whose chief aim in conducting the business of the city of Boston is to provide a gang of heelers with jobs. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The fact is that the powers of the mayor of Boston are so restricted by acts of the legislature that he has little opportunity to do anything of the kind. Owing to the officious interference of the republican legislature, the city of Boston is far from enjoying real home rule. Not only the civil service laws but others applied to Boston alone, prohibit the mayor from exercising such favoritism as the Herald charges against Mayor Curley in its editorials, including that headed "Me and the Gang." That phrase might more fittingly be applied to some of the republican candidates than to Mayor Curley who is one of the most eloquent and polished speakers in the commonwealth. That slang expression is coined deliberately by the Herald with the obvious purpose of identifying Mr. Curley with the lowest elements in the political life of the city, which shows that the Herald is thus resorting to political tactics that should be held beneath the dignity of a great paper, even in the heat of a strenuous campaign.

The Herald has drawn many unjust deductions from the reduction in the state tax under Gov. Cox and the alleged increase in the net debt of the city under Mayor Curley; but the mayor has ably exposed the injustice of the assertions thus made to prejudice his candidacy with the public. For instance, he shows that much of the "economy" boasted of in state affairs has been due to an increase in the fees for motor vehicles.

In an able and exhaustive reply to his critics on these charges he says: "The circumstances, therefore, surrounding the reduction in the state tax for 1924 may be summed up as follows: Whereas the state authorities would imply that the reduction was due to economies, effected in the conduct of the various state activities, the truth of the matter is that the cut was made possible largely as a direct result of the increases in funds received from the registration of motor vehicles, which, for the first time in the history of the state have made it unnecessary to appropriate money from general revenue for highway construction and maintenance.

"On the basis of the actual receipts for 1922 the state authorities could have increased their estimate of income for 1923 by at least one million dollars, which would have reduced the state tax for 1923 by at least half a million dollars."

Moreover, Mr. Curley shows that part of the alleged economies practiced by Gov. Cox consisted in the neglect or refusal to carry through necessary work which is a negative and unprogressive species of economy.

Relative to the increase in the net city debt which the Herald and other critics charge has been increased by $8,000,000 under Mayor Curley, Representative Adlow shows that if the rapid transit debt as of April 30, 1924, be excluded, the increase is but $45,000, and on this point Mayor Curley shows that the amount of loans authorized, but not issued on April, 1924, was $8,472,000, that this amount represented an increase of $3,678,500 during his administration. He shows further, that of the total loans authorized, but not issued, $4,084,000 was authorized by acts of the legislature, yet his critics hold him responsible for these deliberate acts of the Great and General Court. Besides, no unissued loan can be included in the net city debt. Thus Curley shows how his critics are misrepresenting the facts of his administration as well as the financial standing of the city of Boston.

The mayor also quotes the banking firm of Harris, Forbes & Company to the effect that Boston ranks first in credit standing among the ten largest cities of the country. This statement is based upon the tax rate and the ratio of the city debt to its revenues. All of which indicates the unfair tactics being used in an effort to accomplish Mayor Curley's defeat.

DAVIS WON LABOR VICTORY

Since the announcement of the decision by the United States supreme court, upholding the section of the Clayton act which provides that a labor leader cited for contempt outside the court, is entitled to a trial by jury, John W. Davis has been overwhelmed with telegrams of congratulations from all parts of the country. These recall the fact that it was Mr. Davis who wrote this particular section of the act and who led the fight on the floor of the house of representatives on July 9, 1912, for the adoption of this provision. He maintained at that time, that this feature of the act was constitutional although it had been attacked in congress on the ground that it would not stand the constitutional test.

Labor leaders in great number are among those who have offered their felicitations to Mr. Davis on this great victory. Among these are George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's association of Tennessee; Robert N. Dynum, state chairman of Printing Pressmen's union of Columbia, S. C.; Thomas J. McHugh, North Summitt, Indianapolis, Ind.; Arthur A. Quinn, president of the New Jersey federation of labor with a membership of 120,000; Theodore M. Brandle, chairman, district council, Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of New York and New Jersey and president of the Hudson County Building Trades, New Jersey; William Lyons, president of the Essex County Building Trades, and a great many others.

It is not surprising that labor leaders hasten to congratulate Mr. Davis on this splendid victory which marks a new epoch in the standing of labor organizations in the courts of the United States. If there have been cases in which the courts exercised arbitrary authority or overstepped their judicial powers, this decision of the supreme court providing that contempt cases shall be entitled to trial by jury offers ample protection against any petty tyranny that might be exercised by an abuse of judicial authority. It is really a great victory for organized labor and one which results almost entirely from the personal efforts and judicial acumen of John W. Davis. This is an entirely just restriction upon judicial power and an ample guarantee of justice in contempt cases.

BOARD OF PUBLIC SERVICE

There is much discussion over the status of the board of public service as a department of our city government. The present city charter known as Plan B does not provide for such a board, but permits its adoption by the city council. The board was created by the so-called Casey charter, and as it was giving satisfaction and seemed to offer a practical method of conducting several of the city departments, it was retained by the city council with the same powers it enjoyed under the former charter. Now, however, it becomes necessary to modify part of the arrangements for the direction of the street and other departments. It is desired to give the city engineer full authority, under the direction of the board, of course, over the street and other departments. If it be required to make this a fixed and permanent rule, an ordinance will be necessary for the purpose, although the board can select the heads of the departments under its jurisdiction without special authorization by the city council.

MacCRACKEN FOR DAVIS

President MacCracken of Vassar college, long a republican, has announced that he will vote for Davis for president because he "prefers a man to a myth." He states that he knows John W. Davis to be the leading lawyer of the American bar and that his record is an open book.

President MacCracken criticizes the course of President Coolidge when as vice president he sat at cabinet meetings with Fall, Denby and Daugherty and charges that when he became president he saw no reason for changing these members of the cabinet. In taking this view of the president's course Mr. MacCracken is simply voicing an opinion that is rapidly spreading throughout the country and turning political sentiment against the president and his party.

W. U. CABLE TO ROME

It is announced that the Western Union Telegraph company is starting to lay a new cable between New York and Rome, a distance of 5422 miles. Such a cable must cost a fabulous amount. The investment indicates that the company does not expect radio to supplant the ordinary submarine cable at least for many years to come. Both will be needed, and if the time should come that radio can be used with absolute privacy, then the Western Union and other telegraph companies will be glad to abandon their submarine cables which always need costly repairs.

TYPEWRITING

About 250,000 American-made typewriters a year are being sold to foreign countries. Not many, when you consider the population of the outside world and their average inferior writing machines.

Ours is the first country in which penmanship has become a lost art. We have a mechanical nation—and so far, our civilization is nine-tenths mechanics. The artistic and spiritual and intellectual will come later. Right now America is solving the problem of making a living easily. Once solved, our best brains will turn to so-called "higher pursuits."

THE ENGINE STOPS

We live very close to the thin wall that separates us from the hereafter, even though we do not realize the fact.

William Olson of Chicago came home to his rooming house so happy and full of pep that he danced a jig. Suddenly he fell dead. His engine was worn out and he didn't know it.

When a cotton mill like the Amoskeag, of Manchester, N. H., the largest in the world, passes the annual dividend after reporting a loss of $2,800,000 in a year, there must be something serious amiss. The condition of that mill is apparently worse than the average. It would be interesting to get a fair and candid statement of the causes that led to this unfavorable condition. Is it poor management, labor troubles or just the effect of poor business?

On election day the polls will be open from 6 a. m. till 6 p. m., which should give everybody ample time to vote. It will throw the counting of the ballots back quite a little, but that cannot be avoided.

The municipal candidates are not waiting till after November 4 to push their appeals on the voters, as rallies are being held nightly on street corners and in the homes. After election day, however, we may expect bedlam to break loose.

The Prince of Wales can truthfully say that so far as he could see, the only effect of prohibition in the United States is to cause the drinking to be done in secluded places, chiefly behind closed doors.

Strabo V. Claggett, candidate for state auditor, is not satisfied with ordinary political burial of his opponent, Alonzo Cook. He wants him put down so deep that he will be held sizzling for all time over the roof of Hades.

SEEN AND HEARD

Beauty and brains together are twice too much.

It took six days to make the world, but it frequently seems to have been changed overnight.

At a late hour one Sunday night an observer at Pittsburgh saw a small boy sitting on the curb under a street light getting his lessons for the next day.

The streets in Knoxville, Penn., aren't as good as they might be. After a heavy rainstorm some playful wag tacked a notice on a pole opposite one of the holes in a street, "No fishing allowed here. By order of the burgess."

In Berlin, Germany, children are required by regulations of the street car company to give up their seats to "ladies" and all older persons. Asked for a ruling as to when a girl becomes a "lady," the company set the age at 12.

A seven-story structure in Chicago, which was carried a distance of 54 feet to a new site, is said to be the largest building ever moved. The task was accomplished with five two-horse teams, which operated five capstans and pulled the load through 14,000 feet of steel cable.

A Thought

Fewer possess virtue than those who wish us to believe that they possess it.—Cicero.

Very Wet Wedding

The Rev. A. N. Lindsey, pastor of the Christian church at Clinton, Mo., baptized and married a couple in the baptismal font. They were Charles Dale of Yale, Okla., and Miss Doris White of Clinton. The rites of baptism were first conferred and the young people remained standing in the water while the marriage ceremony was said.

Quick Service

"It may have been three, as I was in a hurry for shaving water, but that doesn't excuse you for bursting in the door." "Beg pardon," replied the boy, as he backed out, "but it's one ring for the porter, two for the boy and three for a gun, and when a guest rings for a gun in this hotel the orders are to get it for him before the other fellow can beg his pardon!"

Making It Homelike

At a business men's luncheon a scientist, invited to speak, was telling how candy would alleviate any craving for alcohol. He talked learnedly of calories and thermal units. According to him, all the old rounders would soon be turning to bon bons and caramels. "Sounds good," admitted a druggist present. "If I was sure of it I'd put a brass rail in front of the candy case."

Previous Engagement

A lady in great demand socially was duly summoned as a witness in some court proceedings. As she failed to appear a deputy marshal was sent to act as escort. Then the judge explained to her that she was in contempt of court and asked what she had to say. She was manifestly astonished at all this. "I meant no contempt," stated she. "I would have attended the trial gladly, only I had a previous engagement."

The Last Call

The seedy diner was enjoying himself. "Waiter," he called, "get me a nice piece of boiled halibut." The dish was obtained, placed before the customer and consumed. Then he called again: "Waiter, bring a portion of curried veal—and, waiter, another bottle of wine." The bill mounted up, but still the seedy one called the waiter to fetch one dainty after another. At last he lit a cigar, and sat back. "Waiter," he called, "bring—" "Yes, sir," said the waiter; "your bill?" "No," came the languid answer; "bring a policeman; I haven't any money."

Immaterial to Them

Clara Endicott Sears, who has recently written "Days of Delusion," records the religious crisis of 1843, in which the Prophet Miller prophesied that the world was to end. A man quite excited, who accepted the belief that the world was to end on that particular day, met in the roads of Concord, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Theodore Parker. They seemed calm. The Millerite thought it was his duty to inform them of the momentous fact of which they appeared to be so unconscious. So he walked up to them in an excited manner and said: "Gentlemen, do you know, do you realize that the world is coming to an end today?" Mr. Parker said: "It does not concern me, for I live in Boston." And Mr. Emerson said: "The end of the world does not affect me. I can get along without it."

My Path

If I still find you when I come at eve,
Worn and weary with the stress of day,
With welcome in your eyes and on your lips,
Safe and secure I know I'll find the way.

But if at eve a-weary I should come
And find a lovelight in your eyes a-gone,
I do not know, nor would I even care,
What path my feet should seek or wander on.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The best check on moonshine-makers is to meter them and Lowell has done it! For complete list of makers of the mule-powered fluid see Superintendent Robert B. Gardner of the water works. He has all the names. This developed the other day at the meeting of the board of public service when several property owners appeared to ask abatements on excessive water bills.

The first case to be heard was of a Middlesex street merchant and property owner who is a highly respected citizen. The water bill on one piece of tenement property jumped $40 over average last quarter and he couldn't tell why. The meter-reader tipped him off that moonshine was being made in the place. A private investigation by the landlord proved this to be the case and the tenants were ordered out. Supt. Gardner told the board that most excessive water bills are due to persons making moonshine, which requires a considerable amount of water.

In most cases the landlord is not in the know. He gets a big water bill. Generally the next step is to ask for a special intermediate meter reading. The honest and baffled property-owner, still at sea, then calls a plumber. The plumber goes over the place and finds no leaks. Eventually he finds out it's the making of moonshine by some tenant that has caused the great volume to be metered.

This is invariably true in the summer months. Some landlords apparently are said to be paying exorbitant bills without protest, not unlikely being reimbursed by the tenant who is making illicit liquor.

In the winter it is hard to trace the reason for water bills being high. Here the moonshine-maker is matched by the tenant who has no fire and leaves the faucets running all night to save frozen pipes. In many tenements meter readers and inspectors find chains in the water closets nailed down in such a manner to keep a constant flow of water. This causes tremendous bills.

Often, of course, there are leaks or faulty plumbing but the moonshine maker and the man who deliberately leaves faucets open, cause the most complaints.

I learned another thing about water meters at the board meeting from Mr. Gardner that I think few people know. A water meter such as we have here cannot register over the true quantity that passes through. Meters don't overcharge. They are so constructed that they stop rather than cheat you. There's the most pleasant thought about the whole business. Few folks know that, and those who bear this in mind will probably be a lot quicker in learning why they have a high water bill, if they do, than will their brethren who are content to cuss the meter.

And now we are to have a national Education Week, November 17-23 during which time the present condition and needs of the schools will be brought to the attention of the people of the United States by the United States educational bureau in connection with the National Education association and the American Legion. There are certain phases of education which it is generally agreed, require emphasis from a national standpoint. Among those are respect for constituted authority, patriotism, better trained and better paid teachers, improvement of rural schools, more adequately equipped school buildings, eradication of illiteracy and health condition. Each day during the week will be specially designated. Monday, Nov. 17, will be Constitution day; Tuesday, Patriotism day; Wednesday, School and Teacher day; Thursday, Illiteracy day and Friday, Physical Education day. Saturday will be observed as Community day and Sunday as God and Country day.

Mrs. Frank Scanlon, who spoke before the members and friends of the League of Catholic Women this week, is well known locally, having spoken in this city at different times within the past two years. Mrs. Scanlon who possesses a pleasing personality is one of the most broadminded women I have met, and it is because of this that her views are sought on many vital questions of the day. Her talk on the child labor amendment was most instructive and gave her auditors a clear understanding of the dangerous influence of this measure which she termed "an entering wedge into education under a labor guise."

An unattractive horse sold for $36, and was used between the shafts of a delivery wagon. Joe Bijo, the owner, discovered that his nag had the makings of a race-horse. He puts the horse on the track under the name of Billy White—and Billy already paces a mile in 2:20. The case reminds us of human opportunity. Many a man is, figuratively, in a delivery wagon job though capable of fast work on the racetrack. Opportunity is simply the chance to demonstrate ability. But the opportunity is worthless unless the man, like the horse, can make good. Success is nine-tenths made before so-called opportunity comes.

The 51st anniversary of Division 11, A.O.H., will be observed with impressive exercises in A.O.H. hall, Grosvenor building, next Friday night. This division is up among the leaders in the country in numbers and achievement and its membership includes several prominent local citizens. County officers have been invited to attend the celebration Friday night, and a big time is assured.

The war in China is being brought home to Americans with a vengeance, says a news item. There's going to be a big shortage of firecrackers next Fourth of July! Practically all of the firecrackers imported from China come from Canton, where there is plenty of fighting. As a result of the strife all the makers of firecrackers have stopped work. It looks like more of a safe and sane Fourth of July next year than ever.

The Catholic Daughters of America with a national membership of 60,000 is to organize a branch locally. It is the aim of the society to interest its members in various kinds of welfare work. Final organization plans will be made at the meeting to be held in the early part of November and it is intended that Lowell will have as large an organization as any of the cities of its size.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Says the old Sun: "One of the best and foremost Shakespearean scholars in these parts is the Rev. Alfred A. V. Binnington, Episcopal clergyman connected with St. Anne's church. He recently delivered his famous lecture on the bard of Avon before the Lawrence lodge of the Sons of St. George. The lecture treated every aspect of the poet's work. In referring to the theory that Lord Bacon wrote the plays attributed to Shakespeare, he said:

A few words may be said regarding the attempt to deprive Shakespeare of his laurels and to confer them upon Bacon. To me personally the Baconian theory is both untenable and absurd. Professor Gifford of Stuttgart was the first to declare that Shakespeare was but a name and since then Donnelly in America and several well known people in Europe have maintained the same thing. Their chief arguments are briefly that certain words found in Bacon's works are not to be discovered elsewhere but in the plays. Secondly, the scope of the plays is too extended for a confessedly uneducated man like Shakespeare.

Against this reasoning it may be said that perhaps Shakespeare knew the words as well as Bacon or borrowed them and that as for Shakespeare's education, there is no proof that he ever ceased studying or that it was as limited as some people say. Again, Bacon never would have written trash as we find in Henry IV, and there is an entire absence of classical quotation in the plays. Again, all Shakespeare's contemporaries are witnesses for him; and there was no mention of the authorship of the plays by any writer of any kind which there certainly would have been had any deception been practiced. And lastly, on what conceivable ground are we to believe that a man as jealous of his fame as Bacon should deny the work of his own hand and allow another to reap the glory and profit? No, the whole theory is so palpably hollow that it will be the laughing stock of future generations.

Wed 25 Years

Mr. Frederick A. Lamoureux and Miss Jennie Greeley were united in marriage 25 years ago today at St. Peter's church by Rev. Fr. Ronan. Mr. Lamoureux is the well known hardware and paint dealer of 442 Merrimack street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lamoureux are prominently connected with several fraternal organizations locally. They were the recipients of numerous gifts from their many acquaintances locally and out of town and will celebrate their wedding anniversary quietly.

Mr. Charles Dearborn Paige and Miss Lillian Gray Stewart were married Oct. 18 at the home of the bride in Thirteenth street by Rev. C. E. Fisher.

Mr. William A. Murphy and Miss Susie A. McCaffrey were married Oct. 21 at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. William D. Joyce, O.M.I.

The Boer War

In reference to the Boer war just started, The Sun said:

There is a great difference of opinion as to the causes of the war between England and the Boers, some holding that England has a right to insist that her subjects have equal rights with the Boers in the Transvaal, and others that England has no business to interfere and if her subjects do not like the laws of the Transvaal they should stay at home. That is what any disinterested, fair-minded man would aver; but it is far from what England holds to be just or right." That was the third war fought by the Boers for freedom and after great slaughter on both sides, it resulted in the acceptance of home rule under nominal British control same as Canada.

The corporation tax cases brought against the city for abatement of taxes went on trial. The case of the Tremont & Suffolk was the first to be called. City Solicitor Francis W. Qua represented the city and Frank E. Dunbar, the corporations.

$50,000 Fire Loss

The great wooden building of the Lowell Card company at the corner of Market and Shattuck streets was partially destroyed by fire 25 years ago and involved a loss of $50,000. Without doubt, one of the largest frame buildings in the city, it was a landmark, but its construction being of wood, it proved an easy prey for flames. The fire started in the Wilfred Jean laundry on the fourth floor and gave the firemen a hard battle for three hours.

Promotions in Police Dept.

At a regular meeting of the board of police, held on Oct. 24, 1899, the following promotions were made from the reserve to the regular force: Geo. S. Abbott, John E. Conway, Patrick J. Frawley, Geo. H. Robinson, William Wilson, D. Wesley Nealey, Joseph Noyes. The following were selected from the civil service list and appointed on the probationary force: Joseph L. Lamourneux, Cornelius T. Lecture on Dante

In 1899 Professor Norton gave a series of weekly lectures on Dante before the Middlesex Women's club. He explained the various divisions of the great poet's works and analyzed them. He told of the love of Dante for Beatrice and showed that it was this that inspired his great work, the Divinia Comedia.

A.B.C's

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Every little youngster knows the famous A, B, C that the teacher harps on daily in the school. I mean the kind that start with A and end with X, Y, Z. You have them in your lessons as a rule.

But, do you know the modern brand; the brand that means so much? Just study them and think them over twice. They're worthy of your thought if you can get the proper touch and realize they're based on good advice.

The A stands for Always do as Mom and Daddy say, and Ask no questions 'cept when you're in doubt. They'll always gladly tell you why they want each thing its way and it never gets you anywhere to pout.

The B means Be considerate of grown-ups that you know. Beware of being selfish or unkind. Be mindful of the fact that you are young until you grow, and you will be much happier, you'll find.

The C means Cause your mother and your father to be glad. Console them with caresses, if you please. Then also catch the meaning of the lesson you have had, that's taken from the modern A, B, C's.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. ←MISTER FUZZ WUZZ BECKONS

"OH, DEAR, I'M SO GLAD TO SEE YOU TWINS AGAIN," HE SAID

"Oh, I know what we'll do!" cried Nancy as the Twins sailed along through the air on Daddy Gander's magic dust-pan. "We'll go and ask the Green Wizard who lives in the tree tops. He has a magic gazing ball. He ought to know where we can find the House-That-Jack-Built."

"That is a very good idea," said Daddy Gander. "But first of all will you look at my eyes and see if my glasses are on straight?"

"Yes, they are, Daddy," said Nancy. "Why?"

"Because I see something most unusual going on in that stump down there," said Daddy. "It looks like a queer sort of person, and as though he were waving to us. Am I mistaken or not?"

Both Twins peeped over the edge of the dust-pan and suddenly Nick cried out, "It's Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man. Oh, we'll have to stop and say how do you do, won't we, Nancy?"

"Well," said Daddy Gander, "if you must you must, but all I've got to say is that we never got any place we start for. First we start for a mountain and wind up in an elevator in a silly sort of place in the sky. Now we start for the Green Wizard's house in the tree tops and we have to stop and say polite things to a pipe-cleaner man. What's he called a pipe-cleaner man for anyway? And why Mister Fuzz Wuzz?"

"He is all fuzzy and he's made out of long wire pipe cleaners," said Nick. "But he is far more important than he looks. He is the king of Doofunny Land!"

"My, oh my!" said Daddy Gander straightening his tie. "Is he as much as all that? We'd better stop then and shake his hand. Where is Doofunny Land and what it does mean?"

"Doofunny Land is down the stump," said Nancy. "And the people are queer. They are just odds and ends. Mostly odds."

Daddy Gander parked his magic dust-pan behind some bushes and they all went up to the stump where Mister Fuzz Wuzz was waiting.

"Oh, dear, I'm so glad to see you Twins again," he said. "I certainly couldn't believe my old pipe-cleaner eyes when I saw you gallivanting around through the sky just now. The House-That-Jack-Built!" Lost? You don't say so! Why don't you all come to Doofunny Land and ask all the Doofunny people about it?"

"That's a very good idea, indeed," said Daddy Gander. "They come from all parts of the earth so they ought to know something about it."

Down they went through the stump and there they were in Doofunny Land.

The first person they met was Miss Fithers, the yarn lady.

"The House-That-Jack Built!" she exclaimed. "You mean Jack-in-the-Box, I suppose."

"Oh, no," said Nancy. "Nothing like that."

"That's the only one I know of," said Miss Fithers, passing on.

"The-House-That-Jack-Built!" exclaimed the Cut-Out Lady. "I never knew that the Jumping Jack was a carpenter."

"Oh, I know!" said the Saw Horse. "Jack used me to lay his board on. So it is gone! If anyone in Doofunny Land has seen it, I'll let you know."

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it.

BACK FROM PLEASANT TOUR OF EUROPE

After a two months' tour of points of interest in Europe, John T. Burns, the well known letter carrier, has returned to this city and in an interview with a Sun representative today, gave a few impressions of his visit.

Ireland, England, France and the other countries visited, impressed him greatly, but the part of the trip which he enjoyed most of all was his visit to Rome, where he was fortunate enough to secure an audience with His Holiness, the pope.

"Rome," he said, "was the goal to which we were heading on our visit to Italy. Its wonders in a religious and historic sense of course are beyond description. Sufficient to say we looked with veneration at the magnificence of St. Peter's and upon the ruins of ancient Rome, and also visited many of the beautiful cathedrals and museums which dot the city.

"We were very fortunate," he continued, "in having the privilege of an audience with Pope Pius XI, arranged through the influence of Edward Hearn, who is in charge of K. of C. activities. The Holy Father appeared to be in excellent health and he gave a short address to the group of pilgrims before him."

"The visit to Ireland was greatly enjoyed by Mr. Burns and the members of his party, and from observation gathered there he believes the new government is functioning well.

"Ireland, he said, "was delightful. A very severe rainy season though had set back the crops and practically ruined the turf supply which will make the fuel question an expensive one this winter. The new government appears to be functioning well, although high taxes are a strain on the people who are just about able to make a living.

"Our party spent a week in London," he continued, "and this city certainly appeared to be prosperous. Theatres were filled every evening and the shops were well patronized.

"From London we went to Holland, visiting Amsterdam, which is a beautiful city and as clean as a whistle. It has 80 canals, crossed by 300 substantial bridges. The people are very cordial and our party had no trouble in making its wants known. We also visited the Hague and inspected the royal palace.

"From the Hague we went to Belgium, visiting Brussels, which is another beautiful city, and from there went to Paris. This is a wonderful city for the tourist, chock-full of historic monuments and buildings ancient and modern. We visited churches, museums and churches again, and then went to Versailles to see the palace of the kings. "One could not describe the beauties of this palace satisfactorily, it is marvelous beyond words.

"The night life of Paris," he continued, "made a very poor impression on our party. The sidewalks are lined with cafes and everyone buys a little wine and sits at a table on the walk with friends and reviews the passing throng."

The shortage of good cigars in Europe bothered Mr. Burns. He likes a good smoke but found he couldn't get it anywhere on the continent. "Good cigars," he said, "are unknown in Paris, in fact they are scarce throughout Europe. There are few cigar stores that are any good and they carry but a small stock at best for the government has a monopoly on tobacco and the people, as usual, get the short end of it.

"Switzerland," which was next on our itinerary, is a beautiful country with scenery beyond comparison. Snow capped mountains rise almost perpendicularly for thousands of feet from the edges of beautiful lakes, and their peaks are oft-times hidden in the clouds. A ride on one of the lake steamers is an experience never to be forgotten."

The party arrived in Italy in October and found the weather just right for pleasure. The country appealed to Mr. Burns, but he was astonished to see men and women working side by side on the farms. Finally the party arrived in Rome and, after a satisfactory visit there, boarded the steamer and returned to this country. He was accompanied on the trip by his brother, Joseph W. Burns.

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—Marine activities have been stilled by a blinding snowstorm sweeping the eastern Canada coast, according to advices from Belle Isle, with no signs of abatement. Two liners are reported at anchor awaiting clearer weather before proceeding.

RECOGNITION OF SOVIET BY FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 25 (by the Associated Press).—Official recognition of the soviet Russian government by France is now said in official circles to be a matter of but a few days, responsible persons practically admitting that the insistence of the Russians upon unqualified recognition has delayed the decision but that it will not prevent early recognition.

DAWES SPEAKS IN BROOKLYN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles G. Dawes will bring his speaking campaign as republican candidate for vice president into New York tonight with an address in Brooklyn.

Mr. Dawes continued today his endeavor to get as much rest as possible in preparation for the more strenuous final days of the campaign. He remained at the home of C. A. Hanna, a friend, in Montclair, N. J., and declined all invitations and avoided all conferences.

PLANS FOR ANNUAL CHRISTMAS FAIR

At a meeting of the Junior Patrons of the Old Ladies' Home held in Kitson hall yesterday afternoon with Miss Gertrude Carmichael in the chair, plans were made for the annual Christmas fair to be held on Dec. 6. Several matters of major importance were discussed and plans made for raising funds which will be used to advantage for the women of the home. Mrs. E. T. Shaw, president of the Senior Patrons, was the guest of the afternoon. Miss M. Secor, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Lambert, treasurer, read their reports, while Miss Eunice Cook, vice president, offered helpful suggestions in conducting the fair, as did Mrs. Rodrigue Mignault.

HELD HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Kamn-stec club, composed of members of the student body of the Lowell Normal school held a very pretty Halloween party last night at the home of Miss Winifred Lester on Highland avenue. About 15 couples were present. The party took the form of a barn dance, the barn being decorated with autumn leaves and cornstalks with the orange and black streamers bringing in the Halloween effect. Pumpkins were also used. Garrett McAdams and Alice Bushnee entertained with banjo and ukulele numbers and also played for dancing. The party broke up at a seasonable hour. The success of the party was to a great extent due to the efforts of the Misses Mary Frawley, Miriam Lannan, Alice Bushnee, Cassie McSorley, Hazel McHale, Barbara McAdams and Margaret Carney.

ORDER OF DE MOLAY

On Sunday evening the local chapter of the Order of De Molay, composed of young men between the ages of 16 and 21 years and sponsored by the Masonic fraternity, will make its first public appearance by attending service at St. Anne's Episcopal church. Chapter members, accompanied by the advisory council and fathers of the boys, will march to the church from Masonic Temple at 6.30 p. m. Rev. Appleton Granniss, rector, will deliver an address pertaining to the order and its tenets.

DEAN ACADEMY BEATEN

In a fiercely contested game in Norwood yesterday, between the Dean Academy eleven and Dartmouth '28, the latter won by the score of 9 to 6. Dean Academy was leading, 6 to 2, when, with three minutes to go, a Dartmouth back broke through the entire Dean team and with a beautiful 55 yard run registered a touchdown. It was a thrilling game throughout. "Pete" Sheehan, local boy, who is on the Dean eleven, played an end position for a short time during the game. Sheehan has been out of the infirmary but a few days where he was laid up with a leg injury. Today the Dean Academy played Salem.

Say Democratic Party Will Win

ment he issued upon his return from those states last night.

The flat statement that "the democratic party will win the presidential election" was made last night by Mr. Davis, upon his return here from a final campaign tour of middle western states.

Mr. Davis, in a formal statement, declared further that "personal contact with the voters has demonstrated that they will not excuse the corruption and mal-administration that has prevailed at Washington during the recent years of republican misrule."

It was also positively asserted that, in addition to the victory he claimed for the national ticket, the democrats "will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

Lower Taxes Promised

Among the "reforms" promised by Mr. Davis are revision of the tariff, reduced taxes, international cooperation, improved inland waterways and farm legislation.

Efforts of his political opponents to bolster up their cause by suggesting danger of the election going into the house, Mr. Davis said, had been investigated, with the result that "more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured." That announcement is supported, he declared, by the "drift in the west and the central west."

"The democratic party will win the presidential election," the statement said, "I am fully convinced of this. I make my claim only after a very careful investigation into the situation—a first-hand inquiry, which has taken me more than 12,000 miles. My opinion is not based on what politicians have told me. It comes from direct contact with the individual voters themselves.

People Want Change

"The people are making ready to order a change. This is indicated probably more than anywhere else in the greatly increased registration reported from one end of the country to the other. It does not take any great familiarity with political affairs to understand that such heavy increases bode ill to the party in power.

"When the voters are satisfied it is a very hard task to get them to take an interest in politics. They see little reason for a change, and defy the efforts of the party workers to persuade them to qualify to discharge their duties at the polls.

"This year, however, we find reported an increased registration that has astonished the wisest of politicians. It is not confined to any particular section. Everywhere the story is the same—the men and women of the country have registered to do their part in ordering a change in conditions.

Desire Deadlock Possible

"While our opponents are endeavoring to bolster their cause by suggesting the danger of the election going into the house, there is not a single democrat who has investigated the situation who does not feel that as a result of the drift in the west and the central west more than the necessary 266 votes to elect me president already are assured.

"Panic-stricken, the republican leaders are frantically working night and day circulating propaganda by means of so-called polls which are preposterous on their face and defeat their purpose because the exaggeration is so manifest.

"They solemnly assure the people that their real race for the presidency is not between President Coolidge and myself but between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Bryan. This bogey man may brighten members of the republican party, but it certainly does not alarm the democracy.

"Republicans Rent"

"It has this effect, however: it proves conclusively that the republican leaders have been compelled to launch a forlorn hope attack in an effort to reclaim some of the states in which the La Follette movement has made headway.

"The very fact that the democratic party is united, harmonious and undivided from ocean to ocean, while the republican party is rent in twain by dissensions, is proof sufficient for our claims of success. In addition, the great mass of independent voters realize that their only hope of bringing about the reforms which are vitally necessary to the national welfare is through supporting the democratic ticket in the coming election.

"The independent voter has no other choice. He realizes that it is only through the democratic party that reform of the character demanded may be secured. He realizes that we can win and that we have the will to win.

La Follette Cannot Win

"He knows that it is impossible for Senator La Follette to obtain the 266 votes needed, to make him the choice of the electoral college. He cannot support Mr. Coolidge simply on the assurance that there will be some kind of a change at Washington after March 4 next should the republican candidate be elected.

"For weeks the voters have waited to be taken into the confidence of the administration and told in what manner any change can come after March 4.

"That has not been possible for more than a year. The voter is inclined to accept past performances as the promise for the future, and he or she will not be misled by specious statements that do not square with what actually has been done.

"It is because these things have been brought directly home to me through personal contact with thousands of voters that I have not the slightest hesitancy in unqualifiedly declaring that I will be elected Nov. 4. In addition, the democrats will control congress, thus insuring putting into effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

INDICATIONS THAT DAVIS WILL CARRY N. Y. STATE NOW APPARENT

Senator Copeland Says Enthusiasm for Davis and Smith is Unprecedented—Prediction That State Will Give Davis 200,000 Plurality

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—New York state will give John W. Davis a plurality of 200,000. Governor Alfred E. Smith will carry the state over Theodore Roosevelt by 350,000 to 400,000. This is the prediction of United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, who has in the last few weeks campaigned over a large part of the Empire state.

"In the campaign last week," said Senator Copeland, "I covered the same territory over which I traveled in the corresponding week two years ago. We thought we had splendid meetings in 1922 but I am sure that I state a fact when I say that the meetings this year were four times as large.

"I have never witnessed greater enthusiasm for the democratic ticket than I have seen during this campaign. We hear reports that certain groups are disaffected. I have seen no indication of it outside of the Germans who are voting for La Follette, and a limited portion of labor that is going the same way, all the real democrats are throwing up their hats for Davis.

"Everywhere I go I am advised that La Follette sentiment is rapidly fading. His attacks on the supreme court, and the recollection of the uniformly friendly attitude of the democratic party to labor, have brought back to the democratic fold many thousands who had at first been inclined to vote for the republican insurgent.

"I was told of many large meetings where men, women and children had gone out of curiosity to take a look at Teddy Roosevelt. Having taken the look, I am informed they were disappointed and have decided to keep Governor Smith at Albany. Everywhere I found republicans dissatisfied with the nomination of a man so inexperienced and so young, and they are going to vote for Alfred E. Smith. Likewise, I talked with many republicans who are so dissatisfied at the callousness of the republican party with regard to the oil scandals that they are eager to punish the party which has so signally failed to live up to its obligations.

"If I am any judge at all of political conditions, I should say that Governor Smith will carry the state by from 350,000 to 400,000.

"With such defections as I have noticed, Mr. Davis' majority will not be so large but I feel confident he will carry the state by 200,000.

"The counties I have visited include Clinton, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Essex and Lewis and others in the northeastern section of the state—normally republican territory but now Al Smith strongholds. We had overflow meetings everywhere, and at all these meetings hundreds remained in the hall afterward to talk it over. There is a determination on the part of the people that good government shall be restored at Washington and retained at Albany through the election of John W. Davis and the re-election of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

"Furthermore, all advices I receive indicate that Governor Smith will have a democratic legislature and the new congress will have a democratic majority."

Velvet evening frocks with matching evening capes are very gorgeous and colorful and lovely for the theatre or opera.

PLAN HALLOWEEN PARTY IN LIBERTY HALL

The plans for the Halloween party to be given under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women in Liberty hall on Oct. 30th, are nearing completion. Miner-Doyle's orchestra has been secured and there is every indication that this party will be particularly enjoyable. The committee in charge will be assisted by the following aides:

GIRL SCOUTS WILL PERFECT RALLY PLANS

The Girl Scout officers of the city will meet in Middlesex hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of completing plans for the annual rally to be held in Memorial Auditorium Saturday, Nov. 1.

Much interest is being shown in this rally and an elaborate program of scout work in general will be given the Girl Scouts of Greater Lowell. A feature of the program will be the Melrose Drum and Bugle Corps, which will execute various numbers which will be of interest to all attending.

An extensive pageant of Girl Scout activities with all the members of the Greater Lowell council participating will be given. Capt. Hill of Troop 3 will read the theme, while Scout Marjorie Willard of the same troop will interpret "Youth." Miss Julia Fox of Dracut will be the accompanist.

Friday, morning at 9 o'clock at the Auditorium a rehearsal for the rally program will be held.

Next Sunday will be observed as "Go-to-Church" Sunday by the Girl Scouts in observance of the birthday of Mrs. Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of America. Members will attend their respective churches in uniform. In some churches special programs will be given. Rev. Charles H. Ellis, pastor of the Central Baptist church, has invited the Chelmsford troop to attend the special evening services to be held in that church. The pastor will speak on various phases of scout work.

VISITORS AT THE TEXTILE SCHOOL

Lowell Textile school was the host to fifty members of the Overseers association of the Arlington mills, Lawrence, yesterday afternoon, and the guests were taken in small groups, with competent guides, through the whole school plant.

The trip had been arranged by Chairman Shirley H. Pulsifer, Secretary Silas Thomas and Edward Wolfendale of the overseers association and President Charles H. Eames of the school. The guests thoroughly enjoyed their trip and, upon its conclusion, complimented the school officials for the important part they are filling well in preparing young men for the textile industry.

MEETING AT THE VARNUM SCHOOL

The parents of seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Varnum school are cordially invited by the principal, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, to be present at a meeting to be held in the school hall on Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The meeting will be an informal one. Matters of interest relative to work of the school year will be discussed and an opportunity given the parents to meet the teachers of their children.

tory. Prominent speakers have been secured by the republican city committee and Aitken's 339th F.A. band will give a concert program to add zest to the occasion.

The committee directing the campaign of Humphrey O'Sullivan, who seeks to oust Hon. John Jacob Rogers from his representative berth in the Fifth congressional district, is missing no opportunity to develop strength for the democratic candidate. The O'Sullivan supporters feel confident of cutting deeply into the congressman's vote in Lowell and are waging a more strenuous campaign in the towns of the district than has been the case for a number of years.

Republicans Will Split Ticket

One feature of the state campaign is the statement from any number of republicans that they plan to vote a split ticket insofar as the contest for state auditor is concerned and will make a determined effort to defeat the G.O.P. nominee, Alonzo B. Cook. Strahe V. Claggett, democratic nominee, will receive plenty of republican votes in this neck of the woods, where he has been heard to advantage on several occasions recently.

While it would seem that Walter Perham of Chelmsford, convention nominee of the republicans to succeed Frank H. Putnam as state senator in the Eighth district, has a distinct advantage, Hon. Henry J. Draper, himself a former senator, is running on stickers and if he can place enough of them in circulation is sure of a sizable democratic vote and he himself is confident of victory.

Another democrat, Cornelius J. O'Neill, attorney-at-law, is making a real bid to break into a republican representative trio in the 15th district served now by Representatives Henry Achin, Jr., Victor F. Jewett and Fred O. Lewis. One of those three places is the aim of Mr. O'Neill and he is thoroughly covering the district in his campaign. As he is the nominee of the democrats his name will duly appear on the ballot.

In the 14th representative district Rep. Charles H. Sleeper and Patrick F. Nestor, nominated with him, should win the two available places like breaking sticks. The district is democratic and that tells the complete story.

A contest is being waged merrily in the 16th district, with Daniel F. Moriarty, city councilor; Paul V. Angelo and Charles F. Donahue in a three-cornered fight for one place. Personal solicitation has been the favored line of campaigning in this district and each candidate is putting in good licks.

Long Ballot Will Take Up Time

Two reasons stood out in back of the request recently filed by Rep. Henry Achin, Jr., with the election commissioners for an extension of voting hours from 4 to 6 p. m.—first, the probability of a record vote, and second, an unusually long ballot which will take considerable time to mark properly and completely. The commission has acted favorably upon the request, by the way, and the polls on Nov. 4 will be open for 12 hours, from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

On the ballot will be seven referenda, several of which have aroused considerable interest and will be voted upon most generally. Among these are the daylight saving referendum, the liquor or prohibition question, the 2-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax and the question of the employment of persons less than 18 years of age at any sort of labor.

Referendum No. 1 on the ballot in simplified form asks the following question: Do you favor striking out the word "male" in that part of the constitution which specifies what qualifications a voter must have in order to vote for governor, lieutenant-governor, senators or representatives, so that women citizens also will come under the provision? This is to bring our state constitution into conformity with the federal constitution and has been given the unanimous approval of both houses of the Massachusetts legislature.

Referendum No. 2 is more or less closely related to No. 1 and also is for the purpose of conformity between state and national constitutions. It asks the question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution making it possible for women to hold any state, county or municipal office? Both houses of the state legislature have unanimously approved it.

Referendum No. 3 is the so-called "liquor" question and its passage would make similar the state and federal prohibition laws. In simple form the referendum asks this question: Do you favor a law, passed by the Massachusetts legislature and signed by the governor which provides that no person shall manufacture, transport, import or export intoxicating liquor containing more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol without a permit from the United States authorities?

Referendum No. 4 is the gasoline tax question and simplified is as follows: Do you favor the payment by purchasers of a two-cent tax on each gallon of gasoline and other fuel used for driving motor vehicles on the highways if one-half of the money so raised will be spent on the construction and maintenance of public highways within city or town limits and the other half on highways designated by the state department of public works?

Referendum No. 5 is a financial matter and off hand, probably will not be voted upon very generally. It asks the following question: Do you favor a law which provides that persons who desire to engage or become financially interested in the business of receiving deposits of money for safe-keeping or for the purpose of transmitting the same or equivalents thereof to foreign countries, shall file an indemnity bond with the state treasurer for the benefit of depositors and shall obtain a license from the bank commissioner to carry on such business, the license to be revocable for cause?

Referendum No. 6 asks the question, shall daylight saving be retained by law in Massachusetts? and is expected to call for a tremendous expression of opinion.

Referendum No. 7 is the labor amendment relative to the employment of persons under 18 years of age. In simplified form it asks the following question: Do you favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States which empowers congress to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of boys and girls under 18 years of age and which provides that laws passed thereunder by congress, when in conflict with state laws, shall prevail?

COMMITTEES REPORT ON ARMISTICE BALL

At a meeting of the general committee of Lowell Post 87, American Legion, in charge of arrangements for the annual Armistice ball, last evening in veterans' quarters of the Memorial Auditorium, very satisfactory reports of progress were received from the various sub-committees. The ball will be held the evening of Armistice day, Nov. 11, in the Memorial Auditorium, and it is planned to make this year's the biggest and best in the history of the post.

The entertainment committee, Bernard Horan, chairman, reported that the Braggiotti sisters, Boston society girls and exponents of classic dancing, will give several of their creations. The music committee reported that a 15-piece orchestra has been engaged to play from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Over 100 socially prominent women have promised to serve as patronesses, according to James F. Conway, chairman of the reception committee, and Dana Palmer, for the guest committee, reported that representatives of the army, navy and marine corps and all veterans' organizations have been invited to attend and that invitations will be sent the governor, lieutenant-governor, Congressman Rogers, Gen. Adelbert Ames and the trustees of the Auditorium. For the decorations committee, George Budd announced that a local decorator has been engaged to work out a novel color scheme for the ball.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Oct. 30.

a bit and Jack saw two men on horseback. They had on white suits and black boots. On their heads they wore white helmets with a white cloth hanging down the back. And in their hands each one carried a long slender spear.

"Hello, there," shouted one of the men, as he alighted from his horse a short distance away. "Same to you," replied the aviator. Then, as the other man slid down to the ground and approached the airplane, Jack and the flier hopped out. And Flip and Flop eyed the visitors critiously.

"Maybe you men can tell us where we have landed," said the aviator. "Well, you're right in one of the wildest parts of India," came the reply. Then the horsemen explained that they were out on a wild boar hunt. "But I'd much rather take a plane ride," said one of them: (Continued.)

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

To the Honorable the Judges of the Land Court:

Respectfully represents Effie M. Park, of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, that she is the owner in fee simple of a parcel of land with buildings thereon situate in said Lowell, on the northwesterly side of Riverside street, and thus bounded:

Southeasterly by Riverside street seventy (70) feet; southwesterly by lands of Frank J. Slavin, Cora E. Horne and James D. Horne, now or formerly, two hundred twenty-six (226) feet, more or less; northwesterly by land of William H. and Marie L. Moreau, now or formerly, seventy-five (75) feet; and northeasterly by other land of your petitioner two hundred twenty-four and 20-100 (224.20) feet.

That the record title of said land is encumbered by an undischarged mortgage given by Abner H. Marshall to F. F. Alderman, dated April 2, 1860, and recorded in Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, in Book 24, Page 92, which mortgage was assigned by said J. F. Alderman to Amariah A. Taft, by assignment dated April 3, 1861, and recorded in said Registry in Book 30, Page 167; that said mortgagor and those having his estate in said land, have had uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time for the full performance of the conditions of said mortgage; that no payment on account of the debt secured by said mortgage has been made, and no act in recognition of its existence as a valid mortgage has been done within said twenty years.

Wherefore your petitioner prays that a decree be entered, reciting the facts and findings and that no action to enforce a title under said mortgage shall hereafter be maintained, and that said mortgage be discharged upon the records.

Suffolk, ss. No. 3709 Misc. Land Court. Seal.

Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to all persons interested in said petition to appear before the Land Court, at Lowell, within and for our said County of Middlesex, (where appearances and answers may be filed with William C. Purcell, Register of Deeds for the North Registry District of said Middlesex County, as Assistant Recorder of said Court) on the first Monday of December next, by causing a true and attested copy of said petition and this order to be published forthwith once a week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said first Monday of December next; by serving each known respondent within the Commonwealth with a like attested copy of said petition and order fourteen days at least before said first Monday of December next; and by serving a like attested copy of said petition and order by registered mail on each known respondent without the Commonwealth as soon as may be, and in any event fourteen days at least before said first Monday of December next; that all respondents may then and there show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

By the Court.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Paul Vigeant and Virginie Vigeant, wife of said Paul Vigeant, in her own right, both of Lowell, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to Margaret W. Merrill, of said Lowell, dated December 15, 1923, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book 697, Page 581, which mortgage was assigned by said Merrill to the Lowell Trust Company by assignment dated March 12, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 702, Page 151, and reassigned by said Lowell Trust Company to said Merrill by assignment dated October 14, 1924, and duly recorded in said Registry, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described on THURSDAY, the THIRTEENTH DAY of NOVEMBER, A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows: (except that portion thereof which was released from the operation of said mortgage deed by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant, by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48. Said premises are described in said mortgage deed as follows: The land in said Lowell, with the buildings thereon, situated on the northerly side of Moody Street and the westerly side of Tilden Street, containing fourteen thousand two hundred sixty-two and 50-100 square feet, more or less, and bounded and described as follows: beginning at a point on the westerly side of Tilden Street which is southerly of and three feet distant from the southeasterly corner of land conveyed by the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack River to Seth Chellis by deed dated July 26, 1843, and at land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Madden; thence running southerly by said Tilden Street one hundred sixty-three feet to said Moody Street; thence westerly at a right angle by said Moody Street eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to land supposed to belong now or formerly to James Saunders; thence northerly at a right angle by said Saunders land and land supposed to belong now or formerly to one Dempsey one hundred sixty-three feet to said Madden land; thence easterly at a right angle by said Madden land eighty-seven and 50-100 feet to the point of beginning. Being all and the same premises to said Virginie Vigeant conveyed by Margaret W. Merrill by deed dated October 25, 1923, and recorded in said Registry of Deeds, Book 698, Page 139, and subject to the restriction in said deed contained or referred to.

That portion of said premises released by said Merrill to said Virginie Vigeant by partial release dated February 18, 1924, and recorded in said Registry, Book 701, Page 48, as aforesaid is thus bounded and described: A certain piece or parcel of land containing six thousand five hundred and twenty-eight square feet situated on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street, and thus bounded and described: beginning at a point on the northwesterly side of Tilden Street distant eighty-three feet northeasterly from its intersection with the northeasterly side of Moody Street; thence at a right angle northwesterly eighty-one and 6-10 feet, more or less; thence at a right angle northeasterly eighty feet; thence at a right angle southeasterly eighty-one and 6-10 feet, more or less, to said Tilden Street; thence at a right angle southwesterly on said Tilden Street eighty feet to the point of beginning, and be said contents or any or all of said measurements more or less, and however otherwise said premises may be measured, bounded or described. Being Lots Three (3) and Four (4) on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Lowell, Mass., belonging to Paul Vigeant, Surveyed Oct., 1923, Henry O. Brooks, Civil Engr.," and recorded in said Registry, Book of Plans 43, Plan 92. The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to a mortgage to the City Institution for Savings, upon which there is due the principal sum of $7000 and accumulated interest, and also to any and all taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay $500 in cash at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at twelve o'clock noon.

MARGARET W. MERRILL,
Present holder of said mortgage.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—
Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Joanna Walsh, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, Thomas H. Pinder, administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of a certain parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, and charges of administration; and for other reasons set forth in said petition:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County, on the eleventh day of November, A.D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

CITY COUNCIL PASSES ORDER FOR $125,000 BRIDGE

Abutters Waive Rights to Land Damages—Ordinances Defining Status of City Engineer Referred to Committee—White Way for Upper Merrimack Street

An order appropriating $125,000 for the erection of a bridge over Beaver Brook at Conduit street, with the necessary viaduct approaches, was passed unanimously by the city council last evening after a hearing which had been called to ascertain if the abutters would waive right to land damages arising out the bridge erection.

A number of abutters waived their rights to damages and the only voice raised in opposition was William N. Goodell's representing the Locks and Canals, who said his concern was neither a proponent nor opponent, but merely wished to ask that the matter be gone into more deeply as an engineering project and stating that in the opinion of company engineers, the cost of the bridge and its approaches would only be the beginning of the amount necessary to make a permanent improvement in the district.

Two proposed ordinances defining the powers of the city engineer, one presented by a majority of the public service board and the other by Frederick F. Meloy, as a minority report, were referred to the committee on ordinances without being read.

Objection to the placing of Plan B white way lights in upper Merrimack street was withdrawn by Councilor Chretien and the electric light corporation instructed to go ahead with the work of installation there.

The meeting was called to order at 8.25 o'clock with Councilors Chadwick and McFadden absent.

An invitation to attend a Girl Scout rally in the Memorial Auditorium November 1 was accepted.

The proposed ordinances outlining the duties of the city engineer were referred to the ordinance committee without reading, on motion of Councilor Daly.

The hearing on the Beaver Brook bridge proposition was next opened. President Gallagher asked if there were present any abutters who would waive right to land damages resulting from the bridge construction, and 18 residents of the district waived their rights to damages.

Atty. Cornelius J. O'Neill, representing several of the abutters, spoke in favor of the bridge. In the course of his address he said that he had heard that the reason for the hearing was to afford an opportunity to delay action until after the primaries, and said that immediate action should be taken so that the matter could go to the mayor for his approval or disapproval at once.

William N. Goodell, representing the Locks and Canals, was the only person to speak when the hearing was opened for objectors to the plan. He said his company was neither an objector nor a proponent, but wished to ask if the $125,000 represented in the order was all that would be necessary. The Locks, and Canals, he said, have no plan concerning the sale of its property to the city and said the completion of the proposed bridge will benefit its land. But, he said, the company engineers believe the cost of the bridge and approaches as outlined in the plan would be merely a starting point. When the work is finished, he said, you will have a bridge and causeway standing 20 feet or so in the air. How much then, he asked, will it cost to complete the work through to Riverside street and the other main highway approaches. He suggested in conclusion that a thorough investigation of the engineering proposition in regard to the bridge be gone into before any action was taken towards building the bridge.

Councilors Lambert, Genest, Chretien, Daly, McFadden, Dickson and Cosgrove spoke briefly in favor of immediate action and Councilor McFadden asked Mr. Goodell why he hadn't appeared at a previous hearing to state his objections.

Mr. Goodell replied that up to last night's hearing, his company had not had an opportunity to view plans of the proposed structure.

Councilor Chretien moved the immediate passage of the order, Councilor Lambert seconding, and it was carried unanimously.

Councilor Chretien stated that an agreement had been reached between objectors to the plan of placing type B white way lights in upper Merrimack street and the electric light corporation, and moved that the latter corporation be notified to go ahead with its work in that district.

On motion of Councilor Stearns, due record was made on the minutes of the meeting concerning the replacal a year ago of the bronze Victory statue in Monument square by the late Frederick Fanning Ayer, son of the donor of the original statue.

NAVY DAY BOAT RACE OFFICIALS NAMED

Officials for the Navy Day boat races to be conducted on the Merrimack river tomorrow afternoon as part of the Lowell Navy club's celebration of the day, were announced today. It was also announced that a free-for-all canoe race, open to any canoeist in the city who cares to enter, will be one of the feature events and that a beautiful silver cup will be awarded the winner.

The list of officials is headed by Mayor Donovan as starter, Commodore Jas. H. Walker, Captain Prouty, Fred Shaw and Arthur Picard as inspectors, and Hon. John J. Rogers, S. C. Garrity and Capt. W. T. White, as judges.

The Navy Day observance will begin with a parade from the Auditorium to the Pawtucket Boat club, starting at 1.15 o'clock. In line will be a band, the Lowell Navy club, and delegations from the Lynn and Lawrence Navy clubs.

Upon arrival at the boat house at about 2 o'clock, the free-for-all canoe races will be started and will be followed by a special race between two four-paddled canoes manned by members of the Winchester Boat club.

The final event of the afternoon will be a three-cornered cutter race between teams representing the Lowell, Lawrence and Lynn Navy clubs.

Silver cups will be awarded the winners in each event. The cups were donated by the Sterling Jewelry Shop, the Prince-Cotter Co., Wood-Abbot Co., Frank Picard and Willis Peltier.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASE

After a two-hour early morning vigil in the cellar of a tenement at 62 Charles street today, Officers William F. Liston and John J. Leahey arrested James F. Dolan of that address on a charge of illegally keeping liquor. The defendant was arraigned in district court this morning and on a plea of not guilty, he was continued in $200 until Nov. 4.

It was 6 o'clock this morning when the officers gained admittance to defendant's cellar. From behind a pile of wood they claim to have seen him in the operation of procuring liquor from a secret hiding place. They allege also that he admitted selling the stuff for one dollar a pint.

HELD FOR FEDERAL COURT

prompiu program of sports, target practice and, topping off everything else, a delicious buffet luncheon. The target practice session of the program appeared to be the most popular with the veterans, many who held sharpshooters' ratings while in the service being anxious to cuddle a Springfield-Enfield army rifle again in their arms and try their skill at the ranges.

The veterans will return to this city shortly before 5 o'clock and gather again in the veterans' quarters of the Auditorium, where the business meeting will be held with President Thomas J. Godley of Fitchburg, in the chair. The business meeting will extend over a period of an hour, and for an hour following the boys of '98 will enjoy themselves as they please, swapping stories of campaign days and renewing friendships made on the weary marches in Porto Rico, where the regiment put in most of its active duty during the war.

The climax of the reunion will come at 7 o'clock, when the annual reunion will be held in Liberty hall. Among the invited guests are Mayor Donovan, President Fisher of the chamber of commerce, Royal P. White of the Rotary club, commanders of veterans' organizations in this city, Hon. Chas. A. Allen and Gen. Adelbert Ames.

Following the dinner, an entertainment will be given as follows: Selections by the Mendelssohn male quartet of this city; solos by Mrs. Nettie Roberts and Miss Etta B. Thompson; Scotch songs and wit by James E. Donnelly; boxing exhibitions by the Clancy twins and by Young McKenzie and Peter Salley of the Boys' club and various entertainment features by members of the organization.

The committee in charge of the event follows: Frank Dodge, chairman; Alexander D. Mitchell, secretary and treasurer; Arthur F. Salmon, honorary member of the organization; Colby T. Kittredge, Willard D. Pratt, Gardner W. Pearson, Charles J. Duffy, William M. Prescott, P. Henry Driscoll, Frank A. Boyle and Walter R. Jeyes, all members of either Company C or G of the Sixth Regiment association.

Mexican Government Closes Its Consulates in Britain

London Not Notified

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The British government has not been informed of the decision of the Mexican government to close all of its consulates in Great Britain, but the foreign office takes the view that this step will have little effect and probably will not result in the recall of the British officials now in Mexico.

In official circles it is pointed out that no negotiations have been going on between Great Britain and Mexico for the latter's recognition since the breaking down of the informal conversations last spring.

Meantime the British had no diplomatic representatives in Mexico, maintaining consul corps, which the decision of the foreign minister will not affect.

The viewpoint here is that, pending overtures by Mexico, Great Britain cannot take any steps looking towards recognition. It was expected that President-elect Calles, on his recent European trip, might have again brought up the question but he sailed for home, announcing he would not visit England.

The Mexican consulate-general in London has received orders to close all the Mexican consular offices in Great Britain on Nov. 1, the instructions setting forth the reasons which already have been made public in Mexico City. The London office was not informed whether the order would apply to the British dominions.

At the present time there is no heavy shipping between Great Britain and Mexico but the withdrawal of the offices in the dominions might be expected have some affect on trade.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

PRINCE OF WALES SAILS, TO RETURN IN 1926

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Plowing her way across the Atlantic ocean this morning the White Star liner Olympic is bearing the Prince of Wales back to England with souvenirs and memories of his American visit. He was a little wistful as he looked for the last time at the jagged skyline of New York.

Before sailing he promised to return in 1926. Next year he is going to South Africa. Friends of the prince said that when he returns to the United States, it will not be on a pleasure jaunt but rather on a self-educating mission. He wants to study the great industrial plants, the people and the politics of the United States, they said.

A score of reporters boarded the vessel at her pier soon after the prince and his staff had hurried up the gang plank. He bantered with them and posed for photographers willingly, though he still showed a little embarrassment.

On the ship he was greeted by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and Captain Howarth, commander of the Olympic. He was led through lines of sailors to the suite that had been reserved for him. He thought the mahogany and gold finish "too pretty" for him and turned it over to G. M. F. Trottier and took another, done in white and gold, for himself.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Myrtle Blanchard was recently tendered a birthday party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Ryan in Bye street, on the second anniversary of her birth. Beautiful gifts, among them being a gold locket and chain, the gift of her parents were received.

Among the features of the evenings entertainment were piano solos by Mrs. James Ryan and Miss Annie Keefe, songs by Mrs. John Blanchard and Mrs. John Keefe, recitations by Master Raymond Keefe and Master Fred Blanchard, and solos and dance numbers by Leon Vino, John Hogan and James Ryan. Refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable time was had by all.

WALTER E. PARKER DEAD

Agent Emeritus of Pacific Mills in Lawrence and Dover, N. H., Passes Away

LAWRENCE, Oct. 25.—Walter E. Parker, agent emeritus of the Pacific mills here and in Dover, N. H., died early today at his home on Haverhill street in his 78th year. Born September 27, 1847, in Princeton, Mass., he early learned the mill business and for several years was employed in the Social mills in Woonsocket, R. I. He came to Lawrence in 1881 and was made superintendent of the cotton department of the Pacific mills. During the ten-year period that followed he practically rebuilt the mills, installed modern machinery and literally put it on its feet. In 1893 he was made agent of all the Pacific mills in this city, a position he held actively until March 1, 1920, when Irving W. Southworth, who had been agent of the Pacific mills in the south, was made assistant agent of the local mills and assumed many of Mr. Parker's duties. He became agent emeritus on January 31, 1924.

Mr. Parker was connected with many organizations of mill men and for years was president of the Essex savings bank here and the Lawrence City Mission. He was a trustee of Tufts College and in 1920 made that college a gift of $50,000.

Mr. Parker was four times married.

TO HOLD BOY ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

As the result of the death yesterday of James Harrington, 63 years old, of 74 Maple street, a manslaughter charge will be preferred against 16-year-old Ralph Laprise, alleged driver of the truck which struck and caused the death of the aged man last Friday night.

The victim of the accident died last night in the Lowell Corporation hospital after hovering between life and death since the night of the accident. As the incident was not reported to the police, the driver of the truck was not known until last Thursday night when Laprise was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Daniel M. Lynch. He was arraigned in juvenile court yesterday on charges of driving a motor vehicle without a license, and going away without making himself known after causing injury to person. He was continued in $500 until next Friday, when he will face the more serious charge of manslaughter.

In connection with the same case, Louis R. Trudel, by whom Laprise was employed as truck driver at the time of the accident, and his wife, Margaret Trudel, were arraigned in district court this morning, the man for allowing an automobile to be operated by a person without right, and the woman, in whose name the machine is registered, for allowing a motor vehicle to be operated by a person without legal right to do so. Both pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until Nov. 21.

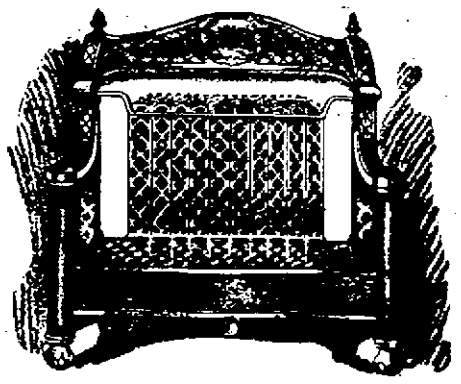

ARRESTED FOR THE ALBANY POLICE

Thomas Noon of this city was arrested last night for the Albany police on the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that he stole $140 from his brother on Oct. 18 while visiting in Albany. He will be taken to Albany to face the charge.

"Obvious Forgery"

LONDON, Oct. 25 (By the Associated Press)—Christian Rakovsky, soviet Russian charge d'affaires at London, today sent a strong protest to the foreign office, characterizing as an "obvious forgery" the propogandistic letter, allegedly signed by M. Zinovieff, president of the executive of the Third Communication International, which was appended to the protest against alleged Russian propaganda in Great Britain, submitted yesterday by the foreign office to M. Rakovsky.

The Russian diplomat declared that foreign office officials should have recognized the Zinovieff letter as a forgery and he complained that the usual diplomatic procedure of notifying his office before the publication of such a protest as the one made yesterday, was not allowed in this case.

27 CHINESE TAKEN IN RAID

Said To Be For Use in Chinese Tong War—Guns Seized

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Acting on information that 80 revolvers were being shipped here from Philadelphia for use in the Chinese tong war, police of Yonkers and New York city raided a Herriot street house today and arrested 27 Chinese, most of them members of the Hip Sing Tong. Two revolvers and opium smoking outfits were found in the place.

The roundup was the biggest made since tong warfare was started in New York's Chinatown, with similar hostilities in numerous towns and cities in other parts of the country. Two of the men arrested in today's raid were Chinese already under bail to await trial on charges of attempted murder in the Newark tong war.

The police declared that the house raided was a hiding place for Chinese gunmen. They said they had obtained information concerning the supposed shipment of revolvers from two Chinese court interpreters in New York who were members of another tong.

Upon graduating from Princeton Mr. O'Donoghue entered the employ of the street railway company in its Boston office, and was later appointed manager of the Brockton district. After two years' service there, he was promoted to manager of the Haverhill district and last week was named manager of the Lowell division.

Maurice E. McCormick, whom Mr. O'Donoghue succeeds as manager here will begin his duties as manager of the Chelsea division, the largest on the Eastern Massachusetts system, next Monday.

Mr. McCormick expressed considerable regret at leaving Lowell after two years' service here and, through The Sun, wishes extend his thanks to the general public, members of the city council, the press and the police, especially the superintendent and Sergt. Connors for the fine and cordial treatment accorded him during his tenure of office.
